

Soccer Team Faces Tough Match Today

By DRUMMOND BELL
DTH Sports Writer

After a hard fought 2-1 loss to Maryland on Monday, Coach Allen's booters meet the Virginia Cavaliers on Fetzler field today at 3 o'clock.

With the loss to the Terrapins Carolina must win all of its remaining ACC games in order to have a chance of winning the championship. Maryland is undefeated in league play and may have won the crown on Monday since the Tar Heels are most likely the toughest ACC foe they will face this fall.

Johnson and Jim Hammer. Johnson, whose goal-tending has been superb this fall will be backed up by a fast and able defense consisting of left fullback Terry Henry, whose defensive experience has aided his counterparts, Jimmy Johnson and Bronson Van Wyck, both of whom were moved from forward positions.

At the halfbacks will be co-captain Jim Hammer at centerhalfback. Against Maryland Hammer played a fine game and assisted on Carolina's only goal. At left half will be sophomore Jamie Camfield, who has shown fast improvement this fall and has been a standout at his position. Allen's right halfback will be three year letterman Dan Galves, whose playmaking ability has added strength to the offense.

Against Maryland Coach Allen was pleased with the spirit of the team. "We showed good effort and everyone did their best. I was disappointed with some aspects of the game, but everybody tried."

Today Allen expects to start basically the same team he fielded at College Park. The only doubtful starter is right inside John Loud, who sustained an ankle injury in the Tar Heel's last outing.

Defensively, Carolina will be lead by co-captains Bob

At the forward positions Carolina has a potent offensive unit. Jack Writer, who scored the booter's lone goal against Maryland, will start at left forward. At left inside will be John Loud, if he is able to perform at top speed, or sophomore Landy Anderton. The right side of the forward line will consist of sophomore Jim Crane at right wing and junior Larry Heath at right inside.

The game should be a hard fought contest. Virginia supposedly does not have an outstanding squad, but for the past three years, Coach Allen's team has been pushed by the Cavaliers and today shouldn't be any different.

New Coach

Jim Bischoff, a former UNC Morehead Scholar from Havelock, N. C., has been appointed new coach of the Tar Heel lacrosse team.

Bischoff succeeds Cony Steele, who resigned in late summer to take a similar position at Ohio St. University. He played on the Carolina lacrosse team the past three years and developed into a star defensive performer.

Carolina's Offense On The Move

Carolina's Offensive Linemen Are Young, But Show Promise

As the cigarette commercial says, "It's what's up front that counts." And too often football fans are prone to forget that it is the boys up front who pave the way for running backs.

Surprisingly enough, the five interior linemen for the Tar Heels consists of four sophomores and a junior. And only two out the five were scheduled to start at the beginning of the season.

Mike Smith has moved his way into the starting lineup through sheer hard work and determination. A 230-pounder from Wheeling, W. Va., Mike originally started the season as a defensive but moved to offense when the rash of injuries took their toll. He's a solid blocker who can move fast. He'll play a lot of ball at UNC.

lot of muscle and Carolina backs can be thankful that it will be around for several more years.

Sophomore Chip Bradley from Asheville, N. C. has held down the number one center position since spring practice. The hard-hitting 215-pounder has done an outstanding job for the Tar Heels and should give the team a solid performer at the position for two more years. He's a sharp blocker and hard to move.

Coach Hickey says of these boys, "I think they're coming along real fine. They're all young but are improving each game. Experience counts a lot and they're getting plenty of it."

Hickey also commented that the injuries have left his offensive line depth rather thin, but that no serious problem was anticipated.

The five of them together weigh 1,177 pounds. That's a

The injury jinx has struck the Carolina football team again. Starting defensive and Lyn Duncan was lost for the season Wednesday when he broke his thumb in practice. He joins tackle Tom Ingle, guard Chuck Alexander, quarterback Jeff Beaver, and end Bob Powell on the injured list.

Carolina quarterbacks have completed 57 passes this season out of 101 attempts for an impressive completion percentage of .564. Danny Talbott has connected on 35 of 63, Tim Karrs on 18 of 35, and Jeff Beaver 4 of 7. Their leading receiver has been Charlie Carr with 16 receptions.

Shifty David Riggs has proved to be tough to catch on punt returns and kickoffs. The junior from Morganton, N.C. has picked up 167 yards on 11 punt returns for an average of 15.2 yards. He has also brought back 7 kickoffs for a total of 159 yards, an average of 22.7 yards a return.

Carolina's freshman soccer team demolished Duke 9-2 Wednesday for its third straight win. Played at Duke, the game was a rematch against opponents that the Tar Babies had previously defeated 3-1.

Duke took a 1-0 lead early in the game and looked as if it might offer some competition, but a goal by Mark Rash tied the score at the end of the opening period. In the second quarter the Tar Heels staged an explosive attack on the Duke goal, and the home team virtually wilted and died under the heated assault. Mark Packard hit the nets first from his halfback position, followed by Rash again, and Louis Bush, the other half of Carolina's devastating halfback duo. Duke did pick up one tally to finish the half trailing 5-2. The starting team's first-half offensive play was their best of the season so far.

Perhaps the most surprising part of the game was the outstanding second-half play of Carolina's reserves. Coaches Coles and Ross unveiled a remarkable assortment of secret weapons in Christ Carter, John Davidson, Clyde Miller, and Bill Bouie got name only those who scored. Meanwhile, Duke could not once break through for another score.

Peter Gallaudet stood goal through the first half, when Duke did manage two scores; Cri Hillner took over in the second. Gallaudet, who has now held the opposition to 3 goals in 2 1-2 games, recently drew this praise from varsity wing Jeff Perry: "Gallo (Gallaudet) is one of the finest goalies I have seen. He's never out of position. With another season's experience he could be great."

The overall play of halfbacks Packard and Bush has been outstanding in all three games this season. The position demands speed and agility on both offense and defense. These two certainly have such ability. Both are good defenders, fine passers, excellent shots. Packard leads the team in scoring with 5 goals, while Bush is tied for second with 2. As yesterday's score clearly shows, however, the team is loaded with other capable players.
