Stop Gambling- IDC Votes 27-9

The Inter-Dormitory Council Wednesday night went on record as "opposed to gambling of any sort in men's dormitories." After a lengthy debate on both sides of the issue, the IDC approved a resolution on dormitory gambling, saying, in part, that the group will "use full power to control and eliminate all gambling in the men's dormitories."

Gambling Rule Jurisdiction To Be Uniform

The resolution further stated that since gambling is "getting out of control, trouble could arise and such trouble would not be an asset to the reputation of the University of North Carolina."

In an effort to provide uniform justice for violations of the gambling rule, the Student Council will try all such cases in the future.

According to a joint statement issued yesterday by the Student Council, Inter-Fraternity Council and Inter-Dormitory Council, the Student Council will try all gambling cases, including those previously tried by the IDC Court.

The statement reaffirmed that gambling of any sort is contrary to University policy established by the Board of Trustees, State law, the Campus Code, IFC policy and IDC regulations.

In the future the IFC and IDC will take responsibility for its effective enforcement.

The three councils reported that such a statement was necessary because of an increase in gambling in recent months.

Uniform justice for offenders is expected when all trials come under the jurisdiction of the Student Council. Beforehand, the IDC has tried only cases which arise in dormitories. The IFC, which cannot try fraternity men, either reprimands violators or sends the case directly to the Student Council.

The statement was released yesterday by IFC Chairman Tucker Yates, IDC Chairman Rudy Edwards and Student Council Chairman Jim Long.

Davis Young Asks Study Of Election

By DEE DANIELS

Davis Young, defeated by Charlie Graham for president of the sophomore class by two votes, will ask the Student Council to evaluate the election, Young said yesterday.

According to Jim Long, Student Council chairman, the Council will meet Tuesday night to consider the case. If it decides Young's protest is valid, the Council will ask the Elections Board for a re-vote.

In a statement issued yesterday, Young said: "Since my defeat on Tuesday night (See YOUNG, page 5)

BEAT DOOK! — That's the war cry going around the campus and around town this week as the big game of the year approaches. Preparing to take part in the "Beat Dook" parade tomorrow are these members of Kappa Delta Sorority as they work on backyard details of their float entry. Left to right, they are Miss Patty Faires, Charlotte; Miss Judy Scott, Richmond, Va.; Miss Jane Sharp, Jacksonville, Fla.; Miss Lynne Courtney, Asheville; Miss Peggy Bradford, Charlotte; and Miss Peggy Moore, Kensington, Conn. See story on Page 2.

Annual 'Beat Duke' Parade Includes Over 30 Floats

Thirty-three float entries will be out to win one of the five trophies for winning floats in the "Beat Dook" parade this afternoon.

Spectators will be out to see the "Beat Dook" queen and her court of six beauties who will ride the Pi Kappa Alpha float.

David Grigg, parade chairman of the Pi Kappa Alpha event, reported a strong interest in the parade. Competition will be in four divisions: men's dormitory, men and women's dorm combination, fraternity and sorority.

Parade time is p.m. Units in the parade will form at the Woollen Gym by 2 p.m. The parade route goes through downtown Chapel Hill and return through the campus.

Trophy winners will be announced and presented their awards at a pep rally tonight. Parade judges include: Dr. Katherine Carmichael, dean of women; Dr. James E. King, professor of history; and Roy Armstrong, executive secretary of the Morehead Foundation.

The new queen is Pat Wilson, sponsored by Carr Dorm. Her court and their sponsors include: Sharon Footh, Kappa Sigma; Maxine Greenfield, Alpha Delta Pi; Claire Haner, Delta Kappa Epsilon; Coleman Jenkins, Sigma Chi; Eleanor Smith, Zeta Beta Tau; and Sally Wade, Chi Omega.

