

Kelly and Waldrop finish in 7th place

by Mark Whicker
Asst. Sports Editor

Half-inches and split seconds mean a lot in an NCAA indoor track championship. Too much, to Carolina Coach Joe Hilton.

While Villanova was winning the collegiate title in Detroit Saturday, two of Hilton's Tar Heels—triple jumper Darryl Kelly and half-miler Tony Waldrop—missed placing in the nationals by an inch and a misplaced heat.

Kelly's jump of 50'5" was one inch behind sixth place as Mohinder Gill of California Poly won with 52'9". Darryl, a sophomore from Newport News, Va., fouled on his first try but his last two jumps were within an inch of each other.

Barry McClure of Middle Tennessee State recorded his best jump of 52'4" to clinch second place. Patrick Onyango of Wisconsin, a pre-meet favorite, came in fourth.

Waldrop's misfortune was even more acute. The freshman ran a 1:53, faster than some of the times that made the finals, but his heat also included John Mason of Villanova and another fast 880 man from C.W. Post.

Berths in the finals were decided on the first two places, not comparative times, so Waldrop was left in the cold and Wisconsin's Mark Winzireid won with a time of 1:50.9.

Shot putter John Jessup finished eighth with a heave of 57'2". As expected, Kansas' Karl Salb won with 65'9" and Texas-El Paso's Fred DiBernardini finished second.

"We're very disappointed 'hat we didn't score," said Hilton, "but our performances were good.

"We're still knocking at the door, and we thought we might be able to crash through this time, but we didn't quite make it.

"However, our performances were far and away above what they have been in the past."

Maryland, the ACC champion, also failed to score, so it was up to Duke to represent the conference.

The track team opens its outdoor season Friday at Clemson and Saturday at the Furman Relays in Greenville, S.C.

Coach Dean Smith

Smith is top coach in district

Coach Dean Smith has been selected NCAA District Three Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

Smith, with a ten-year coaching record of 189-77 and a sparkling 22-6 slate this season, will be in competition with winners from other districts competing for the National Coach of the Year award.

In addition, junior forward Dennis Wuycik and sophomore George Karl made the ten-man District III-B team, as announced in TV Guide.

Other members of the team include Wake Forest's Charlie Davis, Duke's Randy Denton, South Carolina's John Roche and Tom Riker, West Virginia's Wil Robinson, Virginia Tech's Allen Bristow, Virginia's Bill Gerry and Marshall's Russell Lee.

The Boston Globe recently nominated Smith for the national coaching honor. He guided the Tar Heels to the regular season ACC title and Carolina went to the finals of the tournament before losing to South Carolina 52-51.

The team has been ranked in the top 20 of both wire services most of the season after being picked in the second division of the ACC before the year started.

Western Ky. advances on Fleming's mistake

by Mark Whicker
Asst. Sports Editor

Not many people woke up Sunday morning with a worse feeling than Ernie Fleming of Jacksonville had—but Western Kentucky and Clarence Glover felt good all over.

Fleming, with no one near him, double dribbled and then watched helplessly as Glover tapped in the winning shot that gave WK a 74-72 comeback victory over Jacksonville in the first round of the Midwest Regionals in South Bend, Ind.

Now Western Kentucky faces Kentucky, an in-state rival that it has never met, in the semi-finals Thursday night in Athens, Ga. Marquette, a 62-47 winner of Miami of Ohio, plays Ohio State in the other Thursday night game.

Tournaments and playoff games finalized the NCAA pairings across the country this weekend.

South Carolina plays Pennsylvania and Villanova meets Fordham in the Eastern Regionals Thursday night in Raleigh.

In the Midwest playoffs in Wichita, Kan., Notre Dame goes up against Drake and Houston plays Big Eight champ Kansas, the favorite to escape the regional.

UCLA plays Brigham Young in the Western Regionals in Salt Lake City, while Long Beach State plays the University of Pacific.

Jacksonville had an 18 point lead over Western Kentucky in the first half, but Jim McDaniels and Glover suddenly found their shooting touch while the Dolphins hung themselves with turnovers.

Marquette led by only two at halftime, but finally solved Miami's tough defense with outside shots by 6-11 Jim Chones and the direction of Dean (The Dream) Meminger.

Forwards Gary Brell and Bob Lackey both have back problems, making the roles of subs Hugh McMahon and George Frazier even more important this weekend.

First, the Warriors must hold off the shooting of OSU's Jim Clemons and Allen Hornyak to reach the finals. And Chones will have the unenviable assignment of either McDaniels, another hot seven-footer from outside, or Kentucky's Tom Payne.

