

Ike Cautions NATO Against 'Illusions Replacing Reality'

Must Plan For Life In Tension

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP) — President Eisenhower today cautioned the Atlantic Pact countries against "substituting illusions for reality" in searching for new agreements with Russia to reduce world tension.

Speaking as an old soldier, Eisenhower appealed for free people to display courage, sacrifice and perseverance while their governments carefully explore for just solutions to existing East-West deadlocks.

"We must be prepared during the years ahead to live in a world in which tension and bickering between free nations and the Soviets will be daily experiences," he said.

Eisenhower spoke at ceremonies commemorating the tenth anniversary of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Some 1,400 delegates and distinguished guests from the 15-member countries gathered in the gold and cream colored Interdepartmental Auditorium on historic Constitution Avenue to hear Eisenhower deliver a keynote address at the opening session.

Worry over the Berlin crisis, combined with a drizzling rain and mist, lent a subdued air to the start of the three-day meeting called to review defenses against Soviet attack.

In the afternoon, delegates including 12 foreign ministers turned to a closed door discussion of what new proposals should be made to Russia to ease the Berlin crisis while promoting German unity, disarmament and European security.

The main item of business was a report by the U. S., British, French and West German governments on a two-day conference which ended here yesterday without agreement on what concessions to offer the Soviets.

The four main allies were reported split, with the United States, France and West Germany opposing Britain's suggestion they concentrate on solving the Berlin situation even at the cost of delaying German unity moves.

Eisenhower avoided mentioning the Berlin crisis directly in his brief address. But he pledged to "make concrete and realistic proposals" about the ever-all German problem in a move to improve relations with Russia.

Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter followed Eisenhower's lead in cautiously favoring negotiations. He likewise made no direct reference to Berlin but talked about the need for "A genuine resolution of the issues which threaten peace."

Two of the foreign leaders of the defense alliance, Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium and Foreign Minister Joseph M. Luns of the Netherlands, brought out into the open their concern over Berlin tensions.

Two Students, Marine Indicted For Forgery

Two Carolina students and a Marine private have been charged with forgery of a signature on checks.

Joseph Friedberg, a senior from Great Neck, N. Y., and Frederick G. Rennekar, a sophomore from Fort Allegheny, Pa., were arrested Wednesday by the Chapel Hill police in connection with a forgery involving the cashing of $150 worth of checks at the Bank of Chapel Hill.

Marine Private John A. Fox of Camp Lejeune and New York City was arrested last Thursday for the same case. The delay in arrest of the students was caused by their absence for spring holidays.

At a preliminary hearing Wednesday before Judge William S. Stewart, the three were bound over to the Orange County Superior Court.

Friedberg and Rennekar were released on $300 bonds and the Marine was placed in the county jail pending payment of a $300 bond.

Private Fox was brought to Hillsboro and placed in the county jail last Thursday after he confessed to cashing the checks, according to Police Chief William D. Blake.

Blake reported that Rennekar admitted Wednesday that he wrote two checks which bore the name of a UNC football player, Ed Furjanic.

Friedberg allegedly supplied the transportation to the main bank and to the branch bank to have the checks cashed.

University Party, Student Party Candidates Air Views

Young Will Continue 'To The Last Minute'

Davis Young, sole remaining candidate for editor of The Daily Tar Heel, yesterday announced that even though he is without opposition in Tuesday's election he will continue campaigning "right up to the last minute."

Young said, "I want to acquaint as many students as possible with my plans for the paper. Even though these plans have already been discussed at length, I know that there are many students who can only be reached through personal contact."

"I fully intend to keep the promise that I have consistently made throughout this campaign to stay out of partisan politics. I repeat that as editor, I will not be a participant in the activities of either political party."

"However, I will comment vigorously on issues confronting both of the political parties and the Student Legislature."

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank the many people who have worked so faithfully for me during this campaign. I owe thanks to a large number of people in both the University and Student parties, as well as a great many independents."

