All Students 21 Or Over Must Register By Sundown Today For Bond Issue Vote

By SUSAN LEWIS

Daily Tar Heel Editor Davis Young and Student Body President Charlie Gray yesterday urged all students 21 years or older to register to vote on the bond issue coming up Oct. 27. Registration books close today at sundown.

Requirements for registration as listed in the oath of registration are:

- (1) U. S. citizenship
- (2) Residence in North Carolina for at least a year
- (3) Residence of a particular precinct or district for 30 days
- (4) Ability to read and interpret any portion of the N. C. Constitution.

Registrants also cannot be idiots, lunatics or convicted felons and cannot now be registered to vote in any other precinct or county.

Registration stopper for most students is the residence clause. Clyde Carter, secretary of Orange County Elections Board, cited the General Statutes of North Carolina applicable to student residence:

a. That place shall be considered the residence of a person in which his habitation is fixed, and to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning.

b. A person shall not be considered to have lost his residence who leaves his home and goes to another state or county of this state, for temporary purposes only, and with the intention of returning.

c. A person shall not be considered to have gained a residence in any county of this state, into which he comes for a temporary purpose only, without the intention of making such county his permanent place of abode.

Carter stated that the main difficulty students will incur is giving evidence of residence and intent to remain here. Most dorm and fraternity residents and students who go home every weekend cannot be considered Orange County residents.

On the other hand, married students, graduate students, students who register cars or pay other taxes in this county, and students who live here 12 months a year probably could be termed local residents.

Each case, however, must be dealt with individually.

Carter pointed out that because of the temporary nature of most students' residence in Chapel Hill, he did not consider them civic-minded, tax-paying citizens as compared to those who live here permanently.

Editor Young stated that "All students who meet the voting requirements of the state of North Carolina should make an attempt to register today. It is beyond my comprehension how they can deny voting privileges to students who spend the majority of their time in Chapel Hill, and who are not registered in another state."

"If you have lived in this state for a year and this county for a month," he continued, "I hope you will register today. If you are denied registration, your case can be appealed. It is time that the student body stood up and demanded the fundamental right of voting."

President Gray termed the forthcoming bond election as an issue of paramount importance to the University. "If the election is a success, Carolina will receive close to 5 million dollars toward much-needed capital improvements; if the election fails, it could easily serve as a popular mandate to state legislators to refuse any further appropriations to higher education," Gray explained.

"We, the students, must do all in our power to aid in ensuring the passage of this issue. Student Government is already taking steps, but the entire support of the student body is badly needed."

"I strongly urge each student who lives in North Carolina to write home to his parents and town newspaper urging support of the entire bond. Making sure as many people as possible go to the polls and vote is very important.

"I further urge every Carolina student who is eligible to vote to do so. Although some students will be denied registration, I feel this issue is so important that every eligible voter should attempt to get his name on the books," Gray concluded.

Registration places and their districts include: (1) Town Hall for residents who live west of Columbia and north of Franklin Streets; (2) Estes Hill School for those residing east of Columbia and north of Franklin Streets;

(3) Woollen Gym for citizens who live east of Columbia and south of Franklin Streets (includes most UNC dormitories); (4) Cone House for residents of the area bordered on the east by Columbia St. and on the north by Franklin St. (includes most fraternity dwellings); (5) Glenwood School for those who live east of the by-pass of U. S. 15-501. Carboro residents register at City Hall.

UP Board Names 4 To Seats

Four Student Legislature appointments were made by the University Party Executive Board Thursday afternoon.

John Barrow was named to replace Joe Oppenheimer in Town Men's District III. Dick Staggs replaced Pope Shulford in Dormitory Men's District III. Jey Deifell took over Bill Young's seat in Town Men's District IV, and Stewart Priddy replaced Peyton Hawes in Town Men's District II.

The Executive Board also appointed Donald Black to its membership. He succeeds John Minter.

Three seats for town men are still open in districts I, III and IV. Town District II is the only one without a vacant seat. It is bordered by Columbia street, Cameron avenue, Franklin street and the Chapel Hill city limits. Male students living anywhere else in town are eligible for appointment.

Interviews for prospective appointees have been scheduled from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. every day next week in the U.P. office on the second floor of Graham Memorial.

Board members also discussed plans for the University Party's nominating convention slated at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Gerrard Hall.

All UP members may attend, although only elected delegates from fraternities, sororities and dormitories will be allowed to vote, the board announced.

Student Help Sought To Promote Bond Issue

The Committee on Academic Affairs is organizing student effort to get the capital improvements bond issue passed, announced Norman B. Smith, chairman.

