Deadline Is February 1

Farmer Threatens Big Demonstrations

By JOEL BULKLEY
James Farmer yesterday gave Chapel Hill 16 days to completely desegregate all places of public accommodation or face massive demonstrations by the national office of the Congress of Racial Equality.

The CORE director told newsmen in Durham, "Unless Chapel Hill is an open city by Feb. 1, it will become the focal point of all our efforts."

"All our resources—staff, funds and non-violent training—will be centered there after D-Day."

Later in the day, local integration leader John Dunne said the door to negotiations was open, and expressed a willingness to halt demonstrations on evidence of good faith by town leaders.

Mayor Sandy McClamroch said he had not been formally notified of Dunne's statement but "will meet with anybody."

Farmer said he set the Feb. 1 deadline because Chapel Hill must retain its leadership in the civil rights field. He added that the date was also the anniversary of the nation's first sit-ins in Greensboro, N. C. in 1960.

He expressed optimism that the town "would again take the lead in race relations in the South" by enacting a public accommodations law within the next two weeks.

The Board of Aldermen Monday night bypassed consideration of the proposed ordinance. It voted instead to set up a special committee to iron out the town's racial problems voluntarily.

Mayor McClamroch will chair the committee which includes two representatives each from the Ministerial Association, Chamber of Commerce, Merchants Association and University faculty.

McClamroch indicated the committee would not be able to do anything before Feb. 1.

Officials of the four groups with representatives on the committee reported yesterday afternoon they had not received notice of the Board of Aldermen's action.

Police said a group of about 45 Negroes and whites spent Monday night inside the Town Hall in protest of the Board's action. As of last night only five people remained.

Dunne said the integration group "welcomes the opportunity to meet and resolve differences with town leaders." He added the local group "was willing to consider the cessation of demonstrations, subject to evidence of good faith."

Donations To Symposium Climb Over $5,000 Mark

By VIRGINIA DeLUNG
Contributions totaling over $5,000 have been made to the 1964 Carolina Symposium from Student Government, Graham Memorial and the University Administration. Latest figures on these and other contributions were announced yesterday by Symposium Treasurer Al Sneed.

Ten fraternities and sororities have pledged a total of $516 and the Business Foundation of North Carolina has given $600. The Greek organizations are Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Gamma Delta, Beta Theta Pi, Chi Omega, Delta Kappa Upsilon, Kappa Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Beta Kappa, and Phi Eta Sigma.

Sneed said the drive for student contributions was continuing and he expected the number of fraternities and sororities at least equal the 22 that donated funds two years ago.

Contributions from individual students have exceeded $1,000, and Sneed hopes to double that amount.

The Administration's grant of $1,000 was authorized by Chancellor Aycock last week. Donations of $2,900 and $1,500 were voted by the Student Legislature and the Graham Memorial Board of Directors before Christmas.

Other contributions have been made by the Forrest Hills Shopping Center in Durham, the Suffolk Foundation, and private individuals.

HOW'S THEM APPLES?

The graduate nursing program here is one of 32 accredited programs in the U.S. to receive a share of $200,000 in grants from the National Fund for Graduate Nursing Education.

Based on a formula which includes the 1963-64 enrollment, UNC will receive a grant of $4,570. This is the second and the largest grant approved for the local program.

SP Leaders Pledge Renewed Efforts

Student Party leaders pledged themselves to a renewed fight for the principles and traditions of the party in a rousing 25th anniversary banquet Saturday night.

Some 50 alumni and party members attended the three-hour banquet Saturday night to reminisce and plan for the future.

Paul Dickson, newly-elected chairman of the party, pledged a drive to increase membership, erase the party debt and work for victories in the spring elections.

Alumni Joel Fleishmann, Tom Lambeth, Jim Turner and John Sanders spoke of the Student Party of the past and recommended that the party continue to stand by its principles.

Student Body President Mike Lawler spoke of the progress made during his administration in the understanding between Student Government and the University Administration and faculty.

He spoke of plans for a clearer definition of Student Government in relation to the University this spring.

He is working on the establishment of joint faculty-student committees to work out the exact position of Student Government and to straighten out judicial procedures.

SP legislative floor leader Phil Baddour said the Party would have to face the problem of the sit-in demonstrations in the near future.

