

Ground Attack By Soviet Union Would Force US Allies To Use Atomic Weapons, Officers Say

VILSECK, Germany (UPI)—The U.S. Army and its NATO Allies probably would be unable to halt a conventional ground attack by the Soviet Union without using tactical atomic weapons.

This is admitted freely, but only privately, by most of the American general officers here for the 60,000 NATO war games.

Those tactical atomic weapons were much in evidence as American, German, and French troops attacked and defended in maneuvers over the snowy South German countryside.

But the United States, while reserving to itself the right to use nuclear arms when necessary, would be most unwilling to be the first to fire what soldiers call simply "the weapon."

Without "the weapon," American observers and participating officers believe, a Soviet conventional ground attack could not be thrown back by the forces now at NATO's disposal in Europe.

"It would be most difficult for all of us, political and military, if the Soviet Union, having announced the attack ahead of time, said it would not use nuclear weapons," one of the nearly 200 general officers here said.

The topic was one of the main discussion points at the last NATO ministerial meeting in Paris. That meeting last December ended with the statement that "the North Atlantic nations must be able to respond to any attack with whatever force might be appropriate."

Proper Balance

"There must be a proper balance in the forces of the Allies of nuclear and conventional strength to provide the required flexibility," the NATO communiqué said.

It called for the strengthening of NATO defenses to the point at which "there can be no possibility of miscalculation or misunderstanding of the alliance's determination and ability to register aggression by whatever means are appropriate and necessary."

West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss, who joined the observers of the maneuvers, is among those fearing that the Russians might launch a conventional attack aimed at a limited objective, gambling that the objective could be reached before the United States could lift its nuclear ban.

'Ants In Pants'

(Continued from page 1)

disension, follows: "Whereas: Many dormitory residents have been plagued throughout the year by ants in the pants, beds, books, et cetera, and,

"Whereas: Few dormitory residents keep food in their rooms to attract ants, and

"Whereas: Three-men rooms are already over-crowded without the ants, and

"Whereas: The point has been reached where the ant's motto has become veni, vidi, vici, . . . Let it be enacted by the IDC that:

"All ants shall be declared Ant Non Grata . . ."

The resolution went on to suggest that anteaers be allowed in dorms as pets, that the IDC make it legal to "stomp, kick, squeeze, shoot, maim, smash, slap, pound, drown, irritate, and crush to death without mercy any little red ants" seen in dorms.

The resolution states that copies are to be sent to the "Queen Ant, Pat Adams, Mr. J. S. Adams, Bill Long, Officer Beaumont, and Cruelty to Ant Societies in the United States and Canada."

★
Love Is A Special Way of Feeling
$1.75

★
This Is My Beloved
$3.50

★
Sonnets from the Portuguese
$3.50

★
Chinese Love Poems
$3.50

★
THE INTIMATE BOOKSHOP
119 E. Franklin St.
OPEN TILL 10 P.M.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Pretty Girl Might Be Practicing Witch

LONDON (UPI)—Britons, beware! That pretty girl you have your eye on might turn out to be a witch.

After a year of research, the Rev. Joseph Christie, S.J., a Roman Catholic priest, said today he was convinced there are practicing witches in Britain.

"People who think the cult of witchcraft died here centuries ago are quite wrong," said Father Christie. "But these days, no self-respecting witch would wish to be associated with evil."

Father Christie said witches could generally be defined as persons who believe in the power of charms and incantations to influence persons or events.

For example, he said, the witches of Britain believe that during World War II, one of their mass incantations forced Adolf Hitler to alter his plans to invade England.

In his research, he said, he did not find any evidence that witches were attempting to use whatever powers they thought they had for evil purposes.

The priest said the gatherings of witches today are more like social events devoted to such harmless matters as the chanting of fertility rites and ritual dances.

Father Christie said consorting with the devil is demonology, rather than witchcraft, and he found no evidence that witches were involved in such a practice.

When asked by newsmen what the 20th century witch looks like, Father Christie smiled and said, "They certainly

NSA Seminar Applications Available Now

Application forms for the Ninth International Student Relations Seminar are now available in the National Student Association office in GM.

The seminar will be held at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia this summer under the auspices of the NSA, from June 18 to September 1.

As a method of presentation the Seminar uses case studies, guest speakers, and seminar discussions to provide students with the knowledge of contemporary problems of international relations as they exist among international and national student organizations.

