

Campus Calender

Social Lt. Governor's meeting tonight at 8:30 in the Carolina Union.

Writing problems? The Writing Laboratory (308 Greenlaw) offers private, informal tutoring sessions at no cost for any student who wishes to improve his writing skills. The program is strictly voluntary and no extra work will be assigned. Stop by 308 Greenlaw or send name and phone number to Box 81 Greenlaw.

Students for McGovern publicity committee will meet today at 7 p.m. in the Union.

Everyone's favorite film, "Pigs," will be shown tonight in this week's Coffee House at the Wesley Foundation. "The Great Annual Bathing Race" and a look at a remarkable Appalachian balladeer, "End of an Old Song," are also on the program. Showings are at 9 and 10 p.m.

DRAFT COUNSELING: Wednesday, 3-5 p.m.; Monday and Thursday, 3-5 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. in Room 258, Suite B, of the Union.

An organizational meeting for those interested in working with the International Handicrafts Bazaar will be held tonight at 7:30 in the YM-YWCA Building on campus.

Notice to all students who attended last weekend's Student Leadership Development Conference: There is material required for next weekend being held in your name at the Union Information Desk. Please drop by and pick it up.

Nomination forms for the Order of the Valkyries, highest campus honorary for women, are now available at the Union Information Desk. Outstanding junior and senior women are eligible for nomination. Forms must be returned to the Desk or mailed to Box no. 32, Carolina Union, by Oct. 22.

An Alumni mixer will be held immediately following the Carolina-Tulane football game this Saturday in the Old Well Room of the Carolina Inn. All alumni, friends and students are welcome at this second in a series of post home game social hours sponsored by the General Alumni Association. An admission fee of $1 will be charged to cover the cost of refreshments and set-ups.

There will be an art show today and sale of original graphics by such artists as Miro and Chagall today and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the North Gallery of the Carolina Union. The graphics will range from $5 to $350 in value.

UNC SAILING CLUB: The regularly scheduled meeting for today will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 205, Carolina Union.

Robert A. Williams, Assistant Dean of Harvard Law School, will meet with interested students from UNC, NCCU, and Duke tonight at 7:30 in Room 146 of the Alphonso Elder Student Union on the NCCU campus. All UNC students having specific questions about Harvard Law School and its programs are invited to attend.

The UNC chapter of American Field Service will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in 105 Dey Hall. All AFS returnees and any other interested persons are invited to attend.

The Intensive Language Courses sponsored by the ISC will be held as follows: German, Wednesday at 7 p.m.; Spanish, Thursday at 7 p.m.; Portuguese, Thursday at 5 p.m.; French is still being organized. French and Spanish will have to be subdivided due to large response. Please check at the ISC for details. The Hindi course is still open for those with some grasp of the language. These first meetings will be held at the ISC.

Tickets are still on sale for the Ralph Nader talk to be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in Carmichael Auditorium. They cost $1 and can be obtained at the Union Information Desk.

Computation Center short course will be held today at 4 p.m. in Room 228, Phillips. The topic is "SPSS."

Dr. Jonathan Beckwith, Harvard University, will speak on "Gene Expression and Regulation In Vitro" today at 4 p.m. in the Clinic Auditorium, School of Medicine.

Dr. J. Frank McCormick, UNC Dept. of Botany, will speak on "Ecological Research on Smith Island" at the zoology seminar to be held today at 4:15 in Room 107, Wilson.

Teaching interviews for the Wake County Schools in Raleigh will be held Thursday from 1:30-5 p.m., and for the Winston-Salem / Forsyth County Schools, Monday from 10-4. If you are interested, sign up in the Teacher Placement Bureau, 103 Peabody.

Any experienced (or semi-experienced) judoka who is interested in practicing afternoons or evenings, contact Glen Gee, 11 Old East, 933-6043. Anyone interested in beginning judo should contact the Lakewood YMCA, Durham.

The Making of the Western World, a western history course, will be offered at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays, today through November 24, in 104 Peabody Hall. Call 933-1124 if interested.

Plant Propagation, a course for the home gardener, will be offered at 7:30 p.m. on alternate Wednesdays today through December 15 in 418 Coker Hall. Call 933-1124 if interested.

FOUND: 6 month old tan part German Shepherd, female, Call 929-6459.

FOUND: English Setter puppy. Call 942-8186.

FOUND: Thomas calculus textbook in 107 Smith. Come by 108 Smith to identify and claim.

FOUND: Brown horn-rimmed glasses, Victory 6. Found early September in Wilson Hall. Call Cindy, 933-2977.

FOUND: Richard Tolley, chemistry lab work and slide rule. Pick up at Union Information Desk.

FOUND: Pair brown glasses in brown case, in parking lot beside Everett Dorm. Can be picked up at Union Information Desk.

LOST: UNC Football Club medicine kit, taken off field after practice last Tuesday. Call 942-8298 or bring it down to the field. $5 reward, no questions asked.

LOST: Squarish gold wire rims, Help, I cannot see! Call Susan at 942-7687. Reward.

LOST: Brown suede girl's wallet in small drawstring bag. Call Julie Shavin at 933-5164. Reward.

LOST: Silver flask at the Maryland game. Section 15. Has great sentimental value. If found, call 933-2097, evenings. Reward.

LOST: Blue wallet last Thursday, maybe in car of girls in James who gave me a ride. Call 933-2854. Reward.

LOST: Brown corduroy jacket by hitch-hiker to James Dorm last Saturday in green Mustang. Contact Tom Robinson, 958 James, 933-4836, or leave jacket at Hinton James Information Desk.

