$123,000 Budget Estimated For Year

By SUSAN LEWIS

$123,000 is a lot of money to handle. This amount is the Student Government's budget for student organizations.

The Budget Committee, headed by Bob Bingham, student government treasurer, is responsible for allotting this money.

The committee, made a standing committee this year by Student Government President Charlie Gray as a result of the current "loose spending" problem, also acts as an accounting committee, receiving monthly financial reports from all organizations which receive these funds.

It has the right to ask the presidents of these organizations for an explanation of any expenditures it deems unwise and, if necessary, to suspend an organization's budget.

Chairman Bingham stated that he hopes that through this committee "we will be able to tighten student government expenditures."

Following is an itemized list of money allocated by last year's Budget Committee for the 1959-60 academic year:

Student Government
Executive Branch	$ 9,121.00
Legislative Branch	570.00
Judicial Branch	190.00
Forensic Council	4,045.00
Council	175.00
Debate Squad	1,920.00
Carolina Forum	1,850.00
State Student Legislature	100.00
Carolina Women's Council	290.00
Consolidated University Student Council	300.00
Cheerleader Discretionary Fund	150.00
International Students Program	1,800.00
Band	975.00
Men's Glee Club	1,200.00
Student Government Self-Help Scholarship	200.00
Men's Interdormitory Council	2,550.00
Graham Memorial Student Union	42,750.00
Publications Board	50.00
Carolina Handbook	2,380.00
Yackety Yack	30,154.00
Graduate Club	150.00
Carolina Quarterly	1,300.00
The Daily Tar Heel	20,319.00
UNC Amateur Radio Club	72.00
Carolina Symposium	1,250.00
Honor Council Commission	15.00
Campus Chest	100.00
Total Estimated Expenses	$119,931.00
Total Estimated Income	123,000.00
Unappropriated Balance	3,068.00

At the present time student government cash on hand stands at $20,000. "This amount has to carry us until the next check of student fees, which comes in around the middle of February," Bingham said.

IDC Supports Constitutional Amendment Of Judicial System

By RICHARD BURROWS

The IDC members voted to support "A BILL TO SUBMIT TO THE ELECTORATE SEVERAL AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION DEALING WITH THE JUDICIAL BRANCH OF STUDENT GOVERNMENT."

These amendments would give the right of the student to be tried by a jury, to be given adequate assistance in the preparation of his defense, and to have sitting in judgement of him an impartial, representative jury.

"There is vast misunderstanding and misapprehension among many students concerning the judicial branch of student government. Ninety per-cent of the cases turned in are done so by the faculty, not the students," said Jim Scott. "The institution of a more democratic, representative, and independent judicial system will serve to vanquish these doubts and misunderstandings by involving more students in trial procedures, and by assuring them of greater justice," he said.

In the committee reports it was requested that all the dorms send clothing to the Algerian refugees. Jim Scott, Bill Sayers and John Shinn were appointed by the chairman of the IDC, Otto Funderburk, to the IDC IFC council.

It was voted by the members of the IDC to cover the by-laws of the Men's IDC Court. The purpose of the Court, "shall be to provide judicial justice in an effort to stimulate gentlemanly conduct among residents of men's dormitories."

A motion was carried out to examining the by-laws more carefully at a later date.

Ballads, Folksongs, Spirituals To Be Presented In Raleigh

DR. MILTON MASON

Three folk music experts from North Carolina and Virginia will illustrate their specialties at the annual State Folklore Society meeting in Raleigh Friday afternoon at the Sir Walter Hotel.

Douglas Franklin of Concord, Dr. Wilton Mason of Chapel Hill and Mrs. Lucille Turner of Forest, Va., will be featured at a public program, beginning 2 p.m. in the Virginia Dare Ballroom.

Society President Donald MacDonald of Charlotte will preside at the 48th annual meeting, which will include a business session with election of 1960 officers.

Dr. Mason, a professor of music here will take "Ballads in Transit" as his subject for discussion and singing. He will show how ballads change as they pass from one locale to another. Dr. Mason, who directs the University Chorus, is drawing from his own collection of Appalachian folk song materials in planning a new series of programs and recordings.

The third performer, Mrs. Cle Turner, is known widely as an interpreter of Negro secular songs, spirituals and prayers. Collecting the original versions heard in rural Virginia around Lynchburg, Mrs. Turner uses novel accompaniment in her presentations.

Another folk music event, although not in connection with the society meeting, is the Pete Seger concert Friday, 8 p.m., in Memorial Hall here.

Basketballers Name Captain; Harvey Salz

Teammates have unanimously elected Harvey Salz to captain this season's Carolina basketball team. Salz, senior guard standing 6-1, last season was selected by his fellow players as the most outstanding performer on the team and was awarded the E. Carrington Smith trophy.

Cucumber cool when the going gets tense, Salz is the quarterback of the Tar Heel offensive maneuvers.

