Legislators Resume Work This Evening

By DEE DANIELS

The amended Levy bill and a bill establishing a Campus Affairs Board will be discussed tonight at the first meeting of the Student Legislature for the spring semester.

The solons will meet at 7:30 in Phi Hall, 4th floor, New East.

The Ed Levy (SP-UP) bill to send telegrams to the governor of Arkansas and Virginia concerning school integration was defeated by the Legislature Dec. 4.

But the bill was reconsidered after Gray Greer (SP) amended it to provide for sending registered letters instead of telegrams and modified the wording of the message on Jan. 8.

The Ways and Means Committee passed it unfavorably this week. The action, which was not unanimous, was taken due to recent developments in Virginia.

Several members of the Committee objected to the presentation of the bill to Legislature without removal of (1) the Almond communique, while retaining the Faubus letter and (2) the financial provision which authorizes the sending of telegrams, since it has been modified to send letters.

Jim Crownover (SP) presented a bill at the last meeting of Legislature to establish a Campus Affairs Board. The Board would replace the miscellaneous committees which are appointed by the student body president throughout the year to deal with various problems. Committees have been set up in the past for such matters as the student dining hall, study areas, fraternity parking problem and bicycle racks.

The Board, if the bill is sanctioned, would consist of 10 members and a chairman appointed by the president of the student body. All bills dealing with campus welfare passed by the Legislature would be referred to the newly created Board.

In action on the bill, the Ways and Means Committee changed the name of the Board to Campus Affairs. In the bill, it was called Campus Welfare. The Committee also defined more clearly the powers, organization and assumption of duties of the Board.

A bill, presented by Norman Smith (ind.) on Jan. 8, to present to the student body a referendum proposing an amendment to the student constitution which will distinguish personal honor from recommended duty is being withheld indefinitely.

According to Smith, new proposals for the restructuring of the entire judicial system will either include or preclude the suggestions of the bill.

Legislature will also elect a speaker pro tem and a new chairman of the Rules Committee tonight. Gary Greer, present speaker pro tem and Rules chairman, moved from his district the first of the semester.

According to Ralph Cummings, speaker of Legislature, three representatives have resigned by letter and four have moved from their districts. This includes four Student Party members, two from the University Party and one who is doubly endorsed.

construction of a shelf in each enclosed telephone booth in men's dormitories.

The resolution passed by a unanimous vote of the Council body. The action came following the recent outbreak of telephones being ripped from dormitory walls.

Last Thursday night eight telephones were torn from their places. Four of these were in Connor, three in Cobb and one in Winston.

One IDC member reported that the receivers were torn from the wires in his dorm, but the coin boxes were not bothered. Only one of the missing receivers has turned up at the present time.

Rudy Edwards, IDC president, said "We have good reason to believe that only one or two persons are doing the damage."

Edwards said that the IDC is currently tracing several "tips" as to the identity of the assailants.

In commenting earlier in the week on the situation, Edwards said he feels that the offense "is serious enough to demand expulsion from the University."

Earlier in the year several telephones were jerked off a wall in Cobb dorm, where the offenses have been more frequent.

A representative from the Chapel Hill telephone company was originally scheduled to speak to the council, but due to prevailing circumstances he did not speak. Edwards said the representative would discuss the matter at next week's meeting.

The body voted to hold their next meeting Wed., Feb. 11, instead of the next regularly scheduled meeting date, which fell on the same night as the Carolina-State basketball game.)

The co-ed visiting agreement, which is now in effect, is being utilized in only three dormitories at present. Lewis, Mangum and Aycock are the only dorms which have sponsors, which is a prerequisite for the visiting agreement to go into effect in dorms.

Jim Scott of Lewis dorm, chairman of the Co-ed Visiting Agreement Committee, emphasized that these sponsors do not have to be present every weekend when the dorms have open house. The sponsors' duties are to chaperone dances and receptions and help with decoration of the dorm social rooms.

Model U.N. Assembly Planned For Carolina

A model United Nations assembly will be held at UNC from April 9-11. The assembly will be sponsored by the State Collegiate Council of the United Nations. The host committee is the local YMCA United Nations Education Committee.

Each of the participating schools will represent a member nation of the UN. They will present all the arguments, fears and tensions of their delegated country. Fifteen colleges and universities already have accepted the invitations sent by the committee.

The national president of the CCUN and several of his aides will be at the assembly. Guest speakers will soon be announced.

Carolina students who have a working knowledge of international affairs are needed to head discussion groups at the assembly. Interested students have been asked to contact Liz Howell, Whitehead Dorm, 89066.

