

The Daily Tar Heel

68 years of dedicated service to a better University, a better state and a better nation by one of America's great college papers, whose motto states, "freedom of expression is the backbone of an academic community."

VOLUME LXIX, No. 77

Complete (UPI) Wire Service

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1961

Offices in Graham Memorial

Four Pages This Issue

Carolina To Send 21 To UN Model Assembly At Duke

5-Member Delegations To Represent USSR, Union of South Africa At Meet

Twenty-one UNC students have been selected to participate in the United Nations Model Assembly, scheduled for Feb. 23-26 at Duke University.

United Nations General Assembly President Frederick Boland of Ireland will be the featured speaker at the meeting, which will be attended by the delegations from 40 colleges and universities.

UNC will send three five-member delegations, with two alternates for each group. These delegations will represent the USSR, the Union of South Africa and another, as yet unannounced, nation during the debates.

Assembly representatives have been asked to meet at 6:30 p.m. today at the Y for a briefing session. Delegates unable to attend this meeting should contact either Key Slaughter at the Kappa Delta House (89160) or Bob Silliman at the Phi Kappa Phi House (89071).

The delegates include: Allen Matlins, Carol Krapf, Claire Stoddard, Bill Harriss, Samuel Jackson, Robin Britt, Carroll Raver, Walter Dellinger, James Reston, Henry Mayer, Fred Anderson, Thal Elliott, Ann Sweeney, Linda May, Deiter Swanke, Jim Wagner, Jane Smith, Jeff Lawrence, Diane Gates and Sandra Hoffman.

Model Assembly is a project of the Collegiate Council for the United Nations, which conducts assemblies throughout the country.

Major North Carolina schools will be represented at the conclave, along with groups from Virginia, Annapolis, West Point, U. S. Air Force Academy, University of Chicago and other institutions.

Issues slated to be discussed by the group are the status of Berlin, charges of imperialism by both the East and West, race relations in the United States, development of the Congo, control of outer space, self-determination and the problem of world refugees.

In addition to U. N. President Boland, Dr. Arthur Larson, head of the Duke World Law Institute and former advisor to President Eisenhower, will also be a featured speaker.

Laotian Parliament Supports Premier; Hopes For Settlement By Diplomacy

Eisenhower Delivers 'Hands Off' Warning To Castro On Guantanamo

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower Wednesday followed up the diplomatic break with Cuba by warning the Castro Regime to keep hands off the $70 million U.S. Naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

This country's determination to keep the base, called the "Pearl Harbor of the Caribbean," was expressed in a terse White House statement.

"The termination of our diplomatic and consular relations with Cuba has no effect on the status of our Naval station at Guantanamo. The treaty relations under which we maintain the Naval station may not be abrogated without the consent of the United States."

Guantanamo, with its 10,000 sailors, Marines, civilian workers and dependents, appeared a likely target if Cuban Premier Fidel Castro wanted to stir up more trouble now that the formal break in diplomatic relations has come.

Leased Under Treaty

The base, with its excellent facilities and strategic location, was leased under treaty rights obtained in 1903 after the United States liberated Cuba from Spain. It played an important role in both world wars.

Despite the diplomatic break, State Department Press Officer Joseph Reap indicated the United States will try to find some way to take care of Cuban refugees seeking admission to this country.

Congress quickly rallied behind both the President's firm stand on Guantanamo and Tuesday night's break in diplomatic relations. The lawmakers agreed with Eisenhower that "there is a limit to what the United States in self respect can endure."

Roa and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

FIDEL CASTRO

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

STUDENTS, FACULTY PINE ON POSSIBILITIES OF WAR

The current crises in Cuba and Laos have once again raised the possibility of war—in the immediate future. UNC students and faculty who participated in a world affairs poll offered varied opinions concerning the likelihood of a World War or police action within the next six months.

In reply to the question, "Do you think the crises in Laos and Cuba will lead the world into war by June?" Jimmy Smalley said: "If Laos calls for United States' aid or we have any indication that the Loaneese want democracy over communism, I think there will be war."

In reference to Cuba, Smalley, a Senior from Augusta, Ga., pointed out that our naval base at Guantanamo Bay is "vital to our military strength and security." He believes that any attempt on the part of the U.S. to keep this stronghold will lead to war.

Expresses Hope
A political science professor expressed the hope that the Castro regime will not make a move toward taking over the Guantanamo naval base. If it does, he hopes the Soviet Union will restrain such action.

He also raised the possibility of a civil war in Cuba. If such a war should break out with the U. S. supporting one faction and the U.S.S.R. backing the other, the situation produced would resemble the civil

(Continued on Page 3)

Fall Exam Slate

RESTING UP for finals is the latest campus pastime, judging from this scene in GM's Main Lounge. Exams begin two weeks from Friday, and the Lounge will remain open until 3 a.m. to accommodate the studious—and the sleepy.

