Glee Club To Present Concert

By BEN TAYLOR
The Men's Glee Club will join the Woman's College Chorus of WCUNC in presenting Villa Lobos' Mass in Honor of Saint Sebastian on two occasions Sunday, April 12, in another of their annual joint concerts.

The combined chorus of some 120 voices will perform at Aycock Auditorium on the campus of WCUNC in Greensboro at 4:00 Sunday afternoon. Following the evening meal both clubs will return to Chapel Hill and perform an identical program in Hill Hall at 8:00 p.m.

Each club will also present a number of folk and semi-classical selections as part of both programs.

At least one joint concert by the two Consolidated University glee clubs is held each year and the performances are usually of well-known classical or oratorio compositions. This year's selection, Mass in Honor of Saint Sebastian, was set to music by Heitor Villa-Lobos and is sung a capella in three-part harmony. It is written in Latin and is divided into six parts: "Kyrie," "Gloria," "Credo," "Sanctus," and "Agnus Dei."

The singing of Mass in Honor of Saint Sebastian by the Men's Glee Club follows on the heels of their weekend journey to Wilmington's Azalea Festival where they provided the basic choral background for the two-day pageant shows held on Friday and Saturday nights, April 3 and 4.

There will be no admission for either of the two Sunday concerts.

Eisenhower Names Morton GOP National Chairman

Student Party Majority In Legislature Is 30-20

The Student Legislature will meet next Thursday night to begin its 27th session with 30 Student Party representatives and 20 from the University Party.

David Grigg, vice-president of the student body, will assume his new duties as the Speaker of the Legislature.

In the campus elections held last Tuesday, SP won 17 of the Legislature seats open, while UP copped 15. All six months seats have become year seats due to the referendum for a single annual spring Legislature election approved by the student body Tuesday.

In Dorm Men's I, Swag Grimsley (SP) easily captured the one seat open with 175 votes as compared with David Rubenstein's (UP) 48.

Taylor McMillan (SP) is the other new representative from DM I. His UP opponent, Bill Craig, was disqualified. McMillan received 154 votes, while Craig came through with 66.

Legislator from DM II is Bill Norton, who won over Allen Simpson (UP) with 244 votes. Simpson received 131.

Victors for the year seats in DM III were Dan Brown (SP) 155, and Roy Goodman (SP) 175. They won over Phil Edwards (Ind.) 153; Ron Millican (UP) 99, and Vincent Mulieri (UP) 140.

Pope Shuford (UP) and Bob Smith (SP) copped the two six-months seats, which are now one year, in that district with 202 and 283 votes, respectively. Gary Arz (SP) received 184.

Ed Cox (SP), 217, and Bill Lamm (SP), 157, won the two-year seats in DM IV. Also running were Bill Bates (UP), 115, and Ward Purrington (UP), 96.

In DM V, Charles Carroll (SP) bested Carl Ragsdale (UP) with 112 votes to Ragsdale's 84. Sherman Kennedy (SP), 262 votes, and Bob Thompson (SP), 242 votes, beat UP candidates Al Cronenburg, 100, and Darden Eure 114, for the two seats in DM VI.

UP dominated the Town Men's districts by gaining 10 of the 11 seats open in those districts.

Fred Lavery and Rick Overstreet, both UP, ran uncontested in TM I. Lavery had 155 votes and Overstreet 143.

In TM II, Peyton Hawes, 398, and Jack Lawing, 406, also both UP, won over Roy H. Park, Jr., (Ind.) 67, for the two seats open in that district.

Gordon Street, Frank Eagles and Al Walters, all UP, are the three representatives from TM III, receiving 108, 107 and 93 votes, respectively. SP candidates were Barry Zaslav, 73, Stan Black, 65, and Frank Elkins, 53.

For the six months seat, now one year, in this district Neal Bodey (UP) beat Bob Ney (SP) by 107 to 83.

The eight seats in TM EV, for which there were only eight candidates, went to Jim Blue (SP), 99; Don Dotson (SP), 81; John Lyon (UP), 73; Bill Mallory (SP), 86; Bob Pierce (SP), 86; Billy Woodard (SP), 90; Bill Young (UP), 82, and Hugh Ragsdale (UP), 87.

The University Party carried three of the four seats open in the women's districts.

Linda Biser (SP) copped the seat in DW I over Anne Terry by 176 to 128.

In DW II, Nancy Baker (UP), 165 votes, bested Betty Jean Baxter (SP), 151 votes.

Maxine Greenfield and Dixie Jackson, both UP, were uncontested in Town Women with 113 and 119 votes, respectively.

CORRECTION

The results of the election for Men's Honor Council were incorrectly reported in Friday's Daily Tar Heel.

The three new members of the Council are George Campbell, who received 1,193 votes, Bill Crutchfield, 1,418 votes, and Jim Thompson, 1,100 votes.

The number of write-in votes which Henry Snow received for editor of The Daily Tar Heel was 540. Davis Young, the new editor, received 2,350 votes. The total number of write-in votes was over 600.

AUGUSTA, Ga.—Sen. Thurston Morton of Kentucky was officially tapped by President Eisenhower today to be the new Republican national chairman. Tradition assures Morton the job.

The President's choice—no surprise—was announced by the chief of a 10-member delegation of GOP leaders after they had met for about two hours with the vacationing Eisenhower at the Augusta National Golf Club.

The delegation then flew back to Washington to report to the full Republican National Committee. That unit will vote there tomorrow on a successor to retiring Meade Alcorn, and there is no doubt Morton will be installed.

