UNC's Big Left(y) Smashes Wolfpack, 79-71

The Daily Tar Keel

Offices in Graham Memorial

CHAPEL HILL, NORTH CAROLINA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1964 United Press International Service

Farmer: 'No Threat'

Gov. Sanford Hits Back At CORE-Will Back City In Racial Dispute

An Editorial

Injurious Threats

Gov. Terry Sanford made a forceful statement on the Town's racial situation yesterday, and we agree with much of it. But we cannot escape the haunting feeling that it was unnecessary and may serve only to aggravate our condition.

Certainly government cannot be conducted under coercion. Certainly James Farmer's ultimatum amounted to an intemperate threat. Certainly massive demonstrations would seem to go beyond education and conscienceprodding, and they might indeed invite violence, and therefore deserve denouncing,

But Gov. Sanford's statement serves only to legitimize Farmer's threat and to challenge CORE's stature. This in turn could easily be interpreted as a challenge to the civil rights movement itself, and now it would not be surprising to see several civil rights groups on the scene in force come February 1, instead of CORE alone. This challenge also makes it almost impossible for Farmer to temper his ultimatum,

So again we ask: Where do we go from here?

An honorable compromise is available-and at the local level, without Farmer or the Governor. All that is necessary is that Alderman Roland Giduz agree to Alderman Paul Wager's suggestion last Monday night that some target date be picked by which the new mediation committee report to the Aldermen on its success in persuading hold-out businesses to voluntarily desegregate. Also, the Aldermen could effect Alderman Adelaide Walters' motion that the Town Attorney draw up a public accommodations ordinance, so that one is ready to be voted on if the new mediation committee proves ineffective and recommends such an ordinance be passed.

Either or both of these actions would constitute evidence of the Aldermen's good faith, and we feel certain they would result in local civil rights leaders calling a moratorium on demonstrations while the committee is at work.

The honor of neither the Aldermen nor the civil rights leaders would be impugned by doing these two things, and the town could at least temporarily avoid any further disturbances.

And that would at least be a strong step in the right direction.

Frosh Win, 76-74

By JOHN MONTAGUE North Carolina's streaking Tar Babies overcame a three-point

Trustees Will Hold Special Session Here

The Executive Committee of the UNC Board of Trustees will meet here in special session Monday. The agenda of the meeting will not be released beforehand, but it is expected that recent proposals by the N. C. State Alumni will be discussed. The proposals, made public last Sunday, two days after the Executive Committee met in Raleigh, would break up the Consolidated University and make each of UNC's three branches au nomous. The next meeting of the Executive Committee was scheduled March 13. Consolidated University President William C. Friday was out of town and could not be reached for comment on the agenda of the meeting. At his news conference yesterday, Gov. Terry Sanford said he thought the name-change matter had been settled by the 1963 General Assembly. Sanford added that he hoped the matter stayed decided for a deficit in the last two minutes Wednesday night, defeating N. C. State for their 5th straight win, 76-74. And once again it was "Magician" Bobby Lewis who pulled the rabbit out of the hat and put the game in the bag. Last night he performed his best trick from the foul line.

With the Wolflets ahead, 74-71, as a result of a three-point play by their fine guard. Eddie Biedenbach. UNC's Tom Gaunlett missed a free throw, but Lewis came down with the rebound. He also came down with State's John Sellers on his back.

Only 1:48 remained as Lewis, who had 30 points for the night, hit on both shots to cut the Wolflet margin to one. An offensive foul on State gave UNC possession moments later and with 1:19 on the clock, Lewis drew another

C. product was the cool man in Southern Bell Telephone Coma hot spot. He sank the first, then the second, and Carolina led.

Ian Morrison, who had 22 points, stole the ball immediately and the Tar Babies went into a deep freeze which ended with 17 seconds left in the game-Lewis again getting fouled. He made the first, missed the second, and State grabbed the ball. But a final shot was off, Lewis rebounded and was foulded with one second left. That he missed this time mattered not

GOVERNOR TERRY SANFORD

By HUGH STEVENS

Mayor Sandy McClamroch of Chapel Hill doesn't see much of the inside of his office these

His office is located at WCHL,

Chapel Hill's only commercial radio station, which McClamroch owns. But recent developments in the Chapel Hill racial situation have kept the mayor away from the world of records and microphones. He is spending most of his time making preparations for the special committee set up this week by the Board of Aldermen in an attempt to iron out discrimination problems voluntarily.

members-two each from the Merchants Association, the Chamber of Commerce, the Ministerial

Association, and the UNC facul-

"The committee is still in the process of being formed," he said. "It will probably not be functioning for about a week, or perhaps a little longer. When we do begin operating, our goal will be to bring about the orderly breakdown of the remaining seg-

Need A Job?

