Nobel Peace Prize Nixed

OSLO, NORWAY (AP) — The Nobel Peace Prize will not be awarded this year. The Norwegian Nobel Committee announced the decision today and, as usual, gave no reason for withholding the prize.

The award, amounting to about $59,315, can revert to the Nobel Prize Fund or be granted next year.

The Norwegian committee has turned the awards back to the fund on 17 occasions. Ten times the prize has been held up and awarded the following year.

The prize was established in 1901 in the will of Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite. The prize last year went to UNICEF (United Nations Children's Emergency Fund) and in 1964 was awarded to Dr. Martin Luther King, the U. S. civil rights leader.
