

India declares emergency state

NEW DELHI - Prime Minister Indira Gandhi said Friday night Pakistan has launched a "full-scale war" against India. She said she had "no other option but to put our country on a war footing . . ."

Mrs. Gandhi spoke in a nationwide broadcast after a series of Pakistani air and artillery attacks Friday on Indian military bases near the border with West Pakistan.

"An emergency has been declared and we are prepared for all eventualities," Mrs. Gandhi said. A state of national emergency had been proclaimed about one hour earlier by President V.V. Giri following high-level meetings in New Delhi.

Radio Pakistan charged that Indian troops attacked Pakistani forward bases "all along the West Pakistani" border Friday and government officials in Karachi acknowledged that Pakistani air force planes struck at four Indian military bases.

Diplomats in the United Nations feared clashes between the two countries would break out in an all-out war on the subcontinent.

Mrs. Gandhi said she was speaking "in a moment of grave peril to our country and our people. Some hours ago, on the third of December, Pakistan launched a full-scale war against us."

Indira Gandhi

The government is reportedly going to propose a "defense of India" bill to Parliament today. The bill would abridge most constitutional rights.

Army orders curfew in riot-torn Santiago

SANTIAGO, Chile - The army Friday ordered an indefinite 1 to 6 a.m. curfew in Santiago province to end street violence in which at least 120 persons have been arrested and 114 injured since Wednesday night.

G. Augusto Pinochet, commander of the Santiago Military District, warned that police would open fire on anyone who fails to stop for questioning during the curfew. A state of emergency was declared Thursday in Santiago province.

The disturbance broke out Wednesday night during a march of women opposed to the government of President Salvador Allende. They were protesting a scarcity of consumer goods and violence at the University of Chile.

The curfew was the second decreed in Santiago in six months. Last June the government imposed a curfew after the assassination by leftist terrorists of former Vice President Edmundo Perez Zujovic.

Muskie hits Rehnquist

WASHINGTON - Sen. Edmund Muskie (D-Me.), acknowledged front runner for the Democratic presidential nomination, urged the Senate Friday to reject the Supreme Court nomination of William H. Rehnquist.

Breaking off his campaign for the nomination, Muskie warned his colleagues that Rehnquist placed property rights over human rights and "has no commitment to publicly-enforced integration."

Debate on the two nominees, Rehnquist and Lewis F. Powell, Jr., is expected to spark controversy in the Senate next week.

Rioting erupts in Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland - Rioting erupted in Londonderry Friday and a bomb damaged the home of the queen's senior honorary representative, the army said.

In Belfast, a sniper shot seriously wounded a British soldier escorting Roman Catholic children home from school. The rioting followed a search by 400 British troops in the Roman Catholic Bogside area.

It was opening-game lightning

by Howie Carr
Assistant Sports Editor

Opening-game lightning struck Rice for the second straight year Thursday night, as the Owls lost 127-69 to the second-ranked North Carolina Tar Heels in Carmichael Auditorium.

"You know, Rice opened its season last year against UCLA," Carolina coach Dean Smith told reporters after the rout. "I just hope the similarity continues until March."

Rice coach John Knodel, meanwhile, admitted that "it's obvious we can do nothing but get better."

The rampaging Tar Heels, who hit 68% of their shots from the field, matched two school scoring records in crushing the visitors from Houston. The team's 52 field goals and 127 points equalled marks set by the 1966-67 squad in a 126-76 stomping of Richmond.

"Everything went right for us and wrong for Rice," Smith said. "It was an opening game for both teams, and we realize it's probably the only time this season we'll have this kind of game."

"Rice plays the kind of game that we can do well against," he continued. "They came out and ran against us, and that's why it was such a high-scoring game."

Bill's back

Bill Chamberlain has been reinstated to the Carolina basketball team and will travel with the Tar Heels to Pitt and Princeton this weekend.

