

Chapel Hill, N.C.
WEATHER
Cloudy and colder

The Daily Tar Heel

VIRGINIA
The armor of massive resistance is cracking. See page 2.

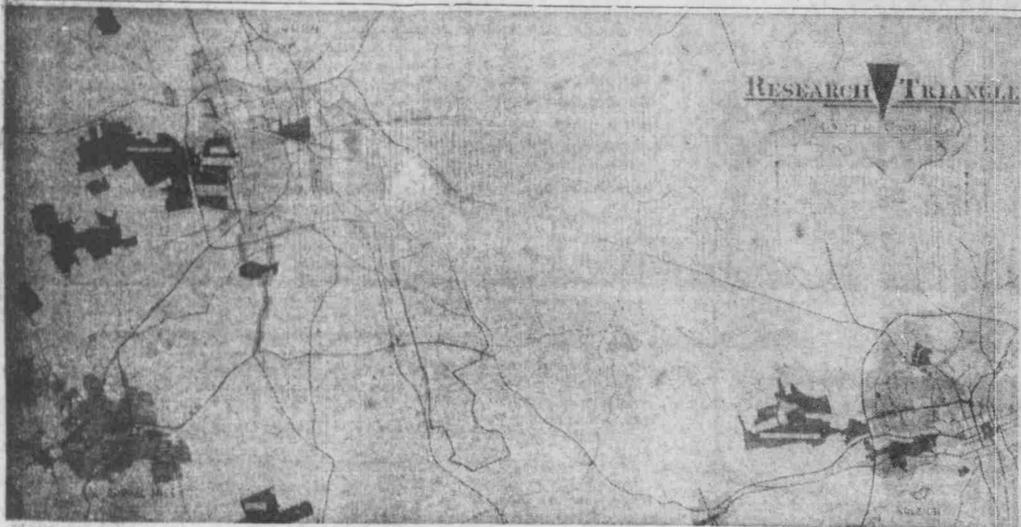

VOLUME LXVII NO. 81

Complete Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, SATURDAY, JANUARY 31, 1959

Offices in Graham Memorial

PAGE FOUR THIS ISSUE

RESEARCH TRIANGLE — This photograph shows the location of the Research Triangle which will be located inside the triangle formed by Chapel Hill, Durham, and Raleigh. The project will employ and estimate 25,000 persons within the next 10-15 years. The research area itself will provide no housing for employees and the three nearby cities are expected to absorb the influx of workers. The effects of the Research Triangle and growth of the University were discussed Wednesday night at a meeting of the Chapel Hill Community Council. The meeting was attended by more than 100 persons.

Next Decade Will Cover UNC Expansion

Next Decade Will Cover UNC Expansion

Plans for a multi-million dollar construction program over the next decade are being drafted to meet skyrocketing enrollments at UNC.

Projections for growth which have been remarkably accurate to the present time predict an enrollment of nearly 14,500 students in 1970. To house, feed, and educate this onslaught of new students six major construction projects are now in various stages of operation and 11 more major units are scheduled before 1970. Also 12 existing buildings will be extensively renovated.

These plans were revealed by J. Arthur Branch, UNC business manager, at a public meeting sponsored by the Chapel Hill Community Council in the Morehead Building Wednesday night.

Projects already under way include the addition to Phillips Hall to be completed next spring, addition to Peabody Hall which will get under way next week. A 32-building married student housing development to contain 208 one and two room apartments will be at least partially completed by next fall. Bids will soon be taken on an annex to the nurses dorm which will house 82 student nurses. A building to house the School of Pharmacy is now under construction.

Branch explained that all the other proposed construction hinged on a maze of budgetary process, subject to final approval by the North Carolina General Assembly. Since considerable construction would be necessary, however, to the continuation of the University in meeting needs of rising enrollments, Branch listed a schedule of construction probably to be undertaken before 1970.

New buildings will include a $2 million student center to be located on Emerson (baseball) field. Three

See BASKETBALL, page 3

Furtado Expresses Regret On Statement About Durham Paper Still Refuses Comment On Reported Cheating

'Rush' Story Is Real, But Of Brief Run

By RON SHUMATE

The age-old movie story of the rush, rush, in the life of an actor played a brief run in Chapel Hill Friday night.

But the story wasn't on a screen. The epic took place in the short space between the Carolina Theatre and the parking lot behind Sloan's Drugstore.

Starring in the role was the well-known veteran of the "rush" wars, James Whitmore. He was in Chapel Hill viewing "The Old Man and the Sea."

