

Tar Babies Overcome Wolflets 47-39

By ELLIOTT COOPER

The Tar Babies insured themselves of a winning season last night in Woollen Gym and avenged two losses to the N. C. State Wolflets at the same time as they played control basketball to defeat their arch rivals from Raleigh 47-39.

For the Carolina frosh the victory marked their eighth win of the season against five losses with only two more contests left on the slate. In their two previous meetings the State frosh had brought home the bacon both times, but last night the Wolflets were unable to win the one that would have given them a complete sweep for the year.

Tar Baby Coach Dean Smith scrapped his pet man-for-man defense for a zone, and in the second half this change was definitely a factor in bringing the Carolina frosh victory. For State the effects were exactly opposite as their second-half zone defense was not as effective as their opening half man-to-man.

From the beginning of the game it was apparent that the Tar Babies were not going to run with their opponents this time. It was 4:22 before Don Walsh sunk a foul shot for the first score of the contest. The Wolflets seemed ready to play this brand of ball, however, and built themselves a 15-9 lead late in the first half, the biggest they ever enjoyed.

At this point the Tar Babies began to rally and with three seconds left in the half Yogi Poteet hit on a one-hander to tie the score at 17-17 after twenty minutes.

In this conservative, but nevertheless always interesting game, only two players managed to score in double figures. For the Tar Babies Jim Hudock was high man with 15 while the losers were led by Anton Muehlbauer who had 10.

The second half was a repetition of the first with the exception that the Tar Babies dominated play. The game was tied twice a 19-19 and 23-23, but the lead only changed hands once when the Wolflets went ahead 28-27 on a shot by Dan Wherry. The losers held sway until Hudock got a tap and gave the Carolina frosh the lead for keeps.

The game was a spirited contest throughout and even had the makings of a fight when State's Denny Lutz and Walsh went after a free ball. For the Tar Babies the unsung hero of the evening was Pep Callahan whose floor play sparked the frosh despite scoring only one point.

The Scoring

Carolina — McComb, 8; Hubbard, 5; Hudock, 16; Poteet, 8; Walsh, 9; Callahan, 1; Phillips.

State — Marvel, 5; Key, 2; Wherry, 6; Whitfield, 8; Lutz, 8; Muehlbauer, 10; Yates; Coward.

Tar Heels Prove Who Should Be Number One

Stan Niewierowski took a two hand set from half court, the horn blew, and there was no doubt in anybody's mind who was Number One.

It was Carolina's Tar Heels victors over State College by a 74-67 margin. Before a full house at Woollen Gym, Frank McGuire's crew had proved to Everett Case for the second time this year who had the best team in the ACC.

For the Carolina student body, the ones who were lucky enough to be present and those who couldn't get a ticket, the win was a dream come true. They had seen their team climb week after week up the newspaper polls until this week they were on top of the heap, the best team in the country in the minds of the sportswriters and coaches.

Now there is no question about whether or not the Tar Heels will stay on top for just a week. The Wolfpack came to Chapel Hill determined to knock Carolina out of first place just as the Tar Heels had done to them a little over a month ago in Raleigh. But such was not to be, the Pack made a run at the winners in the final minutes getting as close as 2 only to be slapped back down.

From start to finish the Carolina rooters who filled the stands made old Woollen Gym shake with chants of "We're Number One." There could be no objections to the tremendous vocal support given the Heels by the fans, it started when Doug Moe was introduced and didn't stop.

After the game McGuire expressed everyone's opinion when he said, "It's great to be Number One."