"I'm very anxious to help in any way I can," Chamberlain said. Coach Dean Smith says he's undecided about starting Chamberlain Saturday night at Pitt.

Chamberlain was suspended Nov. 24 for failing to run a wind sprint after practice. Now he's a member "in good standing" of the team after sitting out Carolina's 127-69 win over Rice Thursday night.

The reinstatement was announced by Smith Friday afternoon.

Swimmers away

The Carolina swimming team will be vying for its second victory of the season when they meet Navy today at Annapolis. From there the team will travel to College Park Monday to take on conference rival Maryland.

The Maryland contest will be the second conference meet for the Tar Heels. The squad won their first meet of the year against Duke last Wednesday, 67-46.

Coach Pat Earey terms this road trip as the first big test the squad will face this season.

VPI tix

Student tickets for the Carolina-VPI game Dec. 11 will be available for distribution in Carmichael Auditorium at 5 p.m. Monday.

There will be new distribution points for the tickets, although there will still be eight lines.

Two lines will remain at the windows of the sports information office and the main ticket office. However, there will only be one line at Concession Stand 1 and one at Concession Stand 4, instead of the two used in the past.

One new line will be at the window of the Varsity Equipment Room on the main floor of Carmichael. The other will be located on the basketball court level in the hallway behind the varsity dressing rooms.

The Tar Heels rolled up 70 points in the first half, and when they outscored Rice 28-7 in the opening minutes of the second period, Smith pulled his starters with 14:07 left in the game.

Twenty seconds later Donn Johnston fed sophomore John O'Donnell to push Carolina over the 100-point mark.

The leading scorers for the Tar Heels were senior forward Dennis Wuycik, who netted 24 points, and junior transfer Robert McAdoo, with 16. Although they had received reams of pre-season publicity, both were rated somewhat as question marks: Wuycik because of the knee injury he sustained in the National Invitational Tournament last spring, and McAdoo because of his relative inexperience with the Tar Heel style of play.

"It did take me about two weeks to get adjusted to the team," said McAdoo, who was reportedly offered $800,000 to sign with the Atlanta Hawks of the National Basketball Association this season.

McAdoo was playing in North Carolina for the first time since graduating from Greensboro Smith High School in 1969. He had played at Vincennes Junior College in Indiana for the past two seasons, and led his team into the national judo finals last season.

"I was a nervous little at the start, but I really didn't feel that much pressure," he said. "It felt good to be back in North Carolina, because one of the reasons I came here was so that my parents could see me play."

McAdoo also praised Smith, and added that "if he'd been at Vincennes last year, we'd have won the national championship."

In another corner of the dressing room, Wuycik admitted that "it'll be nice" to go back to Pittsburgh, where he and teammates Steve Previs and George Karl grew up. The Tar Heels left Friday for the Iron City, where they'll face the University of Pittsburgh tonight.

"I really don't know who they have on their team, but I do know the coach," Wuycik smiled.

"No, I haven't had any problem with my leg," Wuycik said. "I'd never been injured before so I don't know whether or not it was easy to come back, but I did have to work at it."

In the somber Rice dressing room, meanwhile, Owl forward Mark Wehrle was trying to compare last year's Bruins and this year's Tar Heels.

"I don't know what UCLA's got this season but I do know what they had last year," he said. "And believe me, I don't think that team ever got as hot as North Carolina did tonight."

Elmer quits Duke team

The 6-10 Elmer, from Fort Wayne, Ind., did not play in the Blue Devils' impressive 54-42 win over Richmond Wednesday night.

He averaged 21.1 points a game his freshman year and 10.1 rebounds. In one game, he demolished State's 74 Tom Burleson, outscoring him 40-10 as the Blue Imps beat the Wolflets 80-72.

Junior guard Jeff Dawson quit Duke and transferred to Illinois in September. The Blue Devils have also lost Jim Fitzsimmons (now at Harvard), Don Blackman (Rhode Island), and Sam May - all signees of Coach Bucky Waters.
