

Students To Join Textile Workers

 ested in attending the strike vote meeting.
 Schunior said transportation will be provided to the TWUA Union Hall in Greensboro where the strike vote will take place at 7 p.m.
 After the strike vote, Schunior and the students will proceed to the White Oaks Cone Plant where they will picket until 11 p.m.

The workers have entered into collective bargaining with management, Schunior said, over the following minimum demands:

FIVE PER CENT across the board wage increase with a cost of living index clause.

THREE MORE paid holidays. They now have three.

TWO WEEKS paid vacation after five years of service, and two weeks vacation with three weeks average earnings after ten years of service. They now have a one week vacation with two week's pay.

SICKNESS AND accident pay of $2.50 per week.

A PENSION plan on the basis of $1.00 a month for each year of service to be raised to $1.50 per month. A person working 20 years would then get a monthly pension of $30.

UNION REPRESENTATIVES be allowed access to plants to hear workers' grievances and a union engineer be allowed access to the plant to make time studies to determine work load.

CHECK - OFF - PAYROLL deduction of union dues on a voluntary basis.

Mrs. Schunior said that six of the seven plants struck for one day earlier this year, and that five of the six plants had more than 75 per cent participation in the strike.

Asked what benefits the workers received from the strike, Mrs. Schunior replied, "None."

DISCUSSION WAS flowing freely in Y Court yesterday about the proposed participation of UNC students in the strike of Cone Mills Textile workers against Cone Mills in the Greensboro area. This girl has been offered a bumper sticker for a quarter, a button for a nickel and all the literature she wants for free.

Mason Named Music Head

By CAROL WONSAVAGE
 DTH Staff Writer

Dr. Wilton Mason was named chairman of the UNC Music Department, succeeding the late Glen Hayden, Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson announced yesterday.

Mason who has been serving as acting chairman since Hayden died in May, 1966 is pleased with the progress of the Music Department.

"We are very excited about the prospects of the department," he said. "We have recently initiated a master of music in performance program in which about eight remarkably talented students have enrolled."

Mason said that another "quite thrilling" new program in the department this year is the series of four Artist Seminars.

"For the two we've had thus far," he continued, "we have had full houses at the recitals, lectures, and master classes. People from as far away as New Jersey have come to see these famous artists."

He added that the Department had its "biggest enrollment increase" ever this semester. "National recognition has been instrumental in influencing new students to come to our campus," he said.

Mason, a faculty member of the Department since 1949, teaches courses in folk music, music history, and directs graduate studies. He is a member of both the piano and voice faculties, and as a pianist he has appeared widely in concerts both in this country and abroad.

Mason is director of the Institute of Folk Music and is currently preparing an introductory text for folk music courses.

He has staged many premieres of operas as director of the UNC Opera Workshop. His latest, "Don Giovanni," will be presented Saturday and Sunday at 8 p.m. in Hill Music Hall. His previous operas include "The Marriage of Figaro," "Carmen," "La Traviata," "Cosi Fan Tutte" and "Tales of Hoffmann."

A UNC graduate, he received his masters degree from here in 1947, his Ph.D. in 1949 and studied at the Juilliard School of Music where he received his Artist's Diploma in 1940.

He won a Ford Foundation fellowship for study in art history in Italy in 1955-56 and was away on Kenan Research leave in the fall of 1962.

He served as adjutant at the 97th General Hospital while in the U. S. Army, 1941-1946 before joining the UNC faculty.

At UNC he has served on a number of committees including the Faculty Council, Honors Council, Committee on University Government, and others.

Mason is a Phi Beta Kappa, a member of Phi Mu Alpha, the American Musicological Society, the Society of Ethnomusicology, the N. C. Folklore Society, the Southern Appalachian Gem and Mineral Society, and the National Opera Association.

He has composed numerous songs, piano pieces, chamber music works, one opera, "Kingdom Come" and one musical comedy, "Spring for Sure", which was widely performed throughout the nation. Mason is the author of about 35 articles and book reviews printed in various periodicals.
