It was late at night. Lance had a test the next morning. But it was very late — time to relax. Deusy leafed through a copy of the Sporting News and Al sat at a wooden desk and sipped a Coke. "Put on a record," Lance said and soon Moon River flowed from battered speakers. Deusy put down the paper, "Who do we play this week," he asked. "Georgia," Al said. "They're good aren't they?" "Yeah, they're real good." Lance put his Psychology textbook down. "You realize we're half way through the football season," he told his roommates. "Half way through, and all we have to show for it is a two and three record." "Remember, in the beginning of the year everybody was really excited about the season," Al said. "We had Talbott back and Masino. Mazza and Wesowski were in the backfield. We had Carr and Hume to catch the passes and for once a defensive secondary which could cover passes." "Yeah," Deusy said. "Remember even Hickey thought that we'd have a good season. It was in the papers."

"Some people even talked about our chances for a bowl and the Hiesman trophy for Talbott. It all seems ridiculous looking back."

"It is ridiculous," Lance said. "We've got a two and three record and all we've got to play now are teams like Georgia, Air Force, Clemson, and Virginia. Don't imagine that we'll even come close to a five and five final record."

"Yeah," Al said, "But we've played some pretty hard teams. Take Notre Dame, now whose going to beat them? And look at all the injuries."

"Look at our coach," Deusy said. "Why can't we get rid of him? Why can't we get someone else, anyone else?"

"He beat Michigan, didn't he?" "Sure he did. And then two weeks later he loses to that great powerhouse Wake Forest."

"We were injured when they played them." Al said.

"So what? My grandmother could have beaten them."

"I don't know about you," Lance said, "But I can't wait for the basketball season."

"This football season is pretty discouraging."

"Pretty isn't the word for it."

Saturday Football Around The ACC

Duke and Georgia Tech renew a long-time football rivalry at Durham Saturday, highlighting a five-game schedule for Atlantic Conference teams. Clemson, tied with Maryland for the conference lead at mid-season, goes to Winston-Salem to face Wake Forest's tough Deacons, riding the crest of a two-game winning streak, while Maryland is host to South Carolina.

Elsewhere, third-place North Carolina State, entertains Virginia in new Carter Stadium. North Carolina's battered Tar Heels go to Athens to take on once-beaten Georgia and renew another long-standing rivalry.

Both Duke and Georgia have quarterback problems. The sixth-ranked Techmen lost starter Kim King with a broken hand in beating Tulane last week for their sixth straight. Junior Larry Good will replace him.

The Blue Devils lost Todd Orvald early in the season but have been plagued by injuries to replacement Al Woodall. Woodall isn't expected to see action Saturday and Coach Tom Harp is expected to alternate sophs Tom Edens and Larry Davis. These two carried the brunt in drills this week.

Part of the crowd at Duke stadium will be 17 members of the Blue Devils' 1942 Rose Bowl squad. A homecoming crowd of 44,000 is expected.

Maryland has had two weeks to prepare for South Carolina and three more conference opponents in succession. The Terps are 2-0 overall. South Carolina, under new Coach Paul Dietzel, has the nation's second best pass defense.

The Clemson-Wake Forest game could be the day's top battle. The Deacons are on the rise after a slow start. They haven't won three in a row since 1951. They beat North Carolina 3-0 last Saturday and South Carolina 10-6 the week before. Clemson, however, has lost to Wake Forest only nine times in 31 games.

N.C. State, 2-2 in the conference, hosts a Virginia team that has won only two games in six outings.

Booters Win 4-0

By DRUMMOND BELL

Carolina's soccer team displayed a potent offense and an aggressive defense yesterday against the Cavaliers of Virginia to coast to a 4-0 win over their hapless rivals.

Backed by a good crowd, the bootmen scored in every period and completely outclassed and outplayed the Virginians. Coach Allen's defense played one of their finest games as goalie Bob Johnson rarely used his talents against the Virginia offense.

