Board Members Responsible For $6822.46 Surplus

Publications Board Chairman Announces Excess Profits

By ADELAIDE B. CROMARTIE

Student fees for campus publications were in good hands last year.

A saving of $6,822.46, made possible by efficient management during 1958-59, has been returned by the Publication Board to the Student Government.

This is probably the largest saving from Student Government appropriations ever made by the Publication Board; the saving helps to prevent any possible need for an increase in student fees.

Profit Not Main Objective

"We are not out to make money," said Walker Blanton, present chairman of the board. "But we are trying to save student fees, and also give the students the best publications possible."

Harold O'Tuel, chairman of the Publications Board for the past two years, attributed the $6,822.46 saving to efficiency in publications operations, increased advertising and close supervision of bids and contracts.

The Daily Tar Heel, Yackety Yack, Carolina Handbook and Carolina Quarterly are the publications supervised by students who compose the Publication Board.

Social Club Organized; Officers Named

Students in the School of Library Science have organized a social club.

The newly formed organization is the Library Science Club, and its first function will be a Halloween party Friday night.

The officers are as follows: Joe Rees, president; Ardie Kelley, vice president; Carolyn Martin, treasurer.

Members of the club's social committee are Chairman Harriett Leonard, Mrs. Helen Gierasimowicz, Mrs. Polly Miller, Mrs. Olga Palotai and Joan Coachman.

Robert A. Miller, member of the Library Science School faculty, is adviser.

DTH Sets Example

O'Tuel praised board members and editors, business managers, advertising managers and others on the publications for their help in making possible the savings in student funds. He cited the board's work with The Daily Tar Heel as an example of the system behind the saving.

Its 1958-59 income, including Student Government appropriations, was $51,089.59. The expenses were $48,255.23, leaving a net gain of $3,610.38 for the paper.

This money, returned to student funds, resulted from measures formulated in a revision of Publication Board by-laws in March, 1959. Sealed bids on printing of publications were submitted to the board. Bids were opened before the board, and representatives of printers and other firms discussed their bids.

The Daily Tar Heel business manager made a financial report the 15th of every month to the treasurers of the Publications Board and the Student Government.

Treasure Watches Closely

"We kept tabs on every penny spent," said O'Tuel. "The Publication Board treasurer signed no checks unless funds were in reserve to cover them."

Publication savings in the past five years:

- 1955 - $2,609.68 (loss)
1956 - $1,891.22
1957 - $2,004.34
1958 - $111.36
1959 - $6,822.46

Student Government surplus last year totaled $7,409.11. The Publication Board savings of $6,822.46 accounted for all but $586.65 of this, or 92.1 per cent.

Board Caused Surplus

O'Tuel said of the $6,822.46 surplus: "Any accomplishments of the board last year, I feel, are directly attributable to the personnel associated with each publication."

"Their work in co-operation with our extremely competent advisors, Kenneth R. Byerly and Dr. Olin T. Mouzon, resulted in what I believe to be a most successful year for publications on the Carolina campus."

Dr. Mouzon is a professor of economics. Byerly is an associate professor in journalism.

O'Tuel noted the board's good fortune in having Walker Blanton, "a most capable person," as this chairman this year.

"I hope we will be able to maintain last year's standards," Blanton said of this year's program. "With the present membership including our able faculty advisors, the Publication Board is enthusiastic over what we feel to be a promising year."

Mrs. Sparrow Praised

Blanton and O'Tuel also praised Mrs. Frances W. Sparrow, auditor; John Minter, treasurer of Publication Board last year; and Rick Overstreet, treasurer this year.

O'Tuel is a senior Business Administration major from Goldsboro. He is a member of the Order of the Grail and the Order of the Old Well.

He is also a member of Legislature and chairman of Audit Board this year, and he was business manager of the Carolina Quarterly last year.

Blanton, this year's chairman, is a Phi Beta Kappa and a Morehead Scholar. He is a senior history major from Marion and president of Delta Kappa Epsilon, and the Order of the Old Well. He was rush chairman and treasurer for IFC this year. He is the present business manager of The Daily Tar Heel, the same position he had last year.

Chapel Hill Only Southern Stop

Guinean President Visits Here

President Sekou Toure of the young African nation of Guinea will be visiting in Chapel Hill today as his only southern stop on his tour of the United States.

President Toure and his wife will be met at Raleigh-Durham airport at 4:45 this afternoon by Gov. and Mrs. Luther Hodges. Immediately after their arrival, they will drive to Chapel Hill for a tour of the campus and an 8 p.m. dinner to be given by the governor in the Morehead Planetarium.

A special planetarium show will follow the dinner. Chancellor William B. Aycock and other University officials will take the visiting president on the campus tour.