Whitmore came roaring out of the theatre like the place was on fire. He was slightly hunched over, his coat collar was turned up and his hat was pulled down partly over his face.

After a short chase (as far as the sidewalk) he was apprehended and questioned. He explained his great rush: "I'm late for an appointment in Durham. I was supposed to be there at 7:30." The time was then 7:51. So in the short walk to his shiny black and white '59 automobile, the questions and answers flew.

Whitmore has been in Hillsboro filming a television series entitled

See WHITMORE, page 3

Student Body President Don Furtado yesterday expressed regret at having made any statement "which might reflect upon the editorial integrity of the Durham Morning Herald."

Furtado referred to his statement in Friday's Daily Tar Heel concerning the alleged stolen exams, in which he refused to comment on the situation. Furtado was quoted as saying "The Durham Morning Herald has done enough damage already."

"This comment was made as a result of the questions of several students who had asked me about such a supposed article by the Herald. Obviously, I was misinformed by these students, for there has been no story by the Herald on this subject as far as I can learn," said Furtado.

Student leaders still refused to comment on whether or not a cheating ring existed.

Hugh Patterson, chairman of the Men's Honor Council, said he knew nothing of any trial, supposedly to be held Monday night. However, Howard Holderness, a member of the Honor Council, said he had been told to "call a meeting for Monday night. There will be a trial."

Holderness declined to comment on the nature of the trials. He said the official notification of the nature of the trials would have to come from the Attorney General's office.

Holderness also declined to state where the trials would be held. "I do not think it would be the nature of the Council to reveal the place of the trials." This is standard procedure for the Council not to reveal their meeting places.

Prof. Wallace E. Caldwell, of the UNC History Department, said he received a telephone call Friday night, "from the president of the Honor Council," warning him that some students planned to "leave the room to receive help on the final exam." Prof. Caldwell said the caller asked him to keep all the students in the classroom.

Prof. Caldwell said he kept his students in his classroom during both of the exams he gave Saturday.

Sam Magill, Assistant Dean of Student Affairs, said he could not give out any information, concerning this cheating matter, which Student Government does not wish to release itself. "That has always been my policy," Magill said, "though I do know something about the matter."

Five Coeds To Describe UNC Scene

The Carolina scene will be described to Mademoiselle magazine by five newly selected UNC College Board members who are Virginia Aldige, Dee Dee Devere, Ann Harvey, Susan McCotter and Jane Reah White.

Advocating the UNC type government, Ann Harvey a senior of Sheffield, Ala., submitted "Self-government is better than good government" to place on the College Board. The ADPI sorority member intends to do fashion work in magazine publications.

UNC art winner, Jane Reah White, also an ADPI, satirically depicted a formal dance. The Roanoke Rapids native plans to teach art upon her graduation this year.

An essay on student culture placed YWCA President Dee Dee Devere of Morganton on the board. The Chi 6 sorority member plans to do advertising promotions next year.

Working in an embassy in France is junior "Ginny" Aldige's ambition. She is a Stray Greek from Durham.

Nearness of the deadline for the first of two assignments which will determine the 20 girls selected as Guest Editors provoked apprehension among some College Board members who said they had hardly begun. The 20 Guest Editors will help to write, edit and illustrate Mademoiselle's 1959 August College issue.

S. Berman To Close Dept. Store

A Chapel Hill merchant is going out of business after 47 years, within 90 days, S. Berman will soon close the doors of his establishment, Berman's Department Store.

Berman is selling his stock because of bad health. He will retain ownership of the building, however, and lease it to the Intimate Book Shop.

Paul Smith, Intimate owner, said yesterday the book shop would be moved into Berman's as soon as the building is remodeled. More space is needed for sorting books and placing stock, he said.

Berman's will be closed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in preparation for a store wide sale, which will start Thursday. The entire stock will be marked down.

'Y' To Elect President

The YMCA cabinet will select a new YMCA president Monday. Bill Sugg, former president, resigned at the end of the semester.

The executive committee has met and will propose candidates for the position at the meeting.

G. M. SLATE

Nothing is scheduled in Graham Memorial today.

State Affairs Committee Shows Headway Signs

Carolina students who have been talking to their legislators in almost all of North Carolina's 100 counties may be making some headway.

Norman S. Smith, chairman of the Committee on State Affairs, said Thursday that in light of the more favorable financial position of the state many items of the budget may be fulfilled.

