All-Black City Planned For N.C.

WASHINGTON UPI) Plans for a new black-built, black-owned town in rural Warren County, N.C.-as an alternative to life in big city ghettoes-were announced Monday by Negro leader Floyd B. McKissick.

McKissick formally announced proposed creation of the town, to be called Soul City, at a joint news conference with agriculture secretary Orville L. Freeman. Freeman promised "complete support" from his department in planning and developing the town.

The blueprint calls for building Soul City to a population of about 18,000 in gradual steps over a 10-year period, McKissick said. He said the new town's planners also hoped to train others who might sponsor similar projects in other impoverished areas.

McKissick, former head of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), said the planned town would be developed by his New York firm, Floyd B. McKissick Enterprises Inc.

McKissick said the firm recently took an option on an
