Celler warns against wiretaps

WASHINGTON-Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee said Sunday the attorney general's wiretapping policies may be leading the nation toward a police state. Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., urged congressional investigation of all government surveillance activiities.

Celler, dean of the House now in his 49th year in Congress, said he had no evidence that his or any other congressman's telephones were tapped but that fear of being overheard had inhibited them all in their conversations.

Boggs, House Democratic leader. expressed the same view, saying, "there is hardly a member of the House who is not fearful of using his telephone."

Celler discussed government eavesdropping in a UPI Washington Window interview. Boggs voiced his views on the CBS-TB interview program Face the Nation:

Rules drafted for advertisers

WASHINGTON-Regulations to make sure buyers really save on "cents off" promotions are near completion, it was learned Sunday, more than four years after Congress authorized such consumer protection.

The rules also would limit "cents off" promotions for any product to three a years, and would require that "economy size" packages actually give the shopper a significant saving.

The regulations were drafted by officials of the Food and Drug Administration and Federal Trade Commission which share authority for enforcement of the Fair Packaging and Labeling Act enacted by Congress in November, 1966.

The agreement is still subject to approval by FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards and by a majority vote of the FTC's five commissioners.

Jury investigates raid

CHICAGO-A special grand jury investigating the 1969 raid in which two leaders of the Black Panther party were killed scheduled a meeting today amid reports it would indict Cook County State's Attorney Edward Hanrahan on charges of obstructing justice.

The 14 policemen who went to the West Side apartment before dawn Dec. 4, 1969, with a warrant to search for weapons were assigned to Hanrahan's office and worked under his direction.

Chicago newspapers carried reports in their Sunday editions that the grand jury had voted to indict Hanrahan and to name Chicago Police Supt. James B. Conlisk Jr. as an unindicted coconspirator. It was expected the grand jury would issue its report Monday. However, Barnabas Sears, a highly respected lawyer who served as special prosecutor for the grand jury, would say only that the jury was to meet. He would neither confirm or deny published reports that a witness, possibly Hanrahan, would testify before the grand jury Monday.

The Chicago Sun-Times and the Chicago Tribune as well as three neighborhood papers belonging to the Lerner group printed reports that the grand jury had decided on true bills recommend indictments which would charge Hanrahan with obstructing justice. Reports that true bills had been returned have circulated among informed circles since Thursday. Sears issued a statement Saturday which brought further speculation that the jury had reached its decision.

Sears said Judge Joseph A. Power had gone "beyond his power under the law" in issuing instructions to him and jury members in a closed session Thursday when Sears said Power "tried to tell the grand jury what witnesses had to be called and what witnesses I had to call."

Kotouc trial begins today

FT. McPHERSON, Ga.-Capt. Eugene M. Kotouc, accused of cutting off a suspected enemy's finger during interrogation after the My Lai massacre, goes on trial today.

Kotouc, charged with assault and maiming, will be the fourth soldier tried on criminal charges arising from the My Lai operation. Kotouc, says the Army, did not directly participate in the assault on the village, but handled the questioning of prisoners.

Kotouc served as an intelligence officer in Task Force Barker, of which Charlie Company was part.

Soyuz 10 Soviets express satisfaction

MOSCOW-The three-man crew of Soyuz 10 expressed "complete satisfaction" with their two-day space flight that ended early Sunday after docking with the unmanned Salute satellite that was expected to be the nucleus of an orbital space station.

A Soviet space expert called the Soyuz flight a "research and test flight." Nonetheless, seasoned observers of the Soviet space program expressed suspicion at the quick return of Soyuz 10.

At the Jodrell Bank Observatory in England, an official said he was surprised that the cosmonauts had not transferred to the Salute but added that the mission "may have been to clear the way for the actual transfer of cosmonauts to the station from another spaceflight later this week."

It was the briefest manned Soviet space flight since the fatal Soyuz 1 crash of April 23-24, 1967, and the Soviets moved quickly to dispel suspicions of failure.

They quoted the three cosmonauts as expressing "their complete satisfaction with the flight" and hailed the five-hour docking experiment as a major break-through toward "a huge flying multipurpose laboratory" of the future.

Tass siad Soyuz 10 parachuted onto a pre-set landing target in Soviet Central Asia at 2:40 a.m.

Its entire crew-Col. Vladimir Shatalov, Alexei Yeliseyev and Nikolai Rukavishnikov-was aboard and in good health, Tass stad. There was no indication in the reports of the docking experiment. that any of them had explored Salute by spacewalk or internal transfer during Moscow radio quoted the three as telling a post-landing news conference they have achieved "a new stage in the mastering of cosmic space station" by mastering new docking equipment.

Moscow sources have said the experiments of manned ships with Salute could run into many weeks and predicted up to three more manned ships would join the effort. There was nothing in Sunday's events to confirm or contradict link-up.