Every seminar participant receives a scholarship covering expenses for travel to and from the seminar; room, board, and registration fees; and all study materials.

Church Key

Wesley Foundation and Westminster Fellowship will meet jointly Sunday at 5:30 at the Presbyterian Fellowship Hall for supper and a short worship service. The program will follow featuring the Rev. Horace T. Allen who will speak on the topic "Toward One Visible Catholic Church."

Mohamed Hussein will discuss "Islam" at the student supper forum of the University Baptist Church Sunday evening at 5:45.

Hussein, a native of the United Arab Republic, is a graduate student in biostatistics.

Canterbury Club will meet at 6 p.m. Sunday for evening prayer service followed by supper. The program will feature the first in a series of three studies of other faiths. "Hinduism" is the topic under initial consideration.

Dr. Robert Seymour will present the program, "New Testament Towns," for the Blinkley Baptist Church supper-seminar Sunday beginning at 5:45 p.m. Slides of the New Testament towns will be shown and discussion will follow.

The regular supper meeting of the Lutheran Student Association will be held this Sunday at 6 p.m. Pastor Perry will describe his experiences as a leader during Religious Emphasis Week at the University of South Carolina.

A discussion group on Christian Ethics will be held at the parsonage at 9:45 a.m. Sunday accompanied by doughnuts and coffee.

Dr. Douglas M. Branch, general secretary of the N. C. Baptist Convention, will be the guest speaker at the University Baptist Church's 11 a.m. service Sunday.

Infirmary

Students in the Infirmary yesterday included: Ann Davis, Nancy Walter, Muriel Hogg, Nancy Young, Ann Womeldorf, Eileen Paine, Coy Garner, Dharendra Singhdeo, Francis Raper, Paul Porter, Cecil Procter, Lawrence Rouse, Jerry Goodman, Nelson Page, Edwin Anderson, Melvin Simpson, Robert Davis, Thomas Funderburk, Elizabeth Rich, Bachir Ould-Rovis, Stephen Young, Harvey Solomon, Graham Nickels, Louis Schwoebel, Kenneth Goodnight, and Clyde Wilson.

"A GUIDE FOR THE DATELESS"

With the cost of dating rising higher and higher it is no wonder that so many of us men are turning to discus throwing. Naturally, we would prefer nuzzling warm coeds to flinging cold discs, but who's got that kind of money? Prices being what they are, the average man today has a simple choice: dating or eating.

Unless the average man happens to be Finster Sigafoos. Finster came to college with the normal ambition of any average man: he wanted to find the prettiest coed on campus and make her his. He looked long and carefully, and at last he found her—a tall job named Kretchma Inskip, with hair like beaten gold.

He asked her for a date. She accepted. He appeared at her sorority house that night, smiling, eager, and carrying a bouquet of modestly priced flowers.

"Now then," said Kretchma, tossing the sleazy flora to a pledge, "where are we going tonight?"

Finster was a man short on cash, but long on ideas. He had prepared an attractive plan for this evening. "How would you like to go out to the Ag campus and see the milking machine?" he asked.

"Tek," she replied. "Well, what would you like to do?" he asked. "Come," said she, "to a funny little place I know just outside of town."

And away they went.

The place was Millionaires Roost, a simple country inn made of solid ivory. It was filled with beautiful ladies in backless gowns, handsome men in dickies. Original Rembrandts adorned the walls. Marlboro trays adorned the cigarette girls. Chained to each table was a gypsy violinist.

Finster and Kretchma were seated. "I," said Kretchma to the waiter, "will start with shrimps remoulade. Then I will have lobster and capon in maderia sauce with asparagus spears. For dessert I will have melon stuffed with money."

"And you, Sir?" said the waiter to Finster. "Just bring me a pack of Marlboros," replied Finster, "for if ever a man needed to settle back and enjoy the mild beneficence of choice tobacco and easy-drawing filtration, it is the shattered hulk you see before you now."

So, smoking the best of all possible cigarettes, Finster watched Kretchma ingest her meal and calculated that every time her fetching young Adam's apple rose and fell, he was out another 97¢. Then he took her home.

It was while saying goodnight that Finster got his brilliant idea. "Listen!" he cried excitedly. "I just had a wonderful notion. Next time we go out, let's go Dutch treat!"

By way of reply, Kretchma slashed him across the face with her housemother and stormed into the house.