The score of 4-0 was not really a good indication of the game. Continually, the Tar Heels fired shots toward the Cavalier net, but many just barely missed the mark. The aggressive play on the part of the Carolina halfbacks and fullbacks foiled any Virginia offensive attacks.

The booter's first goal was delivered by Jack Writer in the first period after he had taken a beautiful pass from inside left Larry Heath. For the remainder of the quarter the Tar Heels shot almost at will, but failed to connect.

Early in the second period Jack Writer evaded the Virginia right fullback in the corner and passed out in front to right inside John Loud, who blasted the ball into the left corner to give Carolina a 2-0 lead. As was the case in the first quarter, the Carolina offense and defense combined to dominate the Virginia half of the field, but repeatedly just missed their goal scoring opportunities.

After a tripping foul was called against Virginia in the third quarter, John Loud took a direct kick from twenty-five yards and skidded the ball into the lower right hand corner of the Cavalier goal for his second goal of the game.

At the beginning of the fourth quarter Coach Allen gave the Cavaliers a break by putting his bench on the field. However, no sooner had the substitutes gone in when Carolina had its fourth goal of the game.

ACC Execs Say No On USC Cager

RALEIGH (AP) — The Atlantic Coast Conference Executive Committee ruled today that South Carolina basketball player Mike Grosso is ineligible, but the issue apparently was far from settled.

South Carolina basketball Coach Frank McGuire, visibly upset and angered, said an appeal will be made "as soon as we can."

The appeal also would be handled by the three-member executive committee which acts as the conference appeal body. McGuire said the issue "is not aid or recruitment. It's another issue." He declined to elaborate.

"I would like to say more, but I would completely prejudice Mike's case," McGuire added. "We plan to do everything we can to clear this boy. This thing is directed at me and is being taken out on this boy."

McGuire said Grosso, 6-8 sophomore of Raritan, N.J., will continue to practice pending disposition of the appeal. Dr. Ralph Fadam of North Carolina State University, committee chairman, announced the decision following a closed meeting lasting nearly four hours in a motel at the Raleigh-Durham Airport.

In its action, the committee upheld a decision by ACC Commissioner Jim Weaver who had questioned Grosso's eligibility. Weaver issued a ruling in July in which he said when a student's eligibility was questioned he would be withheld from petition until the executive committee had heard the case.

Fadam told newsmen, "the commission has questioned the eligibility of Mike Grosso." He added that after reviewing the case the executive committee had to advise South Carolina that it found no basis to modify the action taken by the commissioner.

The question of Grosso's eligibility came up early this year. Duke and other ACC members had challenged Grosso's eligibility on grounds that he had failed to make the 800 score required by the ACC on the college entrance exam.

However, ACC rules were in athletic grant-in-aid and no minimum standard was stated for permission to participate in athletic.

South Carolina officials contended Grosso was not receiving scholarship aid, but paying his own way. The loophole was closed by ACC faculty chairmen when they later added "participation" to the 800 rule. No retroactive application was made to the change.

About 45 minutes later McGuire was summoned. He had learned of the decision before reaching the hearing room and was visibly upset. He told newsmen later that he almost "blew my stack" before going into the room.

In addition to Fadam, committee members are Dr. Ed Hedgepeth of the University of North Carolina and Starling Reid of Virginia.

McGuire and South Carolina officials went into a room following the committee's decision and Jones emerged several minutes later with a pencil statement.

He said, "The rules and regulations governing athletes and athletics are unbelievably complicated, restrictive and concise. Inadvertent violations occur continually throughout the United States. Many of the violations are acts which would seem completely normal and acceptable to the normal person not directly involved in athletics. We must remember, however, that the purpose of the regulations are to prevent abuses in athletics, protect individuals from abuses and exploitation, and perhaps incidentally, to keep college and university athletics budgets within bounds."

