Frankenheimer Will Speak In Hill Hall Tonight At 8

John Frankenheimer, well-known television and motion picture director, will speak here tonight in Hill Hall at 8 p.m.

The general theme of his address will be "The Positive Prospects of Television Production" and will be followed by a question and answer period wherein he will entertain questions from the audience. The speech will be open to the public.

Frankenheimer has been nationally acclaimed for his successful association with the "Playhouse 90" and "The DuPont Show of the Month" series. He also directed the motion picture titled "The Young Strangers."

Recent Achievements

His most recent achievements in the television medium were the "Playhouse 90" production of Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls"—the first three-hour show ever presented on TV—and his direction of Sir John Gielgud in an adaptation of "The Browning Version" for "The DuPont Show of the Month."

Other "Playhouse 90" shows under his direction were "The Comedian" which starred Mickey Rooney, "The Ninth Day," "The Last Tycoon," "The Fabulous Irishman," "A Sound of Different Drums," "A Town Has Turned to Dust," "Days of Wine and Roses" which starred Piper Laurie and was nominated recently for three Emmy awards, and "Old Man," an adaptation of William Faulkner's long story.

Will Direct Film

Frankenheimer is now associated with David Susskind's organization, "Talent Associates," and will direct a motion picture this summer based on Truman Capote's book, "Breakfast at Tiffany's." After directing yet another film late in the summer, he hopes to direct a new Broadway play.

One of the most amazing phenomena about Frankenheimer is the fact that he has attained his legendary status as one of the country's best directors at the age of 29.

Directional Habits

At one time an actor himself, he often surprises the actors that work under his direction with his knowledge of acting and production. He has a habit of following his stars around, sometimes standing just inches away from their faces.

Gielgud paid him a fine compliment when they worked together on "The Browning Version." "He's very good," said Gielgud, one of the world's most honored actors, "and the only thing that keeps one young is working with some of the young people in this medium and learning from their freshness, their lack of fear of what's been done before."

Ambitious Schedule Here

While in Chapel Hill, Frankenheimer, who will be accompanied by his wife, Carolyn, will have an ambitious schedule. After an interview on WCHL in the morning, he will participate in a kinescope recording of the "Ideas" show, a regular presentation of WUNC-TV.

There will be a press reception in Swain Hall at 4 p.m. in the evening, after a dinner in his honor at the Carolina Inn, he will deliver his address in Hill Hall and talk with students and townspeople at the reception immediately following in Graham Memorial.

Before leaving the campus Friday, he will speak to a combined meeting of writing students in Swain Hall at 10 a.m.

Fraternity Or Sorority To Receive Stereo Set

A stereophonic record player will be awarded soon to the fraternity or sorority that has saved the most empty packages of Philip Morris, Marlboro and Parliament cigarettes through Friday.

Harvey Salz, who is handling the contest on this campus for the Philip Morris company, said he will check the number of packages saved between 1:30 and 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Last year during a similar contest, Delta Delta Delta sorority was awarded a hi-fi set.

G. M. SLATE

Activities scheduled in Graham Memorial today include: AKPsi, 4-6:30 p.m., Grail, and 6-10 p.m., Roland Parker I and III; UP caucus, 6:30-7:30 p.m., Grail; SF caucus, 6:30-7:30 p.m., Woodhouse; Student Council, 7:30-11 p.m., Grail; WRC Freshmen Orientation, 8-11 p.m., Woodhouse; Carolina Forum reception, 9 p.m., Main Lounge.

2nd Session Of Friedberg Trial Tonight

By AL McSURELY

The second session of Joe Friedberg's trial before the Men's Honor Council will be held tonight.

This will mark the second time Daily Tar Heel reporters have been admitted to a Men's Honor Council proceeding.

Friedberg, who is being tried for "aiding and abetting in the passing of bad checks," said the coverage the Daily Tar Heel gave Monday's session was "All right," although he didn't expect such a big story.

"I opened my door to pick up my paper," he said, "and I said to myself 'I wonder how they played it?' and jeez! There it was, splashed all over the front page."

"I didn't expect anything like that."

Student Body President Charlie Gray and Honor Council Chairman Hugh Patterson okayed Friedberg's request for Daily Tar Heel coverage because there are no student accusers involved, and there has already been wide publicity concerning Friedberg's civil court trial. President Gray had favorable comments about the newspaper report. "As long as we can get objective coverage, and can protect the rights of the accusers and jurors, I don't see any reason why we shouldn't have reporters at such trials," he said.

Summer News Applications Due In Today

The Summer School Publications Board is receiving applications from interested students for the positions of editor and business manager of the Summer School News.