The alumni's challenge for more idealism and more action by the party was taken up by the party leaders in a series of brief speeches.

The leaders also said they would accept the alumni's suggestion to make the banquet an annual affair.

In Graham Hall

Study, Social Room Improvement Begins

By JOHN GREENBACKER
Construction has started on the $3000 improvement project for Graham's residence hall's basement.

Costs will be paid by the Administration through the efforts of Dean of Men William Long and Assistant Dean Mat Ott in association with the Student Legislature committee for residence hall improvement.

Don Carson, chairman of the committee, said the original plan was submitted by the Men's Residence Council as a pilot project. Student Government allotted $2500 for similar improvements in Joyner Hall.

No Food For Ehringhaus

Attempted theft of food from the LaPizza truck has caused that business to stop delivery to Ehringhaus Hall.

Chuck Gierken, manager of the Carboro restaurant, said yesterday that the attempted theft Monday night, the second such incident, resulted in some $15 damage. The door handle of the truck was torn off.

No food was stolen, he added, as it was locked in "hot boxes" inside the truck. The incident was reported to the campus police.

Graham's new basement will be used primarily for study purposes, but will be free for parties on weekends.

Construction should be finished shortly after semester break. "This was largely a student inspired and motivated project," Long said. Long, who earlier this year told Graham residents he would work to "change an existence in dormitories to a life in residence halls," described Graham as a perfect location as "it is in the center of a very congested area of living units."

"This is an experiment," Long said, "and I hope good use is made of it. This should provide more social opportunities in an area where few facilities are available."

Carson and his committee praised Long and Ott for their efforts.

"The administration has taken the lead in the improvement of residence hall social facilities," Carson said, "and the committee hopes that there will be mutual cooperation between the two groups."

Graham residents were largely delighted by the news. "We have been working for this for some time," Graham Resident Advisor Vick Bost said. "Life for Graham residents should be much easier after this."

"It's great. This should improve residence hall social life 1000 per cent," said Grahamite Jack Markham.

Residents John Moss and Terry Peterson echoed this comment. "This will raise the morale and social position of the residence halls," Peterson said. "Now we have a place to entertain girls after dates."

A five-man committee from the Legion Monday began three days of observing the department at the invitation of Secretary of State Dean Rusk. They will attend Rusk's staff conferences

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Prior Has Prayer Engagement—Tough

Democratic gubernatorial candidate L. Richardson Preyer will not appear on a panel at the annual Press Association meeting here Friday because of a prior commitment.

Preyer's headquarters here said Monday that the candidate had adopted a policy against cancelling one engagement for another.

The statement said Preyer was scheduled to visit Surry County Friday and would be unable to accept the Chapel Hill invitation.

$1,000 A Smoke In Texas—Texans?

EASTLAND, Tex. (UPI)—Three smoking and one non-smoking member of the Eastland City Council unanimously passed Monday an ordinance prohibiting the sale or use of cigarettes within the municipal limits.

The ordinance provides a $1,000 fine or three years imprisonment for any person caught with cigarettes or smoking them. Mayor Don Pierson said he expects the ordinance to become effective Feb. 20.

Why Oh Why Didn't He Come Here?

SHAWNEE, Okla. (UPI)—An Oakland, Calif., man purposely crash-dived his light airplane into a building on the Oklahoma Baptist University campus Tuesday and narrowly missing a class of 40 students taking their final examination.

The man was killed. The highway patrol identified him as Robert Lawson, age 40 to 45, of Oakland, Calif., a former OBU student.

No one else was hurt. Witnesses said Lawson buzzed the campus for about a half-hour, then made a low approach from the south. He rammed the third floor of Shawnee Hall, the former administration building. The plane was a Cessna 150. It tore a gaping hole in the south side of the building and set it afire. The single-engine craft hung there a few minutes, then fell to the ground. Lawson was still in the plane.

Firemen quickly extinguished the flames. Lawson had radioed the university airport and said he was going to crash into the administration building. University officials thought he meant the new administration building, Thurmond Hall. They evacuated it.

15 Escape In Mid-Eastern Revolt

ZANZIBAR—(WPTF)—Fifteen eunuchs escaped Tuesday from the harem of Sheik Hassan Mar-Cheroot and were finally captured after an hour-long search.