Smith also said there is growing interest in a bond issue for capital construction which will include many millions of dollars for the University.

Approximately 140 students contacted members of the General Assembly during the Christmas holidays and also during the mid-semester break.

'Job Huntin' Time Arrives For Seniors

It's job hunting time for seniors.

And the University Placement Service is ready to arrange interviews with employers for seniors and other student seeking jobs this spring or summer or after military service.

Students wanting work have been asked to register now with the Placement Service.

Placement Director J. M. Gallo-way said yesterday the calendar for February is heavily scheduled with company representatives seeking potential employees. Of the more than 200 company representatives who come to UNC during the year, more than half come in February or March.

Last year the Placement Service arranged 3,467 interviews between students and employers. Of this number 762 interviews were in February.

Housing Area In Planning For Greeks

Plans were revealed Wednesday night for the development of a fraternity-sorority area away from the residential districts of Chapel Hill.

Frank G. Umstead, chairman of the Chapel Hill Planning Board, announced that an area already has been chosen to take care of eight to 10 fraternity houses. This and future developments will be in the form of courts, around which several fraternity or sorority houses will be constructed.

"We intend to eliminate the influence of fraternity and sorority houses in residential areas," Mr. Umstead said. He noted that the houses were unpopular among the other residents in the areas where they are presently located, that "everyone feels they are needed but no one wants to live near one."

The date that the initial project will be undertaken and the specific location were not revealed.

Concert Stars Pianist

Iren Marik, Hungarian pianist, will open the second half of the Tuesday Evening Series sponsored by the UNC Music Department with a concert Feb. 3 at 8 p.m. in Hill Hall.

Born in Hungary, Miss Marik obtained her early musical training in Budapest where she was graduated from the Franz Liszt Royal Academy of Music. She has also studied with the late Bela Bartok and with George Woodhouse in London.

After her first European concert tour, she lived in London where she broadcast regularly over BBC. Miss Marik, in addition to performances in London and the British Isles, has appeared in leading European cities.

Toured U. S. and Canada in the United States and Canada, she has given recitals in Town Hall, Constitution Hall and the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C.

Pieces on the Feb. 3 program include "Organ Prelude in G Minor" by Bach-Silotti, "Sonata Opus 111 in C Minor" by Beethoven, "Images, Book II" by Debussy; Bartok's "Suite, Opus 14"; and "Berceuse" and "Valse d'Obermann" by Liszt.

Political Science Professor Speaks At Winter Seminars

Prof. David G. Monroe of the UNC Department of Political Science is one of the main speakers at the 1959 mid-winter seminars on "State Police Administration" in Louisville, Ky.

The two-week meeting, through Feb. 6, is sponsored by the Southern Police Institute and is held at the University of Louisville.

A representative from each of the 48 states will make up the class to study state police administration. All of the men hold executive positions in state-wide law enforcement agencies.

Dr. Monroe will lecture on organization and administration of the state police function, fundamental practices, recent constitutional developments in state-wide law enforcement and jurisdictional problems and procedures in state police administration.

Author of "The State and Provincial Police," a study of police functioning in the United States and Canada, Dr. Monroe has been a member of the UNC faculty since 1947.

DR. DAVID G. MONROE addresses seminar

Orientation Position Is Open

Applicants for the position of Orientation Chairman have been invited to sign up at or phone the Student Government office by Student Body President Don Furtado.

Furtado announced yesterday that interviews will be held Feb. 11 beginning at 2:30 p.m.

The Orientation Chairman is responsible for the overall planning of both men's and women's orientation in the fall. He will also act as chairman of a committee to select other members of the orientation committee.

There are no definite qualifications or requirements for the chairman. Furtado's appointment must be approved by Student Legislature. The name of the appointee will be presented to the Legislature on Feb. 13.

Individual interviews will be conducted by Furtado, Vice President Ralph Cummings, past women's Orientation Chairman Katie Stewart and Herman Godwin, last year's Orientation Chairman.

Furtado Notes Committee Vacancies

Students may apply now for two vacancies on the Foreign Student Committee, Student Body President Don Furtado announced recently.

This committee selects candidates for Goettingen scholarships and coordinates activities of foreign students on campus. The committee will also serve as one of the groups to plan the expanded foreign student program which will get underway in the spring.

Any student may secure an application blank for committee membership at the Student Government office or telephone Miss Julia Staples, student government secretary.

