

'Fiesta' Here 28th

"Fiesta Mexicana," Javier de Leon's extravaganza of Mexican cultural history, will be presented in Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 28.

The company of 25 singers, dancers and musicians from Mexico City brings to the stage a wide slice of Mexican culture, ranging from the majesty, mystery and earthiness of ancient legends to the colorful folklore of modern Mexico.

De Leon has re-created his country's pre-Hispanic history in reproductions of the ancient plumed headdresses, fantastic masks and ornate jewelry of the Aztecs and Mayas, enhanced by artistically exotic lighting.

The Mariachi Orchestra, "Estrella de Jalisco," completes the production with the gaily of authentic folk music of Mexico.

His "Fiesta Mexicana" has been enthusiastically praised by many of the foremost critics in the international press. Student tickets (balcony seats) are now on sale for 50 cents at the information desk of Graham Memorial. Reserved seat tickets may be obtained at Danziger's for $2 and $3.

Drive To Save Italian Art Begins At Ackland Sunday

A drive will begin Sunday in North Carolina for funds to save ancient Italian art treasures from flood waters, Professor Joseph S. Sloane, Ackland Art Center director, announced Thursday.

"Damage done to priceless Italian art in recent floods in Italy is exceeding even the gloomiest predictions," said Sloane, who was recently named area chairman of the national committee to Save Italian Art.

"Prompt and massive financial assistance will be needed to restore the damaged manuscripts, buildings and other works in Italian cities," he said.

Damaged paintings in Florence include works of Giotto, Botticelli, Lippi, Maesaccio and Simoni Martini.

The Medici Chapel needs repair, and the famous "Gates of Paradise" doors of the Florence Baptistery have been torn off.

"Unless these art works can be repaired now they will be lost forever," Sloane said.

Anyone wishing to contribute before the drive formally opens Sunday may send donations to Mrs. Becky Long, N.C. Art Society, 107 E. Morgan St., Raleigh; or to Robert Brickell, N.C. Arts Council Room 245, 101 N. Person St., Raleigh.

The nationwide campaign to salvage the art works is headed by Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

Phillip Hanes of Winston-Salem, president of the North Carolina Arts Council, is urging statewide participation.

BURROING INTO HISTORY

TUTTLETOWN, Calif. (UPI) — Old timers in this Tuolumne county town say nearby Jackass Hill got its name back in the Gold Rush Era when more than 200 burros once were corralled on the hill.

Campus Briefs

Air Force Renews Grant To Brauer

The U. S. Air Force Office of Scientific Research has renewed its grant to Kenan Professor Emeritus Alfred T. Brauer, former mathematics professor at UNC.

Dr. Brauer has published 22 papers in the field of characteristic matrices. For his work, he received an award "for significant contribution to science in the South" from the Oak Ridge Institute for Nuclear Studies.

Brauer presented his newest results to the American Mathematical Society last week in Tampa, Fla. The German-born professor retired in June, 1966.

Stevens Wins Public Accounting Award

William Forest Stevens has been named to receive the Ernst and Ernst Scholarship in Public Accounting for 1966-67 here.

The award is presented annually to a senior in the UNC School of Business Administration on the basis of scholastic achievement and leadership qualities.

The 1963 graduate of Sanford Central High School is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Stevens of Broadway.

Glassman Gets $180,000 Study Grant

Dr. Edward Glassman of the Department of Biochemistry has received a federal grant of $180,000 to further the search for clues explaining the chemistry of heredity.

The research will seek to explain how different genes are turned on and off, producing specialized types of cells.

Most of the experiments of the next three years will be conducted with fruit flies because of their convenience and easy maintenance, since they reproduce three complete generations per month.

Interviews Set For Barr Program

Any students who live in the area of St. Louis, Mo., can interview for the Barr College Board Program December 28 and 29 between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The program is open to men and women students and those selected will receive training in merchandising, selling and modeling from June 26 to the end of August.

Also included in the program is a salary and commission along with a generous employee discount at the store.

The employment office where the interviews will be held is 601 Olive St., 11th floor.

Religious Group To Organize

Student Religious Liberals (SRL) will organize a chapter here Sunday night.

Jim Riley, who also organized a chapter at the University of Texas, said the group will meet at 7:30 in Roland Parker III.

The group maintains that an individual can reject the orthodoxy of "god" and "sin" and affirm the essential religious ideals of human progress, but still can search for life's evolving truths and meaningful experiences.

WHERE IGNORANCE WAS BLISS

KNOXKE, Belgium (UPI) — Belgian army engineers have removed four German World War II anti-tank mines in a wood near this popular seaside resort.

The engineers figure that hundreds of thousands of persons must have walked over the lethal weapons, each containing seven pounds of TNT, since they were buried.