Applications will be taken until noon today in 206 South Building. Both the editor and the business manager will be responsible to the Publications Board for a tabloid weekly newspaper during the 10-week summer period. The position of editor will be a salaried job while the position of business manager will include a relatively small base salary plus commissions on advertising.

The Board will meet at 3 p.m. today in 206 South Building to interview candidates.

Library Making Plans For Air-Conditioning

By EDWARD NEAL RINER

Students attending school here this summer will be able to study in air conditioned comfort, according to University Librarian Jerrold Orne.

"It is our aim to air condition the general assembly room this summer so that students may study there," Dr. Orne said.

Library Already Has Money

The Library already has money for the air conditioning unit, and the University engineers have approved the plan. The Library is now waiting for approval from the state Department of Administration. Dr. Orne said that its "action is imminent."

Tables and chairs will be taken from the former General College Reading Room and placed in the general assembly room. The General College Room, now the smoking room, will be closed during the summer; smoking will be permitted in the assembly room.

Undergrad Library Gets Point
Also during the summer the Library will repaint and re-arrange the undergraduate library. The new arrangement for this room will be similar to the Reserve Reading Room where shelves divide the room into study areas.

Dr. Orne said that Miss Mary Lou Lucy, head of circulation, is planning the new arrangement for the Undergraduate Library and that she would accept suggestions from the students.

Would Like To Paint Smoking Room

In addition to the repainting of the undergraduate library, which

John J. Honigmann Anthropologist Writes Book

On May 13, Harper & Brothers published "The World of Man," a new anthropology book by UNC Professor of Anthropology John J. Honigmann.

The emphasis in the text is on cultural anthropology, but physical anthropology is also covered. Dr. Honigmann has also tried to clarify the relationships between anthropology and other behavioral sciences.

The author, who is a graduate of Brooklyn College, with an M.A. and Ph. D. from Yale, has devoted space in his comprehensive survey to all areas of anthropological studies, including such oft-neglected areas as comparative ideology.

The books 971 pages include many illustrations and charts. The price is $7.50.

Concert Called Off

The University Concert Band's lawn concert on Sunday has been called off.

The concert, scheduled to be held at Davie Poplar, was to be conducted by Eddie Bass, a graduate student in the Department of Music.

Cabinet Named By President

Student Body President Charlie Gray announced Wednesday the appointment of his cabinet for the coming year.

The new cabinet will consist of the following members: Joe Herndon, Bob Sevier, Cynthia Grant, Sandy Trotman, Hugh Patterson and Bob Thompson.

Gray said that Herndon's main duty will be to keep him informed of all problems arising in the dorms and of the work of the Interdormitory Council.

Legislative Liaison

Sevier will be a liaison between the executive office and the fraternity areas. He will also be the president's legislative liaison.

Miss Grant will be the liaison between the women students and will keep the president informed on the happenings of the Panhellenic Council and Women's Residence Council.

As chairman of the Women's Honor Council, Miss Trotman will inform Gray of the Women's Judicial System. As chairman of the Men's Honor System, Patterson will serve a similar function as regards to the Men's Council.

Study of Campus Problems

Thompson is Chairman of the Campus Affairs Board which will be in charge of carrying out studies of the various campus problems.

The cabinet will also consist of the three other student government officers, David Grigg, Sue Wood and Bob Bingham, along with presidential assistant, Jim Crowover. Gray said he believes he has chosen a group that can adequately represent every phase of campus life and act as a liaison between student government and the students.

Cabinet to Be Backbone

"I plan for the cabinet to be the backbone of all student government operations next year," he commented. "For this reason, I have greatly altered the composition and duties of the cabinet members."

Exams Got You Feeling Low? The Lawn Concert Is Soon

By BOB GIBBONS

Have the coming final exams got you feeling blue?

Forget your worries and have an afternoon of sheer enjoyment at a lawn concert this Saturday.

The concert, sponsored by the Graham Memorial House Committee, will be under the Davie Poplar.

The Embers, a seven-piece orchestra led by Cal Huber, will be featured.

Dave Mincey, co-chairman of the lawn concert committee with Dick Lambeth, said that a special program has been planned.

Jim Talley and the Shades will entertain during intermission. Free refreshments will be served during the concert.

This is the final project of the year for the House Committee, which is in charge of special events. Cynthia Grant is chairman of the committee.

Tentative arrangements have been made to hold the concert in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial if weather is bad.

Gray Will Give Decision Tonight On Public Trials

Mill Sale Is Talked

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Textile Workers Union of America official said Wednesday that sale of the struck Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills in Henderson, N. C., reportedly is being talked about. He added that the strikers would consider it a victory if a sale were made.