Asked about the statement by ty," McClamroch said.

regation barriers."

"The committee will have eight

RALEIGH-Gov. Terry Sanford yesterday offered his complete support for Chapel Hill officials in dealing with the Town's racial problem and issued a stern warning to the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

"I am amazed that such brazen threats should be made against the Board of Aldermen of Chapel Hill," Sanford said in reference to a statement made Tuesday by James Farmer. (Farmer, national director of CORE, stated that CORE would aim it full resources at Chapel Hill if the Town was not an "open city" by Feb. 1.)

Sanford, speaking at a special press conference, said, "We can not and will not allow any group to coerce public officials no matter how meritorious they believe their cause to be.

"The town of Chapel Hill is a part of the state of North Carolina. The sovereignty of the state will not bow to threats while I am

Mayor Of Chapel Hill:

The Man In The Middle

governor, Chapel Hill, of all places, should not be made a battleground. If it is, it will be because of the irresponsible action of CORE and in spite of all the town and state officials can do."

In New York, Farmer denied his ultimatum was meant to be a threat. He said, however, that if more progress was not shown by the specified date, CORE would step up its activity in Chap-

He said that the Aldermen's establishment of a committee to seek voluntary desegregation of businesses still refusing to serve Negroes was "another stall and Farmer declined to specify what kind of activty he had in mind, but explained that CORE provide local demonstrators with whatever was needed. Local integration leaders here vesterday declined to comment on Sanford's statement.

"Because of this very progress." Sanford added, "the officials are now threatened. Because there are a few holdouts who obviously do not reflect the community attitude, Chapel Hill is to be made the center of attention. Because they might decline to pass an ordinance to the exact liking of a particular organization, the entire community is to be subjected to possible violence."

He said "It is unthinkable that government be run in this manner. After the news conference Sanford said, "The sitauation sets a bad example for the rest of the State since it sees that greater progress leads to more unreasonable demands." He indicated Chapel Hill was picked as a CORE target because its name is known around the country and its more advanced position brings greater demands. Sanford told newsmen "this is not the way of American government, and it is certainly not the way we conduct government in North Carolina."

Sanford said he had "in many ways tried to improve the opportunities of our Negro citizens and to lift the burdens of preju-

"I shall continue to do so because I believe this is right," he concluded.

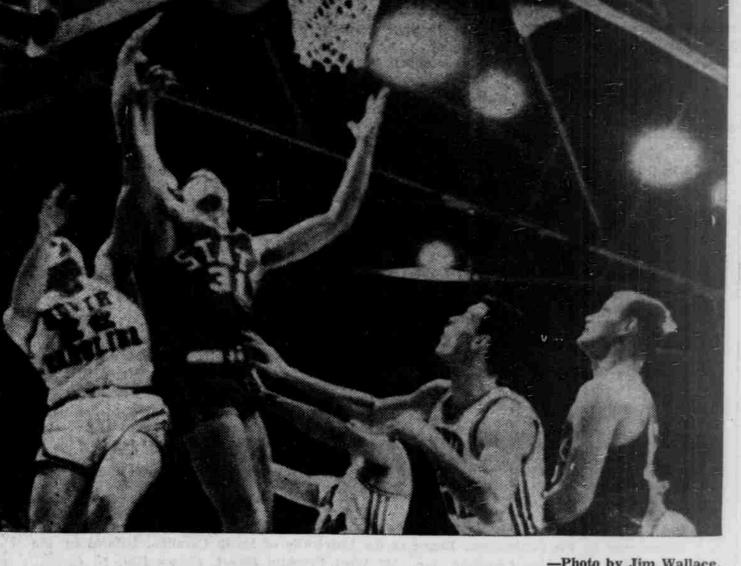

Goodbye!

King uttered his last public state-Daily Tar Heel yesterday and

The Legend of Wayne King is vast. It is hidden behind year ary. He is gone.

that Wayne is really only a few years older than those who man the staff now, no one believes that the durable beer editor is that young.

Heel for the school year 1961-62, has since been managing editor, news editor, copy editor, desk editor, Muslim editor, garbage editor and athletic supporter.

Mike Cooke Battles For Rebound With State's Hal Blondeau

First Big Four Win

for 34 minutes Wednesday night. Then The Kid delivered 14 straight lefts which put the Wolfpack on the canvas and gave UNC its first Big Four win of the season, 79-71.

