Tate Somber About Team's Weak Show

By PETE GAMMONS
DTH Sports Writer

Wake Forest Coach Bill Tate stood outside the entrance to the visitors' dressing room after the game, lackadaisically answering questions.

His great bubble had been burst as his undefeated team was stopped cold, unable to penetrate the far superior North Carolina line.

"John (Mackovic) was off in his passing . . . We never did get very good field position . . . But most of all, there's nothing much you can do against a line like they had. They shut us off outside, and used their size to smother us up the middle. We played a really good team."

When asked about Ken Willard, the personable coach said he was an excellent runner who could do everything.

Does the big halfback compare with the best in the Big Ten?

"He's as good as you'd want to find. The nearest runner he reminds me of is Bob White, the two-time All-American at Ohio State, except that he (Willard) is a little more agile."

Tate was able to retain some consolation in that Wake played much better in the second half, and as a team never let up. He thought his boys gave as good an effort as they were capable of, and that's all he could ask for.

In the Carolina dressing room UNC mentor Jim Hickey was less talkative than Tate.

"We played a good game defensively, although we weren't as good offensively in the second half."

He was pleased with the team as a whole, however, especially the defensive line. Frank Gallagher was the only lineman cited because he came through with some big plays alone in the Deacon backfield. Otherwise the tackling was usually done by two or three men so that it wasn't a day for individuals.

Eddie Kesler was cited for playing an outstanding game, which is encouraging since a good running performance by the big fullback takes a lot of pressure off Willard.

Almost in the middle of a sentence Hickey broke off and with a slight smirk said that he had heard that Michigan State had beaten Southern California. 'Nough said.

Asked about the "Beat Carolina" on the back of the Deacon jerseys, which were reminiscent of tactics used by Navy the past couple years against Army, he commented he thought it did more good for Carolina.

Summing up his comments he said "We were glad to get it, but now we have to look ahead to next week."

Next week indeed. Playing L.S.U. in Baton Rouge on Saturday night is literally like going into a den of Tigers.

Booters Open Against VPI

The UNC Soccer team meets its first test tomorrow as VPI invades Fetzer Field at 3 p.m.

The status of a couple of key starters is unknown as John Loud and Drey Murphy both have been hampered by injuries.

The starting lineup should include: Tom Roberts, goal; Park McGinty, Terry Henry and Gordie Cadwgon, fullbacks; Jim Hammer, Jim Talbot, and Danny Galves, halfbacks; and Murohy, Loud, Edwin Okoroma and Jack Writer, forwards.

If Loud and Murphy cannot play, Talbot will probably move to wing with Eddie Belmont taking his halfback post and Bill Polack replacing Loud at the inside.

Harriers Travel To USC For 1964 Season Opener

By BILL LEE
DTH Sports Writer

The UNC Cross-Country team, under the direction of Coach Joe Hilton, travel to South Carolina Monday for the season's first meet.

Hilton's harriers, defending ACC Champions, were seven and nothing last year in a highly successful season. They also took first honors in the state meet, and participated in the National Championships.

Big news to the team is the return to action of 1962 star Charlie Little of Raleigh, who stayed out of school last year. In three-mile time trials two weeks ago, Little showed good form in placing first with a time of 14:40.

Back from last year's championship squad are Art Maillett, Jerry Smith, James Meade, Worth Helms, and Charles Lefler. Smith and Maillett are this year's co-captains.

The team lost two of last year's first five men in Mike Folk and Bob Bennet by graduation. However Little is expected to capably fill one of their shoes, while any of several sophomores will pull up the other gap.

These sophs, including Eddie Daw, Drummund Bell, Trip MacPherson, and Russell Putnam, all fared well for the freshmen team last year. Year-round work has marked great improvement in each. Another soph, Charles Worley, has shown marked improvement over last year's performances.

Hilton also pointed out another sophomore, Frank Kurth, who, although having no cross-country experience, shows some possibility of being a help to the team.

Physically, the harriers are ready for USC, except for possibly Charles Lefler and Worth Helms, who are plagued with colds. Otherwise only the normal aches and pains won't keep anybody out.

Looking over the coming season Hilton pointed out that the over-all team should be stronger than last year's who were considered to be very strong. It is hard to tell in practice what the team will look like in competition and on a different course.

He added that the entire ACC will probably be stronger, naming in particular, Duke, Maryland, Virginia, and South Carolina.

This year's schedule will be the same as last year's with the addition of East Carolina College here on October 16.