"I would particularly like to single out my two campaign managers Art Shields and Hunton Tiffany, whose aid and advice throughout the past few weeks has been a constant source of strength."

"There are of course a large number of others who have contributed to my campaign in some way. I would like to extend my gratitude to Jan Cobbs, Jo Carpenter, Jey Duffell, Al Goldsmith, Bill Norton, Roger Foushee and the many others who have expressed confidence in me.

"I sincerely hope that I will be able to produce a paper that is of service to the students and which reflects credit on the University. It is my hope that The Daily Tar Heel during the next year may help in solving many of the vital problems and issues which are so important to students."

Candidates' Expenses Are Due

Itemized expense accounts of candidates in the April 7 elections are due in to the Elections Board before 6 p.m. April 6.

Hank Patterson, chairman of the Board, said Friday that failure to submit an account of expenditure would impose a $5 fine on the candidate on the condition that the account be turned in within 24 hours.

If the candidate fails to pay the fine within 24 hours, he would be disqualified. Patterson said disqualification would also result if a candidate failed to submit the expense account in question.

Expense accounts may be obtained in the student government office or from the chairmen of the University and Student parties. The completed expense accounts may be turned in also at the student government office.

Committee To Continue Rush Study

The Faculty Committee on Fraternities decided Friday to continue its study on deferred rushing throughout the next academic year.

George Esser, chairman of the committee, said the Faculty Council at a meeting Friday, took no definite action on fraternity matters.

Speaking of new fraternity courts, Esser indicated that they "did not consider" it at the meeting. "The Faculty Council does not have jurisdiction on this matter and only listens to recommendations on locations," he said.

"I am looking forward to working with these new co-chairmen in order to have a successful year," Duff said. He added that majority of the chairmen are fraternity and sorority members "giving a wide span of experience which will be necessary for next year's work."

There will be a compulsory meeting Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the GMAB office for both old and new chairmen, Duff emphasized.

$123,000 Budget Presented To Solons

A $123,000 budget was recommended to the Student Legislature Thursday night by the Budget Committee of which Charlie Gray (UP), student body treasurer, is chairman.

The budget, presented by Gray, was set up with an anticipated enrollment of 5,525 undergraduates and 1,525 graduate and professional school students in mind.

The total Unappropriated Balance was $4,477.58. This does not include wire service appropriations for the Daily Tar Heel or an allotment for the senior class gift.

The University Club was cut entirely from the budget due to the inefficient use of funds during the past year.

An increase of $1,000 was allotted the Inter-Dormitory Council. Gray said the committee felt that the IDC had been quite effective the past year and deserved the added appropriation.

From a request of $1,300, the Graduate Club was given $150. The Club wanted the added amount to sponsor a series of speakers of interest to graduate students. However, the Budget Committee felt that this paralleled the activities of the Symposium and Carolina Forum too closely and therefore was an unnecessary request.

The Carolina Quarterly was appropriated $2400 to publish two issues per year. According to Gray, the Committee felt that the magazine is merely to promote UNC's reputation off campus and that two issues per year should be sufficient.

The entire budget will be debated by the solons at the next session of Legislature.

Speaker Ralph Cummings urged legislators to bring up any suggested changes through the Finance Committee, so as to minimize the discussion next week.

Ann Harvey's (UP) bill to abolish the system of having oral interviews to select jurors for the trying of honor Council cases was tabled.

MANAGER

The business manager for the Carolina Handbook will be chosen by the Selections Board of the Publications Board Thursday at 4 p.m.

Any interested persons may appear at this time for an interview in the Grail Room of Graham Memorial.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Harold O'Tuel, chairman of the Publications Board.

CAPETANOS AND BAYLEY

This is the first time a Beckett play has been produced in the South. Capetanos commented, "This is not a commercial venture, but an adventure into the soul of genius." Author Beckett has been writing for small audiences for many years. Saturday Review has called Beckett the "most remarkable writer to emerge since World War II." Beckett was born in Dublin and now lives in Paris, writing most of his works in French. He prepares his own translations for the English audience.
