Big Strike Ends Abruptly At The Harriet-Henderson Mills

Student Council Asks Dorm Men 111 Revote

A re-election will be conducted in Dorm Men's 111 for two 1-year Legislature seats, on the direction of the Student Council.

The re-vote has been scheduled for Tuesday, April 20, according to Hank Patterson, chairman of the Elections Board.

The council called for the re-election after hearing a case Thursday night involving an infraction of the Election Laws.

One of the candidates for Legislature from that district, Roy Goodman (SP), was brought before the council for tending the poll in Alexander Dormitory on April 7 from 2 to 4 p.m. The council considered the case after notification from the Elections Board of the violation of Article IV, Section 4, of the Election Laws.

Erwin Fuller, chairman of the council, said the council did not question the integrity or good faith of Goodman. "We feel there was no violation of the intent of the law. But the letter of the law was abridged," he said.

Erwin said the council believed Goodman was a victim of combined circumstances and that the responsibility for the violation of the Election Law was due in part to the Elections Board, to the Student Party to Goodman himself and to the Interdormitory Council representative who asked Goodman to keep the polls.

In hearing the case, Erwin said the council also considered that fact that there was a discrepancy in the number of names signed on the roster for voting and the number of ballots cast in Dorm Men's 111.

Much of the responsibility for the Election Law infraction was placed on the Elections Board. The council expressed its opinion that the board was responsible for Goodman not receiving a copy of the Elections Laws. Goodman did not receive a copy of the laws at a compulsory meeting of all candidates because he was not present at that meeting. And he did not attend the meeting because there was a question of his academic eligibility at the time.

The council said the board was also responsible that on instructions to poll tinders prepared by the Elections Board, attention was not called to the fact that no candidate may serve as poll tender in a district in which he is running for office.

The council found Goodman in error in not showing any individual initiative in informing himself of the Election Law provisions.

In the April 7 election Goodman led in the balloting with 175 votes. The other candidates and the number of votes each received were as follows: Dan Brown (SP), 156; Phil Edwards (Ind.), 152; Vince Mulieri (UP), 140, and Ronnie Millican (UP), 99.

Ed Mendenhall, Jerry McDaniel (new UNC BSU president), Jerry Morgan, George Seastrom, Fred J. Smith, James D. Strickland and Chick Mikel are also attending.

The carnival will be held from 1 p.m. to midnight, and the dance is from 8 p.m. to midnight.

New Legislature Marks First Session With Large Number Of Bills

By STAN BLACK

The first meeting of the 27th session of the Student Legislature resembled the first few days of a U. S. Congressional session in the number of bills introduced.

Three bills were considered to be important enough to be considered and passed under special orders. A referendum of women dormitory residents concerning the collection of social and activity fees was authorized under a bill introduced by Jim Crowmover (SP).

Kay Bortz, chairman of the Women's Residence Council, said that the council will consult dorm representatives before setting the amount of the fees to be voted on.

Bob Nobles (SP) sponsored a resolution under special orders commending the immediate past student body officers for their dedication to the best interests of the student body, bringing student government to a point of high respect among all those who look to the University for outstanding leadership. Copies of the resolution will be sent to President Don Furtado, Vice President Ralph Cummings, Secretary Paddy Sue Wall, and Treasurer Charlie Gray.

Dave Jones (SP) introduced a bill to transfer $125 from Daily Tar Heel profits to the Daily Tar Heel photography account, as all funds for photography have been exhausted. Special orders were moved for the bill but overruled by Speaker David Grigg on the basis that a bill over $10 must go to a committee.

To circumvent this delay, Jones introduced another bill to authorize the transfer of $9.99. This bill was passed under special orders to allow The Daily Tar Heel to print pictures for the intervening week.

University Club President Jones introduced a third bill to approve the new by-laws of the University Club, since the set approved last year has been lost.

Jones' last bill proposes an amendment to the by-laws of the Student Legislature to allow elected representatives to move from one district to another during a session without the loss of their seats. Also legislators would be permitted two unexcused absences per session instead of one.

Jim Scott (SP) introduced a bill to appropriate $275 to Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity to defray expenses of its annual Parents' Day. This year the number invited to Parents' Day will jump from 2,000 to 9,000.

A bill to approve the revised constitution and by-laws of the Student Council of the Consolidated University of North Carolina was introduced by Swag Grimsley (SP) and Tom Cordle (SP) for Tom Long, president of the organization.

Bob Thompson (SP) introduced two bills Thursday night, one to approve the constitution of the recently reorganized Professional Interfraternity Council and another to establish a Motor Vehicles Advisory Board to investigate "all traffic or related problems applying to the University."