Cunningham, who had been contained in the first half (three field goals) and much of the second by a box-and-one zone, exploded when UNC needed it most and into a 76-65 margin five minutes later. His 14 straight-point performance was scored as a TKO. Billy had 27 total and 16 rebounds for the game. The hated Wolfpack had bounded back from a 15-point deficit (46-31) late in the first half to trail 47-39 at the intermission, then had cut it to two with more than nine minutes remaining in the game when Larry Lakins put in a layup. But Lakins, who scored a re- night. He got 12 points and eight markable 24 points in the first rebounds in addition to the de-Billy Cunningham and Company half to keep State in the game, fensive work on the Pack's big on, and his mates could not stop Cunningham down the stretch. That was the story.

> From 60-58, Bryan McSweeney got two fouls for a four-point lead. The pack cut it even closer on a foul and a steal by Tommy Mattocks (62-61), but Mattocks' theft (out of Cuningham's hands) angered Billy, and he spurted for six straight.

Hodgdon a basket and Lakins another one, before (from 72-65) he got a layup and two free throws for the big (12 point) lead and the ball game.

Lakins, a one-man gang in the opening 20 minutes, was held to two baskets in the second half by the fine defensive job of Mc-

Bryan, promoted to a starting spot after a strong job against Maryland, was even better last

Council Hears Plagiarism, Lying Cases

UNC, winning its eighth against four defeats, was outshot by State

42 to 40 in the percentages, but there was a big rebound edge to the Tar Heels (46-34) and they had four men in double figures to Ray Respess got 16 (and 11 rebounds) and Charlie Shaffer 13

the Wolfpack's two.

Marine

for UNC.

A freshman was sentenced to two semesters probation for plagiarism and four seniors were found guilty of a lying charge in Men's Council trials Tuesday

The trials were the last ones before the exam period. The Council will try all exam cases on the World News Briefs

The freshman pleaded guilty to copying his book report. He told the Council he was under a heavy work load at the time and did not connect his action with the Honor

His professor recommended leniency and he received the probation sentence. Normally, serious Honor Code violations receive a sentence of suspension.

In the other case, four seniors were charged with lying when they wrote their laboratory reports without doing the necessary experiments. The defendants entered no plea. They said they had not intended to deceive anyone, but had turned in the reports to show they could do the calculations. The Council found them not

Campus Chest Committee Heads Named

By WAYNE KING

Committee co-chairmen have been appointed for the Campus Chest by Betty Ward and Richard Barrett, co-chairmen of the Chest.

The comimttee co-chairmen are: Louise Menefee and Mike Doctor. auction; Nannie Hussey and Jim Light, carnival; Allison Webb and Marshall Bellovin, publicity; and Vickie Smith, Archie Davis, Patsy Leffler, and Gerry Good, can-

Tom Welch is treasurer and Sylvia Shields is in charge of the office.

Over 200 committee members will be working on the drive through March. The money which has been raised will be divided between The World University Service, American Friends Service Committee, Werld Clothing Fund, the O'Berry Center in Goldsboro and Murdoch School at Butner.

dice and oppression.

By WAYNE KING

The following companies will recruit on campus the week of February 3-7. Students are urged to sign up for interviews before the beginning of the examination period.

Monday, February 3: Dow Corning Corporation; The Mead Corporation.

Tuesday, February 4: Institute of Paper Chemistry: Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company; Weyerhauser Company; York Corporation; Charleston Naval Shipyard; David Taylor Model Basin: Southern Bell Telephone Company (group meeting).

Wednesday, February 5: First Union National Bank of North Carolina; Reuben H. Donnelly Company; Bureau of the Census: Shippensburg State Once again the Washington, D. | College (college teaching);

> Thursday, February 6: Southern Bell Telephone Company; Brunswick Corporation; First National Bank of Atlanta; Commonwealth of Kentucky; Parke, Davis and Company. Friday, February 7:

Duke Power Company: Patrick Henry Branch-University of Virginia (college teaching); General Telephone Company of the Southeast; G.P.D. Labs-International Business Machines Corporation; First National City Bank of New York.

CORE's national leader, James Farmer, which promised intensified racial demonstrations if Chapel Hill is not "an open city" by Feb. 1, McClamroch replied that the ultimatum was not being considered.

"We intend to move at our own rate," he said. "I doubt that these outside interests are going to be satisfied with anything short of a public accommodations law, and I don't think that is the best thing for Chapel Hill at this McClamroch indicated that Governor Sanford's statement on the local situation would likely lessen the worries of local merchants and "add to the morale of the police.'

