ty. For two years he served as an historian in the U. S. Department of State in Washington, D. C.

He joined the UNC faculty in 1947. For two years he was a research associate in the UNC Institute for Research in Social Science, and in 1954-55, he was a Danforth Associate in the Danforth Foundation.

"The Governments of the Major Foreign Powers" and "Contemporary Foreign Governments" (with Herman Beukema) are his two published books. Currently he is preparing a biography of the late O. Max Gardner, former North Carolina governor.

He is a member of two professional societies, the Southern Historical Association and the American Historical Association.

His sincere interest and concern for students won for him last year a plaque given by Maverick House (Craig Residence Hall) denoting him an "outstanding professor." In that same year he was tapped into the Order of the Golden Fleece, UNC's highest and oldest honorary which recognizes men for their outstanding work and contributions to the University.

He has twice won that much-coveted Tanner Award (in 1957 and 1963) for "excellence in inspirational teaching of undergraduates" and is one of two UNC faculty members to have received it two times.

Presently a colonel in the Staff Specialist Corps of the U. S. Army Reserve, he is department head of the Army Intelligence Branch of the 3284th Army Reserve School headquarters in Durham.

dents than those we have in Odum and Victory Villages."

Dean Cathey also announced that Carr Dormitory which is currently being used to house 70 law students will be converted to a residence for women next year.

Plans to convert the lower-quad dormitories into residences for women have also been abandoned at least temporarily because of the expected high costs of converting the old buildings. Now plans are being studied to use the Winston - Connor - Alexander grouping for the women instead of the lower quad dormitories.

porary parking stickers must secure them within 48 hours after bringing their car to campus. Ineligible students must make prior arrangements.

Any student who feels he has received a red parking ticket or blue parking notice unjustly or in error must appeal within 48 hours upon receipt. The red ticket is taken to the Chief Safety Officer on the second floor of the YMCA building and the blue notice is taken to the Traffic Counselor in 02 South Building.

The red ticket is for a violation such as parking in a no-parking zone or reserved area. The blue notice covers such violations as unregistered vehicle, improper display of permit, and illegible permit.

The parking fees have remained the same with a $5 charge for cars and motorcycles except $2.50 for T stickers (car can not be parked on campus.)

The amount of staff parking stickers has been reduced from eight to two. F stickers will cover parking for faculty and administrative staff department heads, and A stickers will be issued to all other staff members.

All drivers and passengers of motorcycles this year must ride astride the vehicle facing in the direction of the forward progress of the vehicle.

"This means that women cannot ride sidesaddle," Kerner said. "When a woman rides sidesaddle, it throws the bike off balance and increases the chance of an accident." Motorcycles and motor scooters must also be operated in full accordance with the regulations applying to all motor vehicles. Each driver and each passenger is strongly urged to wear a safety helmet at all times when the vehicle is moving.

Pharmacist Gets Position

A hospital pharmacist with community pharmacy experience has been appointed director of a novel North Carolina plan designed to help recruit and train pharmacists for full or part-time service in hospitals.

Frederick M. Eckel, 27-year-old native of Philadelphia, Pa., will become director of the state project and an instructor at the School of Pharmacy effective next Monday.

His major responsibility for the next two years will be to organize and supervise what is known officially as "A Plan of Assistance for the Development and Improvement of Pharmacy Services in North Carolina Hospitals."

The project was made possible by the N. C. Hospital Education and Research Foundation and its overall direction will be vested in an Advisory Council representing the N. C. Hospital Association, the N. C. Medical Care Commission, the N. C. Society of Hospital Pharmacists, the N. C. Pharmaceutical Association, and the N. C. Board of Pharmacy.

Voter Registration Ends On Saturday

(Note: This article is reprinted from the Orientation Edition of the DTH because it is of particular interest to upperclassmen.)

This Saturday is the last day that local residents may register to vote for the Sept. 27 recreation bond election and from all appearances, most couldn't care less. New registration is a must in order to vote in the special election, regardless of previous registration.

A spot check with several precinct officers yesterday showed that in the previous two Saturdays of registration: Only 100 of an eligible 1200 voters in the Estes Hill precinct have registered, only 82 of an eligible 1266 in the Graham Memorial Precinct, and only 253 of an eligible 1400 in the South Carrboro precinct have registered.

All precinct chairmen contacted termed the turnout so far "very, very light." One lady ventured that "Most people obviously haven't read in the papers that they must re-register or either they don't care."

Registration will be held this Saturday from 9 a.m. until sunset at the precincts located within the Chapel Hill

School District.

Requirements for registration are the same as those used for regular State and municipal elections. They include living in the state for one year, within the Chapel Hill Township Precinct 30 days and persons who have not lived in a new precinct 30 days may vote in the last precinct in which they lived.

The ballot will contain the following two provisions to be decided by the voters:

—The issuance of recreational facilities bonds of up to $400,000 for "acquiring, improving and equipping lands and buying for parks, playgrounds, recreation centers and other recreation facilities" and also the levying of a tax on all property owners in the School District for payment of the principal and interest.

—The levying of an annual tax of not less than 3 but not more than 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation for providing, establishing, maintaining and operation of recreational facilities.

If the bond issue is approved, a new recreation commission will be appointed by the County Commissioners.
