New Forum Chairman

The Carolina Forum for the academic year 1959-60 held its first official meeting yesterday and elected new officers for the coming year.

The chairman is Frank Crowther, a rising senior from Chevy Chase, Maryland who is also associate editor of The Daily Tar Heel.

Vice-Chairman is Taylor McMillan, rising senior from Parkton, N. C., who is also the Vice-President of the Forensic Council. Clay Simpson, rising senior from Lexington, Ky. and President of the Forensic Council, was elected Treasurer.

Nancy Baker, also a rising senior, from Oak Hill, W. Va. was selected to be the Forum secretary.

Crowther and Simpson will remain in Chapel Hill for the summer and plan to begin work immediately in contacting prospective speakers for the fall. McMillan will work in Washington, D. C. in the office of Representative Ken Hechler, a member of congress from West Virginia. Miss Baker is uncertain as to her plans for the summer.

Those speakers to be contacted first by the new Forum committee include Dr. Robert Goheen, President of Princeton University, Sen. John Kennedy, Vice President Richard Nixon, Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, Jack Kerouac, author of "On The Road" and "The Dharma Bums," and Vladimir Nabokov, author of "Invitation of a Beethoven" and "Invitation of a Beethoven."

The Carolina Forum is financed by funds from the Student Legislature and seeks to bring to the campus significant speakers from all fields of endeavor. Recently, the Forum for 1958-59 brought to the campus John Frankenhimer, noted television director. A television show made during the director's stay will be shown over WUNC-TV this Wednesday evening at 9 p.m.

Any student wishing to suggest a name to the Forum for consideration may do so by sending a letter to the Carolina Forum, c/o Graham Memorial.

Big Meeting!

All persons connected with Summer School student government have been asked to meet Tuesday, June 9, at 2 p.m. in Roland Parker 1.

This includes all members of the summer school government board, the summer school student council, the Women's and Men's honor councils.

Auto Accident Victim Has Broken Vertebra

Donald J. Kroe, who sustained a fractured vertebra in the automobile accident which claimed the life of his fiancée early Saturday, had a fair day Monday, according to Memorial Hospital sources.

Charles Etheridge, local policeman who investigated the accident, said Kroe was "naturally very broken up."

"Kroe said he and his fiancée, Betty Juanita Love, and another couple had been to the Patio. They returned to Chapel Hill where they left the other couple and decided to drive back toward Durham. That's when the wreck occurred," said Etheridge.

He added, "The boy will be charged with manslaughter and a preliminary hearing will be held as soon as he is physically able to attend."

Miss Love died at 2 a.m. Saturday about two hours after the accident occurred. Their car left the highway at Whitehall's Antique shop as Kroe tried to pass another car and lost control.

Chi Psi Fraternity Elects New Officers

Members of Chi Psi social fraternity last week elected Larry Craver president for 1959-60. Craver is a Morehead scholar from Winston-Salem and is a member of the varsity baseball team.

2,000 Students To Graduate

Approximately 2,000 diplomas will be awarded Carolina students in commencement exercises less than two weeks from today.

The commencement gets underway formally with the Baccalaureate Sermon at 11 a.m. Sunday, May 31, in Memorial Hall. The sermon will be delivered by noted theologian, Dr. H. Richard Niebuhr of the Yale Divinity School.

On Monday, June 1, the traditional graduation exercises will be held in Kenan Stadium at 7 p.m. The commencement address Monday will be given by Vermont C. Royster, editor of the Wall Street Journal.

Alumni and other visitors will begin coming to the campus on Saturday, May 30, when at least two reunion classes will hold supper meetings. An outdoor reception will again be held on Saturday evening for the seniors, their parents, alumni and faculty. The University Women's Club acts as hostess for the event at Kessing Pool.

Reunion classes which will hold formal gatherings this year are those of the years 1909, 1914, 1919, 1924, 1929, 1934, 1939, 1944, 1949 and 1954. The Old Students Club will hold its annual meeting and induct the 50-year alumni.

Concerts, Carolina Playmakers productions, receptions, special honors convocations and the many alumni meetings are other traditional commencement events.