By action of the faculty, the time of an examination may not be changed after it has been fixed in the schedule. Quizzes are not to be given in this semester on or after Friday, January 13, 1961.

All permits to take examinations to remove grades of "Exc. Abs." or "Cond." must be secured from the Office of Records and Registration prior to the exam.

No students may be excused from a scheduled examination except by the University Infirmary, in case of illness; or by his General College Adviser or by his Dean, in case of any other emergency compelling his absence.

- All 9:00 a.m. classes on TThS Fri., Jan. 20, 8:30 a.m.
- All 1:00 p.m. classes on TThS, *Pol. Sci. 41, *Econ. 81, *Chem. 43 Fri., Jan. 20, 2:00 p.m.
- All French, German & Spanish courses No'd 1, 2, 3, 3x & 4 Sat., Jan. 21, 8:30 a.m.
- All 10:00 a.m. classes on MWF, *Econ. 70 Sat., Jan. 21, 2:00 p.m.
- All 11:00 a.m. classes on TThS Mon., Jan. 23, 8:30 a.m.
- All 8:00 a.m. classes on MWF Mon., Jan. 23, 2:00 p.m.
- All 10:00 a.m. classes on TThS Tues., Jan. 24, 8:30 a.m.
- All 1:00 p.m. classes on MWF, *Pharm. 10, *B.A. 180 Tues., Jan. 24, 2:00 p.m.
- All 11:00 a.m. classes on MWF Wed., Jan. 25, 8:30 a.m.
- All 2:00 p.m. classes on TThS, *Physics 24, *Pharm. 61, *B.A. 130 Wed., Jan. 25, 2:00 p.m.
- All 3:00 p.m. classes, *Chem. 11, *B.A. 71 & 72, and all classes not otherwise provided for in this schedule Thurs., Jan. 26, 8:30 a.m.
- All 8:00 a.m. classes on TThS Thurs., Jan. 26, 2:00 p.m.
- All 12:00 noon classes on MWF Fri., Jan. 27, 8:30 a.m.
- All 2:00 p.m. classes on MWF, *Econ. 31, 32 & 61 Fri., Jan. 27, 2:00 p.m.
- All 9:00 a.m. classes on MWF Sat., Jan. 28, 8:30 a.m.
- All 12:00 noon classes on TThS, all *Naval Science and *Air Science Sat., Jan. 28, 2:00 p.m.

*In case of conflict, the regularly scheduled exam will take precedence over the common exam. (Common exams are indicated by an asterisk.)

ANTI-CASTRO ACTS HOLD UP UN MEETING

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—Anti-Castro outbursts in the public gallery forced suspension today of a Security Council meeting called to hear Cuba's charge that the United States plans an imminent Cuban invasion.

Reinforced U. N. guards hustled from the packed gallery demonstrators who repeatedly shouted "asesinos!" murderers! as Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa sought to present the invasion charge.

U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the council the Cuban charge was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and made the Castro government appear "ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Roast and two aides had been pelted with frozen snow balls by demonstrators when they arrived at U. N. headquarters for the meeting, and U. N. guards had to rescue them.

GRIGG SAYS BACK UNION & SALARIES

David Grigg, student body president, commented yesterday on the student drive for a new student union and for higher faculty salaries:

"The Committee on State Affairs this year has been concerned primarily with the Undergraduate Library-Student Union and faculty salaries. Certainly both of these are very much needed by the University."

"However, we do not have to make a choice between them. In other words, it is not that we will get one or the other. Therefore, we must work for both."

Emphasis on Union
"There has been some concern expressed about our emphasis on the Undergraduate Library-Student Union. Certainly it is our primary concern, and I think justly so."

"The need for faculty salaries may never be satisfied, but once we get the library-union that will be the end, at least for a while. Once this need is satisfied we can devote our efforts to faculty salaries. We cannot continue to put something ahead of the union every year."

"The need for the student union need not be elaborated. I believe our students, especially our men's dormitory residents, realize the lack of social and recreational facilities here as well as the need for additional library space."

Students Interested
"Students should be primarily interested in the union because if they aren't, we can hardly expect anyone else to be concerned about something so closely related to students."

"Everyone is interested in faculty salaries—we must but add to the chorus."

'Tiger Man' Siemel Lectures Tuesday

Sasha Siemel, the world-reknowned "Tiger Man," will appear at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Memorial Hall under the auspices of the GM Travel Adventure Series.

A professional hunter, Siemel is paid by South American hunters to stalk and eliminate the dread hunting jaguars which imperil livestock and families.

Admission to the exciting film-lecture will be 90 cents for UNC students and townspeople, unless they hold series subscriptions.

All Chapel Hill elementary and high school students will be admitted for 50 cents for this special performance.

"Tiger Man" is not a publicity nickname, but a title of honor bestowed upon Siemel by the natives of Brazil in respect for his courage and daring.

Only White Man

Siemel is the only white man ever to master the Indian art of dispatching tigers with a hand-made spear. Siemel also shoots them with a bow and arrow. He has killed an estimated 270 beasts since settling in Monte Grosso years ago.