JERRY STOKES
... current events leader

GMAB Group To Be Led By Stokes

Jerry Stokes is the new chairman of the Current Events Committee of the Graham Memorial Activities Board.

Stokes was appointed to that position this week by GMAB President Bob Carter to replace Louis May, who recently resigned the post.

In addition to Stokes' appointment, Carter also announced GMAB committee projects for the semester.

GMAB's big weekend will come March 6 with the "Lost Weekend" dance and concert, featuring Dave Brubeck for the concert and the Gladioli and the Shadows for the dance that night. Gay Cowan, chairman of the Dance Committee, is in charge of arrangements for the "Lost Weekend."

Another important event of a GMAB committee is the performance of pianist Roger Williams, who will appear here March 8, sponsored by the Student Entertainment Committee. Chairman of this committee is Bob Borden.

Other activities planned include a pool tournament, Feb. 9-25, and eight Petites Musicales. Free flicks for this semester begin Friday and Saturday night this week and will continue through May.

Free juke box music and combos will provide music for Friday night dances in the Rendezvous Room.

The Sound and Fury musical, to be held in May, is also sponsored by GMAB.

Politics In House Underway

RALEIGH — Legislative circles buzzed Wednesday with a report that Gov. Hodges had offered Rep. Addison Hewlett a Superior Court judgeship that would have taken Hewlett out of his successful race for the House speakership.

Neither Hodges nor Hewlett would comment on the report.

The Superior Court judgeship in Hewlett's judicial district became vacant last week when Gov. Hodges named Judge Clifton L. Moore of Burgaw an Associate Justice of the State Supreme Court. The Governor appointed Rudolph I. Mintz of Wilmington to the post.

Hewlett was chosen Speaker Tuesday night as the climax of a hotly-contested race with Rep. Carl Venters of Onslow. Venters was an administration stalwart in the 1957 General Assembly, serving as chairman of the important Appropriations Committee. The Governor insisted throughout the race which began nearly two years ago that he was neutral and would not take sides in the contest.

Hewlett was asked whether he would confirm or deny the report. He then reiterated he had no comment, adding, "The speakership race is over. Let's all get together." He said he was determined to work for the best interests of the state and he felt that was the Governor's attitude.

One legislator, who asked that his name not be used, said flatly Hewlett had been offered the judgeship and turned it down.

One Venters supporter said the report of the offer spread like wildfire in the closing days of the speakership race. "I'll bet it cost us 6 to 8 votes," he added. Ironically, one Hewlett man said the report had cost their side votes, too.

Spring Elections Date Announced

Spring elections this year will be held April 7. This was the date decided upon at a meeting yesterday afternoon of the Elections Board.

As yet no new Elections Board chairman has been named.

Still More Publicity: Don't Forget Germans

Joining Kai Winding and his orchestra and jazz trumpeter John Birks "Dizzy" Gillespie for the Winter Germans concert Saturday afternoon, Feb. 14, will be popular and jazz vocalist Chris Connor.

Miss Connor will sing several of her well known hit recordings during the concert in Memorial Hall beginning at 3 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 14.

Coming from a musical family, Miss Connor worked for several years in the music world before arriving at her present fame. A clarinetist in high school, she began singing with the University of Missouri band and then started working in the professional field with a Kansas City group led by trombonist Bob Brookmeyer.

Her first big band jobs came with Claude Thornhill and Jerry Wald, but she made her first impression on the music world when she went to work with Stan Kenton in 1950 on the recommendation of June Christy.

After three years with Kenton, Miss Connor began to make her first single recordings and nightclub appearances. Her Bethlehem albums of "Chris," "This Is Chris" and "Lullaby of Birdland" were received successfully throughout the country.

Later she transferred to Atlantic Records and made her first hit recording, "I Miss You So."

Miss Connor is considered one of the best singers in the Anita O'Day-June Christy "cool" school. She is especially characterized by her throaty effects on ballads and slower songs. Popular recordings she has made in the slower mood include "Mixed Emotions," "Portrait of Ronnie" and "Lush Life."

Al Salley To Produce 'Oh Hellas'

Al Salley will co-ordinate the production of this year's Sound and Fury show, "Oh Hellas."

The production will be presented early in May.

Salley was named producer of the student show by GMAB President Bob Carter yesterday. The director of Sound and Fury has not yet been selected.

Sound and Fury is an annual musical comedy entirely written, produced and directed by students. The script for the show was written by Lew Hardee.

In taking over his new position, Sound and Fury Producer Salley said he needed students to work in many areas of the show.

