

Parking Meters--They Draw Praise For Places, Gripes On Police 'Eagerness'

From The Chapel Hill News Leader

Parking meters are causing considerable comment and discussion. Some of it is favorable, some critical. They affect, more personally than anyone, the motorists who must pay the fare--and the merchants who depend on these motorists to park at their store and do business.

To get a cross-section of prevailing opinion on the issue, the News-Leader yesterday took a sampling of comments from eight merchants--their opinion and that of their customers.

In a nutshell, the people like the newly-created parking space, and they dislike just as much the way police are always there with a ticket when time expires.

Here are the comments, unedited:

Store manager--"I am surprised at the very few comments and complaints we've had from customers. They talked much more about them before than now."

Grocery store manager--"Most of the comments I have received have been favorable. People now feel they have a chance to get a fair share of the available parking space. There were a lot of gripes before hand, but now these same people are favorable to the idea."

Store manager--"For the first two or three days I heard nothing favorable, but comments are kind of simmering down. Then, most of them were pretty irate. I happen to favor the meters, and I don't see where people have any complaints. I've actually had customers who don't put any money in, then run in and out of my store two or three times to see if the police are coming."

Store owner--"I've heard an awful lot of griping. A lot of people haven't become accustomed to the idea yet and are caught without pennies and nickels. When they dash to get change, the cops tag their car. Many customers feel the police should be a little more lenient. It hasn't hurt business any, fortunately, because there is not a large shopping center housing free parking on the edge of town."

Store Manager--"I've heard considerable comment, mostly favorable. Customers express a willingness to pay for the assurance they will find some place to park downtown. My opinion is that within two months, it will be an accepted thing."

Store manager--"I have heard very many complaints but many say you can get parking places now. It seems to me that I've heard folks say that sometimes the cops appear to hover over a meter when it is nearing expiration and then pounce a ticket on it. I think they should be a little more lenient. After all, the meters are to help parking, not to punish people."

Store owner--"I've heard lots of praise and a lot of disgust expressed. Some folks from Durham like the meters here because they can't use anything but nickels over there. And some say they are getting parking spaces downtown now for the first time in many years. I've heard complaints about how the police are almost over-eager, being 'Johnny-on-the spot' every time that little red flag pops up."

Store manager--"There has been considerable griping, but then people often-times are looking for something to gripe about. Many favorable comments have been heard about the availability of parking spaces."

Domitory Social Room Open For Duke Weekend

By NEIL MURPHY

Avery, Parker, Teague, Mangum, Winston, Joyner, Connor and Cobb dormitories will have their social rooms open to coeds this weekend.

They will be open from 12 to 1:45 p.m. and from the end of the game till 7:30 p.m.

Jim Scott, chairman of the IDC coed visiting agreement arrangements, said Wednesday, "We won't be able to make it for the Duke game." He spoke of the plan to open all social rooms for the Duke-Carolina weekend.

Of these five all have house-mothers or young married couples living in the men's dorms and all have powder rooms for the women visitors.

The five allowing regular visiting were Florida State, Tennessee, Florida, Rollins and Vanderbilt.

Duke, Georgia Tech and Memphis State allow visiting on special occasions only.

Not allowing visiting at any time were Furman, Pfeiffer, Southwestern, William and Mary, Richmond, Appalachian and Emory.

Scott indicated that the doors and partitions could not be put up in time for the visiting board to pass on the remainder of the dorms.

In a recent survey conducted by the dean of women's office it was discovered that of 15 southeastern schools only five permitted regular coed visiting.

The report sent to the IDC from the office of the dean of women said: "It seems clear that the practice of allowing women visitors in the men's dormitories is far from universal in this sample of coeducational colleges in the Southeast."

"It seems also, that in those schools which do allow such visiting, an adequate structure conforming to the usual requirement of social form, i.e. hostesses present and living in the dormitories, is provided for."

Jim Scott said, "It is the hope of the Visiting Agreement Committee and the dean of women's office that this report will help students realize how privileged they are and at the same time to realize that a great deal of responsibility for the success of this program rests entirely with the individual student."

The plan of the Visiting Committee still remains to open all of the dorms social rooms on one official date.

Before
And After
The Big Game
Meet Your Intelligent Friends In Chapel Hill's
Big Bookshop.
The Intimate
Bookshop
205 East Franklin Street
Open 10 P. M.