This week and next the committee will place a notebook containing the names of all state papers at the GM Information Desk. Students are asked to sign their name under their hometown paper, signifying that they will write a letter to the editor urging the passage of the bond.

Free literature on the bond is available at the GM desk.

"This is an opportunity for every student to intelligently express his concern with future growth of the University and to be effective in influencing voters of his home community," Smith explained. He urged all students to sign up to write their hometown editor.

The bond comes up for vote Oct. 27.

UNC Seeking 3rd Win Over Maryland

Bill Bailey, Paul Priest and Doug Dermott discuss the script of the Petite Dramatique's current production, "Waiting for Godot." The play will be presented in the Graham Memorial Lounge Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 at 8:30 p.m. Admission will be free.

UNC Men's Glee Club To Sing At Dedication

Special music will be provided by the UNC Men's Glee Club at the Presbyterian Dedication service tomorrow morning in Hill Hall at 11.

Selections will include "Hallelujah, Amen" by Handel from "Judith Maccabaeus" and "Finlandia Hymn" by Sibelius.

Directory Seeking Circulation Manager

The Student Directory needs a circulation manager.

His duties will entail organizing a staff to help him distribute the directories scheduled to come out the end of the month and collecting a sales commission for his effort.

Norman B. Smith, business manager, says this is an excellent opportunity and carries with it the possibility of business manager's position next year.

Application may be made through the YMCA office today or next week.

School Of Medicine Symposium Set Here

The annual School of Medicine Symposium will be held here Nov. 24-25 with two visiting participants and 15 members of the UNC Medical School taking part.

The two-day symposium will consist of lectures, discussions, workshops and a demonstration of an artificial kidney.

The two visiting participants will be Dr. Max Miller of the Western Reserve School of Medicine and Dr. Frank Engel of the Duke School of Medicine.

Those of the UNC School of Medicine who will take part in the symposium are Drs. C. A. Bream, C. H. Burnett, W. C. Cromartie, A. Downie, C. C. Fordham III, Walter Hollander Jr., M. Newton, Leonard Palumbo, I. M. Taylor, J. J. Van Wyck, Warner Wells, L. G. Welt, T. F. Williams and J. W. Woods.

Proposed General Elections Law Introduced Before Legislature

By DARE JONES

The proposed new General Elections Law was formally introduced at Thursday's session of the Student Legislature. The law provides for the conduct and control of campus elections.

Plans by the measure's authors, Dave Jones (SP) and Hank Patterson (UP), to ask for special orders were discarded, and the bill was assigned by Speaker David Grigg to the Ways and Means Committee for study and amendment.

Special orders were not requested because of objections to several of the provisions of the bill.

The objectionable provisions include: an article providing for on-

High Scoring Battle Expected In Contest

By ELLIOTT COOPER

(Special to The Daily Tar Heel)

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Two football teams with respective streaks, Carolina a two-game winning one and Maryland a three-game losing one, clash here this afternoon in an ACC contest that could easily develop into a high scoring battle.

The contest, which will begin at 1:30 EDT, will be broadcast in Chapel Hill by WCHL beginning at 12:15.

Off their winning performances against N. C. State and South Carolina, the Tar Heels have been installed as 10 point favorites to post their third straight win of the year.

Maryland 1-3

While Carolina has split its first four games, Maryland has not been quite that successful, having lost all but one. Tom Nugent's Terps dropped West Virginia 27-7 in their opener but since then they have bowed to Texas, 26-0, Syracuse, 29-0, and Wake Forest 10-7.

Despite Maryland's relatively poor showing so far it must be remembered that two of the teams it has lost to are undefeated and the other has been defeated but once.

From a defensive standpoint, today's game will probably be the biggest headache of the year for the Carolina coaches since the Terrapins use so many offensive formations. Of course, Maryland would rather run from the 1 formation if it can, but if that does not work there are many other variations that can be put to use.

Joyce Leading Rusher

The I gives Nugent a great deal of power up the center and with fullback Jim Joyce carrying the ball this style of play has been quite effective in the early games. In the four contests to date Joyce has carried the ball 64 times for 224 yards and is currently the ACC's rushing leader.

The Tar Heels enter the fray at full strength with the lone exception of halfback Gib Carson who broke his hand in the South Carolina game last Saturday. Co-captain Wade Smith will be back at his left halfback position after a one-week layoff.

and is scheduled to start opposite Milan Wall who takes over for Carson.

Jack Cummings and Ray Farris will split the quarterbacking chores. Bob Elliott is scheduled to round out the backfield foursome.

Tar Heel Line

Up front Tar Heel Coach Jim Hickey is sticking with the revamped lineup he put together after the Notre Dame game. John Schroeder and Rabe Walton are scheduled to start at the ends with Don Stallings and John Stunda working the tackle posts.

