

Fauntleroy

In the far-away land of Tibet there stands a huge temple that nearly rivals the Taj Mahal in grandeur. Most people assume that it is a shrine to Buddha. But to the rulers of this land the shrine stands as a lasting memorial to — The Great Fauntleroy.

A few years ago when I was on one of my more celebrated excursions, I visited the country of Tibet. At that time the king was plagued by war lords who were trying to overthrow him. Having heard of my international reputation as genius, scholar, and master of anything and everything, he requested that I help him.

Being the noble person that I am, I agreed. There was to be a great wrestling contest between the soldiers of each warlord. The King asked me to predict which soldier would win each match. Naturally I did and of course I was correct everytime. The war lords were so impressed that they put down their arms and promised to serve the king faithfully.

Today I will predict football games, which is considerably easier than picking the winner of Tibetan wrestling matches. Here they are.

Georgia Tech over Clemson — The Yellowjackets' stinger lets the hot air out of Frank Howard and the Tigers' "big orange dream."

Virginia over Duke — Bob Davis out-ivy leagues Tom Harp and the Blue Devils.

Gorgia over South Carolina — This just isn't the Gamecock's season.

N. C. State over Wake Forest — The Wolfpack is still smarting over the loss to Carolina — a massacre.

Maryland over Syracuse — The Turtle express is rolling.

UCLA over Missouri — Always bet on the best team in the nation.

Navy over the Air Force — The fly-boys drop bombs all afternoon but in the wrong places. Muhlenberg over Ursinus — Any team with a name like Ursinus deserves to lose.

All-America of the Week: Bobby Kennedy, former tag football star, who is no longer playing ball for the Johnson St. Warhawks, makes an all-out effort to start a winning team of his own.

All-American of the Week: Stokely Carmichael, of the Snick "Snooks", who has been setting the country on fire with his daring running (principally of the mouth).

Tar Heel Harriers At South Carolina

By DRUMMOND BELL
DTH Sports Writer

Carolina's sophomore - studed cross country team travells to Columbia, S. C., today to meet the Gamecocks at USC in their first dual meet of the season.

Last year the harriers ran away from the Gamecocks at Chapel Hill. With a fine nucleus of returning lettermen and an outstanding group of eager sophomores, the Tar Heels appear to be the favorite.

Coach Hilton plans to take eleven runners with him. Of these eleven, six are sophomores who have shown great improvement and desire.

Co-Captain Trip MacPherson, Mike Williams, Bill Bassett, and Fred McCall are the returning lettermen from last year and should be pushed by sophomores Steve Williams, Jim Hotelling, Truitt Goodwin, Joe Lasich, Ken Autry, and Wayne Franklin. At present, co - captain Charlie Worley is a doubtful starter because of a sprained ankle.

Coach Hilton is optimistic about his team — and for good reason.

"We ran our second time of the year last week and I was pleased with the results. The top four boys were within seven seconds of each other. Everyone looked pretty good considering the condition of the course. On the whole, we were bunched much better. However, time will tell. We know we have a good cross country team. I am relatively sure we will win our share and hope we will win them all."

Embarrassed

Frank Robinson, traded this season from the National League to the American, has proved to be an embarrassment to the Junior Circuit.

Robinson is currently leading the league in six offensive categories, including home runs, batting average and runs batted in. He should be the first triple crown winner since Mickey Mantle turned the trick in 1956.

Carolina Scores

2-1 Soccer Win

By BILL HASS
DTH Sports Writer

The Carolina soccer team, heralded as perhaps the finest in the school's history, slugged its way to a season-opening 2-1 victory over VPI yesterday at Fetzer Field.

The Tar Heels waited until 18:00 had gone by in the final quarter before scoring the winning goal. Jimmy Johnson, on a free kick, drove the ball by the sprawling goalie into the lefthand corner of the net to ice the win.

UNC scored with 6:30 gone in the first quarter when Larry Galves set up Jackie Writer with a head shot and Writer slammed the ball into the net. VPI tied the score with 10:30 elapsed in the second quarter. Stravopolus had a corner kick that set up Rick Juras' head shot past UNC goalie Bob Johnson.

Carolina controlled the game and had other chances to score, but several shots missed by a hair. The defense left a lot to be desired, though. Goalie Johnson was caught out of position twice. Once a Tech man kicked wide and the second time Terry Henry covered the goal and made a beautiful block of a kick that was headed in for a point.

Coach Marvin Allen was not pleased with the effort of his team.

"We did not play well," he said. "We shouldn't have let them score. That was a defensive mistake. Our fullbacks were caught flat-footed (on the corner kick) and didn't come out. We can't afford to do that against Navy."