The Campus Calendar is a service of The Daily Tar Heel which appears Monday through Friday. All items for the calendar must be brought to The Daily Tar Heel office in the Student Union by 3 p.m. to appear in the next day's paper.

All items for Monday's paper must be in by 3 p.m. Friday afternoon.

Women

Self-defense, woman's studies urged at speech, rally

by Mary Ellis Gibson
Staff Writer

Screaming is hardly ever the best self-defense unless a woman is absolutely sure of receiving immediate and effective help, a noted self-defense expert said here Monday.

"Go along with your assailant until you get a chance to safely react unless you perceive you are in immediate defense of your life," Frederic Storaska told an audience in the Great Hall of the Student Union.

Storaska's speech was the keynote for Women's Week, a week of activities for women, sponsored by the Association of Women Students (AWS).

Another activity of Women's Week Tuesday was a rally in The Pit where speakers emphasized the importance of a self-defense program for women and women's studies in the social science curriculum.

Storaska's lecture, "To Be or Not To Be Raped," was designed to educate women about the causes and prevention of assaults and to instruct them in realistic methods of self-defense.

"I don't believe in teaching girls to be soldiers," he began.

Storaska, an expert in the martial arts who has spoken at more than 200 universities in the past five years, said when a woman uses a weapon against a man who approaches her, she provokes violence.

"If in 100 cases women tried to use weapons, 99 times it would be taken away from them and used against them," he said.

He said if a woman feels she must use a weapon, she should never swing at the assailant but she should take the sharpest corner of the weapon and jut it into his face.

Storaska repeatedly emphasized that "what you do when you are attacked must either work all the time or not cause you any physical harm."

Commenting on various methods of self-defense, Storaska characterized judo as a sport which is only useful to the person who has studied it year after year.

"Jujitsu is too specific to be very helpful," Storaska said, "and karate, although it is probably the most valid of the martial arts, takes too much study and has as its premise violence."

Struggling against an assailant is often ineffective, he warned.

UNC instructor Susan Bolin is interviewed by WRAL-TV, Raleigh, at Tuesday's rally in The Pit. Miss Bolin advocated a women's studies program at UNC during the rally, held in part of Women's Week. (Staff photo by Scott Stewart)

Carolina Kotlas, member of Female Liberation, described the group's attempts to implement a self-defense program on campus.

"Women have gathered information and taken polls showing the need and desire for a self-defense program," she said, "but when we approached the administration we found a classic case of the pass-the-buck approach."

She said although women have taken private instruction in self-defense, private courses are inconvenient and prohibitively expensive.

Miss Kotlas said the self-defense movement here is two years old and still no action has been taken by the administration.

Susan Bouldin urged members of the crowd at the rally to sign a petition supporting the continuation of women's studies on campus as a legitimate branch of knowledge.

"Women are subject to an educational system which stereotypes them as passive and unintellectual," she said. "This lack of knowledge reinforces women's feelings of inferiority."

She told the crowd the present education system makes women conscious with roles in which society has placed them.

Miss Bouldin described the creation of Anthropology 99, a course with readings, seminars, films, speakers and drama about women in contemporary society.

She said there is a need for study of women's roles in various cultures, the history and contributions of women and the woman's place in today's society.

Miss Bouldin urged the continuation and growth of women's studies as part of "an active process of education to build a more just society."

Other Women's Week activities include two films to be shown from 6:30 to 9:30 tonight in Room 202 of the Student Union.

Concluding Women's Week Oct. 7, Friday will be a panel discussion by prominent local women in the South Lounge of the Union.

Board okays area renewal

The Chapel Hill Board of Aldermen unanimously approved Monday night an application for a federal grant to rehabilitate the Northside-Knolls Street area of town.

The action came at the end of the second and final public hearing on the grant application. There was no opposition to the proposal.

The proposed project areas, north and south of West Franklin Street, were drawn from a larger single area which was considered for rehabilitation until the Department of Housing and Urban Development reduced the federal funds available.

The Chapel Hill Redevelopment Commission was informed in late July of the cutbacks that it would have to redraw the project area and submit a new application.

The revised grant application must be filed with the federal agency by Oct. 20.

The first of two required public hearings was held by the Redevelopment Commission Sept. 21. The revised project boundaries were also uncontested at that time.

"The basic goal of the program is to improve the quality of life and the environment through housing, land-use, and environmental programs," said Michael A. Stegman, Redevelopment Commission chairman.

"To get the funds, the area had to be under the incipient threat of blighting or deteriorating conditions," Stegman added.

In other business, the aldermen ordered the removal of a condemned

NEED A JOB?

a babysitter?
a VW camper?
a motorcycle?
recorder lessons?

SEE DTH CLASSIFIEDS!

(They're on page 5!)

building at 322 W. Rosemary St. and passed an ordinance that will eliminate all regular board meetings during the month of August.

This 7 year old Irish hat looks like Peter Alport.

Your Irish Country Hat will look like you.

Individual. Hand-woven, hand-crafted with the lovely Connemara hills in the background. These hats were made for you. For warmth, proof, almost wear-proof—just about everything but you-proof. Soft, pure wool Irish tweed.

Julian's

140 E. Franklin

THE CAROLINA UNION

Presents:

OCTOBER 7

RALPH NADER

CARMICHAEL AUDITORIUM

8:00 p.m.

ADMISSION $1

TICKETS AT INFORMATION DESK

SWALLOW

MEMORIAL HALL

CONCERT

8 p.m.

OCTOBER 6

ADMISSION

FREE

Pick Up Tickets at Union Information Desk

TONIGHT

OCTOBER 9

JOHN DENVER

CARMICHAEL AUDITORIUM

8:00 p.m.

ADMISSION $1

TICKETS AT INFORMATION DESK

