Speech slated Tuesday Mansfield: Army, Navy, Marines

by Howie Carr
Staff Writer

Senate Democratic majority leader Mike Mansfield, who will speak in Memorial Hall Tuesday night, is the only member of Congress to serve in three branches of the armed services — all before he was 19.

Mansfield, who was born to poor Irish immigrants in New York City in 1903, moved to Great Falls, Montana, with his family in 1906.

Mansfield dropped out of the eighth grade in February, 1918, at the age of 14 to join the Navy. After being honorably discharged from the Navy after ten months of overseas duty, Mansfield immediately enlisted in the Army. When he was honorably discharged from the Army the next year, he joined the Marines, seeing duty in the Philippines, Japan, Siberia and China before his discharge in 1922.

From 1922 until 1927, Mansfield worked as a copper miner and a mining engineer in Montana. Following a year as a student at the Montana School of Mines, he enrolled at Montana State University in Missoula in 1928 after passing a special high school equivalency exam.

In Missoula, Mansfield met his wife, the former Maureen Hayes, whom he married in 1932, a year before he won his bachelor's degree.

Remaining at Montana State as a history instructor, Mansfield won his masters degree in 1934, and after studying at the University of California in the summers of 1936-1937, he was made a full professor of Latin American and Far Eastern History.

Mansfield was first elected to Congress in 1942 from the traditionally isolationist first district of Montana. (The first district's previous representative, Jeanette Rankin, had been the first woman in the U.S. House of Representatives and the only member of Congress to vote against the declarations of both World Wars.)

Because of his extensive knowledge of the Far East and the Chinese languages, in 1944, President Franklin Roosevelt selected the freshman Democrat to make a tour of inspection on conditions in China. Mansfield returned in January of 1945 with a 7000 word report.

While the report cited Chiang Kai-Shek as "the one man who can make Chinese unity and independence a reality," it is most remembered for Mansfield's description of the Chinese Communists as "more agrarian reformers than revolutionaries."

After serving as a Congressional delegate to the United Nations in 1951-1952, Mansfield bucked the Eisenhower sweep of 1952 by defeating Senator Zales N. Ecton for a Montana Senate seat.

In 1954, Mansfield served as a delegate to the Southeast Asia Conference, and was among the original signers of the Southeast Treaty Organization Pact.

Mansfield was one of the first Americans to sense the dangers of a large-scale United States involvement in Vietnam, and in the January, 1956, issue of Harpers he warned that "large scale aid can be at best only a stopgap — not only in Vietnam but in every country where it is employed."

Mansfield was elected Senate majority whip in 1957, and when Lyndon Johnson became Vice President in 1961, he succeeded to the post of majority leader.

During Johnson's term as President, he and Mansfield often disagreed over American war policy in Vietnam, although Mansfield avoided an official break with the administration until Nixon became President.

Mansfield will speak at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday in Memorial Hall as part of a speaker series sponsored by the Carolina Forum. Free tickets are available at the Student Union Information Desk.

Beer and wine sales on aldermen's agenda

The Chapel Hill Board of Aldermen will consider an ordinance today which would allow any establishment holding a beer license to sell beer and wine on Sundays.

The ordinance would repeal Section 3-2 of the Town Code of Ordinances which prohibits the sale of beer and wine between 1:00 p.m. Sunday and 7:00 a.m. Monday.

Under a new state law passed by the 1971 General Assembly, the only establishments under town ordinance are those which do not possess a brown-bagging license. Many of the aldermen feel this to be discriminatory. The repeal of the ordinance would eliminate town laws dealing with beer sales and leave the sales under state control only. Any establishment holding a license would be allowed to sell beer and wine on Sunday after 1:00 p.m.

In other business, Police Chief W.D. Blake will discuss bicycle traffic problems and make recommendations concerning the control of mini-bikes on school property.

Alderman George Coxhead told the board last week he had received several complaints from townspeople concerning the traffic hazards created by bicycle riders.

Coxhead requested Blake to report on what can be done by the board to insure the safety of both the bicyclists and motorists.

School Board Chairman Mary Scroggs asked the board last week to request the police department to enforce a recently passed school policy prohibiting the use of mini-bikes on school property.

A formal sewer agreement between the town and University has also been prepared for tonight's meeting.

The University requested an agreement several weeks ago when Carrboro asked to connect his 296-unit apartment project onto Chapel Hill's sewer lines at the Bolin Creek outfall.