Scoring Average
From his backcourt position last season, Salz averaged 11.9 points per game, hitting on 42 percent of his shots. As a sophomore, he scored at a 10.2 clip.

University Students Of India Review Year's Activities At General Meeting

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the second in a series during International Emphasis Week about student activities in foreign countries.)

The annual general meeting of the National Council of University Students of India, which took place Oct. 23-26, 1959, at Delhi University was attended by officially accredited representatives of 14 university students unions.

The congress reviewed the last year's NCUSI activities, adopted resolutions on current university and student questions, finalized its pro-

Carolina's Varsity turned back a star-studded alumni team last night in Woollen Gym, 70-66, before a packed audience of spectators who had come to see the return of the Tar Heels 1957 National Champions.

Lennie Rosenbluth displayed the form that made him an All-American as he tossed in 32 points to pace the old grads. Lee Shaffer with 19 and Harvey Salz with 16 led the varsity attack.

Basketball Festival

All entries must be in the Intramurals office by 6 p.m. today for the First Annual Holiday Basketball Festival.

As of 3 p.m. yesterday, over 45 teams had already entered the tourney, but Intramural officials expected the total to spurt past 100 today. An organization may enter as many teams as it wishes and the tournament is not counted in Intramural point standings.

The main purpose of the tournament is to allow basketball teams to get competitive practice before the regular season begins. Play begins next Monday, Dec. 7 and all teams will play that day. The first and second round games of the tournament will consist of two ten-minute halves. Remaining games will be conducted under regular intramural basketball rules.

The tourney will be played on an all-campus basis, with no divisions. A team plaque will be awarded to the championship team.

Religion Chairman To Be Featured In Last Lecture Series

The first lecture of this year's Last Lecture Series will feature Dr. Bernard Boyd, chairman of the Religion Department. It will be presented 8:30 p.m., Dec. 9, in Memorial Hall.

Dr. Boyd's topic will be "Behind the World's Curve", and will contain the thoughts he would like most to leave with American college students if he knew this were to be his last lecture.

The purpose of the lecture series, which is based on this idea, is to present to the campus speeches delivered by outstanding professors in various departments of the University.

Dr. Boyd, from Mount Pleasant, S. C., got his A.B. from Presbyterian College, Th.B. from Princeton Theological Seminary, M.A. from Princeton University, and Th.D. from Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Va.

He was professor of Bible at Presbyterian College and Davidson College, James A. Gray Professor of Biblical Literature at UNC, and has been the chairman of the UNC Department of Religion since 1952.

He has been engaged in educational television: "Bernard Boyd and the Bible," "The Origin and Significance of the Bible" and "Introduction to New Testament Literature" on WUNC-TV. He is a recipient of the Tanner Award for distinction in college teaching.

Sponsored by student government, the lecture series is headed by Presidential Assistant Jim Crowover and members of the subcommittee of the Academic Affairs Committee.

Last Lecture Series originated at Ohio State University, UNC, the second to adopt the program, is now the only campus in the nation which holds this series.

The second lecture is planned for the latter part of March. The speaker will be chosen from a list of professors which include Chancellor Emeritus Robert B. House, Dr. George V. Taylor, Dr. Preston H. Epps and others.

Loyalty Oath Faces Opposition From Educators And Students

The loyalty oath and disclaimer provisions of the National Defense Education Act have continued to receive emphatic opposition from educators and students. In the last few days:

—Harvard University and Yale and Oberlin Colleges withdrew from the aid program because of the affidavit requirements. Their withdrawals brought the number of colleges refusing to participate up to 12, including Amherst, Antioch, Bennington, Bryn Mawr, Goucher, Grinnell, Haverford, Reed, Sarah Lawrence, St. John's of Maryland, Swarthmore and Wilmington.

—Rumblings of dissatisfaction were heard from the city colleges of New York, Ohio State and the University of Virginia. The presidents of three of the four city colleges announced their displeasure over the oath and disclaimer provisions, but said their "hands are tied" by the colleges' status as tax-supported institutions.

The three were President Rud. Gallagher, City College of New York; President Harry Gilenson, Brooklyn College; and President George Shuster, Hunter College.

—Another tax-supported institution, the University of Michigan, plans to continue offering NDEA loans for students willing to sign the oath and affidavit. As a member of the American Association of Universities, Michigan has already registered its protests, U.M. president Harlan Hatcher said last week. The AAU denounced the provision last spring.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has announced that 1,370 institutions with an enrollment of 2,170,000 students are participating in the program, for which $31,000,000 has been appropriated by Congress for this year.

A bill to repeal the requirement was proposed in the Senate in August, but failed of passage. The provision requires that a student applicant for an NDEA loan sign a loyalty oath and an affidavit disclaiming membership in, support of, or belief in an organization advocating violent overthrow of the government.