Club Sets Sale Date For Tickets To Dinner

Tickets go on sale Monday in the Y Building for the Cosmopolitan Club's annual International Dinner next month.

The dinner will be held Saturday, Feb. 7, in the basement of the University Baptist Church at 6:30 p.m. Students who purchased tickets for the International Dinner that was postponed last semester have been asked to exchange these for new tickets.

The price of the tickets is $1. The meal will include food from such foreign countries as India, Korea and France.

In charge of the International Dinner is Sipra Bose, Cosmopolitan Club President Alan Costa is available for any additional information.

INFIRMARY

Students in the Infirmary yesterday included:

Mrs. Sara Barnes Keating, Barbara Burkhardt, Robbie Cecile Martin, Hamilton Tatum Sparger, Nyal Zena Williams, Vincent Joseph Olenick, William Earl Post Jr., James Richard Hokanson, Jerry Wallace Haney, Robert Taylor Adams, Marion Lee Martin, James Oliver Baily, Marylyn Dixie Jackson, Judith Ann Rader, Lloyd Benton Smith Jr. and William Arthur Neustadt.

'Scuttlebutt' To Serve Men In New Dormitories Is Open

A "Scuttlebutt" for men living in the three new dormitories in the Kenan woods area is now open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. in the basement of Avery Dorm.

The "temporary" campus store was opened Wednesday and will continue to serve students living in Avery, Parker and Teague until a building housing a cafeteria and campus store is constructed in 1961. The new building will be constructed at the same time an eight-story dormitory is built.

Until 1961 the campus store in Avery will sell such things as: donuts, coffee, hot chocolate, ice cream, cigarettes, sandwiches, candy, crackers and bottle drinks. No fountain drinks will be served.

Operating the campus store are self-help students.

The campus store was set up after the Interdormitory Council and Campus Stores Committee acted on an apparent need of the 700 students in the three new dormitories who are so far removed from the main campus. Students living in rooms on the basement floor of Avery were polled in December and gave no objections to the establishment of a campus store on their floor.

Ashmore Here For Lectures

Harry Ashmore, editor of the "Arkansas Gazette" arrived in Chapel Hill last night to act as a visiting lecturer in the UNC School of Business "Great Ideas Weekend."

Ashmore, who rode his newspaper through the Little Rock integration tide, will talk to the Executive program at 8:30 a.m. The meeting is closed to the public because of the small size of the room used.

A press conference is planned today at 1:30 p.m. in the faculty seminar room on the third floor of Carroll Hall.

Germanics Specialist Gets Assignment In Publications

UNC Germanics specialist W. P. Friederich, co-president of the International Comparative Literature Congress, has received another professional assignment in the publications field.

Friederich is one of three Americans who have been invited to participate in the editorial work of the "French" Review of Comparative Literature." Named with the UNC professor were H. Hatzfeld of Catholic University and Henri Peyre of Yale.

With this selection Professor Friederich is now connected with three of the world's four periodicals in comparative literature: the American Journal, "Comparative Literature," which he founded in 1949; "Yearbook of Comparative Literature," published in Chapel Hill since 1952; and the French Journal, founded in Paris in 1921.

A member of the UNC faculty since 1935, Dr. Friederich taught formerly at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Yale University. Originally from Switzerland, he was educated at Bern, the Sorbonne in Paris and at Harvard.

DR. W. P. FRIEDERICH assigned editorial writing

Student Party To Hear Furtado

A major policy address by Student Body President Don Furtado will highlight a Student Party meeting to be held at 7:30 Monday night in the Rendezvous Room in Graham Memorial.

Furtado's speech will outline his proposed legislative and executive program for the coming months. "This meeting will be the official kick-off of the Student Party's spring campaign to furnish student government with the best possible leadership for the coming year," Student Party Chairman John Brooks said.

All SP members are requested to attend and be prepared to pay party dues of $1.00 which will be collected at the door. Brooks said that other interested visitors and prospective SP members are invited to attend.

Punch and cookies will be served.

Nothing To Do?

For students who complain that there's nothing to do at the beginning of the new semester, here's how to rid yourself of the "boredom." Work on The Daily Tar Heel.

The newspaper needs new staff members to write news, columns, sports and do art work. Most of the work done on the paper is completed between 2 and 5 p.m. daily. This time is usually convenient for students who have classes in the morning hours.

Students interested in work on The Daily Tar Heel may come to the newspaper office in Graham Memorial any afternoon.

A staff meeting will be announced soon.