Boyd E. Payton, TWUA Carolina's director, made the statement to newsmen. He was here to testify for a $1.25 minimum hourly wage law.

Payton quoted John D. Cooper, owner of the mills, as saying he'd either have his kind of contract or liquidate. The union leader also said Cooper has stated that he must get back into full production within 30 days or close the mills.

"The situation," asserted Payton, "is heading toward the mills closing." He asserted that under new ownership the strikers would have hopes of getting jobs.

The mills management reportedly is discussing sale of the plants, struck since Nov. 17, to J. P. Stevens, Payton said.

Cooper, however, declared at Henderson "there's not a word of truth" in Payton's report of sales discussions.

The mill owner said further that "I have made no announcement about starting a third shift, but I am employing people to work on it right now."

Commenting on the arrival of National Guard troops in Henderson, Cooper said, "I'm glad to see them. I hope they will be able to bring order to this community."

Payton declared, "The situation in Henderson now is that the people are not beaten. They're as determined as they were last November. There seems no hope of early settlement of the strike."

He estimated strikers had lost approximately $1,457,000 in wages by the end of the 24th week of the strike and that the company losses in production in these modernized mills would run into the millions.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is looking into charges by the union that armed strike breakers have been imported into the state, said John Edelman, Washington representative of the union.

Payton said he expects to testify at hearings the Senate rackets committee plans to hold on the strike. The date for the hearings has not been set.

Student Body President Charlie Gray will announce to a special session of Student Legislature tonight whether or not he signed a bill, passed under special orders last week, providing for open trials for students who request them.

Also on the agenda for the final meeting this scholastic year of Legislature are the consideration of two bills and three resolutions, the election of two delegates to the Consolidated University Student Council and the approval or rejection of recent appointments to student government positions made by Gray.

The session will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Phi Hall.

Controversial Bill

The controversial bill introduced last week by Jim Crowover (SP) and passed by Legislature calls for public trials of the Men's Honor Council, Women's Honor Council, Women's Council and Student Council if the student on trial makes such a request.

Concerning this bill, Gray said he would not reveal his decision to approve or veto the measure until he appeared before Legislature tonight to state his reasons for either action.

Trial Open to Press

Though the bill would not go into effect until either Gray signed it or Legislature passed it again over his veto, the trial of student Joe Friedberg tonight has been opened to the press on his request and the permission of Hugh Patterson, chairman of the Men's Honor Council.

Legislators will also consider the bill introduced last week by Gordon Street (UP) for the Student Audit Board dealing with certain policy proposals regarding student government finances.

Other Provisions

Among other provisions in this bill is the recommendation that student organizations receiving appropriations from Legislature and another source may retain a certain percentage of any surplus at the end of the year. The percentage would be determined from the amount received from a source other than Legislature.

The other bill to be considered by Legislature tonight is one calling for the approval of the UNC Forensic Council constitution to replace an outdated document.

Recognition of Lacrosse

The student legislators will act on a resolution that Legislature encourage the recognition of lacrosse at Carolina as an official spring sport.

Another resolution before Legislature would commend the class officers for their achievements during the past academic year.

The third resolution to be considered calls for the sanction and support of a mock Democratic national convention here next May.

First Community Ambassador In Europe Is UNC Senior

By PATSY STANTON

Mary Louise Crumbley, 22-year-old senior of Charlotte, will become Charlotte's first community ambassador in Europe as a part of the nationally-conducted experiment in international living.

Selected from a field of outstanding candidates, Miss Crumbley will spend the summer living and studying in Belgium and other parts of Europe. After living with a Belgium family for several weeks, she will take a member of that family along with her when she joins other American community ambassadors for a two-week tour of Europe.

MORE CORRECTIONS

The fraternity in which the lowest number of its actives have less than a C-coverage is Pi Lambda Phi, not Pi Lambda Alpha.

Also, the president of Phi Beta Kappa is Harvey Peck, not Harvey Keck.

The Charlotte Junior Chamber of Commerce, local sponsor of the program, announced her selection and will sponsor a series of talks in the fall before civic and church groups on her experiences of the national experiment. In cooperation the Jaycee program, the Charlotte Observer will publish her reports.

The talented honor student in her field of radio and television was tapped in February by the Order of the Valyries for "her dedicated service to the Women's Honor Council and to her sorority," and for her "many contributions to campus activities and student productions."

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Crumbley of 1521 Providence Dr. and a member of Kappa Delta sorority. She was the youngest woman in her district to compete for the position of community ambassador in Europe.