BEER - WINE
CHAMPAGNE
SANDWICHES
OF ALL KINDS

Franklin St.
Luncheonette
401 W. Franklin
Next To Bus Station
Phone 9-2846

Cadet Frost Recognized By Air Unit

J. Lindsey Frost has been selected as the outstanding Air Force ROTC Cadet at UNC for the month of October.

A board of five cadet officers made the selection after an interview with cadets competing for the award. The cadet of the month award is presented each month to some cadet at the University.

A 1956 graduate of New Hanover High School, Lindsey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Frost Jr. of Wilmington. He is enrolled in the School of Education with a major in physical education.

CADET OF THE MONTH--Air Force ROTC Cadet J. Lindsey Frost of Wilmington, right, receives the letter notifying him of his selection as Cadet of the Month for Carolina's AFROTC Cadet Corps from Cadet Commander, Cadet Lt. Col. W. S. Godwin.

Boston Doctor Is Lecturer At Symposium

Dr. Joseph M. Foley of the Boston City Hospital will be guest speaker at the annual UNC Medicine Symposium today.

The two-day annual event began Thursday. The two guest participants are Dr. W. Proctor Harvey and Dr. Foley. Dr. Harvey appeared on Thursday's program. Over 100 physicians from the two Carolinas and Virginia are attending the symposium.

Aside from Dr. Foley, a number of faculty members of the UNC School of Medicine will take part in today's program. They are Drs. J. Norman Allen, Allan Downie, Gordon Dugger, Thomas W. Farmer, Eugene Loeser, Margaret Swanton and Ernest Wood.

The morning session, beginning at 9:30, will consist of a workshop in cardiology. Small group discussions of individual cases illustrating problems in the diagnosis and treatment of cerebrovascular disease, the management of vertigo, epilepsy and other clinical problems will be discussed. The afternoon session will be devoted to panel discussions.

Financial assistance for this two-day meeting has been furnished by the N. C. State Board of Health.

Dr. Foley is a native of Massachusetts and received his M.D. degree from the Harvard Medical School. He is a veteran of World War II.

At the present time he is assistant professor of neurology at the Harvard Medical School and neuropathologist at the Boston City Hospital.

Dr. Foley also is a consultant in neurology at the Long Island Hospital, Holy Ghost Hospital, Togus VA Hospital and the West Roxbury VA Hospital.

Nuclear Research Funds Said Needed In Medicine

Much of the money which is now being spent on nuclear energy development and space travel might be better spent on medical research to cure human bodily ailments, the director of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory said here last night.

Dr. Alvin M. Weinberg, addressing the North Carolina chapter of Sigma Xi scientific society, suggested that "it doesn't make too much sense for mankind to spend so much money on elaborate technological research when it might be used to find a cure for cancer or for mental illness."

He pointed out how the use of science as an instrument of national policy has tended to affect our science and in some cases has diverted it from its essential purposes.

Formerly director of the physics division and director of research for the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Dr. Weinberg spoke on "Nuclear Energy and International Science." The program was held in Carroll Hall.

Using the recent Geneva conference as background, he reported progress made in utilization of fission power, using uranium and thorium, and the utilization of fusion power, using "heavy water."

"We are, in effect, learning how to burn both the rocks and the ocean," he said.

Very substantial gains in the fission field are imminent, Dr. Weinberg reported. "In England and many other countries a practical way of producing nuclear energy through fission has been devised."

However, both Russia and U. S. have a common problem in possessing too many other sources of energy for power, to make fission power practical, he said.

"We still face extraordinarily and painfully difficult problems in extracting energy by fusion, which we are not sure that mankind can solve," he continued.

Policy On Cage Tickets At UNC Remains Same

Because of limited seating in Woolen Gym, the Athletic Association will follow the same distribution policy this year on seating at basketball games that has been used for the last few years.

Our first reserved seat game is with Clemson on December 3. Students, faculty members and employees of the University with athletic passbooks must exchange them for specific seating. A priority for the Clemson game will be given to those people whose names start with the letters A - M, and distribution to this group will be made on November 24, 25 and 26.