The annual Alumni Luncheon is set for June 1 at 12:30 p.m. in Lenoir Hall. Installation of new Alumni Association officers, announcement of Alumni Annual Giving results, and induction of alumni officers for the class of 1959 are some of the scheduled events of the luncheon.

Dr. Niebuhr, who has taught at Yale Divinity School since 1931, has a famous theologian brother, Reinhold Niebuhr of Union Theological Seminary.

Vermont Royster is a native of Raleigh and received his A.B. degree in 1935 from UNC. He joined the Wall Street Journal the following year, and in 1953 won a Pulitzer Prize for his editorial writing.

Joel Chadabe Wins Weeks Music Award

Joel Avon Chadabe is the recipient of the Percy Craven Weeks Award given by Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity to the year's outstanding piano major.

The engraved cup and $25 check were presented to Chadabe Monday night by Sig Ep President Bill Stepp at a supper for Chadabe and Dr. Wilton Mason of the Music Department.

A graduating senior from New York City, Chadabe's major in the

Dialectic Senate & Philanthropic Society Merge After 164 Years Of Separate Meetings

By HOBART STEELE

The Dialectic Senate and the Philanthropic Literary Society have merged to form the Dialectic and Philanthropic Literary Society.

Action came Tuesday night when Di President Gary Greer made a fervent appeal to the Phi for incorporation of the Di into it. Phi President John Brooks followed the appeal with a bill for incorporation which would clarify the merger.

Greer's appeal was made with a realization that the membership of the two societies might dwindle to complete uselessness. At the time of his presentation, the Di had 12 members and the Phi, 20.

After a series of story debates last week the new society was formed by an unanimous vote, and the Phi Constitution was amended as prevailing basis for the organization.

The first president of the new society is David Matthews from the Phi; the first president pro-tem is Gary Greer of the Di. Other officers of Di-Phi are Recording Clerk Hobart Steele, Critic Glenn Johnson, Sergeant-at-Arms Fred Parker and Parliamentarian Ron Pruitt.

Di Hall and its offices are to be used by the Di-Phi, and the Phi pin and cuts have been adopted.

The Forensic Council, which approved the merger, and its member organizations (including the Carolina Forum, State Student Legislature and Debate Squad) will use the Phi offices.

The Di-Phi will retain complete jurisdiction of the hanging of portraits and retain the ownership of the portraits and other furnishings. Any changes or additions to the merger will be jointly approved by the Di-Phi.

The Dialectic Senate and Philanthropic Literary Society were both organized in 1795, the year when the doors of the University were open for students. About 1813 the two societies merged into the Concord Society which met in a room in the Library.

Freshmen Cabinet And Deferred Rush, Study Halls, Orientation

By JOHN FRYE

Several months ago, the officers of the freshman class organized the Freshman Cabinet, a committee to act as an advisory board to the officers. A group of 25 representative students were selected to meet weekly for the past three months to discuss problems and projects of the class.

Since the cabinet was organized relatively late in the semester, it has been limited in carrying out its proposed projects. The cabinet was prevented, for example, from having a Freshman WC-UNC Day, on which the WC freshmen would visit Chapel Hill and would be entertained at a picnic, talent show and combo party.

The cabinet did not have time to hold a program promoting attendance at freshman athletic events and a program promoting participating in minor sports.

The cabinet, however, recently gave support to the scholarship program sponsored by the classes of '60, '61 and '62. Since this scholarship will be in honor of one of the outstanding leaders of North Carolina, the cabinet members decided to help with that effort.

Realizing that the student support was needed to fight for increased University budget appropriations, the cabinet wrote personal letters to state legislators.

When the controversy over deferred rush was brought up this spring, the cabinet immediately began to investigate all aspects of a program which would pertain mainly to freshmen. A questionnaire on rush was distributed to a cross section of the freshmen. The results showed 91 per cent of the students were opposed to deferred rush of any kind. Only 42 per cent indicated they had had enough time during last fall's rush to make a wise decision.

