Dennis Sanders

DTH Sports Writer

Sanders Meanders

THE NEW CAROLINA FOOTBALL COACH . . . may be Wilbur Hickey, younger brother of Jim Hickey, who resigned several weeks ago. Wilbur is listed by informed sources as a prime darkhorse candidate.

For the past 10 years, Wilbur, who has warmed the bench for City College of New York during the wireless 1952-1956 era, has taught elementary science and physical education at East Overshoe Junior High School near Creedmoor.

During that span, his touch football teams compiled a 28-72 record and won the Butler League title as conference doormat nine times.

COMING SOON IN YOUR DTH . . . are a series of articles dealing with sports of all sorts. The lineup of authors soon to appear here is impressive: Bridge by Chuck Niewierowski, Bird-Watching by Seymour Fly, Boating and Sailing by Rodney Stern, Capsizing by Mrs. Rodney Stern, and Horse Racing by Ricardo Citation.

Other illustrious columnists slated to appear in the DTH include Spectator Sporting by Jack Horner, a pungent column on Atlantic Coast Conference basketball by dapper Frankie McGuire, and American Athletic Conference Politics by the ACC Executive Committee.

Also, Lamont Cranston will pen an illuminating series on "I Left the YMCA League for the ACC: An Official's Story," and DTH Sports Editor Tread Sandwell will reveal—after receiving thousands of requests—the real story behind Chuck Erickson's secretary, who ran him out of Erickson's office a week ago.

FROM THE SPORTS BOOK SHELF . . . come several new works written by the sportsmen of the times. "Open Mouth, Insert Foot," the Frankie McGuire autobiography, will be released next week, and will be digested into a four-part series by his No. 1 fan, DTH sports writer Dennis Sanders. Also due to be released within the week are: "How We Stopped Lew Alcinder," by the Duke University basketball team; "The Bull in The China Closet," by Tulane's 7-0 center, Craige Spitzer; "I Practiced Four Years at USC" by Mike Gross; "Sports Columns Can Be Fun," by little Jack Horner; and "Building a Touch Football Powerhouse," by Wilbur Hickey.

AWARDS PILED UP THIS WEEK . . . for the DTH sports staff. The Tar Heel sports pages were named "best advertising receptacle" by Young and Rubicam Agency, and sports editor Tread Sandwell took the Sundown Gazette's "Column of the Year" plaudit for his Jim Hickey article.

ACC May Play USC Away

HINTON HEAD ISLAND, S. C. (AP) — The Atlantic Coast Conference moved to restore order to its troubled house Friday by decreeing that all league basketball games involving the University of South Carolina this season may be moved to neutral courts if mutually desired.

The action at the conference meeting followed an apology to the conference Thursday by South Carolina President Dr. Thomas Jones for statements made by basketball coach Frank McGuire regarding the ineligibility of his sophomore star, Mike Grosso.

Dr. Ralph Padum of North Carolina State, conference president, recessed Friday's meeting for 30 minutes to confer with faculty chairmen of the member schools.

When the meeting resumed, Padum announced the action. He said it was taken "because of the climate created by events of the past several months." He added that the conference was "conscious of the fact that basketball games can create an explosive situation."

The ruling allows any school that "considers it inadvisable" for its basketball team to play at South Carolina may attempt to reschedule the game on a neutral court. Should it not be possible to arrange this, the game would be cancelled by mutual consent.

Final disposition of the case apparently awaits an NCAA decision expected in January.

send the runnerup teams to its basketball tournament to the National Invitation Tournament NIT at New York in March.

In view of the possibility that the required 14-game conference schedule may not be completed by all teams under these conditions, the conference had waived the rule.

The basketball committee was instructed to arrange the seedings of the tournament at Greensboro, N. C., in March if all teams do not play the usual 14-game schedule.

Regular-season standings determine the seedings of the tournament, in which all eight teams compete. Representatives of schools present said they had no immediate knowledge of any game changes.

Eddie Cameron, Duke athletic director, said such action has been contemplated by Duke, but no decision has been made.
