

Fetch, boy

Retrieving a thrown stick is one trick most dogs seem to have mastered. Darting into action after the stick (L), finally retrieving it (middle) and then bringing it back to your master. But masters have a way of just throwing sticks to get rid of you for awhile and then, when you return, they don't really want to throw it again. (Staff photo by Cliff Kolovson)

AFROTC cadets to hold awards day ceremony

An awards day ceremony honoring outstanding Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC) cadets will be held Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in Murphy Hall.

Lt. Col. Paul E. Smith, commanding officer of the AFROTC detachment, will present the Professor of Aerospace Studies Leadership Award to the graduating senior demonstrating the highest degree of leadership, responsibility and dedication. The award consists of a permanent trophy with the recipient's name engraved upon it and a desk set for the cadet.

Other awards include the Reserve Officer's Association Award to the outstanding junior cadet, the Daughters of the American Revolution Award to a distinguished senior cadet, the Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America Medal to a sophomore cadet, and the Sons of the American Revolution Medal to the junior and freshmen cadets who have shown merit in leadership.

Other awards include American Legion Awards to juniors and seniors, the Air Force Times Award and the General Dynamics Award to the sophomore pilot candidate showing the best leadership qualities.

Film-maker presents 10 films Saturday

Maurice Amar, an Egyptian-born experimental filmmaker from New York, will present 10 of his avant-garde films on Saturday at the Presbyterian Student Center.

The series of short films will be shown at 7, 9 and 11 p.m. There will be a $1 donation required.

All of Amar's films are less than 10 minutes long, but he will show excerpts from a feature length film he is now working on.

Amar spent two years in a French film school where he learned such techniques as accelerated motion, superimposition and stroboscopic lighting.

One of Saturday night's films is "Childbirth," a "violent, beautiful portrayal" of the birth of Amar's son.

"Yellow Alley" is a surrealist love-fantasy, filmed with a yellow filter. The background music is an original score by Thomas Johnson.

A third Amar movie to be shown is "Raga Doll," a psychedelic exploration of female nudity in motion.

Other films will range from "American," a documentary on the pop culture, to "String Composition," which is a film of Sue Fuller's sculpture exhibit at a New York gallery.

Amar will be available to discuss his films and answer many questions about them after each of the three showing Saturday night.

Free flicks feature 'Anne Frank,' 'Wedding'

Julie Harris grapples with the problems of a lonely adolescent tomboy and Anne Frank fights for survival with her family during World War II in the free flicks scheduled for this weekend. Tonight the featured film will be "Member of the Wedding" and Saturday's film will be "The Diary of Anne Frank."

ABM series continues with second speaker

Dr. Richard Merwin, assistant Safeguard director for science and technology in Data Processing at the Department of Defense, will be the second speaker in a two-part series discussing the pros and cons of the Safeguard Antiballistic Missile Computer System.

Merwin will speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday in 215 Phillips.

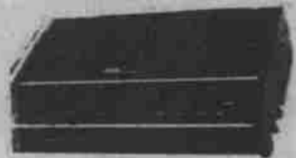

He will give a brief introduction to the major components of the Safeguard system, and a description of the data processing system required to support a ballistic missile defense system.

His talk is being sponsored by the UNC Student Chapter and the Central Carolina Chapter of the Association for Computing Machinery.