My initial venture into the forecasting field last week produced a record of 9-2 for a percentage of .818. Call it luck or whatever you care to, but I'll settle for that percentage every week. The games that tripped me up were Purdue - Michigan State and Houston - Ole Miss.

The point spreads were rather inconsistent. Southern Cal whopped Clemson by 30 points instead of 13 and Notre Dame bashed Oklahoma by 38 instead of 4. On the other hand, Georgia Tech beat Tulane by 18 (I picked 17) and Harvard beat Dartmouth by 5 (I picked 2). So they'll stay in this week.

Predictions for this week's ACC and national games:

CLEMSON AT WAKE FOREST: The Tigers have been chewed up by Alabama and Southern Cal in successive weeks. The Deacs showed me a lot last week, but not enough. Clemson by 7.

SOUTH CAROLINA AT MARYLAND: The Gamecocks gave Tennessee a tough time, but lost quarterback Mike Fair in the game. Maryland by 12.

VIRGINIA AT STATE: At last, the Wolfpack exploded and buried their frustrations. VPI stopped Bob Davis and State will, too. State by 14 for their first win in Carter Stadium.

GEORGIA TECH AT DUKE: Tech's Kim King is out, but they have a capable replacement. And they still have marvelous Lenny Snow. Duke is too beat up to do anything, much less beat the Engineers. Tech by 16.

MISSISSIPPI AT LSU: The Rebels awakened and blasted Houston last week. They seem to be in high gear now. LSU was thrashed by Florida. Always a good game. Ole Miss by 6.

ARKANSAS AT TEXAS A & M: The surprising Aggies upset Baylor last week, but Arkansas is one of the finest all-around teams in the country. Arkansas by 10.

SOUTHERN METHODIST AT TEXAS: Texas is suffering through an abnormal year and the once-lowly Mustangs may gallop right into the Cotton Bowl. Close, but SMU by 3.

MISSOURI AT NEBRASKA: The Cornhuskers have been unimpressive despite their 6-0 record. They usually come through in the clutch, though. Missouri is typically rugged. Good place for an upset. Missouri by 6.

DARTMOUTH AT YALE: A traditional battle matching two teams with 3-2 records. Dartmouth looks better, by 9.

ILLINOIS AT PURDUE: Both teams have shots at the Rose Bowl. Despite last week's debacle, I still have faith in Bob Griese. Purdue by 13.

AUBURN AT FLORIDA: Steve Spurrier should get the Gators through again, but Auburn will not roll over and play dead. Look for a close one. Florida by 7.

FLORIDA STATE AT VIRGINIA TECH: Two of the South's better independents knock heads in what should be a fierce battle. With a prayer, VPI by 1.

OKLAHOMA AT COLORADO: The Sooners may still be shell-shocked from Notre Dame, and the Buffaloes almost beat Nebraska. In another surprise, Colorado by 3.

NOTRE DAME VS. NAVY: The Philadelphia game should be another Irish romp. If Carolina and Oklahoma couldn't score on the Irish, I see no reason why Navy should. Notre Dame by 26.

Don't just sit there, Wallace Middendorp. Make a noise. Or drink Sprite, the noisy soft drink.

What did you do when Joe (Boxcar) Brkczpluj was kicked off the football team just because he flunked six out of four of his majors? What did you do, Wallace Middendorp?

And when the school newspaper's editors resigned in protest because the Chancellor wouldn't allow the publication of certain salacious portions of "Night in a Girl's Dormitory" you just sat, didn't you? You've made a mockery of your life, Wallace Middendorp! You're a vegetable.

Protest, Wallace Middendorp. Take a stand. Make a noise! Or drink Sprite, the noisy soft drink.

Open a bottle of Sprite at the next campus speak-out. Let it fizz and bubble to the masses.

Let its lusty carbonation echo through the halls of ivy. Let its tart, tingling exuberance infect the crowd with excitement.

Do these things, Wallace Middendorp. Do these things, and what big corporation is going to hire you?
