Seven undergraduate women and two honoraries were tapped into Carolina's highest honorary organization for women, the Order of the Valkyries, in a secret pre-dawn ceremony this morning.

Recognized were Miss Mary Stewart Baker, Shreveport, La.; Miss Mima Bruce, Greenville, S. C.; Miss Jackie Suber, Great Falls, S. C.; Miss Carol Tieslau, Washington, D. C.; Miss Betty Ann Whitehurst, Rocky Mount, N. C. and as honoraries, Mrs. Marvin Allen, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Mrs. Brott Harris, Durham, N. C.

The Valkyries began their candlelight march at 1 a.m. in their customary black robes and hoods.

As the march proceeded through the women's residence halls, the sound of the golden gong called forth those women who were recognized for the Valkyries ideals of character, scholarship, leadership and service.

Following the secret ceremonies, a special breakfast was served at 6:30 in honor of the new members. Former members of the Order were also present for this conclusion of the ceremonies.

The citation read to the tappers were as follows:
MRS. ALLEN . . . "One who has endeared herself to her students through her sincere interest in each one, not only as a student but also as an individual. Her enthusiasm, warm personality, understanding, and willingness to serve others have made her a highly-respected and loved instructor and an invaluable resident of Chapel Hill. Mrs. Allen is an inspiration to all who know her."

MISS BAKER . . . "One who has served her University fully through her work with the newspaper, the annual, and the student union. Miss Baker has shown a personal control of her enthusiasm, channeling her energies into those things which are most worthwhile, and doing well that which ought to be done. Her work with the Orientation Committee was exemplary. Not only in her service, but in her scholarship achievement, she has demonstrated dependability and her love for those things which enrich and develop the mature and beautiful person."

MISS BRUCE . . . "One who gives of herself to her fellow man. She is selflessly devoted to helping the patients of Gravelly. In our shrinking world, Miss Bruce is doing her individual part to strengthening the international ties by utilizing her opportunities at home."

MRS. HARRIS . . . "One who brings to her job as assistant secretary of the YMCA a dedication to its purposes and a warm interest in the students she serves. Her concern for the University community has been shown through her interest in all phases of the Y activities, and particularly her work with Seminars Abroad. Mrs. Harris combines integrity of character with a sincere devotion to the ideas which give meaning to her job."

MISS PATTERSON . . . "One who has enlightened and enriched the lives of those around her through her innate sensitivity and outgoing concern. Bringing cheerfulness and dependability to every undertaking, she has served our campus in an outstanding manner. Through her work with Petit Dramatique, Playmakers and the YWCA, she has instilled new meanings in the lives of others. Her unselfish devotion to the well-being of others and her enthusiasm for intellectual endeavor have engendered profound respect within all who know her."

MISS SLAUGHTER . . . "One who has willingly given of herself to others, accomplishing any task she undertakes with quiet efficiency and unfailing dependability. Through her work in the fields of U. N. Education and World Affairs, she has served her university and her nation well. Her genuine interest and constant concern over the problems which confront our world has stimulated those around her to realize the responsibility and accept the challenges that face each young citizen. Miss Slaughter is to be commended for her high academic standing, her work in her sorority and in other phases of campus life. Understanding, sensitivity and discerning judgment are qualities reflected in all her actions and in her life."

MISS SUBER . . . "One who has served the University and her fellow students in a charming manner with intelligence, initiative, and sincere interest. Her superior scholastic attainment and wise leadership qualities have truly been admired. She has shown understanding and dedication in her role of dormitory president and other student activities. Miss Suber's sparkling personality and enthusiastic manner have influenced greatly those around her."

MISS TIESLAU . . . "One who, by her genuine enthusiasm and vitality both on campus and in athletic events has continually captivated and heightened the University's spirit. Her dedication to her fellow students and high ideals may be seen in the outstanding contributions to the Student Government Legislature, the YWCA, Foreign Student Orientation, her class and her sorority. Miss Tieslau is one who has remained humble and unaffected by her many successes but she evokes the highest respect and recognition from her professors and fellow students through the strength and depth of her character and through her intellectual ability of maintaining a most commendable scholastic standing in a challenging and difficult field of study at the University."

MISS WHITEHURST . . . "One whose leadership, unassuming manner and tireless efforts in all her responsibilities, have brought her recognition from many. She has served diligently and efficiently as Secretary of the Orientation Committee and member of the Student Affairs Committee. Her undaunted enthusiasm in giving of herself and thoughtful adherence to high ideals, enhances beauty and meaning in the lives who know her."

Weather

Prince Charles Down With Measles

LONDON—Prince Charles, 12-year-old heir to the British throne, was confined to bed Thursday with the measles.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman said Charles is in the sickbed at Cheam School outside London along with a number of other pupils.