Two other traffic bills were also introduced. Ed Cox (SP) is sponsoring one to set up a Student Traffic Court Investigating Staff similar to the Attorney General's Staff. A University Traffic and Safety Committee would be established by Bob Nobles' (SP) bill. Its functions would include rules and regulations and the supervision of fines collected.

Jim Crowmover introduced a bill to require all members of the Student Legislature to meet at least twice each semester with their constituents. Another bill introduced by Crowmover (SP) would appropriate $167.50 to student government for the purchase of a typewriter for the executive office.

Hugh Patterson Is Re-Elected As Council Chief

Hugh Patterson, junior of Edenton, has been re-elected chairman of the Men's Honor Council.

The council re-elected Patterson because of his outstanding and successful work during the past year.

He is a member of the Order of the Old Well, Order of the Grail, Order of the Golden Fleece and a Morehead Scholar.

Patterson stated he would "try for continued progress of development of an efficient Honor System."

In addition to Patterson the members of the Men's Honor Council are Howard Holderness, Hamp Lefler, Jimmy Smalley, George Grayson, Dewey Sheffield, Bob Cunningham, Jim Thompson, George Campbell, Bill Crutchfield, Angus Duff, Mike Kaziah and Dan Miller.

Eight Students Tapped By Old Beanbirds

Eight students and two honoraries were "pecked" into the Order of the Old Beanbirds early this morning.

The order was founded in 1957 to honor those persons with "bird-like" qualities.

The new members and their new names are the following: Pappy "Platypus" Churchill, Julie "Eagle" Elden, Nancy "Flamingo" Faison, Betty Kaye "Jailbird" Johnson, Sophie "Mockingbird" Martin, Jack "Crane" Spain, Jeannine "Twentybird" Thompson, and Paul "Penguin" Wehr.

Honorary members are Mrs. Frances "Fantail" Hogan of the Physical Education Department and Dr. Douglas "DoDo-bird" Sessoms of the Sociology and Recreation Department.

Some of the requisites for membership in the organization are: (1) they must be able to perch, (2) they must be able to give a worthy demonstration of the Beanbird shuffle, (3) they must be able to twitter-tweet, (4) they must be able to control their squawks on the ground and in the air, (5) they must be able to use their claws to cling to the following strong and sturdy limbs — wisdom, service, democracy, loyalty, humor, beauty, friendship and humility."

An initiation and bird breakfast were held this morning in a special nest fort he new peckees. Beanbirds may be recognized by the blue diaper pins they wear.

Shaw Play On Top For Presbyterians

"The Showing Up to Blanco Post," a one-act play by George Bernard Shaw, will be presented by the Presbyterian Drama Student Seminar April 20-21 at the Student Center off Rosemary St.

The production, directed by Art McDonald, a graduate student in dramatic arts, begins at 8:00 p.m.

The cast includes Frank Mansfield, Blanco; Wendell Manuel, Elder Daniels; Nancy Grubb, Feemy; Ed Crow, the sheriff; and Sally Beard, the mystery woman.

This presentation climaxes a series of lectures by Foster Fitz-Simons, Bob Keller and Art McDonald designed to foster a better understanding of the dramatic arts.

Ed Levy, chairman of the Program Committee, has asked all members to attend the meeting Monday at 4 p.m. in Di Hall to add final touches on the program, adopt a method of presenting the program and select the speakers.

Levy said the theme of the 1960 Symposium concerns investigating the individual's difficulty in maintaining his identity in a rapidly changing culture, as well as examining the accelerating society.

PAN-HEL MEET

Mrs. E. W. Busse, former Pan-Hellenic Council president at the University of Missouri, was guest speaker at the Pan-Hel meeting here April 15.

Mrs. Busse discussed the ideal goals of a college Pan-Hel Council: interesting people in sorority life and informing them of sorority activities.

Cooper And Boyd Payton Sign, Halting 22 Week Long Strike

By Ron Shumate and Dee Daniels
(Special to The Daily Tar Heel)

HENDERSON, April 17—It's over!

The long, bitter strike at the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills ended Friday night following negotiation talks that lasted nearly four hours. Terms of the newly-signed contract were not announced.

The end of the strike immediately turned Gov. Hodges into a hero. As he left the South Henderson offices, preceded and followed by State Highway Patrol cars, strikers—who had been patiently waiting since 5 p.m.—cheered wildly.

The talks began around 5 p.m. with the arrival of Boyd Payton, Carolinas Director of the Textile Workers Union of America. Gov. Luther Hodges and mill president John D. Cooper, Jr., had conferred for half an hour prior to Payton's arrival.

Hodges came out of the reception room, which was turned into a conference room for the talks, at 9:05 and said very calmly: "Do you boys want to watch them sign the agreement?" There had been no previous hint that any settlement of the 22-week long strike would be reached.

Payton, upon emerging from the smoke-filled room to take a break at 7:05, said "We aren't out of the woods yet."

