Bills To Foster Cooperation, Amend Legislature's By-Laws Come Before Solons Tonight

A bill to encourage meetings of legislators and constituents and a bill to amend the Student Legislature by-laws will come up at the Legislature meeting tonight.

The solons will meet at 7:30 in Phi Hall, 4th floor, New East.

The Jim Crowover (SP) bill originally required each legislator to attend meetings in the various housing units in his district.

The bill was defeated, but reconsidered and amended at the last Legislature meeting.

The amended bill encourages meetings of all legislators with their constituents.

Each legislator would then be required to submit a written report concerning his activities to the speaker of the Legislature not later than two weeks prior to spring elections.

A bill, introduced by Dave Jones (SP), to amend the Legislature by-laws would permit legislators moving from their districts during a session to retain their seats for the two weeks following disqualification.

The intent of the bill is to allow time for the vacancies to be filled without diminishing the number of people in the Legislature.

Another Jones bill, which was defeated last week, to increase the 1959-60 appropriation to the NSA delegation by $85, possibly will be brought up again tonight, according to Jones.

Concerning the bill, Dewey Sheffield, Student Party chairman, said yesterday, "I am very much in favor of the NSA bill and I urge legislators to take constructive action and pass it."

Doctor Paid Tribute By 160 Friends

More than 160 fraternity brothers, wives, special guests, and friends have paid tribute to Dr. Roger E. Sturdevant for his contributions through the years to the Xi Psi Phi dental fraternity.

The affair was sponsored by the Beta Beta Chapter of Xi Psi Phi at the Carolina Inn over the weekend. Dr. Sturdevant has been associated with local chapters since 1914 when he was initiated into Psi Chapter at the University, and finally by his efforts to organize and foster the Beta Beta Chapter here.

As the guest of honor, Dr. Sturdevant presented the senior students of the fraternity with their pins signifying graduation. He also presented the seniors' wives a charm pendant bearing the fraternity seal.

The testimonial speech was presented by Dr. Robert J. Shankle, who has been associated with Dr. Sturdevant both as a student and fellow educator at Emory and UNC. Dr. Shankle is now a member of the operative staff of which Dr. Sturdevant is the present head of the department. Dr. Shankle's association with the guest of honor gave him ample background for a presentation which included many "parables" of Dr. Sturdevant.

SENIORS!

Today is the last day for seniors to pick up their graduation invitations.

Some 100 orders are still remaining upstairs in the Y Building. These may be picked up between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. today.

Postmaster J. Paul Cheek of Chapel Hill said that the large invitations will require eight cents postage. Four cents is sufficient for the small invitations weighing less than one ounce.

Negro Named To Board: Pastor Leads Ballots

CHAPEL HILL — The Rev. J. R. Manley, pastor of the First Baptist Church, led the ticket in yesterday's voting for the Chapel Hill Board of Education to become the first Negro ever named to the local school board.

Named to the other two seats were Dean Henry Brandis Jr. and Grey Culbreth. In all, six sought the three school board posts. Manley received 1,125 votes in leading the field.

Named to the Town Board of Aldermen were Sandy McClamrock, F. E. (Gene) Strowd and Roland Giduz. Obie Davis, a member of the board for the past 20 years, was defeated in his bid for re-election.

Two other candidates were elected without opposition. They were O. K. Cornwell, mayor of Chapel Hill, and William T. Stewart, judge of Recorder's Court.

French Government Grants 2 Scholarships

A French Government grant to UNC has provided two scholarships awarded this week to students in the Department of Romance Languages.

Jimmie D. Tedder of High Point and James M. Villas of Charlotte, both juniors majoring in French, are the 1959 recipients of the scholarships. Valued at $150 each, the

Two Seniors Win Awards For Outstanding Work

Ernest H. Abernethy Prize, John J. Parker Award Given

Two UNC seniors have won coveted awards for work in the field of student government and student publications.

They are Ann Frye of Hickory and Donald A. Furtado of Garner. Miss Frye is the 1959 recipient of the Ernest H. Abernethy Prize in student publications. Furtado receives this year's John J. Parker Jr. award for unique leadership in student government.

Miss Frye, a holder of the Louis Graves scholarship in journalism, has worked on the Daily Tar Heel for two years and is presently news editor.