They are victims of a nationwide measles epidemic. The Health Ministry said more than 42,000 cases were reported up to Jan. 21.

Durham Seminar Blanks Available

Applications for the Third International Student Relations Seminar of the Carolinas-Virginia Region may be obtained from the student government office in Graham Memorial.

To be held March 17, 18 and 19 at North Carolina College in Durham, the Seminar is sponsored by the National Student Association.

It will be designed to develop informed and concerned college students, particularly in the area of international awareness.

Candidates for the Seminar, which is patterned after the original NSA national seminar, should have a basic awareness of international relations.

Among other things, the regional meet purports to "assist participants in a better understanding of the inter-relationships between world affairs and student problems; to help them increase international awareness among their fellow students; and to attempt to teach them the effect they and their campuses may have on international student relations."

Registration will be held March 17 from 12 noon until 1:30 p.m.

Deadline Is Saturday For Goettingen Grants

Students must submit applications for the Goettingen Scholarship to Thal Elliott, 205 Grimes, by noon Saturday. Applications must be obtained from Elliott or YMCA Secretary Claude Shotts.

The scholarship covers all essential expenses for two semesters at Goettingen University in Goettingen, Germany. Applicants must have some knowledge of German, and they must return to UNC for one year. Freshmen are generally not eligible.

Rebel Leader Brings 'Santa Maria' To Safe Harbor, Releases Captives

Jose Limon Ballet Troupe

Dancers On Stage Thursday

The Jose Limon Dance Company, recognized as "distinguished ambassadors of dance," will perform at 8 p.m. next Thursday in Memorial Hall.

Sponsored by the Chapel Hill Concert Series, students will be admitted free to the balcony through an arrangement with the GM Concert Series Committee.

Returns From Tour

"A unique artistic entity," the Limon troupe has recently returned from a three-month tour of Latin America. This trip marked the third time that the company has been sent abroad by the President's Special International Program for Cultural Presentations.

In 1954 the Jose Limon Company toured Latin America, and in 1957 traveled throughout Europe on a good will mission.

The Company has appeared with the leading orchestras of the United States and has participated in many of the major dance festivals of the world.

The complete Chapel Hill program has not yet been released, but it is expected to include "The Moor's Pavane," Limon's most famous role; a "taut, four-character distillation of Shakespeare's 'Othello.'"

Brazilian Student Leaders Arrive Here On Feb. 10

The State Department is bringing ten Brazilian student leaders to UNC from Feb. 10-15 to have a look at the South and a southern university.

Each of the ten men fills an official slot in the national or local student government of the nine universities represented by the group.

While at UNC they will meet with Carolina student leaders. The Brazilian group also will tour the campus, particularly the departments of law, art and business in which many of them are interested.

One of the group, Edison Borges De Oliveira, has been provisional mayor of Rio de Janeiro twice.

Oliveira, a medical student at the University of Rio de Janeiro, was appointed Chief of the Governor's Executive Office when he was 24.

Freeing Of Passengers Follows Night Of Bloodshed Below Decks

RECIFE, Brazil (UPI)—Portuguese rebel leader Henrique Galvao brought the hijacked liner Santa Maria to safe harbor Thursday and put ashore his captive passengers after a night of mutiny, riot and bloodshed below decks.

Portuguese warships were reported lurking in the Atlantic to intercept the rebel chieftain should he try to sail the emptied luxury vessel to sea again.

The crew, held at gunpoint during the ship's 12-day odyssey, turned on Galvao and he was reported hurled through a window in a shipboard brawl.

But Galvao brought the 20,906-ton liner gallantly into Recife, its gala cruise pennants flying, and its flags whipping at the masts.

Galvao himself stood on the bridge agleam in gold braid, his arms raised in a Mussolini-like salute.

The rust-streaked ship hove to 300 feet from a pier and its prow swung seaward as though ready to dash out of port.

Two seagoing tugs steamed up and began taking off the first of the 620 passengers, who included 42 Americans. Five of the Americans were children ranging in age from 2 to 11 years old.

3 Showings Set On Special Films In Flick Series

Tonight's free flick, "My Cousin Rachel," will feature Olivia de Havilland and Richard Burton. There will be showings at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. in Carroll Hall.

Adapted from Daphne du Maurier's popular novel, the film "My Cousin Rachel" concerns a man's search for the truth about a woman.

On Saturday the free flick will be "Brigadoon," a musical based on the Broadway production of Lerner and Lowe.

It stars Gene Kelly, Van Johnson and Cyd Charisse. Showings will be at 6:30, 8:30 and 10:30 p.m.

The practice of presenting three shows will be instituted on a trial basis during February with movies which the committee believes warrant such showings.