The agreement, signed by Payton and Cooper—who had to sign left-handed because

Carolina Folk Festival Gets Underway Tonight

The Carolina Folk Festival swings into action tonight with several types of dances and folk music at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

Several UNC folks—Ben Hammett, Bruce Crump, Tommy Saintising, Harvey Salz and Mac Turlington—will perform a Flamboyant Sword dance which originated in England.

Others will join in the program of square dances, Scottish country dances, guitarists, fiddlers and Negro folk music for the 11th annual festival.

Katarina Real of Rio de Janeiro, graduate student in anthropology here, will present Brazilian native dances.

The Folk Festival is being sponsored by the N. C. Folklore Council.

Tickets will go on sale at door one hour before the 8 p.m. program.

Other features during the festival will be Scottish dances from Charlotte and Greensboro, who will join with folk singers, fiddlers, guitarists and square dancers in a salute to the folkways of Tar Heelia.

Also, Cile Turner, interpreter of Negro folk music, the "Dixieland Square Dancers" of Raleigh, bagpiper Jack Smith of Winston-Salem and drummer John Strickland of Grifton will perform during the evening.

Dr. Norman Cordon, head of the N. C. Music Program, is chairman of the festival.

YMCA Cabinets Have Openings

Among the YMCA program areas of which the chairmanships are open next year is a new one which will offer students a chance to serve and take part in "interesting" experience, said Jack Raper, YMCA president.

This new committee will go to Raleigh each week to participate in seminars with doctors and observe patients at the N. C. State Mental Hospital.

Raper said a student is needed to assist a YWCA co-chairman in coordinating the seminars and in finding means by which the students may be of use to both Dix Hill and the N. C. School for the Deaf and Blind.

A student is also needed to organize "down-to-earth" type entertainment for Gravelly Sanatorium and Memorial Hospital.

Another YMCA Cabinet position open is on the International Relations Committee, which sponsors speakers, forums and discussions in the field of international relations. Next year this committee will also be responsible for representing the European Seminar program on the Y Cabinet.

Appointments for interviews for these positions may be made in Y Court.

National Civic Magazine Prints Student's Article

Alva Stewart, student in the School of Library Science, is the author of "Planning Know How" in the April issue of National Civic Review.

The article describes the program of technical planning assistance provided for North Carolina's municipalities with populations under 25,000 by the Division of Community Planning, State Department of Conservation and Development.

Stewart writes, "In the 18 months of its existence, the Division of Community Planning has filled a recognizable need—providing planning assistance to small towns and cities."

Stewart is a 1953 UNC graduate who worked as city hall reporter for the Asheville Courier-Tribune in 1958. He has written three articles for Municipal South, a monthly magazine for Southern city officials.

The National Civic Review is published by the National Municipal League, which has offices in New York City.

It went to to say that the agreement is "subject to ratification by the membership of locals 578 and 584." The two locals will hold a closed meeting Sunday afternoon at the Henderson High School.

Gov. Hodges, obviously relieved, said he is "very happy indeed to see the parties agree on a contract so the people can go back to work." He complimented both sides on "their friendly attitude" throughout the negotiations.

Payton, the sole union representative present, told newsmen that he was "pleased that we have been able to work out an agreement. . . I am hopeful that the wounds occasioned by the strike will soon be healed."

Payton also said "We have pledged our full cooperation to the company in bringing this about at the earliest possible moment." He expressed appreciation for the efforts of Gov. Hodges. "He deserves a lot of credit in the solution of the problems here."

Second Shift Monday

Cooper's statement was simply a repetition of parts of the agreement. However, he added, "I will decide before Monday when to start the next shift." He said he intends to start the second shift at 3 p.m. Monday. Cooper said he would start the third shift as soon as he gets the second organized. "I'm gonna run the best I can and as quick as I can," Cooper concluded.

The offices of the mill had been filled with reporters, photographers and a television cameraman since the afternoon.

The talks recessed at 7:19 and resumed again at 8:23. Again, Payton was the last to enter the room. He and Hodges emerged at 8:43 and went outside to confer with the eight-man union executive committee.

Seven minutes later the two returned. A reporter asked Hodges, "How are things looking?"

As Hodges stepped into the room out of the dark, he looked around and said, "Bright in here."

It's All Over

And 15 minutes later it was all over.

When the Governor made his undramatic statement, the room was suspended for a moment in stunned silence. But almost immediately everyone began to squeeze into the pine-paneled den to sign a piece of paper that will bring an end to the disrupted lives of hundreds of tired, anxious and sometimes-violent strikers.

The old clock, which had been so noisy during the quietness of the talks, went unheard in the near-bellam that broke loose in the offices.

And outside, another bedlam was erupting in the form of voices—voices cheering a man they hated with every ounce of their energy only a few short hours before.

The strike is over!