A noted and highly acclaimed lecturer, Siemel has been made the hero of several adventure books, notably "Green Fire" and "Tiger Man."

The University received $7,888,978.01 as gifts or grants during fiscal year 1960, it was announced in the current issue of the University Report.

It was the largest amount in gifts ever received in a twelve months' period by the University, according to Chancellor William B. Aycock.

The total amount of nearly $8 million includes $4,295,594.98 in contract and research grants awarded to the University by national foundations, federal agencies, private corporations and other groups.

Ten foundations associated with the University, chiefly through professional or business organizations making appeals in behalf of Carolina, realized $416,465.65. Of this amount, $108,423.06 was contributed by 5,794 alumni for unrestricted purposes.

Alumni gifts to the University for all purposes totalled $453,237.99, a record high. Gifts from corporations totalled $274,978.60—going mainly for scholarships and fellowships, both graduate and undergraduate.

LAOS MAY PUSH FOR REVIVAL OF COMMISSION ON PEACE

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—The government announced Wednesday it had captured a vital road junction in central Laos from the Communists. At the same time it indicated a possible weakening of its military position by hinting that Britain and Russia should act to restore peace in Laos.

Parliament gave pro-Western Premier Prince Boun Oum a unanimous vote of confidence in a move designed to strip the claim of legality from the large-scale Soviet airlift of supplies to Communist rebels. Then it made a dramatic change of position.

Deputy Foreign Minister Chao Sopsina announced that Laos is willing to consider a move by Britain and the Soviet Union to reactivate an international commission to restore peace. Britain and Russia were co-chairmen of the 1954 Geneva Conference ending the Indo-Chinese civil war.

Consider Reactivation
Although carefully worded, the Laotian government statement expressing readiness to consider reactivation of the three-nation control commission was interpreted as indicating a softening of the government's previous firm opposition to such a move.

The statement said the pro-Western Vientiane government was ready to consider a formal call by Russia and Britain for revival of the International Control Commission composed of Canada, India, and Communist Poland.

Government military reports were optimistic, but military observers said the situation remained serious.

Government military reports were optimistic, but military observers said the situation remained serious.

World News In Brief

By United Press International

James J. Wadsworth

J. William Fulbright

Congress Hails Break With Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Members of Congress generally hailed President Eisenhower's action in severing U. S. diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the United States has had "sufficient provocation" for some time to take the step.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he was not surprised by the action. "Events have been tending towards it," he said. He called the action a "further indication of rapidly deteriorating relations between the United States and Cuba."

★ ★ ★

Wadsworth Denies Invasion Charge

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—The United States said today that Cuba's charge of an imminent American invasion was brewed "from the cauldron of hysteria" and makes the Fidel Castro government appear ridiculous.

Ambassador James J. Wadsworth said the invasion charge was false but told the U.N. Security Council the United States would follow its tradition of not opposing full and free debate of any charges leveled against it in the United Nations.

He said Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa had a record of being "persistent in error."

★ ★ ★

Belgian Police Break Up March

BRUSSELS (UPI)—Police broke up a march on parliament Wednesday by 300 demonstrators while Socialist deputies demanded the resignation of Premier Gaston Eyskens.

The clash between police and demonstrators erupted at the end of still another march by 10,000 strikers who swept through the center of Brussels shouting "Eyskens to the gallows," smashing windows and hurling firecrackers at mounted police.

★ ★ ★

Switzerland To Guide U. S. Affairs In Cuba

LONDON (UPI)—The break in United States-Cuban relations created deep concern throughout western Europe Wednesday and neutral Switzerland promptly agreed to handle U. S. affairs in Havana.

In most countries the Cuban crisis story took banner headlines and pushed the news of Laos off the front pages.

Only in the Communist countries was there any joy over the news. Commentators in Moscow and other Iron Curtain capitals interpreted the break as new proof of American "aggressive foreign policy."

SWITCHOVER IN PHONES JANUARY 15

There are only 10 memorizing days left before the "Big Switchover" in Chapel Hill—when all telephone numbers will be changed, going to the 7-digit numbering system on telephones. New numbers are effective Sunday, Jan. 15, 1961.

Telephone directories are being delivered this week with completion of deliveries to over 7,000 customers by January 12.

All telephone numbers in Chapel Hill will change automatically at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, January 15.

Ring Out Old
Ringing out the old numbers and ringing in the new begins at that time. All telephone subscribers will dial 7-digit numbers to reach their party.

Temporary stickers affixed to all dial telephones will be pulled off at this time by the subscriber revealing his new ANC number.

Chapel Hill dialers will be using 94 and 96 as the two digit additions to their current phone numbers. However, some numbers will be completely changed.

The Daily Tar Heel's phone numbers will be as follows: News Desk: 942-2138. Editor's Office: 942-2356.

The 7-digit system is gradually being installed throughout (Continued on Page 3)