The official party will spend the night at the Carolina Inn and go to Durham Thursday for a luncheon at Duke University and a meeting later with officials of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., the largest Negro-owned insurance company in the world.

The president also will meet other leading Durham Negroes and will tour the N. C. College campus in Durham.

Thursday afternoon they will leave North Carolina for Chicago.

Guinea is uncommitted to either the Western or Communist sides. President Toure's trip is a diplomatic gesture of the U. S. government in an effort to win Guinea's friendship.

Included in the official party will be John H. Morrow, U. S. ambassador to Guinea; a former faculty member at N. C. College and State Department security officials.

(From AP Dispatches)

Raleigh, Oct. 27 — Tar Heel citizens, in an extremely light turnout of votes, stamped approval Tuesday on $34,400,000 in Bond Issues for Capital Improvements at State Agencies and Institutions.

Six of the nine Bond Issues built up high margins as returns were tabulated. These included aid to mental institutions, educational institutions and community colleges.

The margin was closer on the other three issues; aid to Port Facilities at Southport, local army construction and historic sites construction and restoration. With 1,071 of the state's 2,086 precincts reporting, the voting was:

TOTALS

- For State Educational Institutions, $18,891,000; For 41,447, Against 17,498; For State Mental Institutions, $12,053,000; For 44,862, Against 14,128; For Community Colleges, $1500,000;

For 38,051, Against 19,357 For Aid To Local Hospital Construction, $500,000;

For 40,557, Against 17,963 For Local Army Construction, $100,000;

For 30,642, Against 25,575 For Construction of State Training Schools, $466,000;

For 40,787, Against 17,044 For State Blind Rehabilitation Center, $140,000;

For 44,718, Against 14,089 For Port Facilities At Southport, $500,000;

For 32,235, Against 24,673 For Historical Sites Construction and Restoration, $250,000;

For 30,683, Against 25,589 Those were the totals at 10:15 p.m. last night.

The election results bore out the forecast of Gov. Hodges, who had strongly backed the Bond Issue and predicted its passage.

No Opposition

There was no organized opposition to the Bond Issue. The election campaign was quiet and stirred up little interest. This was born out by the unusually small vote.

The most popular issue appeared to be the 12 million dollars for Mental Institutions. This led the list. Another issue near the top in margin of votes was the $140,000 for a State Blind Rehabilitation Center.

A number of counties gave approval to all nine issues by a wide margin. One of these was Guilford. Sampson and Alexander voted against all the issues.

Locally, the passage of the first of the proposals will bring $5,330,000 to Chapel Hill for capital improvements.

Included in the programs to be undertaken with the money will be new Botany, Language, Public Health and Geography and Geology Buildings. There will also be space provided for 700 additional students.

Experimental Movies Tonight In Carroll Hall

Experimental films are to be shown for the first time tonight by the Graham Memorial Film Committee.

Beginning in Carroll Hall at 8 p.m., three films are on the program. These are movies of a different type and are not to be confused with "free flicks," according to Stan Black, co-chairman.

"Fireworks", an international prize winner, is a study on sadomasochism, experienced on the level of a nightmare.

"Desist Film" is an attempt to capture the frenzy of an adolescent party with a disturbing comment on tensions of modern youth.

The third film, "Coming Shortly," is a satire of a poor girl who climbed the ladder of fame sin by sin in the movie industry.

Admission is free.

750 People Jam Woollen Gym To See Tri-Delt, DKE Win Co-Rec Carnival

Over 750 people jammed their way into Woollen Gym last night as the team of Tri-Delt-4 and DKE-1 swept to victory in the 13th Annual Co-Rec Carnival.

The winning team amassed 25 1/2 total team points, besting their nearest competitor by over six points. In second place were KD-6 and Zeta Psi with 19. Third were Spencer-2 and PiKA with 17, fourth were KD-3 and Phi Gam with 16 and KD-4 and Theta Chi finished fifth with 10 points.

2 Straight For DKE

It was the second year in a row for Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. Last year they teamed with Spencer to win the crown.

Intramural officials termed the event an "Overwhelming success, even better than we expected." While last year's Carnival drew better than 500, this year topped all records for attendance.

The second place overall teams, KD-6 and Zeta, won the relay championship. Others were: 2. KD-3 & Phi Gam-1; 3. Pi Phi-4 and Pi Lamb; 4. Tri Delt-4 and DKE-1. Members of the winning relay team were Sybil Mathis, Hi Walton, Mariel O'Dell, Kathy Duquesney, Ward Purrington, Sandy Allen, Jim Rouse and Lloyd Horton.

Other Results

Box Hockey: 1. John Jester (DKE-1), 2. Phi Delt, 3. PiKA, 4. Lewis.