Carolina takes on the always-tough Midshipmen in Annapolis Saturday, Oct. 8. Navy edged the Tar Heels in Chapel Hill last year.

One thing is for certain. The team will have to be at its best against Navy, and that means a lot of work in the next week and much improvement over Friday's game.

Upsets Due In Ball Today

Some of the Top Ten teams listed in the Associated Press for last week will face tough tests today.

Top-ranked Michigan State invades Illinois, where the Spartans have not won for seven years. But Cyril Pinder, Illinois' top back, is injured and the Spartans should win.

Second-ranked UCLA faces a stiff test with Missouri. The Tigers are always rugged and they have a good quarterback, Gary Kombrink, to send the Uclan's talented Gary Beman.

Third - ranked Alabama

meets Mississippi in a game that may be the week's best. The Rebels have not been scored on in two games. Alabama has a great team, but the fortunes of Ole Miss have been down for two years and they are due to bounce back into prominence, maybe today.

Arkansas, the seventh-ranked team, has no pushover in Texas Christian. The Frogs have a capable quarterback in P. D. Shabay plus two sophomore running backs that can fly. TCU opened against Nebraska and Ohio State and scared the pants off each one before losing by a total of 11 points.

Wins Golf

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP) Gene Hamm of Durham shot a one-over-par 73 Friday to win the 54-hole North Carolina Open Golf Championship by six strokes with a 213 total. First prize money was $500.

Another pro, Sonny George of Goldsboro, won the $350 second prize by shooting par 72 and finishing at 219. Hamp Auld of Raleigh finished a stroke behind him with a 75 Friday. He won $250.

UNC moved within field goal range at the end of the first quarter but Sandlin's attempt was short. Late in the half, Carolina moved 69 yards but the drive stalled at the Deacon's 11.

After a pass interference penalty Price threw 28 yards to Tom Cantrell, 17 yards to David, and 13 to Jacky Jackson before Sandlin missed his second field goal attempt from the 17.

Last year Tech rolled to a 38-6 victory over Clemson, and the standouts of that triumph are all back.

Quarterback Kim King ran for one touchdown and passed for another, and halfback Len Snow scored twice on runs.

Snow has scored five touchdowns so far this fall and King has hit on 29 of 48 passes for 302 yards.

Deacs Win, 14-7

Wake Forest Snaps Tar Baby Streak

By OWEN DAVIS
DTH Sports Writer

WINSTON-SALEM — The Wake Forest freshman Deacons left the UNC Tar Babies holding the collection plate yesterday with a strong second half surge to take a 14-7 victory here.

The loss halted the freshman winning streak at 11 games. The Tar Babies were without the services of halfback Seulis Zemaitis who gained over 170 yards rushing in last week's game against N. C. State.

Buzz Leaditt pushed over right tackle from one yard out to culminate the drive. Wake Forest converted the extra point and tied the score at 7-7.

Carolina was completely helpless in the second half and could not reproduce its impressive first half offensive record. The Tar Babies and the Deacons swapped punts then Wake Forest was on the march again. From its 28, to score.

Gavin began the drive with 2 passes for 27 yards and then stuck to the ground with there on. Jurewicz was the mainstay, netting 23 yards on the drive. The Deacons got a big break when Carolina's Sam Cook interfered with Don Kobos on a pass in the endzone. This gave Wake Forest a first down on the UNC one.

The Carolina line stiffened and repelled the thrusts for two downs. But Leaditt leaped through the air on the third play for the score. Soccer stylist Tom Deacon made it 14-7 to nail UNC's coffin shut. Wake Forest threatened once more late in the game when Gavin raced to the UNC 11, but a penalty stalled the effort. A 32 yard pass from Price to Maddox breathed life into the Tar Babies in the last seconds. But on the final play a pass failed in the Wake Forest endzone.

Clemson Tries Georgia Tech

ATLANTA (AP) Two of the country's most prolific football teams collide today when Clemson tries to upset ninth-ranked Georgia Tech.

Clemson scored 40 points in its opening victory over Virginia a week ago, and Tech has harvested 80 points in contests of Texas A&M and Vanderbilt.

"Old Frank Howard's got himself a real good team at Clemson," Tech Coach Bobby Dodd said. "And it looks like I've got a pretty good team here myself."

Georgia Tech hasn't lost to Clemson since 1945. Dodd's first season as head coach of the Yellow Jackets.

Last year Tech rolled to a 38-6 victory over Clemson, and the standouts of that triumph are all back.

Quarterback Kim King ran for one touchdown and passed for another, and halfback Len Snow scored twice on runs.

Snow has scored five touchdowns so far this fall and King has hit on 29 of 48 passes for 302 yards.