A spokesman for the eunuchs, Harem Kirk-Patrook, said the uprising had taken place in protest of the sheik's discriminatory practices.

"The sheik is a fakir," he commented. "He hires us, but he won't treat us as customers on an equal basis.

"We will continue to fight for our rights," he added. "If we aren't treated as equals by February 1 we will be forced to call in the Eunuch Union."

The sheik was reportedly locked up in his castle, and an official spokesman indicated that there would be no statement on the incident until tomorrow.

Peacemakers Asked To Force Zone Revision

PANAMA CITY (UPI)—Inter-American peacemakers postponed a scheduled return home today on insistence of Panama they work out a formula that will bind the United States to revision of zone treaties.

The departure was postponed even though the Organization of American States (OAS) group considered its work completed with signature of an agreement by Panama and the United States to establish a joint cooperation committee to guarantee the peace, and a renewed U.S. pledge to fly the Panamanian and American flags on public sites in the zone.

An OAS spokesman said treaty revision was not within the peacemakers' scope but that the five-nation group agreed to remain at least 12 hours longer to seek to prevent continued tension between Panama and the United States from exploding into new conflict.

Twenty-one persons were killed and 463 wounded between Thursday and Sunday. The casualties included four American dead and 103 wounded, including three civilians.

Monday's "peace formula" snagged quickly on Panamanian insistence that the United States agree to treaty revisions prior to any formal talks on re-establishing normal diplomatic relations. The U.S. position was that it could not be "pressured" into treaty revisions. The United States called first for restoration of law and order before seeking a permanent settlement of the tense situation.

10 Castro Trainees Arrested In Panama

WASHINGTON (UPI)—At least 10 agents trained in Communist Cuba have been arrested and are being held by Panamanian authorities in Panama Army Secretary Cyrus R. Vance said today.

Vance, who returned from Panama Monday, told a news conference he thought at least one of the 10 was a sniper. The Army secretary said the agents were identified by U. S. authorities and were arrested by Panamanian police.

The secretary, agreeing with an earlier statement by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, said agents hostile to both the United States and Panama "moved in quickly to whip up the dispute" when the recent disturbances broke out.

First Demo Candidate Against Gag

RALEIGH (UPI)—The state's first announced Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor is Robert W. Scott, who last week withdrew from contention in the race for governor.

Scott, son of former governor and late U. S. Senator W. Kerr Scott, told a news conference that he would seek the state's

No. 2 post and used the occasion to criticize the anti-Communist speaker ban law.

Scott, 34, said he was confident he would be elected and promised a "bold and vigorous" campaign. "It will be taken directly to the people. The campaign is already underway," he said.

State Department Tells Legion 'Look'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department is opening many of its secrets to the American Legion in an experiment aimed at bettering relations with groups often critical of U. S. foreign policy.

A five-man committee from the Legion Monday began three days of observing the department at the invitation of Secretary of State Dean Rusk. They will attend Rusk's staff conferences and will be briefed on intelligence operations. A State Department spokesman said the group was being given a "full inside view."

The experiment grew out of a recent speaking engagement by Rusk at a Legion meeting in Miami Beach.

Faculty Committees Formed To Study Student Government

"Hey! Hi You" Call Of The Wild?

By SONDRRA WILSON
Are Carolina coeds typical?

Miss Daryl Farrington, assistant dean of women, says "no."

A Carolina coed herself a few years ago, she has interviewed over 200 junior transfers this semester, listening to their ideas and observing their attitudes toward the University.

Miss Farrington was "astonished" to find such a vast variety among the women students. "The girls seem much more serious now than they did when I was here," she said.

Do girls come to Carolina to find a husband?

"No!" Miss Farrington again answers. "The majority of the coeds seem to have definite ideas about their future, and the kind of jobs they expect to gain."

According to the Ohio Psychological Test that all transfer students were required to take during Orientation, the Carolina coed is usually of "above average intelligence."

Tests also show coeds are most interested in literature and art. They rank lowest in mechanical and clerical categories.

"It's so hard to get to meet boys" is the most frequent complaint the assistant dean has heard this year. "The guys think we're dated up weeks in advance," the girls say.

"If you speak to them, they think you're crazy. If you don't they think you're a snob."