"We are interested in getting wide participation from the students because a particularly large cast and production staff are going to be needed this year," he said.

Heels Top Terps 64-57

By RUSTY HAMMOND

Carolina's nationally second-ranked Tar Heels rolled over defending ACC champ Maryland here last night as sophomore York Larese scored half the team's points in a 64-57 win.

Larese, who wound up with 32 counters, got 19 of them in the second half. He was deadly all night with his fall-away jump and hit several lay-ups to boot.

The victory pushed surprising Carolina to a 13-1 season record and an unbeaten 8-0 mark in the conference.

In a last minute surprise, Doug Moe started and played most of the game. Tuesday it was reported he was on the doubtful list due to an injured foot. He wasn't effective as usual, though, only getting 4 points.

Maryland managed to stay fairly close to Carolina until the closing minutes of the first half when the Tar Heels really poured it on. Things stayed fairly even until 6 straight points by Dick Kopley put Carolina ahead 15-10. But the lead was short-lived as Maryland hit 7 straight of its own to go ahead 19-17. Maryland led 23-22 with 4:21 on the clock, but after Salz's jump at 3:41 made it 24-23 Carolina, the Tar Heels were never headed for the rest of the game.

The score stood 30-27, Carolina, with 1:46 to go, but then Salz, Larese, and Moe each hit a driving lay-up to give the Heels their 9-point halftime spread of 36-27.

Carolina experienced little difficulty in keeping at a safe distance through most of the game, though Maryland pulled within 6 at 42-36 and later scrapped to within 5 at 59-54 with 3:08 in the game.

But a free throw by Larese and two more by Salz gave the Heels the lead they needed to go on and (See TAR HEELS, page 4 col. 1)

Honor Council Convicts One For Cheating

One student was cleared and another was convicted on cheating charges by the Men's Honor Council Tuesday night.

Hugh Patterson, Council chairman, said yesterday that a student accused of using notes in a classics examination was cleared of all charges. The other student was found guilty on two charges of cheating and put on probation.

WRC Debates Late Grants After Games

By BARBARA DEANS

Possible late permission for coeds after major basketball games was discussed by the Women's Residence Council yesterday.

The idea was referred to a committee. As the proposal stands the WRC would decide before each game whether or not it merits late permission.

In co-operation with the Infirmary the WRC will erect a "Have You Signed Out?" sign at the Infirmary's admissions desk. This is being done in an effort to decrease the number of coeds who forget to sign out when going to the Infirmary.

A 2 a.m. late permission has been granted for all coeds on Friday, Feb. 13, during German weekend.

The council announced that second semester freshmen with C averages will have privileges for six weekends off campus and will not have closed study.

A schedule for interviewing applicants for Women's Orientation Chairman and Woman's Handbook editor will be announced later.

HELMSTEDT, GERMANY — Under sharp attack by the United States, Soviet authorities yesterday turned loose a U. S. Army truck convoy they had held in East Germany for 53 hours.

The four-truck convoy and its five grim soldiers rolled into West Germany, past the checkpoint on the border between East and West Germany, at 6:12 p.m. yesterday.

That was after the U. S. State Department, backed by President Eisenhower, had delivered a stiff protest in Moscow against any interference with the Western Allies' access to Berlin.

The convoy, en route from Berlin to West Germany, was detained Monday afternoon within sight of the East-West border.

The Soviet Army demanded an inspection of the cargoes. But Findley Burns Jr., political adviser to the U. S. Army Mission in East Berlin who came here for the final negotiations said the Russians were not allowed to inspect the inside of the trucks.

The United States thus won a point in its efforts to prevent the Russians from gradually clamping a stranglehold on the highway supply line to Berlin, isolated 130 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

The detention of the trucks was fast ballooning into a major diplomatic crisis when the Russians gave in.

Following three U. S. Army protests yesterday in Berlin and Frankfurt, President Eisenhower announced to his news conference today that a vigorous demand was being made by the State Department for release of the convoy. He said the United States never had allowed the Russians inspection privileges.

The State Department note released later called the Russian action "unwarranted and inadmissible." Refusal to let the trucks through without inspection, it said, was a "clear violation" of American rights, under four-power agreements since 1945, to free access to Berlin.

RING SALE

Today is the last day this month for juniors and seniors to order class rings. Orders are being taken from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Y building.

Sponsoring the ring sale is the Order of the Grail. Members of the Grail will assist a representative of the Balfour Company in taking orders.

Danny Lotz, ring sale chairman for the Grail, said the rings are mailed to students around eight weeks after the orders are made.

The Grail makes a small profit on each ring order. These profits are used for scholarships.
