Jack Cobb—Mr. Basketball

dent and suffered serious injuries. Part of his left leg had to be amputated and he was a semi-invalid the rest of his life.

Cobb had wanted to go into the college athletic field and had hopes of someday becoming an athletic director. The loss of the leg killed that hope, but it didn't kill Cobb's spirit. He took a job with Leggett-Meyers and worked for 30 years with that company in the Washington-Greenville area of North Carolina. He kept his hand in sports.

He played golf well, and he coached Little League baseball teams.

Cobb continued to follow

Caroline basketball. He didn't get to attend many of the games, but he was an ardent fan.

Oldtimers will tell you that Cobb was about 30 years ahead of his time when he played basketball. He was 6-2 and a forward who could do it all.

Then last week at his home in Greenville, Hack Cobb died. He was 62 years old. Tar Heel hearts everywhere were heavy.

His memory, however, will live as long as the game is played in North Carolina. He set an example for every young man who aspires to be a player.

Who could ever forget Mr. Basketball.

Fauntleroy

From the dark, dusty corner of the Daily Tar Heel sports office, comes a brilliant, illuminating light. The Great Fauntleroy has returned.

You lucky, lucky people. Thousands of the world's most important leaders begged me, the Great Fauntleroy, to share with them my amazing knowledge. But unfortunately for them my talents are once again given to my dear friends at the Daily Tar Heel, who so badly need and desire my guidance.

After a dreary summer trying to help the Johnson Administration out of trouble, it is a pleasure to be back in Chapel Hill. I foresee a busy, but pleasant year ahead. The good Chancellor has asked me to solve the Speaker Ban problem for him, and Dean Long needs my guidance on the parking situation. But as always I will use my genius to predict the outcome of the world's greatest sporting events—especially those concerning our own Tar Heels. Please, accept my word. As my friends know, The Great Fauntleroy is never wrong. Allow me to leave you with these words.

"No other man can match my brain
Nor see the path so clear,
And Fauntleroy shall lead the way
So, friends, just never fear."

100% Guaranteed Used Cars

THE CLEANEST AND BEST USED CARS ARE FOUND AT

Triangle Volkswagen

On Chapel Hill Boulevard

Most used car dealers sell their cars with 50-50 guarantees. You know the deal: if anything goes wrong, you pay half the cost of parts and labor. And they do the same.

Well, our guarantee doesn't work that way.

When we guarantee a car, we guarantee the repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts* for 30 days or 1,000 miles. There's no charge for parts. Labor. Anything.

*engine • transmission • rear axle • front axle assemblies • brake system • electrical system

How can we do this? Easy.

We fix the things that need fixing before we give them the guarantee. These used cars, for instance. They've all passed a tough, 16-point safety and performance test. They're reconditioned and ready to roll.

A car with a 100% guarantee costs no more in the beginning. And won't drive you to the poor house in the end.