Coeds have suggested more and better organized mixers and more frequent exchanges between dorms and fraternities.

Most of the women transfers show liberal attitudes concerning the apartment rule. "A girl has already formed her values by the time she reaches Carolina," they argue.

Others complain of inhibiting rules and regulations.

A major concern of the women students, Miss Farrington has learned, is the lack of rapport between student and professors. They also seem disappointed in the academic nature of the college and the "incompetency" of some of their professors.

Still, there are coeds who are completely content with college life here. They find the campus "very friendly" and rules rather lenient.

"Closing hours in girls' dorms should be earlier," one coed commented.

Generally, it seems, however, that a cold war does exist between the "mythical Carolina gentlemen" and the "typical Carolina coed."

Celler Unpopular For Rights Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Southern opponents Tuesday accused Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) of trying to railroad the civil rights bill through the House. They made clear they would not be stampeded.

Celler, who is House manager for the rights bill, aroused southern ire when he told the House Rules Committee that "we have the ammunition" to pass the bill outlawing discrimination in voting, schools, job hiring, public accommodations and other areas.

Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., told Celler he was trying to rush the measure through the House without proper consideration. "You have the emotional ammunition you think will let you shoot down the rights and privileges of others," Colmer said.

Planetarium Appoints Hall

Morehead Planetarium director A. F. Jenzano has announced the appointment of Donald S. Hall as assistant director of the Planetarium.

Since coming to the Planetarium here in 1962, Hall has been narrating Planetarium programs, developing and writing scripts for them, building planetarium displays and developing special effects for the Planetarium.

He has also been managing the Planetarium's science center, as well as coordinating the activities of the Planetarium with school teachers all over North Carolina. His planetarium work combines his interest in education and astronomy.

As assistant director, Hall will continue in these same duties while working with the director in the supervision of other staff members.

Philosophy, Procedures, Main Topics

By PETE WALES
The appointment of two faculty committees to confer with students on judicial procedures and the philosophy of Student Government has been recommended by the Faculty Council.

Mike Lawler announced the decision in a letter from Faculty Council Chairman C. P. Spruill at the Student Party banquet Saturday night.

"The committee on judicial procedures will be appointed this week," Chancellor William B. Aycock said yesterday.

It will consist of the chairman (Dr. Gordon Cleveland) and two or three members of the Faculty Committee on Student Discipline and two or three other faculty members.

The Faculty Committee on Student Discipline was responsible for the abolition of the Student-Faculty Review Board earlier this year.

Student leaders have accepted the establishment of the Faculty Review Board, but feel that many adjustments need to be made in the appeals procedure.

The new committee will have no students on it, but it is expected that students will be called before it to give opinions.

The second committee to discuss philosophical questions about the relation of Student Government to the faculty and Administration is being formed in answer to a resolution passed by Student Legislature Dec. 5.

The resolution asks that the Chancellor appoint a faculty-student ad hoc committee to draft a statement "affirming the philosophical commitment of the University community to the theory and practice of student self-government."

The resolution came from a series of Judicial Committee hearings on proposals to abolish the Student-Faculty Review Board earlier in the fall.

Many student leaders felt that the trust between Student Government and the University authorities had been broken.

The aim of the resolution is to get a clear statement of the authority delegated to Student Government by the University.

The ad hoc committee will consist of the president and vice-president of the Student Body and several other students and faculty members appointed by Chancellor Aycock.

Deadline Soon For AFROTC Enlistments

Freshmen wishing to enroll in the AFROTC program must do so before the beginning of the second semester. Lt. Col. Gordon D. Kage announced yesterday.

Col. Kage encouraged all interested students to come by Air Force headquarters in Caldwell Annex for further information. Freshmen who qualify can be accepted until the second semester begins.

The AFROTC program is a modified four year course which leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant. The program includes classes in military history, human relations and astronautics, leadership laboratories, and one summer training session. Upper class cadets receive monthly subsistence payments from the Air Force.

BULLETIN

Orange County voters joined the State in squashing the "Little Federal Plan" (3,384 against and 749 for) with all 25 precincts reporting.

Statewide figures on the redistricting measure were 212,467 against and 129,283 for, with all but 200 precincts counted in unofficial returns last night.

On the property rights issue the statewide tally was 263,174 for and 62,279 against.