She was Press Club president for the past year and is a member of Kappa Tau Alpha, honorary journalism society, and the Matrix Society, honorary journalism society for women.

Miss Frye will join the news staff of the Charlotte Observer in June. Furtado has served as student body president and vice president and as speaker of the Student Legislature. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity, the Order of the Holy Grail and Order of the Golden Fleece, the campus's two highest honorary organizations.

A member of the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps, he will enter the United States Navy after graduation in June.

The Abernethy Award of a plaque and $50 cash was founded in 1942 by Ernest H. Abernethy, class of 1922, Atlanta, Ga., for the student adjudged by a committee to have done the most distinctive work during the current year in the field of student publications.

American Histories Series Edited By UNC Professor

Meridian Books, Inc., of New York, has announced the publication in September of the first volume of a new series of documentary American histories, under the general editorship of George F. Scheer, of Chapel Hill.

The first work to appear will be "The Confederacy: A Documentary History," edited by Albert D. Kirwan, of the University of Kentucky.

Other volumes in the series, to be called "Meridian Documents of American History Series," will include a general history of the United States to 1865, by Hugh T. Lefler of the University of North Carolina, in spring 1960; a companion history of the United States from 1865 to the present, by Frank W. Klingberg, also of the University of North Carolina, in spring 1960. A history of American diplomacy, by Robert A. Divine, of the University of Texas, in spring 1960; an American constitutional history, by Louis A. Pollak, Yale University Law School, in fall 1960; a two-volume American intellectual history, by Alan Heimert, Harvard University, in spring 1961.

A two-volume history of American society, by George F. Scheer, editor of the series, in fall 1961; and four other titles now being planned, to be published in 1962 and 1963.

The basic purpose of the "Meridian Documents of American History Series," according to the publisher's announcement, is to make available in an attractive and inexpensive format, with brief, interpretive, unifying commentaries, the principal documents of American history.

Senior Day Closes With Hogan's Party

The last flings of Senior Day will be held tonight when Willy Hargraves and his combo entertain members of the class of '59 at Hogan's lake.

After the "ball" at the Patio Tuesday afternoon and night and hard, hard classes Wednesday and today, seniors need one more night of relaxation and fun before they hit the books for those finals.

So the Senior Social Committee and the Dean of Women's office are cooperating. Tonight is that night.

The Lake and grounds will be open all day for members of the class to sun, swim, fish, cook supper, and what-all.

Official activities will get under way around 8 o'clock when Willy Hargraves shows up. There will be music, jokes, fun, dancing and more music. And all this can be enjoyed by coeds and their dates until midnight.

Philanthropics Down Henderson Resolution

By HOBART STEELE

A resolution that John Cooper, president of the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills, should rehire striking workers in place of the strikebreakers now employed was defeated by the Philanthropic Literary Society at its regular meeting Tuesday Night.

Rep. Stan Black introduced the bill and spoke for its adoption. Black said Cooper forced the strike by failing to renew a 14-year-old arbitration clause in the union contract. He said that the violence present in Henderson was due to Cooper's refusal to bargain in good faith, in that he hired only a few of the striking workers back.

Rep. John Brooks protested the resolution, saying that the right to arbitration was not basic for labor unions and that only 10 per cent of American unions have such agreements.

Brooks further stated that management had a right to omit a portion of an agreement which it believed unfair to them. Management's money and that of many stockholders is involved in the operation of a business he said, and the fundamental duty of a manager is to his stockholders.

Coed Fines Discarded In WRC Action Tuesday

All coed dormitory fines were discarded in action taken Tuesday night by the Women's Residence Council.

The council also elected Jean Crews chairman of the summer school WRC. She is a member of the council and president of the Nursing Dormitory.

The council considered all girls for the office who are now residents on campus and who will attend both summer sessions.

Under the new dormitory rule instead of fines, girls will receive up to three warnings for soft drink bottles found in the rooms, unmade beds and food not in tins. After the third warning the girl will receive a campus effective one week from the day of the next offense. This does not count as one of the five offences toward Women's Honor Council.

Kay Boertz, chairman of the Women's Residence Council, announced the appointment Tuesday of Carolyn Sikes to serve on the Student Council for next year.

