The UNC Tar Heels, masters of the cliffhanger in their last two ball games, take on

N. C. State in Carmichael Auditorium at 8:30 tonight.

The game will be televised on Channel 11 Durham and Channel 2 Greensboro, plus a Charlotte station. The televisin the winning points. ing has caused the half-hour pushback in the starting time. The freshman game will begin at 6:30. Carolina carries an 11-1 record into tonight's game and is ranked third or fifth in the nation, depending upon which poll you read. This will be the last game for UNC before semester break. After a two and one-half week layoff, the Tar

Some people have secondguessed coach Dean Smith for using the four corner offense against Duke, but that is what won the game. UNC had a 44-33 lead when the Blue Devils cut it to 48-42. Smith, sensing that the Dukes had the momentum to catch up and go ahead, slowed the game The result was that Duke any way you can get them. Carolina got one, and it was richly deserved. State should not cause as much trouble for UNC. The Wolfpack is struggling along with a 4-7 record, playing well in spots and horribly on other occasions.

State's troubles started when seven of their best eight players graduated and another, Eddie Biedenbach, incurred a pre-season injury that will keep him out all year. The result was a new coach, Norman Sloan, left with a group of scrubs and a couple. sophomores. This outfit has beaten VMI, Tulane, Pittsburgh and South Carolina. Losses have been to Maryland twice, Wake Forest, Utah,

Southern California, Loyola of Los Angeles and Fordham. Sloan, in State's last game against Maryland, got into an argument with a referee, He had two technical fouls called on him before the referee stopped the game with 1:15 left and declared a State for-Check into it. You can find out more feit to Maryland.

The incident is cloudy and today. Or phone us. Say: "Tiger Cat no one seems to know exactly what happened or what was said. Sloan isn't talking and the referee can't be reached. The usual State lineup starts 6-7 Jerry Moore at center, 6-7 Bill Kretzer and 6-4 Bill Mavredes at forward and 6-4 Dick Braucher and 5-9 Nick Trifunovich at guard.