The order of the parade is: 1. Police Escort, 2. Navy Color Guard, 3. UNC Band, 4. Alpha Delta Pi, 5. Alpha Tau Omega, 6. Carr-Grimes, 7. Alpha Gamma Delta, 8. Chi Phi, 9. Air Force Drill Team, 10. Cobb-Whitehead, 11. Chi Omega, 12. Tau

The floats will line up in order of number at Woollen Gym. The line will extend down Raleigh Road on the north side of the street. In the event the parade is too long, it will turn down the Country Club Road in front of Cobb Dorm.

Local Fans Requested To Foot It To Game

The University Athletic Dept has requested that Chapel Hill fans walk—not ride—to the ball game Saturday.

Athletic Director Chuck Erickson made the request, noting that if local fans walk, it will alleviate the parking situation and benefit visitors to the town.

SSL Group Elects Levy Chairman

Ed Levy was elected delegation chairman of the UNC State Student Legislature delegation in a meeting held Wednesday night.

The UNC bill, an omnibus statement in favor of individual rights, which have been violated in the past, was presented and approved by the group.

Other delegation officers elected were Sam Poole, delegation vice-chairman; Betty Baxter, delegation secretary; Betty Zeh, delegation social chairman; Frank Elkins, delegation sergeant-at-arms; and John Frye, delegation treasurer.

Roger Foushee and Erwin Fuller were chosen as senate representatives by the delegation, and Gary Greer was chosen as a senate alternate. Foushee was chosen senate floorleader.

The rest of the delegates will occupy the House, and Curtis Gans was chosen to be house floorleader. The bill that the University will present as its primary offering includes a statement of renewed faith in the State Student Legislature's right to speak on all matters, in the light of criticism it received last year.

A blanket statement in opposition to all laws which enforced discrimination by race, creed, or national origin is also a part of the bill.

INFIRMARY

Students in the Infirmary yesterday included: Joanne Hill Scroggs, Julie Ann Wendler, John Granville Alley, Eloise Poe Walker, Herman Edward Tickle and Julian Willis Bradley.

PROF. WILD AT DUKE
Prof. John Wild of the Dept. of Philosophy, Harvard University, will be sponsored in a series of lectures at Duke University by the Lilly Endowment Research Program, Nov. 18, 19 and 21.

The topic of the lectures will be "Christianity and Politics."

Paint-Brush Vandalism Hits Duke

The Monogram Club got a paint job last night. Sometimes around 12 midnight or 1 a.m. the word "Duke" was plastered in huge red letters across the front of the building. No one saw or heard the culprits at their work.

"Duke" is still shining on the Monogram Club, and an employee at the Monogram Club said the defaced part of the building will probably have to be repainted.

'Pied Piper' Pep Rally Starts Tonight At 6:30

Forget the studies for a little while and come a runnin' as the "Pied Piper" pep rally gets under way at 6:30 tonight.

The University Club has boasted that the cheering group will be the biggest this year.

The victory march will begin at Fraternity row with Les Sutorius and his combo piping the students out of the houses, and meantime the University pep band will be marching around the lower quad.

Both bands will lead the students to the intramural field where head cheerleader Carter Jones has worked up a colorful show. Coach Tatum and his football team will be present as the bonfire is lit by a special chemical lighter.

The rally will climax with a mass march into town. The group is expected to converge on Franklin Street at 7:30 p.m.

G. M. SLATE

Activities for Graham Memorial today include: Political Science, 9-10 a.m., Woodhouse Conference Room; Free dance, Les Sutorius playing, 8-12 p.m., Rendezvous Room.

Free Dance Sponsored By GMAB

Couples can step, drag, swing or just plain shuffle Friday night in a free dance in the Graham Memorial Rendezvous Room.

The sound will be provided by Les Sutorius and his combo in the 8-12 p.m. affair. Couples only will be admitted.

This is the third dance in a series sponsored by the Inter-Dormitory Council and GMAB Dance Committee. Two previous dances have been successful, according to Dance Committee Chairman Gay Cowan.

