'Hard But Clean' Campaign Promised By Norman Smith

More individual students will have a voice in student government, student body presidential candidate Norman B. Smith said in a statement Wednesday.

"As president of student government my basic concern would be to construct a program gauged to fill the needs and expectations of students in general," the Student Party candidate said. "By students, I mean individuals, not groups or organizations or traditions."

Student government does not have the right to exist except to serve the best interests of students, he commented.

Smith said he will carry through this "pledge," beginning now, during his campaign. This "door-to-door campaign will not be a hello, a quip, a handshake and a good bye, but will be a careful attempt to learn and understand ideas, needs and criticisms of students."

When Smith and other SP candidates visit students while campaigning, "we will come to every door armed with notebook and pencil," the presidential candidate said. "We will record suggestions and unanswered questions."

Smith said he would also record the names and interests of students wanting to work with student government, "for our administration will not, cannot be maintained by a skeleton force or core of a few interested students."

The SP candidate would employ the ideas and work of many students to carry out the "most ambitious, far reaching year of student government that has ever been attempted at the University of North Carolina."

Smith pledged that his own campaign and the campaign of his party would be "a hard one and a clean one." He said the SP would take the offensive in the campaign and that only those on the defensive must resort to "dirty" tactics.

If any member of his party should attempt to use "dirty" tactics, "I will personally see that discredit is conferred," Smith said.

The SP candidate said his party would serve the majority of students, while maintaining due respect for all minorities.

Changes In Penalties Recommended By IDC

Changes in penalties for violations of Interdormitory Council regulations were proposed at Wednesday night's meeting of the IDC.

Introduced as new penalties were suspension from the University for one semester and letters of notification to parents of convictions and penalties.

These proposed penalties increase the powers of the Dormitory Council Courts and IDC Court per se. There was no previous penalty for suspension.

Action will be taken on the new penalties at the next regular meeting of the IDC.

Also at Wednesday night's meeting, the IDC voted to turn all fines from court cases over to the IDC activities and miscellaneous funds.

The council voted that the bottle drink machines not be replaced by cup machines unless an individual dormitory decides otherwise.

The proposed "tennis court" dance of the IDC will be held either on the tennis court or in the court beside Hanes Hall. The tentative date for this dance is April 17. The IDC expects to be notified later this week whether or not Jimmy Capps' "Our Best To You" radio program will originate from Carolina the night of the dance.

Announcements were made of the Grail Mural Jamboree to be held Tuesday and Wednesday, March 17 and 18. IDC President Rudy Edwards urged that dorms enter teams in the jamboree.

The IDC members were also asked to have entries in the APO Ugly Man Contest to be held April 13-18.

Greek Week To Emphasize Community Aid

Contributing to community and campus is being stressed by UNC fraternities as they stage their annual "Greek Week," sponsored by the Interfraternity Council.

Pledges of the 24 social fraternities are completing in work events, sports, scholastic ranking and entertainment for the title of best overall pledge class. "Greek Week" began Monday and continues through today.

Trophies to the top class and to winners of individual events will be awarded at a "Greek Week" convocation tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Memorial Hall. Dr. James L. Godfrey, dean of the faculty, will be the speaker.

Carrying on the new tradition that fraternities make a "constructive contribution rather than a destructive one to community life," the Greek letter organizations are using their time and energy to clean up certain areas of Chapel Hill.

The grounds of several local churches as well as the Forest Theatre on the UNC campus were assigned to pledge teams on Tuesday afternoon for a general clean-up.

The "Greek Week" event for Wednesday was a carnival, held on the intramural field.

Another feature of Greek Week is exchange dinners in which pledge classes dine at other houses, affording an opportunity to get better acquainted with members of other fraternities.

Communists Offer 'Guarantee'

Grail-Mural Jamboree Slated March 17-18

Forty four teams and 400 to 500 students will compete in the Grail-Mural Jamboree scheduled for March 17 and 18 in Woollen Gym.

Twenty-two teams from dormitories and an equal number from fraternities are expected to participate in the activities according to the intramural office.

It is urged that each team contact the team that it is paired with in order that they may become acquainted with their teammates and plan what they will do in the Jamboree.

It is important that those who will be in the swimming relays get together so that they will know who is going to swim what stroke.

Also the plans are complete for the steak banquet that will be held for all individual winners. The banquet will be held at Watts Restaurant on Monday March 23 at 7:00 p.m. Trophies for the winners will be presented at this banquet.

All teams who have not turned in their entry fees of $1.50 must do so before Tuesday March 17. The money will be used for the steak dinner.

It is urged that all entries be completed, with the names of the participants, as soon as possible. Any team that cannot enter the Jamboree, or must withdraw their name, should contact the intramural office as quickly as possible, so that a replacement may be made.