After today's session at the golf club, Ray C. Bliss, Ohio's GOP chairman, told a sidewalk news conference that Eisenhower had "indicated he would be pleased if the (Republican National) Committee elected Sen. Thurston Morton as our new national chairman."

The fact that Morton, 51-year-old first term in the Senate, was Eisenhower's preference has been widely known since shortly after Alcorn announced his resignation to return to his Connecticut law practice.

But custom is for the national committee to go through the formality of sending a delegation to get the President's views on record.

Morton, who served in the House for three terms starting in 1947, has announced he would not give up his Senate seat as chairman. That declaration brought objections from some GOP quarters that the chairmanship ought to go to a man who could devote full time to the job of rebuilding the party.

But Eisenhower stood fast and insisted on Morton.

Asked whether there was any talk at today's conference on strengthening the party in the wake of defeat of many Republicans at the polls last November, Bliss "I can't believe there would be any talk about the work of rebuilding" already started by Alcorn.

And after the meeting newsmen overheard the President telling Bliss "I can't believe there would be anything better than rebuilding all around."

Alcorn several weeks ago named a committee to reassess party objectives and to draft a new statement of GOP principles. That happened shortly after some Republicans in Congress had proposed that Eisenhower take a more active role in GOP politics—and state the party's objectives.

Kappa Alpha Fraternity Old South Ball Held In Charlotte This Week

Bearded KA's and "Southern belles" are in Charlotte today for the annual Kappa Alpha Old South Weekend.

Around 50 UNC KA's and their dates are among the 600 fraternal boys and dates for the traditional parade and secession ceremony, reception, dinner and Old South Ball.

For the parade and secession ceremony at noon today, KA's will don Confederate uniforms or other ante bellum attire and the girls will be clothed in Old South dresses and hats.

At the secession ceremony in front of Mecklenburg County Court House, the document of secession will be read and then signed.

The highlight of the Old South Weekend will come tonight with the Old South Ball and the crowning of a regional KA Rose to represent the five chapters of this area in the national finals.

The local KA's Rose is coed Mary Britton, who was selected earlier this year. Her escort in the presentation of roses at the dance will be Larry Carter of UNC.

The other two UNC Kappa Alpha sponsors are Judy King, who will be escorted by Henry Manning, and Jean Esval, whose escort is Jasper Reynolds. The two girls will be presented during the figure at the Old South Ball.

Another feature of Old South Weekend is a Beard Contest, with KA roses judging which chapter in the province has the best bearded member. Other activities later this afternoon include a reception and dinner at Park Center in Charlotte. Music for the Old South Weekend is being furnished by the Bill Knauft Orchestra and Combo. Several other bands will also be used.

In addition to the UNC chapter, KA's in Charlotte today will be representing chapters at Wake Forest, N. C. State College, East Carolina College and Duke.

Striker-Police Incident Clarified

By RON SHUMATE
(The following is the fifth in a series on the Henderson strike compiled by Ron Shumate, Mary Alice Rowlette, and Peter Ness)

"Officers said there was no disturbance at the (police) station."

This is an excerpt from a state newspaper. The statement concerns an incident that occurred Thursday in Henderson after two "lady" strikers were arrested following an alleged rock-throwing incident.

The women, a 42-year old woman and her 20-year old daughter, were arrested during an otherwise calm afternoon of picketing.

The strikers appeared at the Henderson police station shortly after the arrests were made. Apparently the word spread quickly through the mill area.

Six women—and one little girl—were the first to arrive at the station, a red brick building that houses, in addition to the police station, various municipal offices of the city and county.

Male strikers arrived later, but still left most of the harassment of the officers to the "ladies." The men asked the women which trooper had arrested the two women.

They pointed the trooper out to the men strikers. One man commented that he had "gotten the license number of the patrol car."

Soon, someone accused the trooper of "grabbing her by her breast." Others soon took up the cry, and the hall-way was filled with vile, vulgar language.

The women were, to use an old expression, "mad as wet hens." They cursed, harassed law enforcement officers and just generally created a disturbance.

A Henderson policeman, after several minutes of the noisy show, told the women they could stay in the station "as long as they were respectable."

"We're respectable," one said. "I ain't spoke," another said. "We're ladies," another reported. But they went outside.

The darkened hall-way of the police station was filled with raucous voices uttering such statements as: "Some gentlemen." (Speaking of the troopers who had made the arrests).

The little girl, who was about eight years old, shook her fist in the face of one of the policemen and said, "Manhandler."

The policeman turned around and said, "Isn't it a shame for a little girl this young to be here in the midst of all this."

The women asked each other, "Which one did it?" "That one right there," another said. "He's scared to death."

A rather large-size woman was walking around showing everyone who would look, a large tear in the side of her dress. She claimed a trooper had grabbed her and torn her dress.

"He's going to buy me a new dress," she declared. "In fact, Gov. Hodges is going to buy me a new dress."

She needed a new dress. After the confusion and commotion died down, the strikers gathered en masse in front of the station. The crowd of about 75 created quite a disturbance while there, though only through verbal means.

They yelled at a photographer from the Daily Tar Heel. He was across the street from the station, when several strikers began to yell at him: "Put that camera down." "You won't have it much longer if you don't put it in your pocket." "Don't take any pictures around here," and "Go home!"

The photographer went home. The scene on the picket line was much the same as in the past. The strikers heckled the 289 workers who came out of the South Henderson