Playmakers Present 'Inherit The Wind' Tonight At 8:30 In The Forest Theater

Pictured above are Robert Ketter as Cates and Sally Pullen as Rachel in a scene from the forthcoming Playmakers production of "Inherit the Wind" to be presented in the Forest Theater at 8:30 tonight.

The Carolina Playmakers present their final offering of the 1958-59 season, "Inherit the Wind," tonight through Saturday in The Forest Theatre at 8:30.

The dramatization of the famous Tennessee evolution trial features Lloyd Borstelmann, Fred Sitton, John Sneden, Douglass Whitehill, Robert Ketter and Sally Pullen in the leading roles.

Also in the cast are Pat Sim-nions, Jock Lauterer, Bill Hannah, William Bailey, Margaret Starnes, Wayne Garber, Hunter Tillman, Carl Killingsworth, Carl Justice, Tommy Thomas, Darwin Solomon, Joel Gibbons, Gene Lanier, Betty Rhodes, Myra Lauterer, Herbert Drinnon, Ed Lively, James Tedder and James Poteat.

Link, Carolyn Quinn, Chenault Spence, Marilyn Zschau, Bob Fletcher, Frank Carlisle, Becky Davis, Nancy Coleman, Lloyd Ininger, Sam Baker, Roy Hunt, Phil Kennedy, Jack Jackson, Don Golttschalk, Tommy Patterson and David Holbrook.

The direction of the large cast is handled by Thomas M. Patterson, associate professor of dramatic art, assisted by Craven Mackie and Sally Greene.

The complex settings of the courtroom and the street of a Southern town are designed by John Stockard, graduate assistant in the department of dramatic art. Lighting is by Jim Armacost; costumes, by Irene Smart Rains.

There are no reserved seats for "Inherit the Wind." Tickets are available at The Forest Theatre box office, beginning at 7 o'clock on performance evenings.

Final Concert By Symphony To Be On 12th

The UNC Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Earl Stocum, will present the final concert of the Tuesday Evening Series in Hill Hall May 12 at 8 p.m.

Tuesday's program will feature Mrs. Lillian P. Pruett as guest soloist in Mozart's Piano Concerto in C Major, K. 503, and Howard Hanson's Symphony No. 2 (Romantic).

Mrs. Pruett, graduate assistant instructor in piano in the UNC Music Department, is a graduate of the Mozarteum in Salzburg and Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Before entering graduate school as a musicology student, she taught piano at Miss Hall's School, Pittsfield, Mass.

In Chapel Hill, Mrs. Pruett has appeared on both the Tuesday Evening Series in a solo recital and on the Petite Musical Series as harpist-chordist with chamber ensembles.

Mozart's piano concerto was composed in 1786 in Vienna. Scored for strings, flute, oboes bassoons, horns, trumpets and drums, it is one of the last piano concertos written by the composer.

Howard Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y., recently received the National Music Council Citation as "Conductor of a Symphony Orchestra who has rendered outstanding service to American Music." Educator, conductor and composer, Hanson has won many awards for his compositions including the Prix de Rome, Pulitzer and Alice Dison Award.

Interviews Continue For UP Positions

Hank Patterson, University Party chairman, has reminded UP members that the Executive Committee will continue interviews from 4 to 6 p.m. in the Grail Room for these party positions:

A seat in Student Legislature from Town Women's district. The seat will be vacant after the close of the present Legislature session tonight. Coeds seeking this seat must have a "C" average and at least 25 hours in the last two se-esters and will be a town resident next fall.

A chairman and four members of the UP Membership Committee. This committee is responsible for contacting incoming students, other prospective members and former party members to join or reaffiliate with the party and for checking GMAB activity cards in the fall.

A chairman and four other members of the Publicity Committee.

Tar Heel Air Force Award Goes To Air Science Professor

Col. Franklin W. Swann, air science professor here, was presented the Tar Heel Air Force Award during ceremonies this week.

Col. Swann was made a member of the honorary organization known as the Tar Heel Air Force because of his many accomplishments during his tour of duty at the University AFROTC Detachment.

He has been credited with making the local AFROTC unit one of the outstanding ones in this area.

In Chapel Hill community activities, he has been in charge of the local Little League baseball team for the past two summers.

Col. Swann leaves the University in the summer to serve as assistant air inspector for MATS Headquarters at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois.