The pairings are as listed below: Phi Gam 1 - Alexander 1, Sigma Nu - Stacy, Theta Chi - Law School, ZBT - Alexander 2, SPE - Old West, FKA - Everett, DU - Lewis 1, SAE - Avery, Sig Chi - Aycock, Phi Gam 2 - Cobb 1, Pi Lamb - Mangum, ATO - Manly, Delta Sig - Winston 2, TEP - Cobb 2, Pi Kap Phi - Joyner 2, Zeta Psi - Ruffin, Phi Kap Sig - BVP, Chi Psi - Joyner 1, DKE - Lewis 2, Chi Phi - Parker, KA - L Old East, Beta Theta Pi - Winston 1.

Other business before the board includes consideration of a slate of GMAB officers for next year and of new faculty members to replace Dr. G. A. Barrett on the board.

Editor Goes To Editorial Conference

Daily Tar Heel Editor Curtis Gans is in New York this week for the Seaboard Student Editorial Affairs Conference and a nationwide television show.

Gans will be one of four college students interviewing the Indian ambassador to the United States Sunday on College Press Conference, an ABC television program.

Ron Shumate will be acting editor during Gans' absence, and will handle the administration of the paper. Gans wrote his editorials before he left.

The television program will be from 1 to 1:30 p.m. Sunday, and may be seen locally over WTVD Durham.

At the Seaboard Student Editorial Affairs Conference, Gans will be the discussion leader. This conference will include several members of the Overseas Press Club.

Gans will return to Chapel Hill Sunday night.

Free Path Open To Free City

BERLIN — (AP) — Russia and Communist East Germany promised Wednesday they would keep the road open between West Berlin and the outside world if West Berlin becomes a free city.

But they indicated the price they would demand for such guarantees would be western diplomatic recognition of the satellite East German regime. That recognition has long been sought by the Communists and refused by the West.

The latest word on the Berlin issue came in a communique issued by the East German government as Soviet Premier Khrushchev ended a visit to East Germany.

The communique also again urged a quick summoning of a summit conference to ease international tension. It said a summit meeting should be convened in addition to a foreign ministers' parley.

In a note to the western powers March 2, the Soviet Union plumped for a summit conference but said at the same time Moscow would be agreeable to a meeting of foreign ministers if it was not possible to set up a summit session. Wednesday's communique called for both.

(In Washington, a spokesman said the State Department had no comment on the Soviet-East German declaration. Privately officials said there was nothing new in the offer to guarantee access to West Berlin once it became a free city. The offer is based on the completely unacceptable condition that the western allies would give up their rights in Berlin, these officials said.)

On the Communist demand for making isolated West Berlin a free city, the communique said principles of the legal statute were discussed. No details of what that mean were given but the announcement said:

"The government of the German Democratic Republic once again emphasized its readiness to guarantee the unhindered connection of the free city of West Berlin with the outside world, in both the eastern and western directions."

It added that West Berlin's status as a free city would be guaranteed by the big four powers and by the United Nations, but did not say what form the guarantees would take.

Orientation Positions Available

Application blanks for those interested in serving as orientation counselors next fall are being distributed by the Women's Orientation Committee.

Coeds living in town and interested in applying for these positions have been asked to request applications at the Graham Memorial Information Desk.

Applications should be turned in by Friday to dorm presidents and sorority house managers. At the time these applications are returned women have been requested to sign for scheduled five-minute interviews.

Applications have already been distributed among interested students in dorms and sorority houses.

Radio Club Postpones Meeting Til March 19

The Radio Club meeting scheduled for tonight has been postponed until Thursday night, March 19. The March 19 meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Air Force ROTC classroom 4, Caldwell annex.

Alderman Amazons Win Ogler Prize

The Alderman Amazons were selected Tuesday night as the nation's best looking basketball team by the Chapel Hill Ogler's Club.

Ogler Club president, Roland Du Point, in announcing the award said, "It was a tough decision to make, but when we narrowed the field down to a basketball team, Alderman's six won handsily."

Spectrum Staff Meets

The editorial staff of the Spectrum will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in the Co-op House. The meeting is very important.

'Face Reality,' Says Gray, Calls For Realism In Govt.

Charlie Gray, candidate for president of the student body, said Wednesday he would follow a "moderate" policy if elected president. Gray is running for that office in the April 7 elections on the University Party ticket.

He said he believed it important that students know his philosophy toward student government because they "will be better able to understand my approach to the present issues and those which will arise."

The moderate policy he expressed is intrinsic with his belief in a realistic, yet progressive, student government.

His philosophy will enable him in practice to "face the fact that nothing is perfect and approach all problems with the realization that we live in a practical world and not in a perfect Utopian society. Too often students approach issues in a way that on the surface appear good, but from the practical side are usually impossible." Gray defended his moderate viewpoint by saying, "I think on this campus an extreme liberal or an extreme conservative would have many harmful effects. I stand as a moderate, neither leaning to the right nor the left."

Wild crusades or untimely actions that tend to cast harsh criticisms on an innocent student body do not conform to the UP candidate's moderate stand. "The old saying of 'thinking twice before acting once' would be a good slogan for all student leaders," Gray said.

With a moderate, realistic program, Gray said he hopes to return student government to the students. He cited "unrealistic and sometimes unpopular issues which have occurred in the past" as having increased student apathy to the alarming point.

