

Judiciary Bill Up Before SG

Amendment Bills To Constitution On Slate Tonight

Student Legislature will busy itself with the organization of Student Government tonight when several bills concerning amendments to the Student Constitution come up for consideration.

The lone dollars and cents proposal reported out of Finance Committee favorably this week is a bill which would provide $225 to purchase phonograph records for Carrier Current, the campus radio hookup due to resume broadcasting Oct. 8.

Legislature will consider a bill to provide for the election of a geographically apportioned campus judiciary. The coming erection of two new men's dormitories will bring a shift in student population. Consequently, the judiciary setup as now apportioned will have to be shifted also.

Proposes Increase
The bill proposes to increase the membership of the Men's Council from the present 11 to 16.

Several six-month seats on the Women's Council would also be provided by the measure.

Bills left over from last week's session regarding the purchase of a typewriter for the Student Government office, and for the establishment of Parlane magazine as an official publication of the University were not expected to come up tonight.

5 Tickets Sends Car Home

Rudy Edwards, assistant to the dean of student affairs, announced yesterday that any student who receives five parking tickets will be required to send his car home.

The University Trustees passed this regulation at their last meeting because of the growing problem of students parking in spaces reserved for faculty members and trustees.

Edwards further said that any students who have not registered their cars will be forced to drop out of school and then pay a late registration fee plus an automobile registration fee to get back in.

He issued the present policy on student parking tickets as follows: The Office of Student Affairs gets a list of all tickets each

Alumni Donate $80,000

Chancellor William B. Aycock yesterday said that the UNC Alumni Annual Giving Council has donated $80,000 to the University, about one-third of which will supplement faculty salaries.

Aycock told the Faculty Club that the donation allows the appointment of two more Alumni Distinguished Professors. Six alumni professorships were established by the council last year.

The Chancellor said the money remaining from the establishment of the professorships will be used for faculty research, travel and retirement; graduate fellowships; the student welfare fund and improvements in the Library and Chemistry Department.

Best Director

Tom Best, director of the program, said the Alumni Council has given over $400,000 since its inception in 1952.

The yearly fund program, whose donation this year was 15% higher than last, provides funds for different purposes, or to supplement those regularly appropriated by the State Legislature.

Rusk, Gromyko To Meet Saturday

2 Leaders Report 'Very Good' Talk

Rusk Evasive On Progress Of Negotiations On Berlin

NEW YORK (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk met for almost four hours Wednesday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on the Berlin crisis and they described the session as a "very good talk."

Rusk and Gromyko said they will meet again Saturday morning to continue their search for a diplomatic formula to begin full scale East-West negotiations on Berlin and the German issues.

There was no immediate information as to whether Rusk succeeded in moving Gromyko at all from the Russian position during Wednesday's session. The Kremlin demands an early peace treaty with Communist East Germany and elimination of the Allied position in Red-encircled West Berlin.

Asked if the conference produced any progress, Rusk said "We'll see."

Gromyko and Rusk appeared in excellent spirits as they emerged from the front door of the headquarters of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations. Gromyko escorted Rusk to his car and bid him goodbye.

En route they stopped before microphones and each spoke briefly.

Gromyko said the talks covered the subject of Berlin "and other matters of mutual interest."

The Soviet foreign minister, in response to questions then spoke of Russia's proposal for a temporary solution of the East-West deadlock over filling the post of United Nations secretary general.

Wednesday's cold war conference between Rusk and Gromyko brought to 8 hours and 20 minutes the time they have spent discussing Berlin and other critical issues at two meetings.

Rusk's task in the exploratory talks, outlined by President Kennedy, was to persuade the Soviets to negotiate on terms of mutual respect and concern for the rights of others.

morning. They check these against the list of registered cars and registered students.

A student will be warned when he gets his fourth parking ticket. If he gets a fifth ticket, he will be required to get rid of his car.

In the case of special circumstances surrounding a ticket, the student may make an appointment and appear before a committee, consisting of Edwards and Safety Officer Arthur Beaumont to have his case reviewed. In some cases the student will be given another chance.

"However, these cases will be very rare," said Edwards.

U.S. May Send Jets To Europe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States may send nearly 500 more jet planes and thousands of additional troops to Europe by the end of the year if the Berlin crisis fails to subside, Defense Department sources indicated Wednesday.

They raised the possibility in guarded response to reports that all or most of 18 Air National Guard squadrons reporting for active duty next Monday will be sent overseas for any Berlin showdown.

The squadrons have a total of 411 jet fighters, most of them capable of carrying nuclear as well as conventional weapons. An additional four squadrons reporting for duty at the same time are equipped with reconnaissance versions of the planes.

GELGRATE (UPI) — Yugoslavia and Morocco Wednesday signed an agreement for economic and technical cooperation between their two countries.

Republican Leader Chosen Successor

Businessman Appointee Served Under Truman Ike

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)—President Kennedy Wednesday appointed John A. McCone, a Republican businessman who served in both the Truman and Eisenhower administrations, to head the Central Intelligence Agency.

McCone, 59, will take over in November from retiring CIA chief Allen W. Dulles, 68 and also a Republican who has been CIA chief for 10 years. Dulles, who along with the CIA has come under heavy congressional criticism in recent years, agreed at the President's request last November to remain at his post for a year.

Two of the chief targets of congressional fire have been the CIA's participation in the abortive Cuban invasion last April and the U2 incident in 1959. Wednesday Kennedy expressed regret Dulles was retiring and said he knew of "no man who is a more courageous, selfless public servant."

Dulles has served under eight presidents starting with Woodrow Wilson. Kennedy said his record was "unique in the history of this country."

Pointing up the significance he attached to the CIA appointment, Kennedy interrupted his day-old vacation here to make the announcement personally in the Navy War College auditorium at the Newport Naval Base.

With Dulles and McCone seated at his side, Kennedy lauded McCone—chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission in the Eisenhower administration—for accepting his sensitive new "position of high responsibility."

Though some critics had attacked Dulles for the abortive invasion of Cuba by anti-Castro exiles and the flight of a U2 spy plane shot down over Russia—an incident used by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to wreck the 1959 summit conference—Kennedy made it plain that Dulles was retiring according to last year's agreement.

McCone is a native of San Francisco with a highly successful career as a business and industrial executive in California. His first government service was in 1947, as a member of the Air Policy Commission under former President Truman.

In 1948, he was special deputy to the secretary of defense, and from 1950 to 1951 was under secretary of the Air Force. From July, 1958, to January, 1961, McCone served as Atomic Energy Commission chairman under former President Eisenhower. In that capacity, he healed a bitter breach which had developed between his predecessor, Lewis Strauss, and Congressional Democrats.
