

Heels dominate own meet; fare well in Washington

by Mark Whicker
Sports Writer

As several top Tar Heel trackmen journeyed to Washington this weekend to compete in the CYO meet, the rest of the team more than held their own in an unofficial meet against State in the Tin Can Saturday afternoon.

The Tar Heels swept four events, and placed first in the high jump.

John Jessup represented UNC well in Washington, taking third place in the shot put with a heave of 55 feet. Maryland's John Hanley was the winner.

The mile relay team of Hank

Snowden, Hubert West, Bill Weber and Don Wheless turned in a time of 3:25.4, not good enough to place. Wheelless stole the show with a sizzling anchor leg of 49.3.

Tony Waldrop's anchor leg of 1:53.9 sparked the two-mile relay team. Clay Lynch, Mike Caldwell and Larry Widgeon joined him for an overall time of 7:57.

"Waldrop's time was very respectable, considering the competition at the Washington meet," said assistant coach Boyd Newman.

Back in Chapel Hill, where no team score was kept, several individual Tar Heels were outstanding.

Charles Ball won the high jump with a 6'6" leap, and freshman Terry Taylor led the shot putters with 44'3".

Henry Jefferson and Bill Archer also placed in the shot.

Freshman Danny Deacon, from Honolulu, led the pole vault sweep with 13'6". Jeff Hilliker and Cliff Edwards were second and third.

In the 60-yard dash, Mike Canzonieri led two other Tar Heels across the tape with a time of 6.4, and Ed Lamens and Darryl Kelly followed.

Reid Hilton, coming back from an injury, did the hurdles in 8.1, with Craig Loudy and Mike Thompson also placing.

State swept the 440 and the mile, and Carolina's Craig Stewart and Steve Grathwohl were second and third behind State's Thompson in the half-mile.

Roy Helm, another UNC freshman, got second place behind State's Garth Hayes in the two-mile with a time of 9:43.

State's mile relay time beat the Tar Heels with a clocking of 3:34.5.

Larry Throneburg and Kelly placed behind Parsons of State in the broad jump competition.

Coed basketballers hosting NCCU tonight

The women's basketball team opens its 1971 season at 7:00 tonight when it hosts North Carolina Central University in the women's gymnasium.

Coached by Gail Steacy, the team returns three players from last year's squad which compiled a 6-4 record. Returnee Laura Du Pont, who scored 22 points in the team's 49-35 exhibition win over Duke, is the captain, while Rauna Fuller and Jan Stafford also return.

Newcomers to the team include Sue Bowman, Pat Cowell, Lorri Dillon, Marsha Fuller, Matilda Hunt, Sallie Jones, Janet McCall, Linda Rose, Jean Ellen Simmons, and Bev Winstead.

Carolina fencers dominate in Durham

by Don Albright
Sports Writer

Carolina fencers once again dominated the action at the North Carolina Fencers Association meet in Durham on Saturday. Tar Heels captured a total of five of the nine medals awarded in the three weapons.

Hank Powell, a graduate student who did his collegiate fencing at Yale, captured first place in foil for the third consecutive year. Sophomore Robert Varley tried for second in foil but was relegated to third on touches. In epee, Chad Hilton placed second and assistant coach Bob Knight was third in sabre.

Coach Ron Miller was generally pleased with his competitors, despite the fact several of Carolina's best epee-men were kept away from the tournament due to inclement weather. These were Jon Pavloff, Ben Brinson, and Jeff McKay.

Miller had special praise for three first year fencers. Mitch Fine and Jeff Johnson advanced to the semifinals in epee and Rob Rivers missed the finals in sabre by only two touches.

Despite the results of the tournament, Coach Miller had some reason for skepticism regarding the remainder of the season. Robert Cromartie, a sophomore, has been lost to the team for at least six weeks with a bone chip. Charles Potat suffered an ankle sprain on Monday that may keep him out of action. The extent of his injury has not been determined.

Carolina's next meet, with St. Augustine, has been postponed from Saturday. No date for it has been set.

Heels No. 15

Carolina's two wins over South Carolina and Duke didn't mean much to the UPI voters this week. They placed the Tar Heels in 15th and dropped South Carolina only four places, to sixth position.

UCLA got 30 of 32 first place votes and remained number one. Southern Cal (second) and Pennsylvania (fourth) got the other first place votes.

LATE SCORE:

Virginia	50
South Carolina	49

PLAY A DIRTY GAME TONIGHT DIRTY WATER

water pollution isn't any fun... but Dirty Water is. It's a great new competitive board game that lets 2 to 4 people learn about the horrors of water pollution... the benefits of pollution control... and the things to do to clean up the situation. The point of the game is to stock your stream with fish, finnies, and other funny creatures, leaving the industrial wastes back in your neighbor's stream.

SMOG

Ugh... Who needs it? No one, because now there's an exciting new board game for 2 to 4 players that helps you get rid of it. Each player gets a town and is responsible for smog control. Naturally, smog floats over your town... and also right on to your neighbors. Getting rid of the smog is the point of the game.
