Tar Heels Meet Deacons In Opener

Benches will be back on campus as "soon as we get some good weather, that looks like it's going to stay," according to Walter W. Hamilton of the Physical Plant. The benches were removed over the winter for repairs.

Meal Plan Approved

Book System Gives 10% Discount

By RICK GRAY

A discount plan for the University Dining Halls has been approved by the administration.

The plan is a meal book system whereby students purchase meal books in five and ten dollar denominations for $4.50 or $9.00, a ten percent discount. The books will be redeemable at any University Dining Hall—Lenoir, Chase, the Pine Room or the Monogram Room.

Director of Dining Halls George A. Prillaman said of the plan, "I think it's something really great. It has flexibility, and the books are redeemable at any dining hall on campus."

In addition to being redeemable in any dining hall the books will be negotiable and will have no expiration date. However they will be good only for food, according to acting University Business Manager J.A. Williams. Students will not be able to purchase candy, cigarettes or other items, and the books will not be redeemable for cash at the end of the year.

The plan will go into effect as soon as possible but it will be on an experimental basis for the remainder of this semester.

The main object of the program is to lower prices in the University dining halls by increasing the volume of business. Lenoir Hall is capable of serving 12,000 meals per day and is currently serving 8,000. Chase Cafeteria has a daily capacity of 9,000 meals per day but is serving only 2,000.

Prillaman said that the plan would be considered next year only if it was successful for the remainder of this semester. The administration will review the progress of the meal book plan at the end of this semester and will then make a decision as to whether it will be continued next semester.

The plan was put into effect through the joint efforts of Prillaman, Student Body President Bob Travis and Williams.

Travis proposed the plan to Prillaman about a year ago, and since then he and Prillaman have been working together to put the plan into effect.

"I think that this plan will very definitely help the situation," Travis said. "Student Government will do anything it can to make the plan successful, either by selling the meal books or by publicizing the plan."

Student Legislator George Krichbaum who worked with Travis and Prillaman said "I hope there is good response to the plan. It is one way that the students can save a little bit of money."

Prillaman said that the plan would reduce prices in the dining halls by ten per cent. The ten per cent reduction will lower the price of the student special from 70 cents to 63 cents.

Club To Open McCarthy Group

By MARY BURCH

The Chapel Hill Center of the North Carolina Citizens for McCarthy is sponsoring a series of informal meetings supporting Senator Eugene McCarthy's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The Citizens for McCarthy center in Chapel Hill has been in operation about six weeks. It is manned by townspeople in conjunction with the UNC Volunteers for McCarthy, which has been in operation three months.

The movement has an active support of about 100 students and 200 townspeople. "We have three main goals," said Richard Bolinski at the Franklin-Columbia Streets office. "We want to raise support for McCarthy, raise funds to further the campaign and encourage other groups to open centers."

The funds raised by the Chapel Hill group totaled $1500 three weeks ago. The latest total will be out soon.

A new campaign office is expected to open in a few weeks on Hillsboro Street in Raleigh.

Centers in Durham, Winston-Salem, Greensboro and Charlotte are expected to be in operation in the near future.

"We plan to hold five or six weekly informal meetings at the homes of townspeople, possibly with national speakers, to familiarize the students and other interested people with the issues in the campaign and McCarthy's position," said Mr. Bochinski.

Morning meetings from 10:30 to 12 and evening meetings from 8 to 10 are scheduled this Thursday and Friday. Thursday morning Dr. Alden Lind will speak at Mrs. Isaac Taylor's home on Morgan Creek Road.

Thursday evening Jack Lasley will speak at Mrs. Robert Edmond's home, 511 Church St., and Dr. Daniel Young will speak at Mrs. Richard Glasser's home on Morgan Creek Road.

Friday morning Dr. Daniel Okun will speak at Mrs. John Gulick's home, 1029 Highland Woods, and Dr. Joseph Straley will be at Mrs. Raymond Adams' home at Patterson Place.

All students are welcome.

Book Ex May Expand Line

By TODD COHEN

A subcommittee composed of two students and one faculty member to approve merchandise sold in the Book Exchange was set up yesterday by the Student Stores Committee.

The subcommittee will examine a list of proposed items for sale submitted by Thomas Shetley, Manager of the Student Stores, before making its recommendations to the committee.

Shetley says he knows "generally" what he wants to add to his inventory, but will conduct a survey of other student stores throughout the nation in general and the south in particular to determine what kinds of merchandise are being sold.

Some specific additions Shetley wants are records, photography equipment, an increase in the line of and more attractive display of collegiate jewelry, and a limited amount of sporting goods equipment.

Shetley hopes to start making orders for next year within the next month.

