Carolina Courtmen Oppose Davidson

By ELLIOTT COOPER
For the Carolina tennis team this afternoon's home engagement with Davidson College marks the midpoint of the season. After today's encounter the Tar Heel courtmen will have seven matches remaining before the ACC meet in Raleigh which begins on May 6.

CAPT. GEOFF BLACK
... tennis captain

Coach Don Skakle's netters are currently riding on a three match winning streak, all against conference competition. Overall, the Carolina record is 4-3 with early season losses to Illinois and Rollins as the sore spots.

Start Of Series
The match against the Wildcats, first of a home and home series started this year, marks the initial time in better than two years that the two teams have met on the courts.

After the unimpressive start, the Tar Heels have finally found a solid lineup and have played excellent tennis in their last three matches, winning each time by a 3-1 score.

The Tar Heel individual record shows that Bruce Sylvia is still undefeated in singles competition. The sophomore from Richmond is currently playing in the number two position after opening the year at number four.

Keys Is 6-1

Right behind Sylvia with only one defeat against them are Ben Keys and Walker Lockett. After losing his first match of the season to George Gilmore of Illinois in three sets, Keys has won six straight. Lockett, although he did not make the Rollins trip, sports a 4-1 mark.

This afternoon Skakle will go with captain Geoff Black in the number one position followed by Sylvia, Keys, Marshall Happer, Lockett, and Tommy Ricks. In the doubles play the only major change finds Phil Causey teaming with Keys to form the third combination.

Monday Carolina takes on Clemson in what figures to be the toughest conference match of the season for either team. Last year the Tar Heels beat the Tigers handily by 8-1, but Clemson's two top men, Sonny Sumner and Mohammad Nasim, along with Lenoire Bryant are back again this season.

ROTC Group At Cherry Festival

Over 40 members of the Air Force ROTC group at UNC left yesterday for the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D. C.

From the Drill Team, 19 members will attend the festival, and 23 members of the AFROTC Band will be going. In addition, two members of the Angel Flight will attend.

Friday morning, the Drill Team will compete for the annual National Drill Award. In preparation for this event, the Drill Team has been involved in an extensive period of drill practice for the past two weeks. The AFROTC Band will join the Drill Squadron on Saturday for the National Cherry Blossom parade. In addition to the military regalia, the AFROTC cadets will be entertained at banquets, dances and cocktail parties.

SEMINARS ABROAD

The chance to tour seven European countries and to meet their students and professors is still open for those who wish to join the 16 students signed up for this summer's Seminars Abroad program.

Leaving on June 5 from Idlewild Airport, the tour will continue until Aug. 1, ending in London with the return trip available by either boat or plane.

The final cost of $1160 includes all expenses for transportation, lodging, and food.

The membership for the Russian tour has been completed at seven students: Boots Baker, Sue Ward, Carolyn Vaught, Mary Bonson, Spencer Everett, Cliff Pannell, and Pat Browder. They will leave the European tour July 18 in Copenhagen, boat to Stockholm and Helsinki, and go from there to Leningrad by car. The rest of the tour will include visits to Moscow, Kiev, Minsk, Warsaw, Prague, and Vienna, ending in London on Aug. 23.

The European tour will visit France, Switzerland, Italy, Germany, Denmark, Holland, and England. The trip home can be scheduled any time after Aug. 1, allowing for free time to cover places not visited by the tour.

Application can be made at the Y offices. The tentative deadline for all applications is April 15.

Golfers Risk Unbeaten Mark Against UVA

GOLFERS RISK Unbeaten Mark. The unbeaten golfers of Carolina, winners of five straight, gun for their first conference victory of the year and their sixth overall win when they travel to Virginia.

The amazing Tar Heels, who returned only one letterman off last year's ACC champs, have rolled over Indiana, Cornell, Michigan, Davidson and Princeton. In their last clash they slaughtered Princeton's Tigers 32-4, winning every match.

The versatile Carolinians have had four different medalists. Number one man Ed Justa, number two Don McMillan, number four Bob Gallo-way and number six John McKee have all had the honor. Chuck Erickson's crew will go with David Sloan and Hugh Goodman in the other two starting positions.

Justa has the best score of the season, a three-under par 69 and is undefeated in competition this year.

The Tar Heels face Maryland the next day in completing their northern swing. The Virginians may be trouble, as they finished in a tie for second in the ACC last season, winning 11 while losing only 3. They have four lettermen back and one is basketball player Bill Metzger.

Tar Heels To Battle Wake Forest Saturday Carolina Has 7-2 Record

The Wake Forest Demon Deacons invaded Emerson Stadium Saturday at 3 p.m. to clash with Carolina in the Tar Heels' initial Big Four engagement of the season.

