Operation Dime-A-Pak

All fraternities, sororities and dormitories which are making contributions to Operation Dime-A-Pak are asked to turn their contribution in to Charlie Mercer or Chase Saunders by Wednesday.

IT'S THAT TIME OF YEAR again. Time to catch the first thing smoking. Time for pumpkin pie and mincemeat pie. Time for squirrel hunting, Turkey hunting, too. Time for thinking about the three short weeks until the real blast begins. No matter what you do or how you go, it's time.

SP Chooses Bob Travis As Chairman

By LYTT STAMPS
DTH Staff Writer

Bob Travis, administrative assistant to Student Body President Bob Powell, was elected chairman of the Student Party Sunday night.

Travis, a history major with a 3.3 quality point average, won the chairmanship over Myles Eastwood.

Eastwood, a member of Student Legislature, was re-elected policy vice-chairman.

Other officers elected were Hurley Thompson, who was re-elected administrative vice chairman; Ann Stokes as secretary; Joyce Davis as treasurer; and Jeff Boak as sergeant at arms.

Also elected were five members of the advisory board: George Krichbaum, Don Wilson, Teddy Geffen, Pat Bolin and Ed Hockfield.

In asking for the chairmanship, Travis said an SP administration is essential next year to "carry on the work done by three SP administrations in this last decade."

Citing the SP's work in judicial reform, education reform, academic freedom, the case against the Speaker Ban and closer cooperation with the faculty and administration, Travis said, "these issues must be pushed or they will be lost."

"If the SP does not continue to control Student Government, if we do not control it completely, almost all of our hard won gains will be lost," he added.

"I am serving notice that I am fighting for the principles of this party and the continuance of programs to benefit the men and women on this campus," Travis said.

"Each of us should say tonight that we will fight in the weeks to come our personal battle that the programs, of this administration and the principals of this party will not die."

Service Calls For Needy Family Gifts

The Chapel Hill Junior Service is sponsoring a unique project — they call it "Christmas House" — and they're asking for help from UNC students.

You can bring clothes, you donate old toys, or offer your time. Here's what it involves:

Christmas House is a project in which the town's needy families are given gifts and food "in a way that will preserve the dignity of the recipients."

Students who would like to help are asked to bring used clothes, old toys, and miscellaneous gift items, such as jewelry and books, from home after Thanksgiving.

Items stacked in the dorm lobbies and sorority and fraternity houses will be picked up by the Service League on Nov. 29.

From there they'll be taken to the Christmas House, a large hall at the Roberson Street Recreation Center filled with goods and arranged much like a super market.

Thanksgiving: 'Goin' Home', 'Togetherness'

By CINDY BORDEN
DTH Staff Writer

What does Thanksgiving mean to you?

Thanksgiving is many things to many people. But nowhere in the world can you find a greater variety of definitions for the word "Thanksgiving" than on a college campus.

Mention this word to a study-snared student and strange things happen!

His eyes light up. He pauses a moment from his note-scribbling or reading. He sits back in his chair and — yes, actually smiles!

Or he may throw a shoe at you. It all depends on who you're dealing with.

The following are replies given to the question at the beginning of this story: "What does Thanksgiving mean to you?" Be prepared for anything!

"Goin' home!" (First and foremost, of course.)

"Turkey."

"My English paper will be finished!"

"Togetherness."

"Taking a real live bath!"

"Pumpkin pie."

"Sleeping 'til noon!"

"Getting away from HERE!"

"Cooking dinner for the family."

"A time of worship."

"Patriotism."

"Mama's home-made dressing."

"Studying."

"Doin' my book report."

"A time of thankfulness."

(Only one person thought of this!)

"I gotta paper due."

"Good 'n' warm things."

"Why don't you ask somebody else!"

"A blasted family reunion!"

"More mid-terms coming up."

"Northern accents!" (A Yank, no doubt.)

"I'm gettin' married!"

"OH %...&&?" (censored.)

"Seeing civilization again."

"Nothing." (That's too bad.)

"Being with my family again."

"Stuffing my face."

"Alka Seltzer!"

"Going on a diet when I get back to school."

"What the — is it supposed to mean?"

"Going huntin'."

"Getting an XKE!"

"Seeing my feller — lots!"

"I think I feel sick."

"Spending too much money."

"Recuperation!"

"Law books."

And last, but by no means least: "The Great Gobbler!"

Supreme Court To Hear Deadlocked Georgia Race

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Supreme Court set a hearing yesterday for Dec. 5 on the deadlocked Georgia Governor's election and at the same time moved to head off new legal complications until the tribunal has made a decision.

The court agreed to consider all issues. With its quick action on a state appeal, the high court opened the possibility of an early December ruling that might resolve the no-majority contest before the year ends.

The court suspended a lower court ruling that barred the legislature from choosing Georgia's next governor. Neither Republican Howard H. (Bo) Callaway nor Democrat Lester G. Maddox got a vote majority in the Nov. 8 general election because of write-ins for Ellis G. Arnall.

Atty. Gen. Arthur K. Bolton of Georgia requested the suspension or stay, of the lower court ruling until final judgment has been made by the Supreme Court. Within 85 minutes of his filing the motion, the nation's highest tribunal issued its stay order and set the hearing date.

Bolton, who is defending the legislative election method, was pleased with the rare speed of the Supreme Court in the unusual tangle.

"We are also happy they have acted to prevent any other action on the election until our appeal has been heard and a final judgment entered," Bolton said.

Suspension of the lower court ruling blocks any further attempts to force an election under the decision until the high tribunal acts. The three-judge panel in Atlanta anticipated the state's appeal and in its Thursday order granted a 10-day stay on its own motion.

The lower court has set a Nov. 25 hearing to consider how the problem of the deadlocked election should be solved. But the Supreme Court stay precludes further action by the lower court at this stage.

The order issued today fixed the hearing date of Dec. 5, a setback for the bipartisan vot-

FIESTA MEXICANA will come to Chapel Hill next Monday after appearing on the Ed Sullivan Show. The panorama of Mexico will be on TV Sunday night. The internationally acclaimed company of 30 dancers, singers and musicians will be in Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. on Nov. 28. Reserved seats in the balcony for UNC students are 50 cents; other seats are $3 and $2. The company first won fame in Mexico itself and since then has captured hearts in Paris, Madrid, Berlin, Naples, London and Tokyo. The exotic dances and rituals of pre-Hispanic Mayan and Aztec cultures evoke ancient customs almost lost in history, and the classic and popular dances of Spanish New Mexico throb with rhythms, laughter and gaiety for which the sunny land of Mexico is known.