He hopes to move into the new book ex, now under construction, by August.

The members of the new subcommittee are junior Ken Day, sophomore Harry Diefenthal, and Professor Clarence H. McGregor of the School of Business Administration, all members of the regular committee.

The consensus of the committee was that a subcommittee should be set up which would look into and attempt to recommend University policy on items sold in the Book Ex.

for almost anything, actually," he said Wednesday "but we have spent some special time practicing against a delay game."

North Carolina has been the winner in the two previous games with Wake Forest 74-62 in Winston-Salem and 80-60 in Chapel Hill.

The Tar Heels, although favored to meet and beat Duke in the Saturday night finals have not fared as well lately. Those two consecutive losses have created some doubters, in fact.

Smith, however, says "all of that is behind us." "The team is ready to play good basketball," he says. "It could be that after we clinched the regular season title against Virginia the boys began to look ahead a little bit to the tournament. This has been our goal all year."

Smith considers Wake Forest no soft touch, pointing to the Deacons' win over State, and the fact that, as a Big Four rival, they will always be tough.

Coach Jack McCloskey's top scorer and rebounder comes in a rugged 6-3, 205 pound sophomore package called Dickie Walker.

He's averaging 17.5 points and 6.2 rebounds per game.

Guards Jerry Montgomery, a 6-0 junior and Norwood Toddman, a 6-3 sophomore, are each averaging 13.2 points an outing.

Still another soph, 6-7 Larry Habegger who scored at a 5.9 ppg pace, joins Walker at forward and the center is 6-8 first year man Dan Ackley.

McCloskey, who masterminded a 63-61 double overtime upset of Clemson in last year's tournament, is high in his praise of Carolina.

"They are real powerful," he says. "They have good height, excellent speed, play aggressive defense and have a fine bench."

The Tar Heels will again go with 6-4 All-American Larry Miller (22.6), 6-3 All-ACC performer Charlie Scott (18.0), 6-11 rebounding leader Rusty Clark (16.1), 6-9 defensive ace Bill Bunting (8.4) and 6-4 playmaker Dick Grubar (7.3).

Also likely to see action is number one reserve Joe Brown, who, when in for Miller gives Carolina an all junior lineup, and sophomore Eddie Fogler.

If UNC wins it will likely meet South Carolina in the semi-finals, since the Gamecocks are favored over Virginia.

Investigation Seeks Increased Security

By TERRY GINGRAS

of The Daily Tar Heel Staff

The Women's Residence Council and the University administration are both considering measures to increase dorm security following the intrusions at Winston and Cobb dormitories Monday night.

The WRC established an emergency committee to investigate the security of women's residences. The committee, to be made up of representatives from each dorm, will begin an immediate investigation of weak spots in dorm security.

Edna Turner, head of the committee said she would ask Captain E. Bynum Riggsbee, head of the Campus police, and to point out unsafe areas in dorms and sorority house.

The administration is planning a meeting today to discuss solutions to the problems of dorm security, according to University business manager J. A. Williams.

The meeting will be attended by Williams, Dean of Student Affairs C. O. Cathey, Dean of Women Katherine K.K. Carmichael, and Captain Riggsbee.

According to Williams, the chief proposals to be considered are increasing the number of campus police, adding lights to presently unlighted areas and suspecting the dorms. Cathey said he didn't think an increase in the police patrols was absolutely necessary.

"A policeman was there three minutes after that incident at Cobb," said Cathey. "You couldn't get there any faster if you had a watchman on the other side of the building."

Captain Riggsbee said he would like to have one more policeman on duty for each eight hour shift to increase dorm security.

Williams said he has been conducting a study of the lighting on campus to determine areas that are unsafe.

"We are going to make a map from this study showing all the paths and the location of lights at the present time to see which areas are dark," said Williams.

Williams said night watchmen would not be added to the dorms because the cost would be prohibitive.

Walter Hamilton, head of the University Physical Plants Division, said Cobb and Winston, the two dorms that were entered Monday night had been inspected.

A lock on the mechanical equipment room in Cobb was changed. It is though the prowler entered a window in this room and opened the door to enter the hall. The lock has been changed so it can't be opened from the inside without a key.

The administration will also consider the installation of special screening in all women's dorms, according to Williams.

At the present time, two campus policeman patrol the girls' dorms. They are part of a four-man team that works eight hour shifts — from 3:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m., 11:30 p.m. to 7:30 a.m.

The patrollers are required to check in at time clocks five times each shift.

The clocks are located at Spencer, Kenan, the Monogram Club, Cobb, Winston.

Two new clocks have been added since the Cobb and Winston were entered by prowlers.