"The unfortunate political system on this campus has added coal to the fire of apathy plus causing a psychological barrier to rise up between different parts of the campus," he said.

"Only when student government can appeal to all students and only when the campus is again united will student government achieve the position it rightly deserves."

Gray said he would unify the campus break down all barriers between fraternity and non-fraternity men and take politics from its professional existence and return it to the students.

Talking further on political parties, Gray said the parties should represent beliefs, not places of residence.

The presidential candidate pledged that, if elected, he would represent the views of the "true" Carolina student. He also said that his administration would promote progress in all areas through an understanding of the problems of all segments of campus.

Frost Reading Friday Slated For Memorial

The UNC English Department will sponsor the 13th annual reading by poet Robert Frost on Friday night at 8:30 in Memorial Hall, not in Hill Hall as was stated in a previous news story.

The public has been invited to join University students and townspeople who will hear the winner of four Pulitzer prizes read poetry written by himself and others, and express his thoughts on life and modern times.

During his annual Chapel Hill visit, Frost will be the house guest of Prof. C. P. Lyons and Mrs. Lyons, of the English Department faculty.

Bi-Partisan Board To Confer Today

The Bi-Partisan Board will meet today and Friday to interview all women interested in running for Women's Honor Council.

The interviews will be from 2-4 p.m. in the Woodhouse Conference Room. All applicants should sign the list for interviews which is on the conference room door on the second floor of Graham Memorial.

New Magazine Gets Budget Consideration

Playbill Magazine, a new student government publication, will present its current budget needs to the Finance Committee this afternoon at 3 p.m. in the Woodhouse Conference Room.

Gary Artz, business manager of Playbill, is asking for $500 to begin publication. The staff, the business manager and editor have been chosen, and the Student Legislature has authorized the publication of Playbill as a part of its Publications Board.

Gordon Street, chairman of the Finance Committee, called this special meeting for the express purpose of hearing Artz and his request.

$750 which had been previously appropriated to Ram and Ewe is now in the student government general surplus.

BITTER BUDGET BATTLE

Students Asked To Engage In Massive Restoration Fight

The University has a better chance of getting its budget restored if Carolina students write their representatives in the General Assembly, said Norman B. Smith Wednesday.

Smith is chairman of the Committee on State Affairs, which has been organizing student action for increases in Carolina's budget for the next biennium.

Assisting the committee in its letter writing campaign are various campus organizations, church groups and class officers. The campus organizations include the Interdormitory Council, Interfraternity Council, Panhellenic Council, Women's Residence Council, Carolina Women's Council and the YM-YWCA.

In the letters, students have been asked to inform the legislators of such needs of the University as a new student union, increased faculty salaries and more funds for the library.

Smith said the symbol of a concerned student who is informed and interested enough in the future of the University to write a letter to his representative or senator will be of "great value in the campaign to restore the University budget to levels dictated by necessity."

In addition to the letter writing campaign, Smith's committee plans such other activities as personal visits by committee members to legislators, an anticipated appearance before the Joint Appropriations Committee of the General Assembly by student government representatives and continued publication of budget needs in campus and state newspapers.

Also, UNC fraternities will entertain alumni of their chapters who are now in Legislature and present the case for a greater University appropriation.

The letters to members of the General Assembly may be addressed to the men at the State Capitol, Raleigh, N. C.

UP Announces Stand; Raps Editor Election

The nine-plank University Party platform takes a stand on issues from The Daily Tar Heel editor selection to the National Student Association.

The platform, which was released Wednesday by UP Chairman John Minter, covers the usual areas of dormitories, fraternities and the judicial system.

On the matter of a new student union, the platform states that the UP is in favor of immediate acquisition of a new building, and, if need be, through a partial self-liquidation plan.

The UP is advocating a "more flexible policy toward women's dormitory regulations." The party would promote the modification of some regulations not involving the Honor Code or Campus Code. Specifically, the UP will promote a system of collective late minute violations in dormitory and sorority houses and a lowering of dormitory fines.

The platform also calls for the restricting of Legislature seats and refers to the inequality of the number of seats in Town Men's IV as compared with the interest of students in that district.

The UP through increased support to the IDC "would work toward an enlargement of the dormitory social program, expansion of the dorm visiting agreement program, the addition of social and physical facilities in dormitories and increased dormitory services, such as janitorial services and more and better vending machines."

The election of The Daily Tar Heel editor should be removed from partisan politics, the platform states.

Reference to the deferred rush issue is made in the platform statement that fraternities and sororities are private organizations that should be allowed to make any changes in rush without outside influence.

On the National Student Association issue, the platform calls for an investigation of the USNSA, its activities on this campus and the method of selection of representatives from UNC to national congresses and conferences. This investigation is being urged because the UP "is not convinced that the National Student Association on this campus is not representative of the students here."

The University Party is taking a stand toward retention of separate judicial bodies, as expressed in their platform.

The final plank in the party platform states that the UP will work toward getting reasonably priced date tickets for all athletic contests.
