

Who Should Try Cases, And How?

By BILL FINDLAY

Special to The Daily Tar Heel
The third section of the Attitudinal Survey on the Honor System deals with the court structure and trial procedure under which violations of the Honor and Campus Codes are prosecuted. Specifically, the questions are:

- WHICH TYPE of court system do you prefer:
- 1) The present structure, with separate Men's and Women's courts each having jurisdiction over both Honor and Campus Code offenses.
  - 2) One which includes a Coed Honor Court, a Men's Campus Court, and a Women's Campus Court.
  - 3) One which includes a Coed Honor Court, and a Coed Campus Court.
  - 4) Undecided
- DO YOU PREFER that court hearings be held:
- 1) In private or in public, according to the desire of the defendant.
  - 2) Always in private, with a reporter from The Daily Tar Heel under the stipulation that no names would be revealed.
  - 3) Open to any member of the academic community.
  - 4) Undecided.

Campus Codes for undergraduate men and women respectively. Infractions of dormitory rules, which are less serious than campus code violations, are tried by the Men's Residence Council Court and by Women's House Councils.

A standard criticism of the existence of separate Men's and Women's Honor Courts is that it results in a dual standard, whereby men and women receive sentences of different severities for the same violation.

This particular charge is often unfounded with respect to the Campus Code, since many Campus Code violations for women also include violations of Women's Rules, while the same infraction for a man includes no such corresponding violation.

It is true, however, that with respect to the Honor Code, the existence of separate courts implies a great likelihood of different interpretations and hence different sentences for essentially similar cases.

A solution which seems to have great merit would be the establishment of a Coed Honor Court whose jurisdiction would include all Honor Code infractions, along with separate Men's and Women's Campus Courts to try violations of the Campus Code for men and women respectively.

that it might be very awkward to conduct an efficient trial before a Coed Court. Hence, the problems created by establishing a Coed Campus Court might exceed those eliminated.

Under the student constitution, the defendant in any trial has the right to decide whether the trial shall be opened or closed to the public. If he chooses a private hearing, the participating Honor Court members and members of the Attorney General's staff are pledged to secrecy; any information revealed about the case must come from the defendant himself.

Although this arrangement is greatly appreciated by most defendants, who are almost always tried privately, it leads to many serious misconceptions about the workings of the Court. The almost universal response of those witnessing the Court in action for the first time is one of respect for its thoroughness, its concern for protecting the rights of the accused and its most sincere effort to be always fair.

Yet so few persons have this opportunity that misconceptions flourish, aided often by The Daily Tar Heel, which has been generally uncooperative in the past about sending reporters to cover hearings when requested, and somewhat irresponsible about printing letters which publicize absurdly inaccurate viewpoints.

The Student Constitution also stipulates that each defendant may select as his defense counsel any student at the university who is under the jurisdiction of the court where the case is to be heard; if the defendant does not select a defense counsel himself one is provided by the Attorney General.

Many students feel that the choice of a defense counsel should not be limited by the jurisdiction of the court; that the list of eligible persons should be expanded to include any student at UNC-CH regardless of sex or academic status, or perhaps even to include non-students such as professional lawyers.

Few good arguments have been voiced against allowing any student at UNC-CH to serve as a defense counsel, but greater opposition faces the eligibility of non-students.

First, it might not be in keeping with the non-legalistic framework of the student judiciary; second, it could make financial status an unfair advantage, and third, it is not really necessary since the right to appeal means that any case can be taken beyond the student judiciary if the defendant so desires.

Therefore, it would seem that a revision of the Student Constitution to permit non-students to serve as defense counsel could only weaken the student judiciary. The final section of the Attitudinal Survey will be analyzed by Bill Findlay, chairman of the Honor System Commission, in tomorrow's issue of the Daily Tar Heel. The section deals with feelings of personal responsibility under the existing system.

-DTH Photo by Steve Adams

IS THIS ART? Well actually it's a pile of heating ducts behind Pettigrew.

Television Viewing Today

WTVD—CHANNEL 11	7:00 Daniel Boone	1:00 French Chef
11:00 Andy of Mayberry	8:00 Ironside	1:30 TBA
11:30 Dick Van Dyke	9:00 High Chaparral	2:00 Science-Nature
12:00 Love of Life	10:00 Dean Martin	2:30 Farm Business
12:25 CBS News	11:00 Channel 11 Late News—Fred Ross	3:00 Space Challenge
12:30 Search Tomorrow	11:30 Tonight Show	3:30 Modern Teachers
12:45 Guiding Light	WUNC—CHANNEL 4	4:00 Basic Electornics
1:00 Peggy Mann Show	8:55 News	4:30 Job Instruction
1:30 As World Turns	9:00 U S History	5:00 Aspect
2:00 Hollywood Squares	9:30 Phys Science	6:00 News At Six
2:30 House Party	10:00 World History	6:15 Time for John
3:00 Another World	10:30 Mathematics	6:30 About Ceramics
3:30 Edge of Night	11:00 Alcoholics	7:00 Farmer Education
4:00 Secret Storm	11:30 Great Decisions	7:30 What's New
4:30 Bev. Hillbillies	12:00 Aspect	8:00 Great Decisions
5:00 Perry Mason	12:30 Mid-Day News	8:30 WrittenWord
6:00 Newsbeat	12:45 Time for John	9:00 Intern'l Mag
6:30 CBS Evening News		10:00 Sign Off

Campus Calendar

WEDNESDAY

Today is the last day of auditions for the UNC Glee-men. Interested persons should contact Robert Proco in Hill Hall at 933-1093. One credit hour can be earned in the Glee-men group this semester. The group meets 4-6 Mondays and 5-6 Wednesdays in 103 Hill.