In addition to the two policeman on patrol, there is one on campus in a police radio car. The Chapel Hill police also have a car which patrols the dorms once an hour. All patrollers are equipped with walkie-talkies.

Heather Ness, Assistant Den of Women said she was glad the girls were concerned about dorm security and were doing something about it.

Heels Leave At 10 A.M.

The Basketball Team will leave from Carmichael Auditorium at 10:00 a.m. today for the ACC Tournament in Charlotte tonight.

According to Ray Smith, head cheerleader, there is no pep rally scheduled, but Smith said, "When we win, we will have one before the Eastern Regionals."

Prowler Hits During Daylight

A masked man leapt at a coed from the bushes near Cobb dormitory Wednesday afternoon... the second such incident at Cobb this week.

The man was seen at 5:30 p.m. hiding in the bushes near a private girl's entrance to Cobb facing the Monogram Club.

According to Mrs. Robert O. Forrest, housemother of West Cobb, the girl was about to enter the dorm when the man jumped at her.

She had her hand on the door handle, when she heard this rustling in the bushes," said Mrs. Forrest. "She turned and this man made a grabbing motion at her."

Mrs. Forrest said the girl got a very good look at the man. He is described as a white male, 25 years of age, wearing a green sweatshirt and a pair of tan pants. The man had a white handkerchief over his face.

Mrs. Forrest said police are fairly sure this is the same man who entered the dorm Monday night.

Morehead Picks 104 Recipients

By NANCY STANCILL

of The Daily Tar Heel Staff

A record number of 104 high school students have been designated winners of the 1968 Morehead Award.

Among these students is Harold Leroy Cushmanberry, Jr. of Henderson, who is the first Negro winner of the Award. Cushmanberry is a student at The Taft School in Watertown Connecticut.

Hugh G. Chatham of Elkins chairman of the Board of Trustees, has also announced that the trustees have voted an increase in the amount of the Award. The Award is now worth $2,000 a year for the state scholar, plus an additional $25 tuition differential for each out-of-state student.

This increase brings the total four-year value of the Morehead Award to $8,000 for the North Carolina student, and $10,100 for the out-of-state student.

The total value is set to cover the cost of tuition, board, room, books, laundry, and all fees plus $50 a month spending money.

A unique feature of the Morehead Award is the fact that it is based entirely on scholarship and leadership rather than need. To keep his Award, the student must only meet the minimum grading requirements of the university.

There are presently 234 undergraduate and 18 graduate students participating in the Morehead program.

Roy Armstrong, executive director at UNC, said, "It is the hope of the trustees that each boy accepts the Award and enters the class of 1968. From their factual records, each student indicates exceptional scholarship and leadership, and should be a valuable addition to the University."

Thirteen student organizations have yet to submit reports to the Student Legislature Ways and Means and Rules Committees.

These organizations had their funds frozen Feb. 22 for failure to submit reports of expenditures and activities.

Following is the list of organizations delinquent in filing reports:

Tar Heel Rugby Club, Department of Educational Affairs, VIGAH, Special Committee on General College Reform, Two coeds on the trip with Dean Carmichael, The Toronto Exchange.

Also, Student Advisory Commission Carolina Forum, Campus Affairs Committee, State Affairs Committee, Consolidated University Committee, Student Co-Op Committee, and Men's Residence Council.

Nixon Calls For Abolition Of Draft

LITTLETON, N. H. — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon called Wednesday for abolition of the draft and creation of a professional army after the Vietnam war is ended.

Nixon said the nation's young people should "be able to plan their lives rather than living as they are today with the draft hanging over them."

"Once we end this war, we can remove from hanging over our young people the draft," Nixon said.

Gardner Doesn't Control Party

CHARLOTTE — Jack Stickley's campaign manager, Marcus Hickman, said Wednesday the reason Jim Gardner endorsed Jim Holshouser for State Republican Party Chairman was that he didn't have the votes to take over the party.

Hickman said the convention which ended last weekend in Raleigh was a "signal victory for Mr. Stickley" who is opposing Gardner in the May primary for the nomination for governor.

Sources close to Gardner said the Rocky Mount congressman's earlier strategy had been to take over the leadership of the party. This reportedly was the advice of a now defunct group of political advisers from Alabama.

Two Americans Killed In Crash

POINTE-A-PITRE, Guadeloupe — Two Americans, including the wife of construction magnate William Zeckendorf, were identified Wednesday as among the 63 persons killed when an Air France jetliner crashed into a mountain only 90 seconds from a safe landing. An Air France jet hit the same mountain six years ago.

Investigators looking for clues into the Tuesday night disaster ruled out weather as a factor. Skies were clear when the big Boeing 707 hit 4,000-foot St. Claude Mountain, and the pilot had given no hint of trouble.
