

Booters Choose Heath, Johnston

By DRUMMOND BELL
DTH Sports Writer
Carolina's soccer season officially ended Tuesday night with the elections of next year's captains at the annual post season dinner at the Carolina Inn.

Next year's squad will be led by Larry Heath and Jim Johnston, who will replace graduating seniors Jim Hammer and Bob Johnson.

Larry Heath hails from Long Island, New York and has been a starter for Coach Allen for the past two years. Playing right inside Heath has finished second in scoring for two years behind left wing Jack Writer.

Throughout the season he displayed great hustle and determination. Next year he will be the most experienced forward for Carolina and may well take the scoring honors.

Jim Johnston, who hails from San Jose, Costa Rica, is one of the best soccer players to come to Carolina. This year Coach Allen moved the junior to center fullback in order to strengthen the defensive unit.

His experience and knowledge of the game were invaluable. He also possessed one of the strongest and most accurate shots on the team. Because of this talent, he was given the duties of penalty shots and missed only once.

Led by these two fine players, next year could be better than the 7-2-1 record this fall. Besides Heath and Johnston, Allen will have right wing starter Jim Crane returning along with forwards Landy Anderson, Wisdom Ngambi, Rot Moyer, Jeff Perry and high scoring freshman Louis Bush.

At the halfbacks starter Jamie Camfield returns along with juniors Pefe Gilmore and John Strickland.

Defensively, the team may be stronger in this area than this year. Co-captain Jim Johnston returns with starter John Gussenhoven. Also, junior Ed Baur, who sustained an early season injury, should strengthen this unit.

Seniors Jack Writer, Dan Galves, Jim Hammer, Bob Johnson, Terry Henry, John Loud, Hal Minis, Willem Pol-

LARRY MILLER goes in for a driving layup in last night's tilt against Clemson. The big

junior was a consistent threat in the game. —DTH Photo by Mike McGowan

Tankers Open With Tigers Here Today

lak and Bronasan Van Wyck will surely be missed, but under their guidance next year's team has gained experience and next year, Carolina plays Navy and Maryland at home. Soccer has come of age at Carolina and with a few breaks and the continuing desire next fall, Carolina may well dethrone the perennial ACC and national powers.

The U.N.C. Varsity Swimming Team splashes into the 1966-67 season when it hosts Clemson and South Carolina this weekend. The Clemson Tigers will be in the home tank Friday at 4 p.m. For the past 12 years they have come up against the Dolphins without a win, losing last year 70-23. South Carolina will meet the Dolphins here Saturday at 3. They bring with them a decade of defeats at the hands of Tar Heel swimmers, the latest being last year's 69-29 loss. The Gamecocks have looked stronger in recent years, however, having benefited from a series of successful freshman teams. They are not being written off as a pushover. Coach Earey plans to divide the team and swim separate squads on Friday and Saturday. Both squads will continue a normal training schedule through their dual meet competition. Bleachers have been set up at poolside and admission to both meets is free.

Freshmen Swamp Clemson 80-52 In Season Opener

By OWEN DAVIS
DTH Sports Writer
Combining an aggressive defense with slick passing and nifty shooting, the freshman Tar Babies swamped Clemson's Baby Tigers 80-52 last night in their opening game of the year.

Carolina took an early nine point lead and slowly widened the gap until halftime when the Tar Babies held a 38-17 advantage. After that, the only question was the final score.

- UNC Leads -

(Continued From Page 1)

The Tar Heels never fell behind the Tigers during this time, but they were often tied with them and never led by more than two points.

There was a constant barrage of mistakes on the parts of both teams and there was almost more action from the foul line than from anywhere else on the court.

With 8:15 remaining in the half, Clemson's Joe Ayoob found an easy pass through the Tar Heels' defense and gave his team a 19-17 lead. But North Carolina fought back due to the impressive floorplay of Dick Grubar.

Whenever Carolina was in danger of falling behind, Grubar made key steals and weaved his way to the basket for vital layups.

The Tar Heels sat out the halftime intermission leading the Tigers by a 38-31 score.

Miller led Carolina's individual scoring with an 18 - point total. Then came Bob Lewis, 16, Dick Grubar, 15, and Rusty Clark, 14.

UNC had a well balanced attack with Jim Delaney leading the scoring parade with 18 points. Eddie Fogler followed close behind with 14 markers while Greg Whitehead pumped in 12 and Al Armour 11 to round out the double figures column.

For Clemson 6'8" Ronnie Welch threw in 19 harmless markers and George Zatzelo added 12.

The game was played by the usual opening game stakes with many slipshod passes and missed shots. Of 65 free throw attempts, 35 were missed.

Little Guard Fogler drew the fans' delight, however, with his fancy passing and twisting layups. Fogler played in the style of coach Larry Brown as he set up many baskets with quick tosses from all angles.

The Baby Tigers were exremely cold from the field, connecting on only 15 of 66 from the outside and suffered from poor teamwork.

Carolina was just the opposite. Many times good passing gave the Tar Babies easy shots under the bucket. This is reflected in the 50 percent field goal mark for UNC.

The Chapel Hill crew never trailed in the game. After opening the 3-0 lead, UNC set the pace thereafter by using a fast break to obtain a 13 point advantage after ten minutes of play. The Baby Tigers never got close again.

With a 21-point half time lead, Carolina pushed the difference to 33 with just under ten minutes left and grabbed its largest margin at 74-38 with 5:25 remaining.

Brown then completely emptied his bench and the final five minutes without any starters. For the Tar Babies Delaney played a sticky defensive game and Whitehead performed admirably under the boards by hauling in 11 rebounds against his taller opponents. Fogler turned into a crowd-pleaser with his ball-hawking defense and slick playmaking.

SPECIAL SALE REED & BARTON'S "Epicure" SALAD SET

Regular retail—$7.95
Special sale—$4.95
WENTWORTH & SLOAN
167 E. FRANKLIN

Dicken's "A CHRISTMAS CAROL" will be narrated on Sunday, Dec. 4 at 8:00 P.M. in Hill Hall by R. TV, MP professor EARL WYNN
ADMISSION FREE

M.G.M. presents Alec Guinness Gina Lollobrigida
Hotel Paradiso
Special Short, "SKATERDATER"
1, 3, 5, 7, & 9 P.M. RIALTO, DURHAM

FOOD... When You Want It, Where You Want It. Call BILL'S BARBECUE, 929-1040 For Chicken, Fish, Shrimp, Chuck-wagon Steak, Bar-B-Que Sandwiches QUICK DELIVERY—Shortorders
"We'll Bring It To Your Door"
115 N. GRAHAM ST. Call 929-1040

CONGRATULATIONS to the WINNER of the NEW HONDA 50—MRS. ED WILDE GIVEN FREE By COCA COLA and WCHL RADIO

WCHL
DRINK
Coca-Cola
1360

Mrs. Wilde, whose winning word was "greatheartedness", is shown receiving the HONDA keys from R. E. Adderson, bottle sales manager of Durham Coca-Cola Bottling Co. as Mr. Wilde and Jim Heavner of WCHL look on.

WCHL
DRINK
Coca-Cola
1360
things go better with Coke

"COKE HAS THE TASTE YOU NEVER GET TIRED OF"