

Heels defeat State by lopsided score in tennis match

by Bruce Gurganus
Sports Writer

Yesterday was the hottest day of the year and Coach Don Skakle's netters were as "red hot" as the necks of their opponents. The Heels rolled past N.C. State with the power of a John Deer tractor for another 9-0 win.

The most amazing thing about the lopsided score is that the Tar Heels were playing without the services of their number one man Freddie McNair or their fifth player Richard Hardaway.

McNair is suffering from a mild case of strep throat and was held out of yesterday's action. Hardaway has sustained a minor wrist injury on his racket hand and was undergoing x-rays Monday. Both are expected to return to the lineup shortly.

Moving onto the number one court for the first time in his long and successful career was junior Jimmy Corn. The Shelby native sent the Wolfpack's Herb McKim back to his milking chores with a 6-2 and 6-3 defeat. Corn broke service in the first game and never trailed.

Sliding over to the second spot was Forrest Simmons. The hard hitting sophomore plowed through his opponent, Jeff Griffin by scores of 6-2 and 8-6.

Richard McKee also moved up a notch on the ladder and kept his 13 match unbeaten streak intact with a 6-1, 6-1 thrashing of State's Coleman Long.

Senior slugger Mike Kernodle sent Ben Page trucking back to the farm with a humiliating 6-0, 6-1 blasting.

Moving into the top six for the first time in his short career Joe Garcia came up with a win on the fifth court. The Tennessee product mowed down David Johnson with scores of 6-3 and 6-4.

Attesting to the terrific depth of the Tar Heel squad was Billy Mears who came in to administer a 6-2, 8-6 defeat to Cy King of Raleigh. Mears, a former star at Andover, wrapped up the second conference win of the season for the Heels, now 12-1.

With a 6-0 lead going into the doubles action the Heels kept churning with the persistence of an electric milkster as they sucked out another shutout.

Since McNair and Hardaway were sidelined several new doubles combinations were tried.

Corn and McKee teamed on the first court against McKim and King. This proved to be the toughest match of the day but the Tar Heel tandem held on for a 6-2, 4-6, and 6-0 win.

On the number two court Garcia and Simmons, usually the number three team, stopped Griffin and Page 6-4 and 6-4. This duo could be hard to beat come tournament time.

Skakle brought in yet another new face to the line-up in the third doubles match. Sophomore Terry Dukes teamed with Kernodle to beat Long and Johnson 6-4 and 6-2. In the first set the Carolina team, playing together for the first time, fell behind 4-1 before coming back to win eight straight games and finally the match.

UNC tennis player Jimmy Corn enjoyed the spotlight in the first court today as he beat his opponent and the Tar Heels shut out N.C. State 9-0. Corn is returning a serve. (Staff photo by Leslie Todd)

Erratic Duke hosts Heels

by Dan Collins

You can be sure that Enos "Country" Slaughter and his boys at Duke will be out to make the Tar Heels forget their fine double-header win over Clemson Saturday.

The former major-league all-star will be fielding a young, exciting, but inconsistent Blue Devil team when Carolina travels to Duke for a conference battle today. The game is scheduled to begin at 3:00.

Although the Blue Devils are winless in conference play against four losses and 6-7 overall, they have proved they can be tough. Carolina learned this first-hand earlier in the season, when it lost a 7-0 decision to their arch-rival.

Coach Walter Rabb will be sending out freshman Fred Gianiny as starting pitcher to avenge the earlier loss. The young hurler mixes up an assortment of pitches well and has been tough to hit all year.

Rabb also stated that John Danneman, who pitched two innings and won the second game against Clemson Saturday, might also see action in the contest.

For the Tar Heels it will be their third conference game. They are currently in fourth place in the standings with 2-1 conference record. State, Virginia, and Maryland all own undefeated conference records.

Although the teams overall record is only 7-9, they are hoping that their 2-1 and 3-1 victories over a strong Clemson team will be turning point of the season. With the season being only half over the Heels still have a great chance for the conference crown and a victory today could help the cause.

Leftfielder Jack Gillis had an outstanding day Saturday and upped his batting average above the coveted .300 mark. His average has jumped 12 points from .291 to .303 over the last three games.

Catcher Mike Roberts has also been on a recent hitting spree and now is leading the club with a .348 average. Although the all-conference receiver went 0-4 in Saturday's opener he came back to get two hits in two trips to the plate in the second game. He was also responsible for two of the team's three rbis.

The third player on the team to batting over .300 is centerfielder Ron Cox. The hardhitting senior saw only limited action at the first of the season but has done well at the plate. His .316 mark is second only to Roberts.

Duke's leading hitter is Bo Bochow who has been flirting with the .350 mark all season. Freshman Steve Setteducato has also been hitting well for the Blue Devils.

The oddity of the Duke squad is that they have no seniors on the team. Coach Slaughter has had to go with underclassmen all seasons and he has several freshmen in key positions. They have proved they can be tough, though, and the Tar Heels should have a real match on their hands today.

Bullets top Knicks, Bucks thump Lakers

by David Zucchino

With the days turning warm and sunny and with the baseball, tennis and track seasons well under way, the battle for the NBA championship title continues inside hot, crowded arenas.

The Baltimore Bullets, down two games to none in the finals of the NBA's Eastern Conference playoffs, stayed with their starting lineup Sunday afternoon and came away with a 114-88 thumping over the New York Knicks.

The Bullets played without injured starters Gus Johnson and Kevin Loughery but got hustling performance out of their makeshift starting lineup as they busted up a tight game early in the third quarter with a 14-point scoring surge.

Sharpshooter Earl Monroe killed the Knicks with 31 points, while Bullet pivotman Wes Unseld maneuvered around New York's Willis Reed for 18 points, 26 rebounds and eight assists.

Former Duke star Jack Marin came up with 22 points for Baltimore, while forwards Fred Carter and Bob Tresvant finished with point totals of 20 and 15 to put all five Bullet starters in double figures. Walt Frazier had 17 points for the Knicks, who now lead 2-1 in the series.

Over in the finals of the Western Conference, the Milwaukee Bucks threatened yesterday to run Los Angeles right out of the series with a low-scoring 91-73 triumph over the Lakers to give the Bucks a 2-0 edge in the playoffs.

Los Angeles center Wilt Chamberlain outplayed Milwaukee pivotman Lew Alcindor for one of the few times since Alcindor came into the NBA two years ago, but the rest of the Bucks took up the slack and kept the Lakers at bay for much of the ballgame.

Chamberlain, who played both ends of the court masterfully against the dangerous 7-2 Alcindor, led all scorers with 26 points and blocked numerous shots, including several by Alcindor.

Crew sets Regatta here

All rowing fans have a big treat in store Sunday. At 2:00 the UNC crew team will have their first home regatta ever at Carolina. The match will be held at the University Lake.

Virginia Commonwealth and the Citadel will provide the opposition and it should turn out to be a real battle. Carolina will be out to gain revenge against VCU after having lost to them earlier in the season. It will be the squad's first match against the Citadel.

So far in the season the Carolina rowers have gained victories over teams from Salisbury State and Tampa and have lost to ECU, University of Virginia, Cambridge University of England, as well as VCU.

UNC Crew Club President Andy Adler is hoping for a large crowd to attend the event. A large attendance and a Carolina victory would add a lot to the crew's first home regatta.
