TODAY
Mr. Jay Parker, a Negro, will speak on "The Negro Conservative" at 3 p.m. in Gerrard Hall. The program, sponsored by the Carolina Young Americans for Freedom, is open to the public. The Elections Board will meet at 7 tonight at Graham Memorial. All members please attend.
The Student Mental Health Committee will meet at 1 this afternoon in 205 Alumni Building.

All UNC students are invited to a Tri-Campus Social (UNC, Duke, and NCC) to be held at the Allied Arts Center, 810 Proctor Street, Durham, at 4 p.m. today. The social is sponsored by the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Durham and Chapel Hill.

The Election's Board will meet Sunday night at 7 in Roland Parker I. All members please be present.

The Bebo Bumpkin Jug Band will play in the Gallery Coffee Shop at the Wesley Foundation Sunday.

Following the 7 p.m. showing of the Sunday Cinema film, Green Pastures, in Carroll Hall, the UNC Film Forum will serve coffee and sponsor a discussion led by Paul Green, noted playwright, in 200 Carroll Hall. All interested persons are invited.

Westminster Fellowship presents "A Child is Born" by Stephen Vincent Benet in the sanctuary of the Presbyterian Church at 7 p.m. Sunday.

MONDAY
An Advent Scripture Reading will be sponsored by the Catholic Graduate Student's Association Monday at 7 p.m. in the lounge of the Presbyterian Student Building.

Is Jay Parker an Uncle Tom? The answer to this question can be found in Gerrard Hall today at 3 p.m.

Carolina's Young Americans for Freedom will present Jay Parker, a Negro, who will speak on "The Negro Conservative."

Jay Parker is from Philadelphia, and is a member of the Board of Directors of Young Americans for Freedom, a conservative organization.

The Negro conservative is associate director and announcer from the "Christian Hope Fellowship" broadcasts. He is also former Chairman of Philadelphia County YAF.

"We invited Jay Parker," said Douglas Stanton, Chairman of Carolina YAF, "to help break through the absurd myth that Conservatives are somehow anti-Negro."

"There is no denying that a small amount of conservatives are racists, just as most KKK members are in the Democratic Party. But to smear everyone because of a few is wrong."

Campus Briefs

Christmas Greetings

After having the lights stolen from their Christmas mail tree, the Tri-Deltas have still managed to retain the Christmas spirit and are sponsoring a project to send Christmas greetings to Marines serving in Vietnam.

The Tri-Deltas have been collecting unaddressed Christmas cards with eight-cent stamps which they will address and mail on December 12.

Originally they planned to keep the cards on the mail tree in the front yard, but because of the thievery the tree has been moved to the roof.

Packages of cards may still be brought to Tri-Delta until December 11, or cards may be sent individually.

If sent individually they should be mailed to the following address by December 12: To a Marine, c/o USO Division, APO, Advisory Team No. 1, San Francisco, California, 96337.

Tri-Campus Social

The second Tri-Campus Student Social, sponsored by the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Durham and Chapel Hill, will be held today from 4 p.m. until 9 p.m. at The Allied Arts Center, 810 Proctor Street, Durham.

Students desiring transportation should meet at Y-Court at 2:45 Sunday.

The social provides the chance for students from the three campuses of Chapel Hill, Duke, and North Carolina College to meet.

Host college for the December social is North Carolina College. They will provide live music.

Further information may be obtained from Ben Baker, 933-1396.

Bach Presented

Ten hours of Bach will be presented today from 1 p.m. until 11 p.m. on WUNC's Bach Spectacular.

The Bach Spectacular is part of a WUNC unique series, Composer Spectacular, that features the music of the great composers from WUNC's music library.

Mike Gray, Music Director of WUNC, says of the programs that they "feature the major works of an individual composer, usually presented in chronological order. This Sunday's December edition—Bach Spectacular—will follow the same pattern."

Requests for selections will be taken by mail or phone (933-2085).

For 1967, the program will include a Mozart Spectacular, January; a Baroque Spectacular, February; music of Czech Nationalist Composers, March; and a Haydn Spectacular, April.

