Somebody Fouls Up, And We're All Pagan

Have Carolina students become pagans? cannibals?

It would seem that they have, judging from an item in Friday's edition of The Daily Tar Heel.

The article was a notice in Covering the Campus about the Olin T. Binkley Memorial Baptist Church. A sentence at the bottom of the article read as follows: "Small children will be carved during the service in the YMCA Building."

"Carved"?

FACULTY

Meeting Topics Will Vary

Other UNC business faculty at Chicago meetings during Dec. 27-30 will be Prof. Arthur M. Whitehill, American Business Writing Assn. and Industrial Relations Research Assn. Ralph L. Day and C. A. Kirkpatrick, American Marketing Assn. Prof. Kirkpatrick will preside over a committee consideration of the teaching of selling, and Day will give a paper on applying mathematical programming to marketing problems.

Six other men will attend the American Economic Assn. sessions: Frank J. Schwenker, R. W. Pfouts, J. C. D. Blaine, Paul N. Guthrie, Robert L. Bunting and Avery B. Cohan. Schwenker will appear also on the program of the American Assn. of University Teachers of Insurance, moderating a session on "Taxation of Insurance." Pfouts will meet with the Econometric Society, and Blaine will attend a special gathering for Danforth Fellows.

Others heading for Chicago over Christmas will be Prof. Norman W. Mattis of the English Dept., to the Speech Assn. of American meeting; E. R. Rankin, head of the School Relations Bureau of the Extension Division, to a National University Extension Assn. committee meeting; and Samuel Selden and Harry E. Davis of the Dramatic Art Dept., to American Educational Theatre Assn. sessions.

Mattis, a member of the Association's assembly, will give a paper, "The Lincoln-Douglas Debates in Retrospect," at the meeting commemorating the debates' centennial. Meeting in conjunction with the Speech Assn. will be the Extension Committee on Discussion and Debate Materials and Interstate Cooperation, of which Rankin is treasurer. The committee will decide the national high school debate query for use in 40 state debating leagues.

Selden is second vice president of the AETA, and Davis is chairman of its National Auditions Committee, which will begin interviews for roles in the nation's outdoor dramas. Historians gathering for the American Historical Assn. and the Southern Historical Assn. in Washington include Kenan Profs. Fletcher M. Green, Loren C. MacKinney and Hugh T. Lefler. Profs. Carl H. Pegg, Frank J. Klingberg, James W. Patton, J. Carlyle Sitterson, James E. King, Elisha P. Douglass, Clifford M. Foust, Robert M. Miller and Stephen Baxter.

Green and MacKinney will have special roles on the program, Green as a paper discussant and MacKinney as member of a committee compiling a guide to photo-copied historical materials in the U. S. and Canada.

Miss Helen B. Parker of the UNC Press will go to Washington to direct an exhibit for the Assn. of American University Presses at the Dec. 21-31 meeting of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

Kenan Prof. B. L. Ullman and Paddison Prof. Robert J. Getty of the Classics Dept. will attend the American Philological Assn. meeting in Cincinnati, beginning Dec. 28. Getty, currently first vice president, has been nominated for the presidency.

Meeting concurrently will be the American Institute of Archaeology, and going from UNC will be Prof. J. Penrose Harland and graduate students R. M. Frazer Jr. and Marvin Berry. Harland, president of the AIA local chapter, will attend philological meetings also.

UNC musicians conferring at post-Christmas meetings will be Kenan Prof. Glen Haydon, who is department chairman, William S. Newman and Glenn E. Watkins. They will be in Boston for the American Musicological Society meeting, and Newman will also remain for the College Music Society meeting.

One UNC philosopher, Prof. Stephen Emery, will go to Burlington, Vt., for a Dec. 27-29 meeting, at which he will comment on a paper dealing with mythology and metaphysics.

The post-New Year period also will see UNC representatives at meetings with athletic officials going to Cincinnati on Jan. 3-6. Prof. O. K. Cornwell will represent UNC at NCAA sessions, and Walters Rabb will meet with the American Assn. of College Baseball Coaches.

REMEMBER WHY THERE IS A CHRISTMAS—Daily Tar Heel photographer Bill Brinkhous photographed a florist's prop to remind readers that there is more than Santa Claus and indigestion to the Christmas holiday.

Reds Claim Secret Document

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio council in its final communique, announced a speedup in defense arrangements and declared its "manifest will to use nuclear retaliatory forces to repel aggression."

Moscow radio commentator Piotr Zarin said document M.C. 70 "is not subject to discussion by any western Parliament."

Message From Satellite Carries Peace Message

acy. It pulled U. S. military-scientific prestige to a new peak above the depths of 14 months ago when Russia's Sputnik I flashed aloft.

Eisenhower's message did two things. It emphasized, as he and the Pentagon did in announcing the launching last night, the peaceful aspects of space exploration. And it dramatized the workability of an entirely new concept of space communication.

The 150-pound payload in the 8,700-pound Atlas contains a complex mechanism. It is designed to receive messages and, upon command signal, send them back to earth.

The first tryout Thursday was partially successful. The message got to the satellite all right but ed reporters at the White House to listen to the recording. Fiddling with his glasses in one hand, the President listened intently and expressed puzzlement that one sentence was garbled.

"But it didn't hurt the message any," the President said.