However, 19 per cent said they wish they had waited until a later time to pledge. Fifty-three per cent noted that they didn't have sufficient knowledge about fraternities when rush began, but 98 per cent said they had suffered no disappointments which affected their academic work during the first semester.

The societies later occupied separate halls when New East and New West were built in 1858. At this time the walls were adorned by portraits of their members who had obtained honors in the world. The life-size oil portraits are the largest and most important collection in North Carolina of eminent men.

In 1925 the old halls were renovated, and the old chairs and lights removed. The Di was furnished desks and chairs while the Phi was furnished with folding chairs which are still in use.

Years ago membership in one or other of the societies was compulsory. Today membership in them is voluntary, but limited to 50.

Sound & Fury Music

Al Salley, producer of this year's Sound and Fury show, "Oh Hellas," announced this week that plans are being made to have the music from the production reproduced on 33 1/3 rpm, long playing records for sale to interested persons.

Salley said the price of the records had not been definitely determined, but it would probably not exceed $4. Persons ordering the record will be billed before the end of the year. The record will be mailed to the buyer sometime during the early part of the summer.

All interested persons are asked to contact the GMAB office in Graham Memorial as soon as possible.

Thanks

Elsie Prevatte, graduate student in recreation curriculum, said Monday she appreciated the cooperation of 400 undergraduate students for filling out questionnaires in her Survey of Leisure Interests and Leisure Pursuits.

She also thanks members and presidents of the Women's Residence Council, Panhellenic Council, IDC and IFC, who administered the questionnaires.

Tigers Claw Heels Again; Capture Title

By ELLIOTT COOPER

GASTONIA—Last night for the second time in less than a week the brass ring representing the ACC basketball championship evaded Carolina as Clemson walked off with the coveted title by defeating the Tar Heels 9-7.

For the Tar Heels it was an evening of frustration as to a great degree they defeated themselves by yielding four unearned runs and committing five errors.

What hurt even worse was the fact that Carolina had overcome a 4-0 Clemson lead in the fifth inning with a four-run rally to capture the lead in the game at 7-5. This two-run margin stood up until the Tiger eighth, when Bill Wilhelm's crew put together two hits and three walks to tally three times and take the lead.

The Tar Heel defeat marked the second time in two years that they have lost the conference crown to Clemson in a playoff here at Sims Legion Park.

Membership Drive Termed Big Success

The membership drive among seniors for the General Alumni Association included 582 students by Monday afternoon. The class of 1959 has approximately 1,100 members.

Hamp Lefler, chairman of the senior class Alumni Committee, said Monday, he considered the drive had been successful so far. He predicted that the number of seniors who became members of the association will exceed 600, which would be a 20 per cent increase over last year.

Lefler announced that seniors may still join for $1 by writing to the General Alumni Association or by going to the Alumni office in the Carolina Inn.

He also expressed his thanks to members of his committee and solicitors for their work and to the seniors for their support.

INFIRMARY

Students in the Infirmary yesterday included:

Eugenia Forbes McArver, Katherine Templeton, Johnny Slott, Frank Carper, Howard McAllister, Charles Hines, William Monroe, Douglas Gatlin, Alfred Marley, Franklin Jones, Robert Merritt and James Earley.

UNC Gets New Education Professor

Raleigh's assistant schools superintendent, Dr. Neill A. Rosser, has been appointed as an associate professor in the UNC School of Education.

His appointment, which is effective Sept. 1, was announced by Chancellor William B. Aycock following approval by President William C. Friday and the Board of Trustees.

Dr. Rosser taught at the University of Illinois for four years before going to Raleigh in 1955 as principal of Hugh Morson Junior High School. He was named assistant superintendent of Raleigh Public Schools in 1957.

A native of Broadway in Lee County, Rosser received his A. B. degree from Maryville, Tenn., College in 1939. He also holds a master's degree from Harvard University and a doctorate in education from Denver University.

He began his teaching career at Bolivia High School, and later was teacher and principal at Fort Lupton, Colo.

Now writing a textbook in educational psychology and guidance, Dr. Rosser is a member of the American Psychological Assn. the National Education Assn. and the N. C. Education Assn.
