Powell Considering Judgment Payment

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N. Y., was reported yesterday to be considering making a start toward paying the court judgment that has threatened him with jail and produced a challenge to his membership in Congress.

Stone said Powell is consulting with his lawyers and will start making the payments if it will lead to a resolution of his legal difficulties.

Noncompliance by Powell has led to imposition of four jail terms totaling one year and 60 days for contempt of court. Powell has avoided arrest by staying out of New York.

A California congressman, however, has announced he will seek to bar Powell from taking his seat in the coming session of congress unless he purges himself of contempt.

"We're getting all kinds of letters and calls offering help," said Stone.

While Powell basked in the Bahama Islands awaiting the outcome of his lawyers' consultations, a house subcommittee that has been looking into other aspects of his activities announced its intention to call him back for questioning.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D - Ohio said his House administration subcommittee wants an explanation from Powell of the huge travel expenses run up by the education and labor mittee, which Powell heads.

A team of auditors from the government accounting office, which has been examining the committee's travel vouchers for weeks, has reported that between Jan. 1, 1965, and last Aug. 31, Powell and members of his staff spent $19,179 on airline travel.

"The committee traveled more in the United States than any other committee," said Hays. "There are indications we will have to ask the chairman and his staff for an explanation."

Hays would not give any details of the auditors' findings, but from other sources it was learned the investigation has disclosed 156 round trips between Washington and New York City for Powell and his staff, 56 round trips to Miami, nine to Puerto Rico and three to Honolulu during the 89th Congress.

Hays said his subcommittee will invite Powell to appear before it some time this month. The subcommittee plans, to complete its investigation and report to the house before the 90th Congress convenes Jan. 10, he said.

Hays said the subcommittee also wants an explanation for "the great number of people" on the committee's payroll during the session. It totaled more than 150, he said, but not all at the same time.

Attorney General Fires Long-Time SBI Head

RALEIGH (AP) - Walter Anderson, long-time director of the North Carolina Bureau of Investigation, was fired Wednesday by State Atty. Gen. Wade Bruton, effective Jan. 7.

Bruton, who made the announcement at a special news conference, declined to give a reason except to say the change is needed for "a more effective and harmonious administration" of the bureau.

Anderson, a widely known Methodist layman and career law enforcement officer, could not be reached for comment.

Bruton confirmed last week reports that he was conducting an investigation of the SBI, an agency under his jurisdiction.

In his prepared statement, Bruton said he had requested Anderson's resignation, adding: "After a full and complete overall review and appraisal of the bureau and conferences with many of its personnel, I have reluctantly reached the conclusion that a more effective and harmonious administration of the affairs of the bureau requires a change in its executive management."

Bruton added he regretted "the necessity of this decision, but in my opinion this action is necessary for the best interests of the bureau so that it may continue as the most effective arm of law enforcement possible."

Bruton denied that the dismissal had anything to do with charges that he withheld information on a probe of the Ku Klux Klan from the chairman of the Governor's Law and Order Committee.

He also denied that the removal was tied in with unsolved civil rights cases. Bruton, in reply to questions, said he has not decided on a successor, but he wants a professional law enforcement officer. He added, "I intend to inquire around about a number of people."

Reliable sources said that 20 agents went to see Bruton Wednesday to voice support of Anderson but to no avail.

Bruton said Anderson's removal had been under consideration for some weeks. He told newsmen he had discussed the matter with Anderson, "but he did not agree to resign."

The attorney general said a letter requesting Anderson's resignation was delivered Wednesday morning. Should he fail to resign, Bruton stated, "I would have no alternative but to terminate him."

Bruton shied away from questions as to the reason for the resignation. He referred instead to his prepared statement.

Anderson, 63, formerly served as police chief at Winston-Salem and Charlotte and twice has been director of the SBI. The first was from 1946 to 1951 when he stepped down to head the North Carolina prison system.

In 1953, Anderson left the prison post to serve two years as secretary of extension work for the Methodist Church in North Carolina. In 1955 and 1956 he was enforcement director of the State Wildlife Resources Commission. He was named head of the SBI again in 1957.

Anderson attended Center Grade School in Davie county, Mocksville High School and Rutherford College. He went to Winston-Salem and became a music teacher after leaving college. At the age of 22, he joined the Winston-Salem Police Department and began his climb through the police ranks.

Anderson was appointed police chief in February, 1935, 10 years after joining the department. In October, 1942, he moved to Charlotte, where he became chief of police, a post held until April, 1946. He was then appointed SBI director.

Anderson once said "One of the biggest things I had to cope with when I took over as SBI director was the jealousy some local officers held for the SBI. Some officers were reluctant to call us in to assist them because they were jealous that we would get credit. We're after successful law enforcement cooperation and coordination. These are the key factors in strengthening law enforcement work in North Carolina."

Lengthy Leap Doesn't Deter Heroic Dog

GATE CITY, VA. (AP) - Foxy, an ordinary terrier, added quick thinking to the attributes of courage and loyalty that usually go into the making of dog heroes.

Foxy's owner, Mrs. W. Z. Robinette, 84, broke her hip when she fell on a concrete walkway in her front yard. She was unable to move and her cries for help were inaudible to her nearest neighbor, Mrs. Clara Stapleton, who lived 200 yards away.

Foxy sized up the situation and dashed into Mrs. Stapleton's front yard where he poised himself under a dinner bell suspended from a rope.

Leaping three feet in the air, he grabbed the rope in his jaws and began ringing the bell. After a half dozen cracks at the rope the disturbance finally caught Mrs. Stapleton's attention.

Following Foxy, she spotted Mrs. Robinette and summoned aid. Mrs. Robinette is recovering in the hospital.

Ironically, Mrs. Stapleton said, the rope had been tied especially high to keep Foxy from ringing the bell.