Cowan urged students to continue attending as they have in the past. He said campus dancing was at an all time low and he hoped interest would be renewed through the Friday night dances.

Governing Body Votes Suspension Of Election Law

By DEE DANIELS
Student Legislators voted last night to suspend the election law in order to delay the run-off election until after the Thanksgiving holidays at the first meeting of the 26th session of the Student Legislature.

Jim Crowover (SP) introduced the bill suspending the election law in behalf of Bob Furtado, Elections Board Chairman, who felt that one week is not sufficient time to prepare for a run-off. The bill was passed unanimously.

Both parties organized the Legislature on an equal basis with two independents assuming important posts.

Ralph Cummings, speaker of the Legislature, appointed Ed Levy (ind.) to serve as parliamentarian, while Gary Greer (SP) copped president pro tem from David Grigg (UP).

Ann Harvey (UP) was elected clerk unopposed, and the newly created position of filing clerk went to Sue Wood (UP) who won out over Bob Nobles (SP). Ray Bagwell (SP) bested Bob Grubb (UP) for sergeant-at-arms.

Norman Smith (ind.) won unopposed the chairmanship of the Ways and Means Committee, while Gordon Street (UP) bested Dave Jones (SP) as Finance Committee chairman and Gary Greer won over Bill Crutchfield (UP) for head of Rules Committee.

Three new bills were introduced to (1) appropriate $1,000 to the Fine Arts Forum by David Grigg (UP), (2) create the office of Legislature chaplain by Smith, and (3) send telegrams to Governors Fausus (Ar.) and Almond (Va.) denouncing efforts to evade the decision of the Supreme Court through the abolition of the public school system by Levy.

Job Opening: Editorship Of Playbill

A new student publication is in the market for an editor and business manager.

Playbill, a magazine which will provide a program for campus activities and coming events, has been authorized by Student Legislature and will be undertaken by the Publications Board.

Interviews for editor and business manager will be Tuesday, Nov. 25, in the Woodhouse Conference Room in Graham Memorial.

The editor and business manager will be members of the Publication Board and compensation will be provided for their work.

Income will be through advertising and office space will be available.

Those desiring further details should contact Curtis Gans or Harold O'Tuel.

Furtado Repeats Plea For Good Sportsmanship

Student Body President Don Furtado yesterday repeated his plea for show of good sportsmanship at Saturday's clash with Duke and added that with the victory went the goal posts.

The Panhellenic Council also voiced its desire "to promote and encourage conduct at the game befitting that of Carolina ladies and gentlemen."

Furtado said the captains of the two football teams, the two student body presidents and various other interested students met to consider how competition at the game might be confined to the athletic field.

At the joint meeting representatives decided that "if Duke University is the victor, the Duke students will be allowed to take the goal posts, just as UNC was allowed to do at last year's game."

"I hope that all members of the student body will cooperate with this decision, and if Duke happens to win, all UNC students will stay off the playing field," stated Furtado.

He added that last year Duke won the Atlantic Coast Conference Sportsmanship trophy. "We can't let that happen again," he said. Chief of Police W. D. Blake said his department was not expecting any trouble but added that they would be on hand just in case. "The Duke game is usually quiet; we have the most trouble at games between UNC and Wake Forest or UNC and State," said Blake.

A statement issued Wednesday night by the Athletic Council pointed out that it "was unlawful for any person or persons to be or become intoxicated or make

Paint-Brush Vandals Hit Monogram Club

Dean Robert Cox of Duke has reported that the initials, "UNC," have been painted in yellow and blue "almost everywhere" on the Duke campus. He said that the paint was sprayed on roads, walks, windowsills and doors.

The walk behind the chapel has been painted, but the chapel has been painted, but the chapel has not been damaged, according to Dean Cox.

"We cannot say that Carolina students did it," he said. "We are trying to keep it (the destruction) down on both campuses."