Frank Riggs and Paul Russell remain in the first-string guard positions while Rip Hawkins holds down the fort at center.

Earlier this week Nugent was quoted as saying that today the Terps "will probably be in their best physical shape since the start of the season." The only doubtful starter in the Maryland lineup is end Vincent Scott who injured his hip and knee last Saturday in the Wake Forest game.

Scott Is Kicker

If Scott is not able to play it will be a definite break for the Tar Heels since he handles all the Terp place kicking business. On kickoffs he consistently books the ball into the end zone. He has also had a lot of success in kicking field goals.

If past performances are any indication, Carolina should find a team that has a great deal of balance in every phase of the game. According to conference figures the Tar Heels are the top club in passing offense and second in total offense and no worse than fourth in any category.

Thursday, Oct. 29, Only Day IDC Blazers To Be Available

The IDC Honorary Society Blazer Sale will be held one day only, Thursday, Oct. 29. Fittings will be made from 6:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in "Y" Court Lounge.

Blazers will be available in assorted colors and materials, including plain navy flannel, charcoal, Carolina blue, white wool tweed, white flannel and white "doeskin" flannel.

The blazers feature the UNC crest inlaid on the pocket, an extra plain pocket for after college, piped or plain edge optional, 100% virgin wool pre-shrunk fabric, rayon twill lining, and "proportioned to fit" sizes in shorts, mediums and longs.

Sororities may have their Greek letters added to the UNC crest at a nominal extra charge. Embroidered sorority emblems are also available.

Prices are expected to run around $31 for men's blazers and approximately $25 for women's.

A five dollar deposit is required, but full payment plus 75 cents postage will save higher COD mailing charges.

The profits from this sale will go into a scholarship fund.

N. C. School Board Assn. Schedules Meet Nov. 3

The North Carolina School Boards Association will open its annual delegate assembly Nov. 3 in Carroll Hall here with President W. W. Sutton of Goldsboro presiding.

The theme of the meeting is "North Carolina on the Move" and a most interesting and informative program has been planned, according to NCSBA officials.

New bills introduced Thursday include a bill by Crownover (SP) to require meetings between legislators and their constituents; a bill by Bob Sevier (UP) to establish an IDC-IFC Council and a bill by Tom Cordie (SP) to add two seats to the Carolina Athletic Council.

The old bills include the Crownover (SP) Bill to require meetings between legislators and their constituents; a bill by Bob Sevier (UP) to establish an IDC-IFC Council and a bill by Tom Cordie (SP) to add two seats to the Carolina Athletic Council. New bills introduced Thursday include a bill by Crownover (SP) to sanction the formation of a "last lecture" series; patterned after those so successfully held at Ohio State University and a bill by Nancy Baker (UP) to buy a gavel for the legislature. It has never had one of its own.

Your Appeal Form

If you are refused registration in your precinct as a student, you may appeal the decision of the registrar by turning in the appeal form below, or a similar hand copy of your own to the registrar at the time of your refusal or until 5 p.m. the day following registration, Sunday.

However, in order to appeal on the "intent to maintain permanent residence" clause or the requirement for proof, you must fulfill the following requirements:

- 1) You must be 21 years of age.
- 2) You must be a citizen of the United States.
- 3) You must be a resident of North Carolina for one year.
- 4) You must have lived in Orange County for thirty days.
- 5) You must not be registered in another county or state.

(If you do not intend to return to the county from which you came to Chapel Hill, and you do not intend to establish permanent residence in the county from which you have come to Chapel Hill, and you do not intend to cast your vote in that county, then you are according to North Carolina law no longer registered in that county.)

NOTICE OF APPEAL OF DENIAL OF REGISTRATION FOR THE SPECIAL BOND ISSUE FOR $4.4 MILLION DOLLARS TO BE HELD IN THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA ON OCTOBER 27, 1959.

Name _____ Age _____
Address _____

I was denied registration for the special bond issue for $4.4 million dollars to be held in the State of North Carolina on October 27, 1959.

I hereby appeal this refusal to let me cast my vote for the following reasons:

(1) I consider myself a resident of Chapel Hill having left my previous dwelling place with the intention not to return for purposes of establishing permanent residence or voting.

(2) I spend the better part of my time in Chapel Hill each year, spend the greater amount of my expenditures here, and have a clearer understanding of the issues involved in this County having been a way from my former residence for so great a time.

(3) As I consider Chapel Hill (Carrboro) my legal residence, if I am denied the right to vote, I will be disenfranchised.

Signed _____