A program on Lebanon will be presented by the Cosmopolitan Club for the public tonight at 5:30 in Chase.

Preservation Hall Jazz tonight at 8:00 in Memorial Hall presented by Graham Memorial. UNC students, $1.00-public $1.50 and $2.00.

Edward P. Crawley, M.D., from the University of Virginia Medical Center Dept. of Dermatology will speak on "The Hand as a Clue to Systemic Disease" at 4:00 p.m. today. The faculty is invited to hear this Dept. of Medicine Lecture in Clinic Auditorium, Memorial Hospital.

quium presents O. Bluh of Vanderbilt University speaking on "Mach as a Historian of Science" today at 4:00 p.m. in 215 Phillips.

Stray Greeks meet tonight at Brady's Restaurant at 6:15. Please bring dues.

"Cowboy Tom Mix Rides Again" in a film at the Wesley Foundation Coffee Shop tonight at 9:00 and 11:00. Everybody welcome.

All Experimental College course leaders are asked to attend a meeting at 8:00 tonight in Roland Parker II, Graham Memorial.

Debate Team will meet at 3:00 today in the Veis Club.

Today is the last day Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will hold Spring Rush at 7:30 tonight at the Chapel of the Cross. All male students are eligible and invited.

Interpersonal Bargaining" will be discussed tonight by Dr. Morton Deutsch of Columbia University at the Psychology Colloquium. The meeting is at 4:00 p.m. in 112 Davie and coffee and cookies will be served at 3:30.

The Carolina Quarterly goes on sale today for 25 cents a copy.

Seniors may order graduation announcements, personal cards and accessories today through Friday and Feb. 27-28 from 9-4 at 6-Court. Cash or check.

FOOTBALL TO FILMS

UNIVERSITY, Ala (UPI) — Movie cowboy Johnny Mac Brown of the 1930s and 1940s was a halfback on the University of Alabama football team of 1924-25 and starred on the team that defeated Washington 20-19 in the Rose Bowl.

Student Tastes Poverty

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Albert Landucci, student body president of the school of dentistry at the University of California Medical Center wasn't fazed a bit by sleeping on the floor of a tumbledown Mexican orphanage.

Landucci, who worked in Celaya, Central Mexico, last summer as an unpaid volunteer, was a member of Amigos Anonimous, a group which has established many self-help projects in Mexico in the past six summers.

The fifth year orthodontic student and two volunteer nurses examined and cleaned the teeth of some 1,000 children, most of whom had never seen a dentist before.

"The kids were a little shy at first, but the novelty of having a strange gringo poking around inside their mouths seemed to tickle a lot of them," Landucci said.

He saw thousands of cavities, but only two fillings.

The nurses applied cavity-preventive fluoride directly to the youngsters teeth and trained Mexican nurses in the same technique.

DAILY CROSSWORD

- ACROSS
1. Shale
  5. Fashion
  9. Soon
  10. Across
  11. Pelt
  12. Diminishes, as the moon
  14. By
  15. Twins
  17. Compass point
  18. Apportion
  20. Shear again
  23. Epochs
  24. Club's rules
  25. Shoshonean
  27. Lamprey
  28. Russian labor associations
  31. Seaweed
  34. Bean
  35. Indian peasant
  36. Entire
  37. Exclamation
  39. "profundis"
  40. Slant
  43. Sets of nested boxes
  45. Elite tributary
  46. Barge
  47. Colors
  48. Observed
- DOWN
1. Terrier or cat, for instance

ACHEID PRIMA
VOLLE RICER
ELLA BOGOTA
NOT PATINIAS
TM ALRID
IBAS RI BIAH
NIGHTINGALE
EAT OS ANTL
DITTY EEM
DEPILLED BNS
OPENER BEAM
PIETER BUIJGE
PIETER RIJSEN

Yesterday's Answer

41. End of anchor bill
42. Bitter vetch
44. Spawn of fish

FEB. 23

The DTH

Will Be 75 Years Old

Don't Miss Our Big ANNIVERSARY ISSUE

Astronomers, salesmen, designers, programmers, chemists, psychologists, writers, sociologists, economists, metallurgists, artists, accountants, physicists, mathematicians, etc, etc, etc.

That's what General Electric is made of.

General Electric is made up of a lot more than just engineers — because it takes a lot more than engineers to tackle the problems we deal with. Like helping to unsmarl traffic jams in our cities, fighting air pollution or finding new ways to provide power for underdeveloped nations. It takes sociologists, meteorologists, astronomers, writers — in fact, it takes people with just about every kind of training. But, more than any of this, it takes people with nerve, gumption, intellectual curiosity — people who care about what happens to the world. So it's not only your major we're interested in. It's you. Why not see our interviewer when he comes to campus and find out whether you're the kind of person General Electric is made of.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
An equal opportunity employer

PEANUTS

1. "WON'T BE LONG, KID, I'M JUST GOIN' TO—" (Snoopy)

2. "—HEY! FLO! YER'VE GOT A COUPLE OF GREY HAIRS THERE — SHALL I PULL THEM OUT?" (Woodstock)

3. "I DON'T SEE WHY NOT — YOU PUT THEM IN!" (Snoopy)

4. "WHY DON'T YOU AVE A NICE LITTLE LIE DOWN, PET?" (Snoopy)