"Well, the heck with her," said Finster to himself. "She is just a gold digger and I am well rid of her. I am sure there are many girls just as beautiful as Kretchma who will understand the justice of my position. For after all, girls get as much money from home as men, so what could be more fair than sharing expenses on a date?"

With good heart and high hopes, Finster began a search for a girl who would appreciate the equity of Dutch treat, and you will be pleased to hear that he soon found one—Mary Alice Hematoma, a lovely three-legged girl with sideburns.

We're no experts on Dutch treat, but here's an American treat we recommend with enthusiasm—Marlboro's popular new partner for non-filter smokers—the Philitt Morris Commander.

At The Sport Shop

ONE CENT SALE!

ON RECORDS

HURRY Sale Ends Sat.

STORE - WIDE . . . ENTIRE STOCK!

TWO FOR THE PRICE OF ONE plus ONE CENT!

Any record in the store — buy one record at regular price and select your choice of any other record of equal value for one penny more. And you can buy as many as you want . . . no limit. Get the records you've been wanting while the penny's sooooo big!

(50% OFF)

the Sport Shop, inc.
"It Pays to Play" CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

151 E. Franklin St. Phone 942-4064

TV Today

- WUNC, CHANNEL 4
- 5:30—Searchlights on Delinquency
 - 6:00—The News at Six
 - 6:15—Sing Hi, Sing Lo
 - 6:30—Continental Classroom: Contemporary Mathematics
 - 7:00—Secrets of Flight
 - 7:30—Project Echo
 - 8:00—Golden Gate Empire
 - 8:30—Prelude
 - 9:00—University Showcase
 - 10:00—Final Edition
- WTVD, CHANNEL 11
- 4:30—Edge of Night
 - 5:00—American Bandstand
 - 5:30—Rin Tin Tin
 - 6:00—Guestward Ho
 - 6:30—Your Esso Reporter
 - 6:40—Weather
 - 6:45—Douglas Edwards and the News
 - 7:00—I. S. Marshal
 - 7:30—Rawhide
 - 8:30—Route 66
 - 9:30—You're in the Picture
 - 10:00—Twilight Zone
 - 10:30—Eyewitness to History
 - 11:00—Phillips 66 News
 - 11:15—First Run Theater: "Fabulous Texan"

IBM WILL INTERVIEW FEBRUARY 15-16

Candidates for Bachelors or Masters Degrees are invited to discuss opportunities in

Engineering and Science Systems Engineering and Sales

This is a unique opportunity to find out about the many career opportunities at IBM. The IBM representative can discuss with you typical jobs, various training programs, chances for advanced education, financial rewards, and company benefits—all important factors that affect your future.

SOME FACTS ABOUT IBM

An Unusual Growth Story: IBM has had one of the exceptional growth rates in industry. It has been a planned growth, based on ideas and products having an almost infinite application in our modern economy.

Diverse and Important Products: IBM develops, manufactures and markets a wide range of products in the data processing field. IBM computers and allied products play a vital role in the operations of business, industry, science, and government.

Across-the-Country Operations: Laboratory and manufacturing facilities are located in Endicott, Kingston, Owego, Poughkeepsie and Yorktown, N. Y.; Burlington, Vermont; Lexington, Ky.; San Jose, Calif.; Bethesda, Md.; and Rochester, Minn. Headquarters is located in New York City with sales and service offices in 198 major cities throughout the United States.

The Accent is on the Individual: No matter what type of work a person does at IBM, he is given all the responsibility he is able to handle, and all the support he needs to do his job. Advancement is by merit.

The areas in which IBM is engaged have an unlimited future. This is your opportunity to find out what that future has to offer you.

Call or stop in at your placement office to arrange an appointment with the IBM representative for the date above. If you cannot attend an interview, write or call the manager of the nearest IBM office:

Mr. M. E. Johnson, Branch Manager
IBM Corporation, Dept. 882
322 Hillsboro Street
Raleigh, N. C.
TE 4-6451

IBM You naturally have a better chance to grow with a growth company.

PEANUTS

UH HUH...HERE... YOU TAKE A LOOK...

THAT'S PRETTY OLD.

WHY DON'T WE TRY LOOKING AT SOME NEW ONES?

POGO

BUT THE ADVISOR DON'T GOT NO SENSE OF RESPONSIBILITY... HE SAY DO THIS, DO THAT.

WHY

ONCE HE'S SHOWED YOU HOW TO MAKE SOMETHING SAY A BOMB!!!

By Schulz

By Walt Kelly