Trial Lawyer Speaks

F. X. Geoghan Jr., president of the Metropolitan Trial Lawyers Association and Director of the New York Association of Trial Lawyers, will speak at the University of North Carolina Law School at 2 pm, Tuesday in 210 Manning Hall.

"Specialized Trial Advocacy" is his topic sponsored by the Student Bar Association.

A native of Brooklyn, N. Y., he graduated from Georgetown University in 1939 and received his law degree in 1947 at Fordham University. We was admitted to the New York bar in 1947.

He has been guest lecturer on Trial Tactics at Fordham Law School (1955), at St. John's Law School (1958), at Syracuse Law School (1959), at Brooklyn Law School (1959-62) and at the University of Tennessee Law School (1961).

Monday Ends Playmakers Production

Fireworks will be exploding in the Sycamore basement and the explosive antics of the merry mad Sycamore will be bursting all over their living room for the last time tomorrow night when "You Can't Take It With You," Kaufman and Hart's comedy hit, ends its run in the Playmakers Theatre.

Only seats in the aisle remain as the Playmakers enjoy their second straight sellout of the year.

The play's title refers to the sentiments of Grandpa Vanderhof, the head of the Sycamore household, who believes that everybody should relax and do whatever he wants to do, since "we can't take it with us."

Practicing what he preaches, Grandpa Vanderhof, played by Walter Spearman, is the most rugged of individualists, refusing to be concerned, for instance, with filing income tax returns.

The Sycamores have to be seen to be believed, for they are a completely uninhibited clan, manufacturing fireworks in the cellar, distributing left-wing propoganda in home-made candy, taking ballet lessons in the living room, operating printing presses and xylophones, turning plays out on a typewriter delivered by mistake, and various other unconventional hobbies, pursued for the most part simultaneously.

In the midst of all this pandemonium the normal daughter of the family, Alice, played by Lisa Sherman, falls in love with her employer's son, Tony Kirby, portrayed by Rick Dula.

When he unexpectedly drops in on the Sycamores with his dignified parents one evening, it looks like curtains for their romance, for the zany family have just reached a high point in their high jinx. But the Sycamore's antics are contagious to the Kirby's, and all ends happily.

Seats in the aisles are available for the 2:30 and 8:00 performances today and for the final performance tomorrow evening at 8:00. They are available only at the theatre box office beginning an hour and a half prior to curtain time.

The girls treated him to a shower and a shaving cream bath shortly after midnight Thursday.

Apo's Prepare Travel Board In Time For Xmas Holidays

By LAUREL SHACKELFORD

Special To The DTH
As Christmas vacation draws near, there's the usual mad rush for rides to Raleigh, Seattle, Texas, and New York. The job of finding rides and riders is a lot easier this year — thanks to the APOs, and their new travel board in Y Court.

Last spring several brothers of Alpha Phi Omega needed rides and could not find them, so they started making this new travel board, modeled after one used at NC State.

Today the board, which is fast becoming a hub of the Y Building, boasts 71 rides wanted and 41 riders wanted. Most of these are centered around the New York and North Carolina areas, but a few stretch across to California, Oregon, and then down to Texas and Florida.

Over a hundred students have used the board already and it is no wonder that it's taking on a unique personality. This comes through by glancing at the cards themselves.

One lad who's driving to Ft. Lauderdale for Christmas needs a rider — he provides beer and prefers female companionship. Other students have no preferences, but made no "provisions".

By-passers catch the sense of eagerness which surrounds the board, when they notice how many rides are leaving on December 13 and 14, even though vacation does not begin until the 17th.

APO Randy Powell is responsible for most of the work in making the board. The funds for it, which mounted close to $50, came from the brothers' dues and proceeds from other service projects.

Tom Hildebrandt, APO president, reports the fraternity is planning to launch their annual Ugly Man Contest early next semester. In the meantime they are sponsoring a used book exchange.

In addition to being the largest service fraternity in America, the APOs sponsor social functions for the brothers, as well as their service projects such as Parents' Day in the spring.