"A lot of people are worried about the possibility of outsiders moving in," he said. "I should think that the Governor's message will relieve some of their anxiety. Up until now, the sit-ins have not affected too many people directly, and we really don't know what to expect from this

The mayor said that the best thing Chapel Hill citizens can do is "get down to some common sense" on the matter.

"Most people in the state feel that Chapel Hill has done a good job in dealing with the racial problem. We need the respect of people throughout the statethey must realize that we have an unusual situation, but progress takes time."

McClamroch said he thinks Chapel Hill is better equipped to meet with CORE's ultimatum than most other towns.

"It is not only the attitude that prevails here," he said. "We also have an outstanding police force to handle any trouble. I think the police have done an excellent job in dealing with the recent wave of demonstrations." He admitted that he did not know whether Governor Sanford's promise to use "all his resources" to support town officials would help to modify the actions of 'outsiders.' "I hope so, though," he said. "We've been fortunate so far in that the outsiders have stayed away. I think that they are be-attitude now." Meanwhile, he said, the committee will continue its work, talking with the holdout proprietors in an attempt to resolve the complicated racial question without demonstrations or a public accommodations law.

"We're going to do our best to settle this situation," the Mayor concluded. "I know we won't have what the CORE leaders want by Feb. 1. But I am confident that the people of Chapel Hill will be able to meet the situation satisfactorily."

(And Good Riddance)

"By God, it's over" Wayne ment to the daily workers of the left them in a flood of tears, misery, uncertainty and empty beer cans as he bade farewell to the organization he has served for more than 71 years of editorial upon year of nine hour semesters. But Wayne will graduate in Janu-Although tales float around

When we came to the DTH, he was here. He has always been here, along with his famous quote, "Go to hell." King, editor of the Daily Tar

Now he is gone. And in the famous words of King himself, "That's finished, Thank God."

cuss his country's future in the DURHAM-Former South Vietfight against Communists in namese Ambassador to the United Southeast Asia. States, Tran Van Chuong, who His 8:15 p.m. address in Page last year publicly broke with his Auditorium will be open to the public without charge. Sponsors of his lecture are the Educational Affairs Committee of the Student Union and the Duke Chapter of the Collegiate Council

The threat was made in a telegram sent by the Brooklyn chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) and signed by practices, saying, "He exploits us, but he won't treat us as for the United States

CORE Threatens-This Time In N. Y.

Mme. Nhu's Dad To Speak At Duke

tion group threatened today to bring New York City to "a complete standstill" with "massive civil disobedience" unless one of ts members is released from its chairman Isiah Brunson, High Potentate Blasts Palace Rebels controversial daughter, Madame

Nhu, will speak at Duke Univer-

Chuong will speak on the background of the recent South Vietnamese revolution and will dis-

NEW YOR (UPI)-An integrasity Feb. 14.

they believe their cause to be,' ZANZIBAR (WTOB) - Abdul Ben-Terrisan, high potentate of he thundered. "The sovereignty of this na this mid-eastern country, today tion will not bow to threats while issued a terse statement blasting the actions of the 15 eunuchs who am chief potentate." The 15 eunuchs had fled the vesterday fled from the palace castle in protest of the Sheik's of Sheik Hassen Mar-Cheroot in protest of discriminatory practices on the basis of inequality. "We cannot and will not allow any group to coerce our potentates, no matter how meritorious in the state penitentiary.

The three-judge court upheld

Tex., in a 22-page unanimous de-equals in his business.' The Sheik is an exporter of registered harem girls.

Billy Sol Estes Faces 8 Years AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)-A Texas coon from Pecos, Tex., was charged specifically with swindcourt of criminal appeals today upheld the conviction of Billie Sol ling a farmer, T. J. Wilson, in a Estes on swindling charges and ammonia fertilizer tanks. ruled he must serve eight years

Estes, now living in Abilene Tex., also is under a 15-year sentence by a Federal Court on his the verdict of a jury at Tyler, conviction on fraud and conspiracy charges. The federal con-Estes, former agriculture ty- viction is under appeal.

Billy Graham: U. S. Kind To Minorities

ATLANTA (UPI) - Evangelist Billy Graham told the Georgia legislature Tuesday that the United States has been kinder toward her minorities than any other nation, but "we still have a long way to go." He indicated, however, he did not believe the answer to racial problems lav in civil rights demonstrations or legislation.