Any tickets remaining after 4:30 p.m. on November 26 will be distributed on a first-come, first-served basis to anyone who applies. Because of the Thanksgiving holiday period, the first day that passbook holders whose names start with letters N - Z can pick up tickets will be on December 1.

A similar procedure will be followed for the Virginia game on December 8. For that event, people whose names start with the letters N - Z will have a priority exchange period on December 1, 2 and 3. Beginning the morning of December 4, the remaining Virginia tickets will be available to anyone.

This system is worked out to guarantee each passbook holder a priority on certain games. Since all seats will be reserved this season, this will guarantee priority on every other game.

Glen Lennox' Fire Station Bids Are Near

Bids will be received soon on a new fire station for Glen Lennox. Fire Chief John Boone said today that architects are putting finishing touches on plans for the station, which will be near the Patterson-Joyner-Jones clinic.

Chief Boone said details of the new station will be released in about 10 days.

Town Manager Tom Rose told the town's board of aldermen Monday night that signing of a deed for the tract housing the station is merely a "formality." Some $40,000 in town money has been authorized but financing has not been settled, he said.

Beat Dook

MORE
for your car dollar
HERE

Lubrication $1.25
Washing $1.50
Uniflow Oil .55 qt.
Permanent Anti-Freeze $3.00 gal.

Bowden's Esso
208 E. MAIN ST.
CARRBORO
PHONE 9-1831

DAILY CROSSWORD

ACROSS

1. Adjust
2. Turkish city
3. Help
4. Calibers
5. Card (loo)
6. Leg joint
7. Trees
8. Treasurer (abbr.)
9. Noteworthy occasion
10. Make fast (naut.)
11. Heddies of a loom
12. Heavy hammer
13. Footed vase
14. Wound mark
15. An old chicken
16. Exclamations (slang)
17. Beer glasses
18. Stiff
19. Flat-bottom boat
20. Mature owl's cry
21. Bleaching vat
22. Injure anew
23. Melody
24. Born
25. Jewish month
26. A moving part (mach.)
27. Free
28. Exist
29. Weed of grainfields (Bib.)
30. Mineral spring
31. Caps
32. Leveling slip
33. Greek architecture
34. In that place
35. Maxim
36. Diminished, as the moon
37. Blame
38. Faming

DOWN

1. Down
2. Down
3. Down
4. Down
5. Down
6. Down
7. Down
8. Down
9. Down
10. Down
11. Down
12. Down
13. Down
14. Down
15. Down
16. Down
17. Down
18. Down
19. Down
20. Down
21. Down
22. Down
23. Down
24. Down
25. Down
26. Down
27. Down
28. Down
29. Down
30. Down
31. Down
32. Down
33. Down
34. Down
35. Down
36. Down
37. Down
38. Down

Saturday's Answer

35. Small branch
36. Fugian Indian
37. Shinto temple
41. Twaddell (abbr.)

Student Show Script Contest Is Underway

A prize of $50 is being offered to the winning script submitted for Sound and Fury, student produced musical comedy to be presented in the spring.

Deadline for entries in the script contest will be Dec. 1, Bob Carter, president of GMAB, has announced. But there may not be a winner unless the best caliber of work is submitted.

The purpose of the contest is to give more students an opportunity to show their skill in writing and at the same time get a script for a future production.

A committee of five persons appointed by Howard Henry, director of GM, and Bob Carter will judge the entries. Carter said he hopes a winner will be selected before Dec. 15. The production is planned for mid spring semester.

Entries may be submitted at either the information office of GM or at the GMAB office.

A is to pound—but without the you miss the whole idea of a

A is to smoke—but without flavor
you miss the whole idea of smoking!

When it comes to flavor...

IT'S WHAT'S UP FRONT THAT COUNTS

Up front in Winston is FILTER-BLEND that's why WINSTON TASTES GOOD like a cigarette should

IF IT HADN'T GOT IT HERE
IT HADN'T GOT IT!

Winston

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

MEET ME UNDER THE CLOCK

Weekends and the holidays are so much more fun in New York if you stop at The Biltmore, traditional favorite on every campus in the country! Economical, too.

Write to our College Department for special student and faculty rates and reservations.

The BILTMORE
Medison Avenue at 43rd St., N. Y. 17, N. Y.
AT GRAND CENTRAL STATION

Other REALTY HOTELS--The Barclay & Park Lane
Harry M. Anholt, President