From early season performances, no decided difference in the ability of the two squads has been determined. While Carolina has run up a 7-2 record against the mediocre 4-5 mark of the Deacs, the latter have a wide statistical margin.

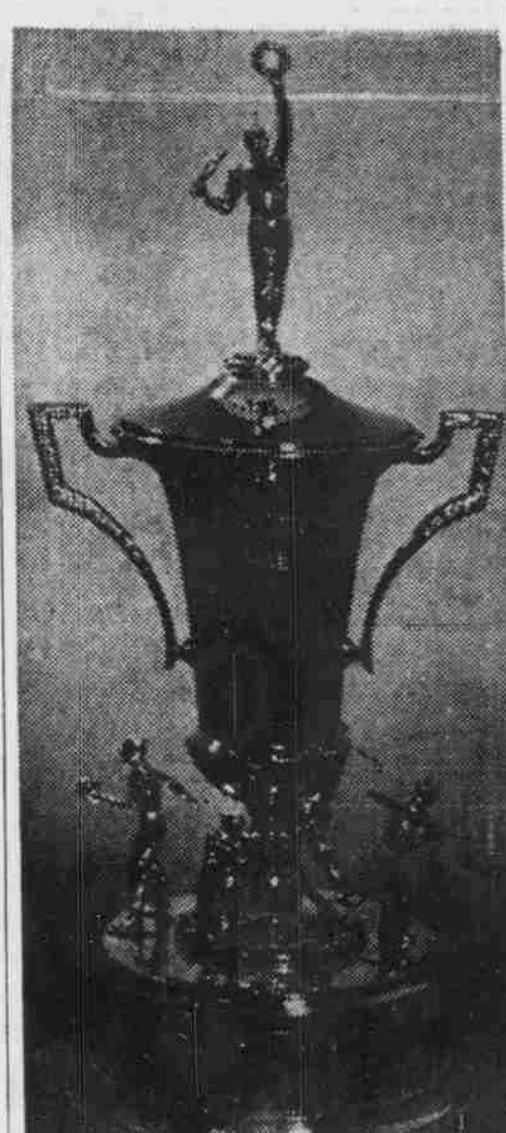

The Wake Forest team has chalked up a fine .304 batting mark against the Tar Heels' .248. The Deacon hurlers have allowed three runs per contest while Carolina pitchers have given up four each time out Wake Forest thus far has also displayed superior defensive capabilities.

The recent trips of each team into South Carolina further confuse any comparison which can be drawn on the two squads. Wake Forest defeated South Carolina while the Tar Heels were soundly upended by the Gamecocks. On the other hand, the Tar Heels turned back Clemson whereas the Deacs fell before the Tigers.

The starting moundsmen for Saturday's clash are not definite, but Carolina coach Walter Rabb is expected to open with lefthander Ben Harding, who is 1-1 on the season with a 5.0 ERA. Wake Forest mentor Gene Hooks probably will use Bobby Lawrence, another southpaw with an 0-1 mark but a good 2.7 ERA.

Along with Harding, the other Tar Heel starters should be Dave Dale (.300) at first, Larry Craver (.235) at second, Ferg Norton (.294) at third, Harold Workman (.250) at short, Johnny Burgwyn (.409), Russ Hollers (.316) and Gerald Griffin (.189) in the outfield, and Carroll Bolick (.304) catching.

BIG 4 TROPHY

... for Rod & Gun Meet

Lotz And Salz Are Given Roberson And Smith Awards

The Chapel Hill Athletic Club held its annual basketball dinner last night to present the Carrington Smith Award and the Foy Roberson Trophy. Danny Lotz, captain of the 1958-59 Tar Heel team, was voted the winner of the Roberson Trophy while junior guard Harvey Salz received the Smith Award.

Football Coach Jim Tatum presented the Smith Award in place of the donor who was out of town. The Roberson Trophy, which was established by Dr. Foy Roberson in memory of his son who was killed in World War II, was made last night by Dr. O. K. Cornwell.

In addition to the two major awards, club president Joe Page presented seniors Gehrman Holland and Lotz with plaques as graduating members of the basketball team. The club also gave certificates to each member of the varsity and freshman squads.

The evening was highlighted by the short talks of Ray P. Kaighn and Frank McGuire. Kaighn, an original member of the Springfield, Mass. YMCA basketball teams which James Naismith formed, recollected for the audience his memories of the conception of the game.

Coach McGuire made the longest talk of the evening as he thanked the club members for making the night possible and expressed his hopes for next year's team. The coach, just back from West Virginia "by way of Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey," slipped several amusing tales into his talk concerning the night of the Navy game in New York City. The genial Irishman told his players that they had been number one once this year and he hoped they would be number one all this coming season.