Payne has played well lately after a slow start, and Kentucky still has the forgotten man, Mike Casey, an All-American his junior year before an auto accident eliminated him last season.

In the East, Fordham overwhelmed Furman 105-74, Penn slipped past Duquesne 70-65 for its 27th straight victory, and Villanova topped St. Joseph's 93-75.

Penn has size, good shooting and even better defense, led by forward Corky Calhoun. Fordham has no one over 6-6, but defeated Notre Dame and almost beat Marquette behind the shooting wizardry of 6-2 Charlie Yelverton.

Villanova still has Howard Porter, humiliated in Raleigh two years ago by Davidson's Mike Maloy but smarter and stronger now.

All will be shooting at South Carolina, ACC champs by virtue of a 52-51 win over Carolina in the tournament Saturday night.

Heel stickmen open with Quakers today

by Howie Carr
Sports Writer

Coach Fred Mueller's defending South Atlantic Conference lacrosse champions open their 1971 season at 3 this afternoon on Fetzer Field against Pennsylvania.

The Tar Heel stickmen have lost 11 seniors, including All-Americans Harper Peterson and Pete Kramer, off the 1970 team that rolled to a 9-2 record and won the Strobar trophy as the top team in the South Atlantic Conference.

Despite the graduation losses, Mueller has reason to be optimistic about the squad's prospects in the new season. In two pre-season scrimmages, Carolina battered Michigan 8-6, and Duke 9-5.

"Last year our strength was the

Carr, Wicks top team

Three repeaters and one sophomore were among the 10 players selected on the 1970-71 TV Guide All American team announced Monday.

Austin Carr of Notre Dame, John Roche of South Carolina and Sidney Wicks of UCLA were the three repeaters on the team selected by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association.

John Neumann, of Mississippi, was the only sophomore on the first team.

The six others were Ken Durrett of LaSalle, Artis Gilmore, Jacksonville, Jim McDaniels, Western Kentucky, Cliff Meely, Colorado, Dean Meminger, Marquette and Dennis Layton, Southern California.

attack," says Mueller, who is assisted in his coaching chores by Capt. Vincent Anania of NROTC, "but this season our strongest point is midfield."

The Tar Heels' starting midfield features Bruce Ledwith, a sophomore letterman from Saddle River, N.J.; Bob Lassiter, a junior from Winston-Salem who saw some action last season; and freshman Glenn McKenzie of Fairlawn, N.J.

Other middies who figure to get a lot of playing time include juniors John Meiners and Spanky Tiernan, sophomore John Dooley and freshman Robert Malm.

Taking the place of graduated All-American goalie Pete Kramer is sophomore Dave Schreiner.

"He's done a tremendous job so far," says Mueller of the Westfield, N.J. native who was the team's third goalie in 1970.

Attackman Ray Seipp, who started most of Harper Peterson's scoring plays last year, is back for his final season, and this season he'll be feeding freshman Bob Cox from Manhasset, N.Y., and junior Phil Sasser of Huntington, W. Va.

The Tar Heels' opponent today, Penn, is in the process of rebuilding under Jim "Ace" Adams, who formerly coached at West Point. Carolina defeated the Quakers last year, 8-6.

"I'm sure they'll be tough," says Mueller.

The Tar Heels' first conference game of the season is slated for Saturday against Washington College.

Rabb's improved Heels go to State for opener

Junior righthander Greg Pavlick and freshman lefthander Jim Chamberlain are scheduled to pitch for Carolina Wednesday when the Tar Heels open their baseball season against N.C. State at Raleigh.

The game, which gets under way at 3 p.m., will not count in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings. The Tar Heels and Wolfpack have two more meetings scheduled later in the season.

Coach Walter Rabb has high hopes for his Tar Heel squad which has been hitting the ball well in recent practice games. This Carolina team is expected to have good pitching and excellent fielding.

Pavlick had a 2-6 record last year with an earned run average of 5.50, but Rabb believes he will show much improved form this year. Chamberlain is rated as one of the team's outstanding young prospects. He hails from Greensboro Smith High where he posted a brilliant record.

Rabb has listed his probable starting lineup for the State game. It is as follows: First base, Larry Kiser; second base, John Wilson; shortstop, Bobby Elliott; third base, Mickey Hickerson; left field, Jack Gillis; centerfield, Peter Franklin; rightfield, Doug Lanham or Ron Cox; catcher, Mike Roberts.

Seven of those players were starters last year. Roberts made the all-Atlantic Coast Conference team at catcher.

Following the game at State, Carolina faces Duke at Durham Saturday in another game which will not count in Atlantic Coast Conference standings.