HOMECOMING QUEEN

All candidates for Homecoming Queen meet in the Rendezvous Room of Graham Memorial at 8 p.m. tonight dressed for pictures.

Tetherball: 1. Jean McCuiston (Spencer-2), 2. Whitehead, 3. Alpha Gam, 4. Tri Delt.

Table Tennis: 1. Alpha Gam & Dent School (Betty Phillips and Pete Walker), 2. Tri Delt and DKE-1, 3. KD-4 and Theta Chi, 4. KD-2 and SAE.

Volleyball: 1. Spencer-2 and PiKA (Maria Morgan and Pete Longnecker), 2. KD-2 and SAE, 3. KD-6 and Zeta, 4. Tri Delt-3 and Chi Psi.

Carnival Games: 1. Tie between KD-3 and Phi Gam-1 and Pi Phi-6 and Phi Gam-3. 3rd — tie between Pi Phi-3-Sigma Nu, Tri Delt-4-DKE-1 & Whitehead and Ruffin.

Badminton: 1. Alpha Gam-1 and Phi KAP Sig, 2. Kappa Gamma and Graham, 3. Tri Delt-3 and Chi Psi-1, 4. McIver-2 and Kap Sig.

Archery: 1. KD & Theta Chi.

(Ann Crawford and Bob Coford), 2. Chi Phi and Carr, 3. KD and Zeta, 4. Nurses-2 and Delt Sig.

The winning team of Tri Delt and DKE piled up an early lead that was never headed by placing their team in every semi-final relay event. It was easily the best team on the floor as it won first place in two relays and second in the other preliminary. They finished fourth in the last, and championship, relay, but only due to a rules mix-up.

Runners Jump Gun Things got off to a jovial start when relay runners mistook the bell for the starter (it was a gun) and jumped off to the races. It was nearly five minutes before the bedlam could be cleared.

The attractive and exciting Carnival Games drew raves from everyone as the Intramural Department went all out for their biggest show of the year. Included in the games were Candle Snuffing, Ball Carry, Arm Link Carry, Air-Plane Target Shoot, Arc-It, and several others.

Japanese Artifacts

On Exhibit In Person

Ainu artifacts from Japan are on exhibit in the Anthropology Museum in Person Hall.

The objects were loaned to the Anthropology Department by Charles U. Lowrance, who collected them from the northern island of Japan, Hokkaido.

The Ainu, archaic white people, at one time occupied all of the islands of Japan. The Japanese from the south, with stronger and better weapons, pushed them to the north where they now live.

The Ainu are treated similar to the Indians in this country. They usually live in small villages and are primarily a hunting people. Their culture is now being assimilated with the Japanese.

Among the articles in the collection are clothing, weapons and jewelry. There are also unusual objects such as grave markers and beard lifters used to control their beards in eating.

The exhibit, which began Oct. 19, will continue for several months.

Before becoming the Anthropology Museum, Person Hall housed the Art Department.

THE CHAIRS aren't sick! Those coeds are merely running through their paces in last night's Co-Rec Carnival. This particular number is called the Tape-Pull relay. Over 750 people turned out for the Carnival.

Correction

The amendment approved by the Student Party on Monday night provided that one member to the Men's Council and one member to the Student Council be elected from each Town Men's and each Dorm Men's Districts, and one member from each women's dormitory and two members from the town women's district be elected to the Women's Council. Joe Sam Routh was the nominee for treasurer for the freshman class, not Leon Barber.

KUNSTMANN HONORED

UNC Prof. John Kunstmann, center, receives a book in Kunstmann's honor on the occasion of his 65th birthday. Chancellor William B. Aycock is at left. Frederic Coenen, right, is editor of the book, written by 20 faculty members in recognition of Dr. Kunstmann's signal services as chairman of the Department of German.

A professor of German here received four honors at the same time here this week.

John Kunstmann was recognized fourfold:

- 1. His colleagues wrote a book and presented it to him in honor of his 65th birthday.
2. He was surprised at an academic birthday party.
3. The University asked him to remain as chairman of the Department of Germanic Languages.
4. His colleagues unanimously urged him to accept the chairmanship of the department; and Dr. Kunstmann has agreed.

It is usual policy for faculty members to retire at the age of 65 or to remain on a year to year basis until they have reached the age of 70. Dr. Kunstmann will remain on the annual basis while staying as departmental chairman.

The book published in his honor is edited by Dr. Frederic Coenen. Special articles written by 20 of his colleagues on the faculty are contained in the book. The gesture is called Festschrift (studies in honor of . . .).

A native of Australia, Prof. Kunstmann, studied at Dresden, Germany, an at the University of Leipzig. He came to the United States in 1913. He has been a professor of German at the University of Chicago and also has taught at Columbia University. He has been chairman of the Germanic Languages Department here since 1955.
