

Chi Psi Stomps Sig Ep, 62-37

By BOB COLEMAN
of The Daily Tar Heel Staff

Sigma Nu Blue upended DU Blue, 37-27, in intramural basketball playoffs Monday. M. Higgins hit 20 points, while DU's top man, Bennett, could only muster 9.

Bode tallied 20 and Chi Psi Blue romped over Sig Ep Blue, 62-37. John Kausen and Fletcher Willey each got 14 for the losers.

Pi Kap Phi Blue got 17 points from Bill Romm and edged Beta Blue, 41-38. Chris Hartle hit 15 in defeat.

DKE White was a big winner in fraternity white play with a smashing 80-13 rout of the TEP Mops. Holderness (22), Dawson (22) and Klutz (21) battled each other for high scoring honors.

Phi Kap Sig White outfought Pi Kap Phi White I behind Bill Shivar (21) and Ed Lackey (14), 54-35. Earl Jenkins led the losers with 14.

John Yelverton's 13 points paced Chi Psi White over the Chi Phi Go Team, 45-28. Van Denning dumped in 18 and Don Johnson added 11 to lead ATO White I over Sigma Nu White, 43-32.

Jon Radford had 11 in Pi Kap Phi White II's 39-29 victory over the Pi Lamb

Tornadoes.

Dental II Blue, favorites to reach the graduate league finals, blasted Village Red, 60-28. Garrison got 20, Stone 16, and Denton notched 14.

The Independent Town Bums gave up 30 points to E. Harrington, but used balance to ease by the Independent Stumps, 48-44. Mike Correll (12), James Hutchins (10) and George Womor (10) did most of the scoring.

Law IV White trounced Village White, 59-36. Outlaw struck for 15 and Voorhees and Tomlinson pitched in 13 apiece, while the loser's S. Settemyer was high with 16.

Med School I Blue beat History with 14 Barham points, 42-31. Law Burglers dumped Med School White, 38-30. Jim Brown for the winners and the losers, Subir Roy each sank 10 points.

The English Bards parlayed Hobson's 19 points to a 51-43 triumph over the Law III Barons and Lytch (17).

Dennis Lohr's II points loomed large in Biochemistry's 37-34 victory over Public Health II.

When it was still cold outside in the daytime (day before yesterday) keeping bottles of beer in your window made sense. But does it now? Somebody thought so, anyhow.

Hospital Receives Award

The National Foundation-March of Dimes has awarded

$29,885 to the Department of Pediatrics at Memorial Hospital to continue the Birth Defects Treatment Center for another year.

The first grant to establish the center was made in late 1962. Since that time, 129 children have been accepted for diagnostic evaluation. Patients are selected by a team after a preliminary evaluation. Some birth defects only need observation while the child grows and develops. Most defects are obvious others become evident as the child grows up.

Evaluation and care at the center is provided by a team consisting of pediatricians, orthopedic surgeons, a social worker, a physical therapist and a medical secretary.

Hardre's lecture titles are "Albert Camus and the Theater," "Surrealism in French Literature," "De Gaulle, the Statesman and the Writer," and "The Cultural Program of the Fifth Republic."

Heart Institute Gives

$26,850 Grant

The National Heart Institute has awarded about $26,850 to UNC to continue the improvement of undergraduate teaching in the area of heart and blood vessel disease.

The project director is Dr. Ernest Craige, cardiologist at the UNC School of Medicine and N.C. Memorial Hospital.

The hospital's cardiac catheterization laboratory is partially supported by the grant and new apparatus to study heart sounds has been purchased.

Morehead Offers

Adult Education

Beginning this month, the Morehead Planetarium at the University of North Carolina here will again offer its popular adult education course "Introduction to Astronomy." According to John A. Zunes, Educational Supervisor at the Morehead Planetarium, "Introduction to Astronomy" is a hobby course open to any adult, and requires no previous knowledge to the subject.

The course is designed to provide the "backyard astronomer" with practical information to add to his enjoyment of the night sky, and to assist the layman desiring a better understanding of the nature of the universe.

The non-credit course meets in the Morehead Planetarium from 7:15 to 9:30 p.m. for eight consecutive Thursdays, beginning March 21. The first forty-five minutes will be spent in the Planetarium Chamber, where the Zeiss Sky Projector or will be used to learn constellations, and study motions of the earth, sun, moon and planets.

After a 15 minute break, the class will resume in a classroom in the building for an hour and fifteen minute session on the nature of celestial bodies. In addition, an outdoor viewing session using telescopes is planned, Zunes announced.

Registration for the course may be made by sending your name and address to the Morehead Planetarium. Please include the $17.50 fee payable to the Morehead Planetarium to cover the complete cost of the course including the text and materials furnished each participant.

Large Turnout At Manly Vote

Next year's officers for Manly Dormitory were elected yesterday after an unusually large voter turnout of 85 per cent.

Stuart Todd was chosen president and Jeff Noblett was elected vice president. A three tie for secretary-treasurer was reached between Doug Robinson, Raleigh Putnam and Danny Collins.

A runoff for the secretary-treasurer position will be held Friday.

Authorities To Expound On America In Changing World

Six authorities on domestic and world affairs will take an all-day look at America's response to rapid world change here on Thursday, March 14 at the 18th annual North Carolina Conference on World Affairs.

The conference will be conducted in Memorial Hall on the Carolina campus.

Dr. Moya Freymann, director of the UNC Population Center, will deliver the opening address at 10 a.m. His topic will be "Population Problems and Food Supply."

The second of the four morning speakers will be Miss Marcella Martinez, attache, Permanent Mission of Jamaica to the United Nations, who will discuss "Human Rights."

Following Miss Martinez will be Mrs. David Bradley, chairman of the foreign policy committee of the League of Women Voters in the United States. Mrs. Bradley's topic will be "International Trade."

The final address of the morning will focus on "Economic, Military and Technical Aid," and will be delivered by Dr. Karl Mathiason, III, University of North Africa Association.

A 12:20 luncheon at the Carolina Inn Ballroom will divide the morning and afternoon sessions and will be concluded by remarks from Dr. Zygmunt Nagorski of the Foreign Policy Association.

Speakers during the afternoon session will seek to summarize addresses made by the morning speakers.

UNC Student Stores Give Away Packages

Packages containing sampled toiletries were distributed free of charge today to students passing through Y Court.

Students and faculty members were asked to fill out a card requesting the recipients name, class, and home and campus addresses.

The service was provided by the Student Stores, according to Thomas Shetley, Manager.

The stores agreed to distribute the package in connection with the Guest-Pak Company of New York.

According to Shetley, the Guest-Pak Company is a market research company. They will use the cards only for the purpose of sending questionnaires to the consumers to learn whether or not they are still using the products introduced in the packages, he indicated.

The questionnaires will be sent in about a year, Shetley estimated.

"It gives our management an excellent chance to meet people and to let them meet us. It's pretty fair public relations," he explained.

Many of the students were reluctant either to sign the cards or to accept the packages before they knew their contents, he said.

Shetley said that he had received about 10,000 packages, and of these approximately 7500 were distributed by noon yesterday—most of them to boys. There is a good chance they will be distributed again today, he indicated.
